MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2647.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1929.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 24th Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,

F. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 28, 1919.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2655.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24th Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

By order,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 16, 1919.

PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENTS.

THE Council's attention has been drawn to the fact that certain public entertainments have recently been held without a licence: the attention of the Public is therefore directed to Bye-law XXXIV attached to the Land Regulations which prohibits the holding of any entertainment, to which the public are admitted, without a licence first obtained from the Council.

This regulation includes theatrical performances, concerts, exhibitions, dances, etc.; and the Police have directions to prevent the holding of any such entertainment unless licensed.

To obviate inconvenience application should be made at least five clear days before the entertainment is to be held, upon a form to be obtained on application from the Revenue Office.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2647.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1939.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,
F. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 28, 1919.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2655.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24B Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

Chinese Advisory Committee

Letter from the Chairmen of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce and the League of Street Unions with the Council's reply, and letter to the Senior Consul:—

Shanghai, January 7, 1920.

SIR,—With a view to the peaceful and satisfactory settlement of outstanding questions, and for the purpose of securing justice and fair-play for the Chinese ratepayers in the International settlement, we, the undersigned, representing the General Chamber of Commerce, and the League of Street Unions (including over 10,000 shops on 40 roads), beg to recommend as a temporary measure to the Municipal Council for recognition a Chinese Committee of six who will be elected by the two Chinese organizations referred to and whose names will be communicated to the Council later. The functions of this Committee are to advise with the Council on all Municipal affairs, particularly those wherein Chinese interests are concerned. For the sake of effective and efficient co-operation on the part of the Chinese rate-payers, the counsel of the Chinese advisers should be respected. It is earnestly hoped that this proposal will meet with the hearty approval and support of the Council, and this Advisory Committee will start to function at an early date. In the meanwhile we shall continue to look for and work out some way whereby the fundamental principle of taxation with representation shall be fulfilled to the satisfaction of the Chinese ratepayers in the settlement.

Awaiting the Council's early and favourable reply,

We are,
Yours faithfully,
CHU PAO-SAN,
Chairman,
The General Chamber of Commerce.
CHEN TSEH-MIN,
Chairman,
The League of Street Unions.

The Chairman, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 7, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter to the Chairman of Council of January 7, and to forward herein enclosed copy of a letter which the Council addressed to the Consular Body on October 24, 1919, expressing its views upon the subject matter dealt with in your letter under reply.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Messrs. CHU PAO-SAN,
Chairman, Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, and
CHEN TSEH-MIN,
Chairman, The League of Street Unions.

(Enclosure.)

Council Room,
Shanghai October 24, 1919.

SIR,—Since so much attention has been focussed during the past few months on the demand made at the time of the Rate Agitation of July and August last, that Chinese should be admitted to membership of the Council, and since it is understood that official representations have recently been made to the Diplomatic Body and referred to the Consular Body for an expression of its views, I have the honour to advise you that the question of admitting Chinese to participation in the administration of the affairs of this Settlement, either through the medium of a Chinese Advisory Board or Committee or by amendment of the Land Regulations to permit of their election to the Council, was considered at a recent meeting of members and ex-members of Council. After full discussion a vote was unanimously recorded against Chinese representation on the Council on any consideration, but in favour of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Board or Committee, provided that its meetings be held in the Council's Offices, that it shall have a membership of five to be nominated annually by the Chinese, that the nominations be subject to the veto of the Consular Body, that the nominees shall have resided in the Settlement for the five years immediately preceding nomination, that they shall have paid General Municipal Rate during the whole of this period on an assessed rental of not less than Tls. 1,200 per annum, that they shall not, at the time of nomination nor whilst on the membership of the committee, hold any official appointment under the Chinese Government, and finally that the functions of the committee be limited to those set forth in Clause 4 of the Settlement Extension Draft Agreement of 1915 hereinafter referred to.

In recording this vote the meeting was unable to dissociate the demand for Chinese representation on the Council from the efforts of the past few years and particularly since the signing of the Armistice, to secure the abolition of Extra-territoriality Settlements, Concessions and Spheres of Influence, and general expression was given to the view that these efforts must be met and resisted unless by good government and by the adoption of a policy of progression and development in accord with the standards common to every enlightened Nation. China has shown that she is fitted to receive full retrocession of the rights which she contends have been wrongfully wrested from her, but which in fact the foreigner either had vested in him by treaty or has been forced to assume and exercise from motives of self-preservation and protection, or because of the hopeless inability of China to exercise herself for the benefit of her own people and of those who seek domicile in her lands.

As regards an Advisory Board or Committee, the considerations are different. The Council has always appreciated the value of the Chinese viewpoint and, on every critical time in Municipal affairs where Chinese interests have been concerned, has sought means of learning the opinions of eminent Chinese residents. True it is that its recognition of a so-called representative committee in 1905-6 led to the passing of a resolution at the Meeting of Ratepayers held on March 30th declining to confirm its action, but it is believed that the views of Ratepayers on this subject have since undergone considerable change. Indeed when the Draft Agreement for an Extension of the Settlement, with provision for the establishment of a Chinese Advisory Board, submitted to you by the Special Envoy for Foreign Affairs early in 1915, was put before the Ratepayers in March of that year, their approval was readily accorded. Inasmuch however as approval was sought and given upon the basis that the Settlement area would be extended and since ratification of the Agreement has remained in abeyance for reasons for which I need not deal, it will now be necessary for the Ratepayers' directions to be sought as to whether such a Board or Committee should be approved irrespective of Settlement Extension. I have the honour to inform you that the Council proposes to seek such directions at the Meeting of Ratepayers in March or April next and to state that there is every reason to believe that such approval will be duly accorded.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman.

Chinese Government Stamp Tax.

Correspondence with the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce and the Senior Consul on the subject of the levy of Stamp Tax on residents of the Settlement:—

Translation of letter from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to the Council, dated December 28, 1919.

With regard to the Chinese Government's order requiring Chinese merchants in the Settlement to pay Stamp Duty, as the arrangements proposed for its collection present many difficulties, indeed, are unworkable, the Chinese merchants (in the Settlement) have sworn not to pay the Stamp Tax. At the same time this Chamber has wired to the Government pointing out the difficulties and asking it to rescind the order. Since the European war Chinese merchants have suffered to no small extent and the levy of a Stamp Duty would be a very heavy burden. The Council is aware of the circumstances and the writer points out that the attempt to collect a Stamp Duty from January 1 next cannot be enforced. Besides addressing the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to give due notice, the Chamber asks the Council to take note and to act in accordance with the sentiments (of the Chinese businessmen of this Settlement.)

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 2, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 28, 1919, recording the protest of your Chamber against any levy of the Chinese Government Stamp Tax on residents of the Settlement, and in reply to inform you that there is not the slightest truth in the reports which have recently gained currency that the Council is about to enforce the payment of this Tax.

Ever since the establishment of the Settlement, the Council has consistently and successfully safeguarded the interests of Chinese residents and merchants by opposing every attempt on the part of outside authorities, in disregard of established agreements, to impose any restraint or restriction upon the trade of the Settlement or to impose any form of taxation upon Chinese resident therein, and I am to assure you that the Council has not approved and does not approve of any change in this policy. Apart from the Chinese Government Land Tax and Customs Duties which are levied under express sanction, no taxation within Settlement Limits is authorized, other than that which is levied by the Council to provide for the proper administration of the Settlement and for the protection of all foreigners and Chinese who reside therein: accordingly any attempt to enforce any other taxation should be promptly reported to the Council for the requisite action.

In thanking you for bringing this matter to the Council's notice, I am directed to inform you that, lest there should be any truth in the report that proposals are under consideration for the extension of the Stamp Tax to the Settlement, the Council's most emphatic protest against any such proposals has been addressed to the Consular Body.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

CHU PAO-SAN, ESQ.,
Chairman, Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 3, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to address you on the subject of certain reports which have recently appeared in the Chinese press in regard to the Chinese Government Stamp Tax and to forward herein for the consideration of the Consular Body copy of correspondence which has passed on this subject between the Council and the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

Having regard to the support which the Council has received in the past, both from the Consular and Diplomatic Bodies, against the many attempts made by Chinese Authorities to impose restraint or restriction upon the trade of the Settlement or to impose lekin or other forms of taxation upon Chinese resident therein, in deliberate violation of the agreements frequently recorded and enforced for the exemption of the Settlement from lekin and other forms of Chinese taxation, the Council is loath to believe the report that proposals to extend the levy of the Chinese Government Stamp Tax to the Settlement have been favourably received by the Diplomatic Body, but in view of the credence that this report has obtained amongst the Chinese Community, whose welfare and interests it is ever the Council's endeavour to safeguard, I have the honour to place on record the unanimous and emphatic protest of my colleagues and myself against any such proposals that may be under consideration and that may have this end in view, and, in doing so, to emphasize that the Council cannot assent to any form of Chinese taxation in the Settlement, other than the Chinese Government land tax and Customs duties, which are levied under express sanction, and to observe that the only taxation which is levied by the Council is so levied to provide for the proper administration of the Settlement and for the protection of those, whether Chinese or foreigners, who seek a domicile therein.

In registering this protest I have the honour to refer to the Council's Annual Reports for 1904 pages 47 to 52 inclusive, 1906 pages 192 and 193, 1909 pages 92 to 106 inclusive and 1916 page 54a, which record several typical instances in which Chinese authorities have sought to impose some restraint or restriction on the trade of the Settlement or to impose some form of taxation on Chinese resident therein, the action taken by the Council in connexion therewith and the support accorded by the Consular Body.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, ESQ.,
Consul-General for Belgium and Senior Consul.

Translation of letter from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to the Council, dated January 7, 1920.

Electricity Department.

REPORT ON THE NINE MONTHS ENDING SEPTEMBER 30, 1919.

From the attached Comparative Table the Committee will note a general increase of the Department's activities over the corresponding period of 1918. The nett profit for the nine months is considerably higher than in the period of the previous year, but I would express the opinion that this would have been greater had the generating plant at Riverside not been run under such adverse conditions. It is the old story of not having sufficient plant to lay off other machines for overhaul. The largest machine installed at present is of 10,000 kilowatts capacity. This machine has been running almost continuously for two years with no opportunity of laying it off for a sufficient time to make a thorough overhaul. As a result of this difficulty a thorough overhaul of the condensing plant cannot be given, and as the vacuum is lower than it should be, there is a corresponding increased steam consumption, which in turn brings about a higher coal consumption than would be the case if a higher vacuum were maintained. With turbine machinery a higher vacuum is such a very necessary condition, that when this is impaired the coal costs must naturally increase. I consider that had we been in a position to give more attention to the running machinery the nett profit for the nine months would have been very much greater than it is.

It will be noted that the units sold for Private Lighting are still on the increase, whilst power units show a very large rise.

T. H. U. ALDRIDGE,
Engineer-in-Chief & Manager.

Fire Brigade Report for Novemb 1919.

The total number of calls to fi or supposed fires, during the mo was 21, as against 11 for the cor ponding month last year. T damage on assessed property wh the Settlement is estimated at T 16,150 (Foreign, Tls. 12,000; Chine Tls. 4,150), as against T 45,450 (Foreign, Tls. Nil; Chine Tls. 45,450) during November, 19 The property at risk is estimated Tls. 506,700 (Foreign, Tls. 146,70 Chinese, Tls. 360,000), as again Tls. 216,000 (Foreign, Tls. 100,0 Chinese, Tls. 116,000) for the corre ponding period last year.

The calls were received as fo lows:—Telephones 15, Watch Towe 3, Police 1, Street Alarm 1 a Messenger 1.

The district call was given on occasions, the remaining 13 bei station calls.

These calls proved to be 16 sm fires, 1 chimney fire, 2 false alarm and 2 fires outside the Settlemen

The supposed causes of the fir within the Settlement are as fo lows:—

Dropped match or cigarette end
Charcoal stove in contact with bales of tea
Candle upset
Stove upset
Sparks from chimney
Child playing with matches
Oil overboiling
Ignition of gasolene vapour
Back fire of gas
Unknown

The premises affected were:—

Foreign buildings
Chinese buildings

Of these, 14 houses were more e less damaged by smoke, fire an water.

The water used at fires during th month was 48,820 gallons.

The Brigade was occupied te hours at fires, or supposed fires.

The fires of note during th month were:—

S.S. "Kobe Maru," November 1 at 10.45 a.m.—Valuable assistanc was rendered at a serious fire i the No. 2 hold of the above vesse Hongkew Division with a section o Central working from the wharfside were in time to deal sufficiently with the fire to prevent it from involving the rest of the ship. The Brigade Float with that of the Customs arriving afterwards augmented the water supply, and by noon the fire was practically extinguished. The operations of the Brigade were made rather dangerous by the ship heavily listing to starboard and then to port. An appreciative letter was received from the owners congratulating the Brigade on their work.

8A Chengtu Road, November 18, at 12.40 a.m.—The above premises, a fairly large three storey silk filature were well alight on the ground floor, the outbreak having started amongst a quantity of silk cocoons, and the fire had already obtained a hold on the first floor. The Sinza Division supported by a section of Central, although severely hampered by smoke got right above and prevented damage to the second floor and but very little on the first, the centre and back portion of the ground floor being damaged. It is very unusual for a building of this description, where the fire has obtained such a hold, for the premises to be saved. As it was the damage only amounted to a sixth of the value of the filature.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1929.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,

E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Council Room,

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2655.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24B Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

By order,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Illegal Detention.

Further correspondence with the Senior Consul and Mr. M. L. Heen, in continuation of that published in the Gazette of November 20:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, December 17, 1919.

SIR,—I have the honour to refer to the correspondence which has passed between us on the subject of the illegal arrest and detention by the Chinese Authorities of one Yu Tshung-ling, a Chinese resident of this Settlement.

The Council's representations having, up to the present, failed to secure the release of the unfortunate man concerned, I have the honour to request that the matter be referred to the Diplomatic Body in Peking, in order that such steps as are considered requisite may be taken to attain this result; and also with a view to the preservation inviolate of that protection which it is the Council's duty to extend to all Chinese residents.

In this connexion, I have the honour to point out that the statements so far rendered by the Chinese Authorities are not such as could reasonably be accepted in disproof of the illegality of their action; and to state that, unless the Council's representations are complied with, it is highly probable that cases of this nature will become more frequent, with the inevitable result that the security of person and property, which residence in this Settlement confers, will gradually disappear.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium
and Senior Consul.

Shanghai, December 29, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—As a result of the strong measures taken by the Council, my client Yu Tshung-ling was last Saturday, December 27, 1919, released from the custody of the Shun Pan-ting where he had been unlawfully detained for some months. My client is naturally grateful for all that has been done in his behalf and he is desirous of calling on you personally with this letter for the purpose of giving thanks to the Council.

Yours faithfully,
M. L. HEEN.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, December 30, 1919.

SIR,—I have the honour to refer to the correspondence which has passed between us on the subject of the illegal arrest and detention by the Chinese Authorities of one Yu Tshung-ling, a Chinese resident of this Settlement, and in particular to my letter of December 17 requesting representations in the matter to the Diplomatic Body in Peking and to send you herein enclosed copy of a letter received from Mr. M. L. Heen, counsel for the said Yu Tshung-ling, notifying his release on December 27.

In this connexion I have the honour to express the Council's appreciation of the action taken by the Consular Body.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C PEARCE,
Chairman.

Correspondence with Mr. Chu Pao-san, Chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Chen Tsch-min, Chairman, League of Street Unions.

Shanghai, January 10, 1920.

SIR,—We beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication of January 7, with the enclosed copy of your Chairman's letter to the Senior Consul dated October 24 last.

In reply we would beg to lay the following suggestion before the members of Council, viz.:—

That a Provisional Advisory Committee of five Chinese gentlemen be elected to take office as soon as possible so as to solve the outstanding difficulties, on the terms expressed in your Chairman's letter to the Senior Consul with two exceptions, that their election be not subject to the veto of the Consular Body, and that their functions be not limited to those set forth in Clause 4 of the Settlement Extension Draft Agreement of 1915.

The functions of this Committee shall terminate upon the final confirmation of the amended land regulations and the election of the Chinese councillors.

Yours faithfully,

CHU PAO-SAN,
Chairman,
The General Chamber of Commerce.
CHEN TSEH-MIN,
Chairman,
League of Street Unions.

CHAIRMAN, Municipal Council, Shanghai.

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 12, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of January 10, the Council has already communicated to you, in its letter to the Consular Body of October 24, 1919, forwarded to you on January 7, its intention to submit a resolution at the forthcoming Meeting of Ratepayers providing for the establishment of a Chinese Advisory Committee.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

MESSRS. CHU PAO-SAN,
Chairman, Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, and
CHEN TSEH-MIN,

Shanghai, January 13, 1920.

SIR,—We have the honour to request that you may see your way to defer the collection of rates from the shops for a period of three days from this date within which time we, the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, will undertake to use our best endeavour to advise and prevail upon the shopkeepers to pay rates.

Anxiously awaiting an early reply,

We have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servants,

THE CHINESE GENERAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
CHU PAO-SAN,
Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 14, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 13 addressed to the Chairman of Council and in reply to inform you that the collection of rates for the current quarter is proceeding and that the Council regrets that it cannot consent to any deferment as is requested by you.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

CHU PAO-SAN, Esq.,
Chairman, Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Avenue Edward VII, Thibet and Yunnan Roads.—The following correspondence with Messrs. Lester, Johnson & Morriss contains the terms upon which the scheduled area of Lot 695 has been acquired:—

Shanghai, October 21, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—We beg to thank you for plan of Cadastral Lot 695, Central, showing land required by the Municipal Council for widening of Avenue Edward VII, Thibet Road and Yunnan Road; we are instructed by the beneficial owners to surrender the land on payment at the rate of assessed value per mow plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender.

In order to save correspondence we are to inform you that no betterment is admitted and that no consideration will be given to any suggestion of deduction of claim under such plea.

Yours faithfully,
LESTER, JOHNSON & MORRISS.

CHAS. H. GODFREY, Esq.,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 28, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of October 21, addressed to the Commissioner of Public Works, on the subject of the surrender of the area of Lot 695 required for Avenue Edward VII, Thibet and Yunnan Roads, I am directed to inform you that the Council cannot agree with your contention regarding betterment, since it is considered that such unquestionably results from the fact that the widening from this property forms a part of the scheme for the Avenue Edward VII improvement, and when the present conditions are compared with those which obtained when the old Sungkiang Road and the insanitary Yangkingpang still remained in existence, the contrast is so obvious that in members' opinion it obviates the necessity of advancing further arguments in support of the view that vast improvement therein has since been effected. These remarks apply equally to the Defence Creek and Thibet Road frontages.

In view, however, of the proportionally large area required from your lot, the Council has decided in your case to claim one-sixth only for betterment in respect of the Avenue Edward VII, and Yunnan Road frontages, and one-third for betterment in respect of the Thibet Road frontage, as in the case of the former negotiations with your goodselves on the subject of Lot 1325, in which case the Land Commissioners awarded a deduction of one-third for betterment.

The maximum terms therefore which the Council is prepared to pay in respect of this improvement and without prejudice to the Council's contention that a full deduction of one-third for betterment would not be unreasonable if the matter goes before the Land Commission, are as follows:—

Avenue Edward VII and Yunnan Road.

	Tls.	Tls.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Messrs. LESTER, JOHNSON & MORRISS.

Shanghai, December 3, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—We beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of November 28, referring to land surrender Cadastral Lot 695, Central, and informing us that the Council consider that certain deductions should be made from the amount of compensation claimed on account of alleged betterments of various degrees.

We are instructed to draw your attention to the surrender of land lately made ex Cadastral Lot 700, in which case full compensation was paid by the Council, and no deduction whatever was suggested, or asked for, by the Council. We recognize that every case should be judged on its own merits, but we venture the opinion that as regards the south and east frontages of Cadastral Lot 695 the two cases are not dissimilar.

We are authorized to make the following offer in order to meet the Council; if the Council will give the same terms for the land to be surrendered from frontages on Avenue Edward VII and Yunnan Road as were given in the case of Cadastral Lot 700, we will accept the Council's terms for surrender of land on Thibet Road; the total amount of compensation would be Tls. 40,337.

This offer is made without prejudice to our previous claim should it not be accepted.

Yours faithfully,
LESTER, JOHNSON & MORRISS.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, December 19, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 3 with further reference to the compensation payable in respect of the Avenue Edward VII and Thibet Road ex Lot 695.

The Council notes that in submitting your revised claim, you suggest that this lot presents parallel features to that of Lot 700. Examination of the plan, however, will show that the cases are dissimilar inasmuch as the area remaining to Lot 700 after the road surrender was small and with irregular boundaries, whereas the remaining area of Lot 693 will be 6 mow of a uniform depth capable of extensive development and facing on two broad thoroughfares and the large circus formed by the junction of Thibet Road and Avenue Edward VII.

In these circumstances I am directed to inform you that the Council is unable to regard as reasonable any compensation in excess of that offered in my letter of November 28, Tls. 34,952.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary

MESSRS. LESTER, JOHNSON & MORRISS.

Shanghai, December 29, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—We beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 19th instant, and in reply have to inform you that the beneficial owners of Cadastral Lot 695, Central, have instructed us to accept the Council's offer contained in your letter of November 28 last in order to settle the case without further dispute.

The amount payable for the land to be surrendered being Tls. 34,952.

Yours faithfully,
LESTER, JOHNSON & MORRISS.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Nanking Road.—The claim of Messrs. Hanson, McNeill, Jones & Wright has been accepted for the surrender of the scheduled area of Lot 240 at the assessed value, Tls. 50,000 per mow, plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender, or Tls. 1,925 for Mow 0.035.

Gordon Road.—At the request of the Naigai Wata Kaisha, Ld., arrangements have been made for a slight deviation in the scheduled line of this road whereby more land is taken from the lots on the west side of the road and Lot 4486 left intact. The lots on both sides of the road are in the ownership of this Company.

Drainage.

Tengyueh Road.—The request of the Midland Packing Company has been sanctioned to lay a sewer in Tengyueh Road at a cost of Tls. 1,200, half of which will be defrayed by the applicants.

Public Lighting.

Yochow Road.—It has been decided upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works to light this road beyond Kungping Road with three 60 c.p. metallic filament lamps at a cost of Tls. 84 per annum.

Manila Road.—The recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works has been adopted to substitute four 100 c.p. metallic filament lamps for the five 60 c.p. lamps at present in this road, at an additional annual cost of Tls. 40.

Public Works Department.

Haulage.—The Council has sanctioned the purchase from the China Garage Company of two 2-ton trucks with dump bodies and attachment complete for a sum of Tls. 3,300 each.

Health Officer's Report for December, 1919.

The Public Health continued good throughout the month. Smallpox was practically absent, there were no deaths from this disease among the Chinese community. Influenza smouldered on as though its capacity for epidemicity had been knocked out of it. Nevertheless, it caused two deaths among foreigners and 23 among Chinese. Among foreigners also there was an excess of deaths from bronchitis, broncho-pneumonia and 'pneumonia', some at least of which are primarily attributable to Influenza. The precautions recommended in the reports for October and November should still be observed and people, especially the very old and very young, with any tendency towards coughs or 'weak chests' should be particularly careful.

In this connexion as regards the spread of disease it may be noted that man is his own worst enemy. Most infectious diseases are communicated directly from one person to another, and this is particularly the case in that big group of diseases communicated through the mouth, throat and nose, such as Influenza, Measles, Diphtheria, Scarlet fever, Whooping-cough, Cerebrospinal fever, the pneumonias and 'colds.' During recent years the position has been made more baffling by the discovery of human carriers of disease who may themselves be apparently quite well.

The Tuberculosis Hospital has been put into use, two cases having been received.

A Children's Section in connexion with the Victoria Nursing Home is practically ready and should prove a very useful addition.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

Report of Commissioner of Public Works for December, 1919.

The carrying out of concrete work has been considerably delayed on account of the frosty weather, work of this nature having been partially suspended on fourteen days during the month.

Good progress has been made on the culverting of Defence Creek from Peking Road to the Soochow Creek and the last of this evil-smelling creek will shortly have been dealt with. The filling in over the tubes is in hand and the making up of the resulting roadway will be proceeded with as soon as all settlement has taken place. This latter work will, it is anticipated, be carried out in the course of 1920.

The reclamation of the Bund Foreshore is making headway, work now being carried out in two sections simultaneously.

The original contract was for the supply of the necessary labour, plant and mud filling for the whole length of the work from Peking Road to Avenue Edward VII. It was found, however, that the contractor was unable to proceed with the work at a satisfactory rate of progress and it was accordingly decided to divide the work up into two sections, the original contractor to complete the section from Peking Road to Hankow Road, and another contractor being employed for the section from Hankow Road to Avenue Edward VII. Since this arrangement was made the progress has been decidedly more marked.

Roads.—The widening of Bubbling Well Road on the south side from Hart Road to east of Siccawei Road is practically complete and similar work on the north side opposite to the Country Club is well in hand.

The ballasting and metalling of Tsitsihar Road north of Ward Road is in progress.

The forming and raising of Kwenming Road from Alcock Road to Dalny Road is in hand.

A surfacing of asphaltum has been laid in Chinwangtao Road south of Yangtszepoo Road.

Bundings.—The construction of the concrete bunding in West Soochow Road east of Cadastral Lot 731 W. has been completed for about two-thirds of its height.

Drainage.—The construction of the 3-ft. diameter culvert in Gordon Road north of Macao Road and in Macao Road west of Gordon Road has been completed.

The construction of the 12-in. diam. sewer in Bubbling Well Road east of Ferry Road has been completed.

A 12-in. diam. sewer is being laid in Whashing Road from Yangtszepoo Road to north of Rangoon Road.

A 12-in. diam. sewer is being laid in Kirin Road east of Thorburn Road. The culverting of the Singkeipang from Singkeipang Road to Dent Road is completed with the exception of a length of 150-ft west of Chaoufoong Road.

Municipal Properties.

General.

Central Offices.—The construction of the external heating trenches has been commenced, and the internal plastering and electrical work are well in hand.

Fire Brigade.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The foundations have been completed and the brick walls and concrete columns are in hand.

New Workshops at Hongkew Fire Station.—The falsework and reinforcing steel for the roof are being placed in position, and the tubing for the electrical work is being proceeded with.

Hongkew Fire Station.—The internal painting of this building is proceeding.

Police Force.

Gaol—Deport Block.—These extensions have been completed.

Educational Department.

Thomas Hanbury School for Boys.—The land recently acquired for extension is being raised to the level of the present site.

Volunteer Corps.

Rifle Range.—The repairs to the wooden shield on top of the Stop Butt have been completed.

Electricity Department.

Woochang Road Substation.—Concrete work has been completed to the level of the second floor and the centering is in place for the walls of the third storey.

Tonquin Road Substation.—All the concrete for the structural portion of the building has been completed, there only remaining a portion of the cubicles to be concreted. The brick curtain walls have been completed for the second storey.

Riverside Power Station.—The excavation for the foundation of the office building and switch house has been completed, and the driving of timber piles is in progress, about one-third of the total number required having been driven.

Pingchiao Quarry.—493 tong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month.

Cleansing and Watering.	Total

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2647.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1929.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 24b Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,

E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 28, 1919.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2655.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24b Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

By order,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 16, 1919.

Robberies.—Four reports of armed robbery from premises were received during the month. In one of these cases two persons were wounded by bullets and subsequently died. A robber was shot dead by the Police and another was arrested and handed over to the Chinese Authorities. Three cases of armed highway robbery and one case of attempted highway robbery from the person were reported. In connexion therewith five persons have been arrested and are at present under remand. One case of highway robbery in which acid was thrown on the victim was recorded.

Constable Allen and seven Chinese were arrested on December 30 in connexion with the robbery of a quantity of opium from a Chinese dwelling house in Tientsin Road, and are still under remand.

Stolen Property.—During the month 379 reports of stolen property were received by the Police. In 136 of these cases investigation was made with successful results.

Executions. — Three persons found guilty of being concerned in armed robberies in the Settlement were executed at Loongwha in the presence of a representative of the Municipal Police.

Bribery.—A case of bribery of certain Chinese Constables by several shopkeepers engaged in the secret sale of opium was concluded at the Mixed Court on December 24. Three Chinese Constables were convicted and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment each, whilst the shopkeepers were each fined $300.–.

Strikes.—There was very little labour unrest during the month. A strike of bamboo workers which lasted about a week was settled on December 1 when the employers granted a wage increase of 12 per cent. to piece workers and 15 per cent. to time workers. Threats to strike by silversmiths and shoe sole makers did not materialise.

Crime Outside Limits.—A case of murder and thirteen cases of piracy and robbery were reported during the month from beyond Settlement limits.

Political.—Local activities in connexion with the Anti-Japanese Movement were renewed on December 2, when a large public meeting, organized by the Shanghai Students' Union and the National Organizations' Union, was held on the Public Recreation Ground in the City. After the meeting a procession was formed which paraded round the Chinese City and suburbs and ended in disorder. On the plea that certain shopkeepers were selling Japanese goods the processionists commenced to wreck shops and destroy goods in various streets. Altogether some thirty stores were more or less damaged during the proceedings. Concurrently with the procession a meeting of students' representatives was held at the headquarters of the Students' Union, 14 Nyi Woo Lee, Rue Amiral Bayle, at which it was decided that all students in Shanghai should take three days' holiday commencing from Thursday, December 3. Accordingly on that day about 1,000 students from various schools assembled at the Public Recreation Ground and, separating into groups, proceeded to various parts of the Chinese City and Chapei and delivered speeches in support of the boycott of Japanese goods. They also searched shops and took possession of and burnt any goods which they considered to be of Japanese origin. This action was continued energetically until December 7 and then intermittently until December 9. Since that date only isolated cases of similar seizure and destruction of goods have occurred.

On December 1, thirty representatives of Street Unions called at the Bureau of Foreign Affairs and presented a petition praying for Chinese representation on the Municipal Council and a revision of the Land Regulations. From December 1 to December 7 the majority of shopkeepers in the Settlement displayed flags and posters on which appeared the characters (修改洋涇浜章程 華人要求市民權) the translation of which is "Revise the Yangkingpang Regulations. Chinese Demand Representation on the Municipal Council." On December 23 and 27 meetings of Street Union leaders were held at the Headquarters of the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions, 13 Avenue Edward VII, at which it was decided that as no answer to their petition had been received from the Consular Body they would advise shopkeepers not to pay Municipal taxes at the January collection and that if measures to enforce payment were taken by the Municipal Council a general strike would be declared by the Street Unions.

The Stamp Duty, which the Chinese Government proposed to extend to Foreign Concessions and Settlements from January 1, 1920, met with considerable opposition from various Chinese representative bodies, and its proposed levy in the Settlement was the subject of a vigorous protest by the Council to the Consular Body, published in the Municipal Gazette of January 8, 1920.

Identification Office.—During the month 384 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 128 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 152 records were received from the French Police out of which number 72 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Mixed Court Report for December 1919.

A Silk Filature situated to the North of the Mixed Court compound and separated from the Female Prison by a very narrow alleyway was gutted by fire on 6th of this month. Little damage was done to the prison owing to the fact that its windows on the north side are protected by metal hoppers and small mesh wire netting. It is to be hoped that when new buildings are erected on the site more space will be allowed between the new buildings and the prison.

The following foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court during the month on criminal charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
Zoikha (female)	Persian	Begging	Discharged
Emmerick Norak	Hungarian	Travelling without a passport	To return unto form to British Authorities.

Increasing laxity on the part of landlords in not sending their representative to assist the police in the sealing of premises after sealing orders have issued has led the Court to order cancellation where the landlords representative does not present himself at the police station within a period of three days from date of issue of a sealing order.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with, Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

Registrar.

A. HILTON-JOHNSON,

TENDERS FOR PUBLIC WORKS AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS

CONDITIONS GOVERNING MUNICIPAL TENDERS.

1. The Council reserves to itself the right to accept the whole or part of any tender.

2. The Council does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender or to pay any expenses which the tenderers may incur in tendering.

3. The contractor whose tender is eventually accepted may be required to give satisfactory security for the performance of the contract.

4. The names of tenderers, with prices quoted, will be published in the Municipal Gazette.

5. A fee may be charged for specifications, to be returned upon receipt of a bona fide tender.

6. Tenders, sealed and labelled on the outside as to their contents, should be forwarded, preferably by chit book or registered letter, to "The Secretary, Municipal Council, 24 Kiangse Road" not later than noon on the day fixed for their receipt.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1929.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,

E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24B Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

EXCHANGE AND TOBACCO SHOPS.

THE public is hereby notified that on and after April 1, all keepers of Exchange and Tobacco Shops are required to take out a licence under Bye-law XXXIV.

The licence conditions are as follows:—

EXCHANGE SHOP OR STALL LICENCE.

CONDITIONS:

1. That the licence be not transferable.
2. That the licensee shall be the responsible owner of the business conducted at the shop or stall.
3. That the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous place inside the shop or stall.
4. That the word "Licensed Chinese Money Exchange, or Cash Shop" be exhibited conspicuously in large characters on the shop or stall both in English and Chinese.
5. That free access be given to the Police on duty and to officers of the Revenue Office charged with the inspection of licensed premises.
6. That the shop or stall be closed at 12 o'clock midnight and not re-opened until 5 o'clock a.m.
7. That the rate of exchange for the day be exhibited conspicuously in large figures on the shop or stall both in English and Chinese.
8. That the licensee report any change of address of his place of business to the Revenue Office and that the responsible ownership of the business be not transferred without the permission of the Council.
9. That the shop or stall cause no obstruction in the street or thoroughfare.
10. That no counterfeit money or forged notes be knowingly received or uttered by the licensee or by any person in his employ and that all information relating to any such counterfeit money or forged notes be immediately given to the Police.
11. That each shop be provided with a suitable grille or other protective device approved by the Council.
12. That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.
13. That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to cancellation or suspension by the Council and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

SECURITY.

At the discretion of the Council.

Electricity Department.

The subjoined report by the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager will be submitted at the forthcoming Annual Meeting of Ratepayers:—

Extension Scheme.—On December 6, 1918, I presented a Report to the Committee on the suggested programme of generating plant extensions, estimated demand in kilowatts and safe load with due allowance for spare plant. I also outlined the probable expansion of the undertaking and drew up a schedule of the principal items of generating and distributing plant necessary to meet the requirements up to and including the year 1924.

The demands for electricity in Shanghai since that Report was written have outstepped to a remarkable extent the limitations which were then considered probable, and the question of taking steps to meet the demands of the immediate future has already become urgent. Members of the Committee are referred to the Report above mentioned, copies of which are attached to this Report. In the December 6 Report of last year the following figures are given as showing the plant capacity in kilowatts, estimated demand from 1919 to 1924. Side by side with these are shown the requirements as they are now revised in the light of the past twelve months' experience, carrying us up to 1923.

Report of December 6, 1918.

	Plant Capacity in kilowatts.	Estimated demand in kilowatts.	Safe Load in K. W. with due allowance of spare plant.
1919	38,000	29,000	27,000
1920	79,000	34,000	36,000
1921	65,000	39,000	42,000
1922	83,000	45,000	60,000
1923	83,000	53,000	60,000
1924	83,000	58,000	60,000
or	103,000

Report of December 22, 1919.

	Plant Capacity in kilowatts.	Estimated demand in kilowatts.	Safe Load in K. W. with due allowance of spare plant.
1919	38,000	29,000	27,000
1920	77,000	45,000	54,000
1921	106,000	64,000	78,000
1922	122,000	80,000	94,000

The estimated load of 29,000 kilowatts for 1919 will not probably be quite reached, 28,000 kilowatts is the probable maximum, but whereas in the original estimates 1920 allowed for a load of 34,000 kilowatts, it is practically certain that next year the maximum load will total 45,000 kilowatts, thus we are in 1920 placed in the position which we expected to be in in 1922.

From the business point of view this rapid growth may be regarded as exceedingly encouraging, not only from the point of view of electricity supply, but as indicating the actual growth of Shanghai as an industrial centre. The effect of this industrialism must re-act favourably upon the city generally. There is little doubt that Shanghai can maintain its industrial greatness. Industries such as industries, and the channels of supply opened for one purpose are conveniently available for others. Besides this the reciprocal interaction of an industry and its sources of supply should not be overlooked. For example, to begin with, Cotton supply bought the Cotton Mills, then the mills stimulated the supply, and in turn the stimulated supply attracted more mills. The same effect should eventually be secured in relation to quality. The mills demand better cotton. Better cotton will encourage finer spinning and finer spinning will demand more improvement in the cotton staple. This process is already at work in the silk industry and will doubtless spread to others dependent upon local agricultural produce.

In my Report of December last year the following passage occurred:—

"It will be seen from the foregoing remarks that the ultimate demands for electricity supply in Shanghai and its neighbourhood cannot be foreseen. It may, however, be seen with a very reasonable degree of accuracy what has to be met within the next five years. My personal opinion, which is also shared by the executive technical staff of the Department, is that these extensions which I have outlined do not by any means cover the ultimate possibilities of Shanghai's electrical requirements, therefore, whilst these proposals might seem to embody very large extensions indeed, they should not be looked upon as approaching the ultimate capacity of the undertaking. They should, on the other hand, indicate how very much greater will be the expansion in the not very distant future."

This passage, taken in conjunction with the actual position of affairs at the present time, shows very conclusively how difficult it is to forecast with any degree of accuracy the expansion of the undertaking, and therefore the recommendations which I am making in this Report now laid before the Committee, may again prove to be too conservative. I think it may safely be said that they do not err on the side of undue optimism or that the rate of expansion over the next four years is estimated at figures beyond which the expansion is likely to take place. Within the past twelve months the electrical development has been so great that I forecast the future demands upon the Electricity Department with a good deal of reserve. In recommending to the Committee schemes for meeting future demands, whilst it is a simple matter to draw up schemes which will provide an unlimited amount of electricity when required, yet from the engineering as well as well as the financial point of view such practice would be unsound and might be financially disastrous, because the line must be drawn where it is profitable to have a certain amount of plant more than what is actually required at the moment, or having a super-abundance of spare plant lying idle. It is in the endeavour to strike the fine line where development can be safely taken care of without an excessive capital expenditure that the present scheme is now submitted.

The following shows the proposals for meeting the anticipated loads of 1920, 1921 and 1922. In perusing these details the Committee's attention is recalled to my Report of December 6, already referred to, wherein the whole of the Fearon Road steam generating plant of 5,000 kilowatts is to be removed in the year 1920 and the A.E.G. plant of 14,000 kilowatts at Riverside was scheduled to be removed in 1921. In order to instal additional switchgear at Fearon Road, already provided for, it is absolutely necessary to remove 3,000 kilowatts out of the total 5,000 kilowatts next year, but in order to more safely meet the requirements of 1920 it is proposed to retain 2,000 kilowatts of steam driven generating plant at Fearon Road. This must be regarded as an expediency measure and not one which is preferred.

With regard to the A.E.G. plant at Riverside, this, as the Committee is aware, is not considered reliable and therefore cannot be taken as an 100 per cent. asset. The two 2,000 kilowatt generators, however, were completely rewound during the present year, and as far as can be judged these two machines may be considered fairly reliable for another two or three years. As regards the two 5,000 kilowatt sets, the same views are held as were expressed eighteen months ago, that they must not be considered as reliable. In my former scheme the 14,000 kilowatts of A.E.G. plant was scheduled to come out of Riverside in 1921 to be replaced by an 18,000 kilowatt turbine which was to have been in commission in 1922. Circumstances have so shaped themselves that this programme cannot with safety now be adhered to, and, whilst the A.E.G. plant is not reliable, it is considered safer to keep it and make the most of it until two more 18,000 kilowatt machines are installed and in commission at the North end of the present turbine room. Last year's scheme as approved left us in 1922 with a generating plant capacity at Riverside of 83,000 kilowatts made up of:

3—18,000 K. W. turbines
2—10,000 ,, ,,
1—5,000 ,, ,,
2—2,000 ,, ,,

This was to meet an anticipated maximum load of 45,000 kilowatts, but, as already explained, this load of 45,000 kilowatts is expected next year, or two years before the preconceived date.

The problem of meeting the load of 1920 can only be met be retaining the 2,000 kilowatts at Fearon Road and the A.E.G. plant at Riverside. With regard to this latter plant, it has been considered advisable to regard it as equal to only 10,000 kilowatts instead of its full rated value of 14,000; by rating it at this figure it takes more into account the factor of unreliability.

If the anticipated load in 1921 develops, it will be difficult to meet it unless the bold policy of extension is decided upon. We have for so long a time been running our plant without adequate spares, with consequent losses of efficiency, that I feel sure the Committee will agree that such conditions of operation should not and cannot be allowed to continue, and in order to get over the difficulty the schedule for meeting the 1921 demands has been drawn up as shown below. This schedule is drawn up on the presumption that we may be able to have two more 18,000 kilowatt machines in commission in the Autumn of 1921, but in regard this as a little doubtful in view of the time taken to build generators of this size and the experience usually encountered of manufacturers not living up to their contract deliveries. If the worst comes to the worst and these machines are not in commission in 1921, the estimated load of 64,000 kilowatts could be met by the plant running at its full output without any spare except a small amount of 5,000 kilowatts which could be obtained from one of the House turbines. It will be seen, therefore, that unless two more 18,000 kilowatt machines are ordered very soon the position in 1921 will be as critical as it is this present year; a position which is neither fair to the public, both domestic and industrial, which is dependent on the undertaking for its electrical needs, nor to the undertaking itself.

It will be noted that in 1921 the whole of the A.E.G. plant should be removed and the space formerly occupied by it in the 1912 section of the turbine room be made ready for the accommodation of two 10,000 kilowatt machines which it is proposed to instal in 1922. The Committee may wonder why it is proposed to instal two 10,000 kilowatt turbines in the space formerly occupied by 14,000 kilowatts of A.E.G. plant instead of installing an 18,000 kilowatt set there, according to the programme drawn up last year. The reason is this, that before we dare take out the A.E.G. plant it is absolutely necessary to have the third and fourth 18,000 kilowatt machines in commission. These two machines should be installed at the North end of the turbine room extension in which the first and second 18,000 kilowatt machines are now being erected. There is and always will be a considerable amount of distribution in the Eastern District at 6,600 volts through the existing underground cables which are laid for distribution at that pressure, and although a 10,000 kilowatt unit is not so economical in steam consumption as a larger machine, after careful consideration the recommendation to instal two units of 10,000 kilowatts has been arrived at because it best meets the needs of the situation. The 1912 boiler house contains eight boilers, all in excellent condition, and which there is no reason to doubt should be good for another ten to fifteen years' service, and unless generating plant is installed in the 1912 section of the turbine room these particular boilers would no longer be of practical use, as they would be too far away from the larger turbines to economically supply them with steam.

Adverting to my Report of December last year, it is there stated that with the installation of the second 18,000 kilowatt machine the present limit of the power station site would be reached, and that the time would then come to erect a second power house on the adjacent property acquired last year. This view must in the light of circumstances now be modified, for the simple reason that the demands for electricity have increased beyond all anticipations and have, assuming my estimates are correct, put us two years ahead of our former schedule. If time were of less moment I should strongly urge the construction of an entirely new power house in which the boilers and turbines would be designed to operate at a much higher steam pressure, thereby gaining increased economy. To design a new power house and to thoroughly study the conditions for coal handling, water supply for condensing purposes, and other subjects intimately connected with power house design would occupy several months. Had the development marched along the lines anticipated only twelve months ago, ample time would have been given for the full consideration and design of the second power house, whilst the new plant already ordered for the No. 1 power house was being installed. Circumstances, however, have changed all this, and if we are to meet the electrical demands of Shanghai the only safe method is to adopt the scheme outlined in this Report.

Below is shown the estimated plant capacity and load for the year 1922, from which it will be seen that if these demands actually take place, and there is little reason to see why they should not, then by the end of 1922 we should not have more than an adequate reserve of spare plant to meet our obligations. Long before 1922 the construction of the No. 2 power house will have to be considered, but the scheme outlined above gives time to meet the pressing demands of the next three years and to allow time to draw up the best design for the No. 2 power house, which I expect will not be in commission towards the end of the year 1923. At the present time a good deal of attention is being given in England to the operation of turbines at very much higher steam pressures than has been the usual practice, and there is very little doubt that when the time comes to plan the No. 2 power house, much higher steam pressure than in the No. 1 power house will be adopted. If time permitted I should incline to recommend taking in hand the No. 2 power house at once and instal the new turbines operating at a higher pressure therein, but, as already hinted, considerable delay would take place if this alternative were adopted. By enlarging our No. 1 power house to the extent suggested in this Report the best solution will, in my opinion, be found to meet what would appear to be the very pressing demands which have to be met.

In my Report of last December, which the Committee adopted, four 80,000 lb. boilers were to be ordered this present year and four more were to be ordered in 1920. The first four have been ordered, and it is now necessary to order the other four, but inasmuch as we propose increasing the plant capacity beyond the limits of the last year's programme, two more boilers will be required, i.e., a total of ten boilers in the No. 3 boiler house instead of eight originally scheduled. Tenders have already been received and hold good up till April next from both Messrs. Babcock & Wilcox and the Stirling Boiler Company, and my recommendation is to order three more boilers from Messrs. Babcock & Wilcox and three more from the Stirling Boiler Company. This arrangement will enable us to compare the relative merits of the two types of boiler side by side and under identical operating conditions. It is hoped that the experience gained by this selection will be of use when deciding upon the type of boiler to instal in the No. 2 power house.

With regard to the boiler house buildings, it is suggested that the first section to contain the first four boilers already on order should be constructed locally, as it is most important that the building should be erected before the arrival of the boilers next year. For that section of the boiler house to accommodate the other six boilers and also the extension of the turbine room to accommodate the third and fourth 18,000 kilowatt sets, I would suggest that tenders be called for there in London. At the same time competitive tenders might be asked for in Shanghai to see whether it would work out cheaper than getting fabricated steelwork from Europe or America.

In addition to the generating plant there is also the problem of distribution. To give the Committee an idea of how rapidly things are developing, I would instance the Tonquin Road sub-station which is now nearing completion. This sub-station has been designed to contain switchgear equipment for handling about 6000 kilowatts of load, i.e., for distributing this amount of energy in the immediate neighbourhood. Judging by the industrial development in the Western District, it now appears that this sub-station will be too small, and the conclusion has been reached that if it is possible to secure additional land the building should be doubled in size so that ultimately the equipment which it will contain will be sufficient to deal with 45,000 to 50,000 kilowatts. In addition to the enlargement of this Tonquin Road Sub-station, it is planned to build a distributing switchhouse located between Tonquin Road and Yates field, but nearer the latter road. This switchhouse will be designed primarily to provide large bulk supplies of electric power to various mills in the district, and it will also serve as a tie connexion between Tonquin Road super-substation and another super-substation which will shortly be required beyond Jessfield. In order to adequately meet the demands in the Western District additional trunk cables from Riverside will be required, and in this scheme of extensions provision has been made for these cables in the estimates which appear at the end. A large quantity of switchgear and transformers will also be required, and additional buildings for switchhouse and super-substations. The detail at length the technical requirements to meet the Department's expansion would not, in a Report of this nature, serve any useful purpose, but the question has been most carefully considered and the estimates drawn up as closely as possible with a view more to giving a general outline of the extension scheme than to giving the technical detail.

Whilst this Report outlines the salient features of the extensions that must be remembered that beyond the items detailed there will always be required from time to time additional underground and overhead cable, switchgear, transformers, meters, sub-station buildings and the numerous minor accessories associated with the supply of a public utility such as electricity, and provision must be made for them as they become necessary.

The estimated cost of the scheme outlined herein is Tls. 4,304,000 exchange being taken at 6s. 0d.

In addition to this there are plant, cables, apparatus, etc. on order, and local expenditure on foundations, buildings etc. amounting to approximately Tls. 2,039,000, already authorized. The total capital expenditure during 1920 is estimated at Tls. 4,006,000, of which Tls. 1,967,333 is on the (1920) Extension scheme forming the subject of this report.

Charity Organization Committee.

Report and Statement of Accounts for 1919 and Budget for 1920:—

Shanghai, January 26, 1920.

SIR,—The Committee of the Charity Organization beg to hand you herewith a report on their work for the year 1919, together with a statement of their accounts and their budget for the year 1920.

Yours truly,
ADA. WHEEN,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Report of the Charity Organization Committee for the year ending December 31, 1919.

Seven members were appointed to serve on the Committee at the commencement of the year:

Mrs. Gorton.
Mrs. Chambers.
Mrs. Garner.
Mrs. Grant.
Miss Jansen.
Mrs. Lancaster.
Mrs. Macdonald.

In view of the near departure of several members on furlough it was decided to ask Mrs. Everall and Mrs. Henman to join the Committee in order that they might become cognisant of the present working.

Owing to the serious and lengthy illness of the Chairman, Mrs. Everall was elected to take her place. Mrs. Garner kindly consented to act as Hon. Treasurer, Mrs. Porter joined the Committee as Leader of The King's Daughters' Society to replace Miss Jansen, and Mrs. Algar was elected to take Mrs. Lancaster's seat.

The meetings have been held fortnightly, the total number being 21, and the average attendance has been 6.03.

The number of visitors during the year has been approximately 3,528; about 593 visits have been made by the Secretary, an increase of 300 visitors is interesting.

Visiting Committee.

A sub-committee was formed in April for the object of visiting with the Secretary and/or the District Nurse in order that the Committee should become more familiar with the cases under their notice and also to assist in the distribution of milk, butter and eggs.

Applications for relief have been more frequent at the rooms during the past few months, owing to the great influx of refugees from Siberia. The many generous donations received have greatly facilitated meeting these needs, and as the supply of warm underclothing was speedily exhausted it was decided to spend a portion of the money received for refugees in making good the shortage for the most deserving cases.

One or two cases may be of interest:—

(a) An English lady married o a Russian, refugees from Vladivostock, was earning a very small salary teaching English. By arrangement with The King's Daughters she was engaged as an interpreter to facilitate the work of investigating Russian cases. The Committee felt that money thus expended not only helped one family but was also beneficial to many others.

(b) Two young Russians who were trying to return to Odessa had tickets only as far as Port Said. To avoid giving them cash, arrangements were made through Messrs. Thos. Cook and passages paid for them to Odessa, leaving them a little money for use when they reach their destination.

The work during the year has been principally that of investigation, disbursements on behalf of different benevolent societies, and also private individuals, and the finding of employment.

There are still a number of old cases on the books, whilst the total number of new ones dealt with during the year amount to 340, made up of the following nationalities:—

British	51
Finns	32
Rumanian	35
Russians	72
Portuguese	39
Filipino	14
American	10
Belgian	8
Danish	6
Spanish	3
Arabian	4
Corean	9
French	8
Italian	4
Norwegian	5
Servian	4
Swedish	6
Bohemian	4
Jews	4
Poles	3
Armenian	2
Dutch	4
Letts	7
Czechs	4
Esthonian	9

Positions have been found for 64 cases, 21 have been assisted to leave Shanghai whilst 617 persons and/or families have been supplied with clothing and helped in other ways.

It is noticeable that the Charity Organization is being made use of more frequently as an employment bureau, both by employers and those seeking positions who are of other than the well-known "won't work" class.

The Committee would like once more to call attention to the undesirability of promiscuous giving of monetary assistance without investigation. As an example the case of "X" might here be quoted, who has for many years extracted considerable sums from charitable persons by writing begging letters, and calling on business men. Some of his letters are in the possession of the Committee and invariably run in this strain:—

"It is with a sorrowful heart I come to appeal to your kind and generous disposition towards a man who finds himself in the last dregs of life.

"I am without work, sick in bed, with a wife and two poor little innocent children, all suffering from the bare necessities of life, such as food, fire, medicines, and house rent and I unable even to leave my bed to look for work."

The Committee feels that it is most desirable to prevent money from being wasted on such people and reserved for genuine cases of distress.

Tenement House.

Regarded experimentally every justification is given not only for the existence of this house, but also for the suggestion that in the near future other flats should be added thereto. Thus would be given the means of tiding a family over a critical period until a situation is found and sufficient earnings saved to start afresh.

Among the many cases sheltered during the year the following may be of interest:—

(a) Application made by a Czech family for rooms. The husband is earning only $25 a month addressing envelopes and collecting accounts. When visited were found living in one room, which though small was very clean. The wife was expecting her first confinement and arrangements were made for this and clothes supplied for herself and child. In the interval they were given a "flat" and are being supplied with coal during the winter months.

(b) Russian officer and wife with one little girl. He had been a surgeon's assistant in the army. Is a specialist in the cure of rheumatism. They were given quarters and coal, and the wife, who is delicate, was supplied with butter, eggs and milk. One of the Circles of the King's Daughters' Society undertook the payment of the little girl's education for the time being. The man eventually obtained a good position and is now ever ready to help other unfortunates.

Public Library and Reading Room.

Acting on the suggestion made by the Committee of the Charity Organization in last year's report of the need for a Public Library and Reading Room on the north side of the Garden Bridge, The King's Daughters have opened a library and free reading room adjoining their rooms for women and girls only.

Mental Deficients.

The problem of dealing with this class of person continues to be a difficult one, owing firstly, to the lack of any proper institution to which they can be sent, and secondly to the lack of any power to keep them in any institution if such were available. The steamship companies are also unwilling to take them away from Shanghai.

The proportion of mental deficients amongst applicants for help is large. Many can never be self-supporting and fall easy victims to unscrupulous persons and temptations of all kinds. Such people are a burden and a danger to themselves and the community when standing alone, but in suitable surroundings often lead happy and cheerful lives.

In both Europe and America much attention has been and is being given to this question and it is hoped that ultimately it may be possible to have applied to Shanghai recent legislation in certain countries which would make it possible to deal with such deficients. But this would apply only to the nationals of these countries and the need for the institution would still remain.

It is encouraging that following upon an application made to H.B.M.'s Consul-General the support of one case which has been on the books since the commencement of the Organization, has been undertaken by the Consulate until arrangements can be made to send him to England or Australia.

The Committee again take this opportunity of thanking the various local benevolent societies, the Committee of the "Cottage" and private individuals for their ever ready help both monetary and otherwise in cases which have been referred to them; and also Mr. R. W. Davis for kindly auditing the accounts.

EVELYN MACDONALD,
Chairman.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2647.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1939.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 28, 1919.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2655.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24B Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 16, 1919.

CONDITIONS:

1. That the licence be not transferable.
2. That the licensee shall be the responsible owner of the business conducted at the shop or stall.
3. That the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous place inside the shop or stall.
4. That the word "Licensed Chinese Money Exchange, or Cash Shop" be exhibited conspicuously in large characters on the shop or stall both in English and Chinese.
5. That free access be given to the Police on duty and to officers of the Revenue Office charged with the inspection of licensed premises.
6. That the shop or stall be closed at 12 o'clock midnight and not re-opened until 5 o'clock a.m.
7. That the rate of exchange for the day be exhibited conspicuously in large figures on the shop or stall both in English and Chinese.
8. That the licensee report any change of address of his place of business to the Revenue Office and that the responsible ownership of the business be not transferred without the permission of the Council.

9. That the shop or stall cause no obstruction in the street or thoroughfare.
10. That no counterfeit money or forged notes be knowingly received or uttered by the licensee or by any person in his employ and that all information relating to any such counterfeit money or forged notes be immediately given to the Police.
11. That each shop be provided with a suitable grille or other protective device approved by the Council.
12. That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.
13. That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to cancellation or suspension by the Council and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

SECURITY.

At the discretion of the Council.

Fire Brigade Report for December 1919.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 25, as against 17 for the corresponding month last year. The damage, on assessed property within the Settlement, is estimated at Tls. 80,700 (Foreign, Tls. 34,200: Chinese, Tls. 46,500), as against Tls. 8,125 (Foreign, Tls. 2,500; Chinese, Tls. 5,625) during December 1918. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 2,680,500 (Foreign, Tls. 2,465,500; Chinese, Tls. 215,000), as against Tls. 546,000 (Foreign, Tls. 500,000; Chinese, Tls. 46,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows: — Telephones 17, Watch Towers 8, Police 7 and Street Alarms 3.

The district call was given on 10 occasions, the remaining 25 being station calls.

These calls proved to be 24 small fires, 4 false alarms, 6 fires outside the Settlement and 1 not traced.

The supposed causes of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—

Sparks or embers from stove	4
Lamp upset	3
Defective flue or grate	3
Spontaneous combustion	2
Charcoal stove overheated or in contact with matting	2
Sparks from fire built to thaw wafer pipe	1
Wooden hood of stove overheated	1
Dropped match or cigarette end	1
Clothes too close to stove	1
Fat overboiling	1
Electric wires fusing	1
Herbs overheated	1
Foreign substance in machine	1
Unknown	2

The premises affected were:—

Foreign buildings	11
Chinese buildings	22

Of these 3 houses were destroyed by fire, and 15 others were more or less damaged by smoke, fire and water.

The water used at fires during the month was 192,320 gallons.

The Brigade was occupied 452½ hours at fires, or supposed fires.

The month was rather conspicuous for the number of fires which were somewhat out of the ordinary. In the Settlement the more important were:—

December 5, Dah Ching Silk Filature, 88 Kansuh Road at 8.58 p.m.—The south section of the filature was in flames when the Brigade arrived and although the fire spread with extraordinary rapidity, the north section was saved. Some of the windows of the Women's Cells of the Mixed Court on the other side were slightly damaged.

December 29, V 163 off North Kiangse Road at 1.10 a.m.—This was a fatal fire, one man was got down at the back of the premises by the Brigade, but the front portion was well alight, and it was impossible to penetrate until a number of jets were brought to bear on the fire, when the bodies of a woman and two boys were found in the front room of No. 164, which connected with No. 163. From the upper floors of both houses, there was only one staircase, which was cut off, as the outbreak was against it.

December 29, 8 Hankow Road at 12.26 p.m.—On the same day a serious outbreak occurred in the godown at the back of No. 8 Hankow Road. This godown is surrounded by high buildings, and as it was fairly old and contained merchandise, mainly electrical goods and paper on the ground floor, and a large quantity of strawbraid on the first floor, the fire naturally burnt stubbornly, and gravely endangered the valuable buildings around. The Central and Honglon Divisions, however, soon covered it from every direction, and undoubtedly saved a large conflagration. Practically all the fire damage was confined to the half section of the godown upstairs, and a number of cases at the south-east corner on the ground floor.

It is interesting to note that the Brigade received 8 calls this day, all of which were genuine fires, and attended three within an hour. Apart from the Hankow Road fire, there was also an outbreak at a cotton mill; by no means an easy one to deal with, owing to the high wind.

Outside Limits. — The Brigade rendered assistance at a big conflagration in Chapei, and two big fires, in addition to minor others. The one in Chapei was at the Pao Foong Cotton Mill, when the mill proper was gutted, but where the Sinza Division, assisted by a section of Central, working under great disadvantages, having to cross the creek, with a number of lines of hose, etc., saved two very valuable godowns, full of yarn, etc., a medium sized flour mill, and a large block of weaving sheds. All of which, either connected or were right against the main mill. This was the largest fire in and around Shanghai during the year, and but for the services of this Brigade, the fire would have swept through and devastated the whole block, which is a very large and congested one, and would have possibly crossed the creek to the mills on this side.

The Brigade also attended to fires on the s.s. Yusang and the s.s. Foochow on the same day, December 19, at 2.53 a.m. and 11.33 p.m. respectively. Both outbreaks were of a similar nature, being amongst jute, in the lower No. 1 holds of both vessels. The one on the former being the more serious, and harder to extinguish, as the hold was fully loaded, mainly with jute, and had to be very carefully extinguished, especially as regards water, owing to the liability of the expanding jute forcing the ship's side, and the possibility of the ship sinking in deep water. The Hongkew Division working from the shore side by getting men down in the between decks to cut the fire off from working forward to the bunkers, and as soon as it was sufficiently held, the Brigade Float, with that of the Custom's standing by, kept at work whilst the ship was taken down river to shallow water, for the final extinction of the fire. Altogether the Department was working 20 hours. During the latter period the Floats were used for pumping out the lower hold, whilst the fire in the between decks was being dealt with.

The s.s. Foochow had little cargo, and the fire amongst the jute in the lower hold was put out in less than two hours. The outbreaks on these two ships were certainly peculiar, and of an extremely suspicious nature.

Chief Officer.

Paulun Hospital.

Report and Statement of Accounts for 1919:—

Shanghai, February 4, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that at the annual meeting of the Dong Chee Hospital committee (late Paulun Hospital), which was the first full meeting of the committee since May 13, last year, your letter dated May 28, 1919, was discussed at length.

As the committee has kept its promise during its tenure of charge for the year 1919 not to employ any German in any capacity in the Dong Chee Hospital, I have the honour to request you to kindly issue the grant-in-aid of Tls. 2,000 for 1919 towards the up-keep of the hospital.

Enclosed I beg to hand you the statement of accounts for 1919, together with the Medical Report.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
C. L. CHOW,
Honorary Secretary.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

MEDICAL REPORT.

During the year 1919, 12,684 patients have been treated at the hospital's policlinic, of whom 1,380 were admitted to the hospital. The corresponding numbers for the preceding four years were:—

1915	...	6,685 and	981
1916	...	9,568 and	1,039
1917	...	10,075 and	892
1918	...	10,468 and	1,199

Regarding frequency, the cases are ranging as follows:—

Diseases of the eye	3,456
Venereal diseases and skin diseases	3,369
Surgical cases	2,791
Internal diseases and gynecological cases	2,670
Diseases of the ear, nose and throat	398

86 patients being indigents had free treatment during 1,829 days.

There were 801 operations, 85 of which were major ones. In 7 cases were major gynecological operations performed.

To meet the high prices of drugs and dressings, the patients of the 1st and 2nd classes had to pay a certain percentage of such hospital expenses.

There were 119 cases of death, 37 of which were delivered in a dying state.

Burglaries—Warning to Householders.—The following warning was issued in the press on January 24:—

"An unidentified burglar is active in the Western district just now. He enters houses through a verandah window. One method is to open the outer shutters by removing a slat so that an arm can be inserted and the bolts pulled, and then to cut a whole pane of glass out of the window. Another method, when the shutters cannot be opened because the space between them and the window is too small for the arm to be inserted, is to remove a shutter slat, cut out a piece of window glass, insert the arm, turn the knob and so open the window.

"In cases where entry has been effected in one of these ways it is almost always found by the Police that one of the bolts, either on the window or the door, has been left unfastened when the house was shut up for the night. This is due to the carelessness of the servant who has not shot the bolt into its socket, or of the householder who has not had the fastenings kept in proper repair.

"It is difficult to render the ordinary verandah window proof against a determined burglar, but the following measures, if adopted, will make entry more difficult:—

"1.—Window and shutter fastenings to be in good order. Bolts to be kept oiled and sockets well screwed in. Warped shutters, which prevent the bolts being shot home, to be repaired. Servants to be impressed with the importance of properly securing all fastenings at night.

"2.—Shutter slats to be closed and properly hooked up or wedged so as to render them immovable from the outside. This makes cutting them out much more difficult and noisy.

"3.—A screwed bolt-fastening between window and shutter makes it impossible to open either until the bolt is removed. The latter passes through a hole in the window frame and screws into a socket in the shutters. Its position should be such that a hand inserted from the outside to turn the window handle as described above, cannot reach the bolt head to unscrew it.

"4.—An additional bolt, top and bottom, on the window frame would usually frustrate an entry by the second of the two methods mentioned above."

Robberies.—During the month three cases of armed robbery from dwelling houses, two similar cases in which no arms were used and one case of highway robbery were reported to the Police.

Stolen Property.—There were 414 reports of stolen property during the month. These included 47 cases of burglary, 12 cases of housebreaking, 9 cases of shop or office breaking and 4 of godown breaking. Successful investigations were made in 127 cases.

Bombs.—A bomb explosion occurred on a verandah of the Wing On Building on Nanking Road on January 18. No one was injured and little damage was done to property.

Executions.—During the month two armed robbers were executed at Loongwha in the presence of a representative of the Municipal Police.

Bicycle Thefts.—Bicycle stealing is on the increase. Residents are warned of the risk they run in leaving machines in exposed places unprotected by some form of lock or chain.

Crime Outside Limits.—Two cases of murder and 15 cases of robbery and piracy in the district around the Settlement were reported to the Police during the month.

Strikes.—Although there were many reports of demands by workers in various industries for advances in wages during the month, only in one case did stoppage of work actually occur. This was on January 2, when 4,000 assistants employed in medicine shops in the Settlement and the City went on strike. The matter ended the following day after the strikers had been granted a flat rate increase of $1.50 each per month.

Fingerprints.—Fingerprint investigations are made wherever possible in connexion with all crime. In cases where good prints are obtainable a search is made immediately through the fingerprint records on file at C. I. D. Headquarters. These at present total over 90,000. If no identification is made at the time, the prints are reproduced, placed on file and compared daily with the prints of all persons arrested both in this Settlement and in Frenchtown.

Opium.—On January 23 four Chinese were convicted by the Mixed Court of the larceny of opium from 459 Tientsin Road on December 28, 1919. Sentences ranging from 1 to 4 years' imprisonment were passed. On January 27 ex-P. C. Allen, who accompanied the party which stole the opium, was acquitted in the British Court of the same offence.

Numerous raids on opium dens were made by the police during the month.

Political.—The passage through Shanghai en route for Peking of Mr. Lu Cheng-hsiang (陸徵祥). Chief of the Chinese Delegation to Versailles Peace Conference, on January 22 was made the occasion for rejoicing and demonstrations among local Bodies which support the stand taken by the delegates in refusing to sign the Peace Treaty. The arrival in Shanghai two days later of Dr. C. T. Wang, another member of the Peace Delegation, caused further rejoicing.

There was no development regarding the Internal Peace Conference during the month, but from reports received it appears likely that negotiations may be re-opened after Chinese New Year.

Anti-Japanese Boycott activities were continued during the month. A mass meeting was held under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions in the Public Recreation Ground near St. Catherine's Bridge on January 1. About 3,000 people representing over 50 different societies attended, and all present pledged themselves to refrain from dealing in Japanese goods. Visits of students in search of Japanese goods to shops situated in Chinese territory continued during the month. In one instance they seized 390 bundles of cotton yarn which they burned on the Public Recreation Ground.

The Shantung Question was again prominent. The offer made by Japan to open direct negotiations with the Chinese Government caused strong protests from several political groups in Shanghai. A mass meeting was held on the Public Recreation Ground on January 31. Owing to wet weather only about 1,200 people, representing some 70 societies and Street Unions, were present.

The agitation for Chinese representation on the Municipal Council assumed a serious aspect early in the month. On December 31 to January 6 an advertisement inserted by the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions, the headquarters of which is situated at 13 Avenue Edward VII in Frenchtown, appeared in several of the leading Chinese daily papers. This notice urged Chinese ratepayers not to pay Municipal rates for the first quarter of the new year unless their demand for Municipal representation was granted. A handbill emanating from the same source and worded in the same strain was widely distributed on January 6. At one of the meetings held at the headquarters of the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions between December 23 and 27 it was also decided that a general strike should be ordered in the event of the Municipal Authorities taking measures to enforce the payment of rates. It is to be noted that had this threat been made effective the resulting strike would have embraced not only merchants and students but in all probability labour as well.

The effect of this anti-authority propaganda on the part of the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions was apparent when the collection of the first quarter's taxes commenced on January 9. Householders in Fokien and Honan Roads who were visited on that date with few exceptions refused to pay. Accordingly on the following day 19 defaulters were summonsed before the Mixed Court. None of them appeared. Mr. Linebarger, a lawyer engaged for their defence, was suspended in the course of the proceedings. Having heard the evidence the Court ordered the defendants to pay the taxes with costs forthwith; and as this was not done, distraint warrants were issued and executed the same afternoon. In five cases the police who undertook the execution of the warrants succeeded in getting cash from the defaulting shops: in the remaining cases goods to the equivalent value were seized. Some commotion resulted from the proceedings taken at Nos. 808/9 Fokien Road, a shop owned by the President of the Street Union, and in consequence a few of the adjoining shops began to close their doors. As crowds collected others followed suit, and the movement thereafter continued rapidly until it embraced nearly all the shops south of Nanking and east of Thibet Road. It also affected others in the North Fokien and Haining Roads on the north side of the Soochow Creek.

It appears that the summary action taken by the authorities to enforce their rights completely surprised the agitators. The Amalgamated Association of Street Unions immediately summoned a conference at their Headquarters in Frenchtown. This meeting lasted for many hours and gave rise to much heated discussion. Fortunately for themselves and their followers, instead of attempting to carry out their threat of a general strike the leaders eventually advised the shopkeepers who had closed their doors to resume business on the following day.

The collection of taxes was continued on January 13, but in Szechuen and Kiangse Roads, the two streets visited, the result was only about one-fourth normal. More summonses were accordingly applied for and distraint warrants executed, after which the people came to their senses and the collection proceeded satisfactorily.

On January 14 the committees of the various Street Unions and representatives of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce held a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building on North Honan Road and decided to abandon further anti-tax agitation.

During this period a good deal of semi-official negotiation was taking place between the leaders of the movement and certain foreigners, the former consisting of Chen Tsoh-ming (陳炳民), President of the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions; Sung Hang-chang (宋漢章), C. C. Nieh (聶雲台), David Zeh Tseng-yue (俞日章), Secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; and Dr. F. C. Tong (湯節之), President of the Commercial Federation.

A point that was particularly noticeable during the agitation was the absence of a sense of responsibility among local Chinese journalists. As already stated, some of the leading Chinese daily papers began by publishing the advertisement of the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions urging residents to refuse to pay their rates. Later, 5 papers mischievously and maliciously accused the police, who executed the distraint warrants, of assaulting employes of shops and wantonly damaging goods in some of the shops they visited. The "Min Kuo Pao" (民國報), one of the offending newspapers, was proceeded against in the Mixed Court and Yih Tsu-tsaung (葉楚傖), the editor, was fined $300. Four other newspapers, namely, "The National Herald" (神洲日報), "The China Times" (時事新報), "The Sin Wan Pao" (新聞報), and "The Da Sheng Jih Pao" (大生日報) were thereupon only too eager to publish apologies completely withdrawing their libellous statements; and similar proceedings against them were accordingly withdrawn.

In connexion with this agitation, it is a matter for great regret that the Headquarters of an organization which has openly and continually threatened the peace and good order of this Settlement for some time past should continue to function in the neighbouring Settlement.

Identification Office.—During the month 503 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, ont of which number 167 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 179 records were received from the French Police out of which number 87 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Health Officer's Report for January.

There was a moderate prevalence of the Typhoid fevers, Influenza and Diphtheria during January. The Diphtheria was of the customary mild type. The incidence of Influenza resembled that of the two preceding months, namely, was of a smouldering rather than epidemic type. The indications are that it will not flare up into epidemic proportions in Shanghai as it is now being reported to be doing in Japan and parts of America. The death rate both among foreigners and Chinese showed no exceptional gravity for January.

Although the water supply has not been so pure as usual, due to the exceptional lowness and resulting concentration of the river water, yet it does not appear to have caused any exceptional incidence of disease. Cases of Typhoid and Paratyphoid fever were above the average for the year but this is customary during abnormally dry winter months. It is more probable that this is due to excessive watering of vegetables with nightsoil rather than to the concentration of typhoid organisms in the water supply; but the latter cannot be disregarded. The conditions certainly emphasize the importance of carefully following the constant recommendations of the Public Health Notice not to consume water which has not been boiled or filtered through a germ-proof filter. Only a very few of the domestic filters advertised as germ-proof are, when put to the test, genuinely germ-proof; and, even where such is the case, the candle of the filter wants weekly cleaning and boiling and the washers examined for soundness. Boiling the water is the safer method. The flat taste of boiled water can generally be removed by aeration when cold by thoroughly shaking the closed water bottle.

During the nineteenth century the importance of water in spreading Typhoid fevers, Bacillary Dysentery, Cholera and other diseases was exaggerated. The application of more scientific methods to the study of pathogenic organisms and water purification has shown that while the water supply is a factor of great importance, it is not as important as was once supposed. As a matter of fact most pathogenic organisms cannot long survive in water, and this emphasizes the importance, apart from filtration, of providing large storage reservoirs in waterworks. Water-borne outbreaks of disease are usually explosive in character and are frequently of short duration. Large storage reservoirs are a very important factor in restraining and preventing such outbreaks. It may also be pointed out that in China the universal use of nightsoil as a manure tends largely to maintain the pathogenic purity of the rivers but at the same time greatly increases the danger of conveyance of disease by market garden produce. Hence the special need of following the recommendations of the Public Health Notice as regards such foods.

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for January.

Frosty weather again caused some delay in outside work particularly in work entailing the use of concrete. Several of the larger drainage works have been hindered as the frost has interfered with the manufacture of concrete tubes at the Depôt. Low water in the creeks up country has interrupted the supply of road and building materials as the larger boats have been unable to come down.

The demolition of the concrete bridge at Peking Road is well advanced. This work has to proceed cautiously as there are a number of mains and cables to be dealt with. The removal of this bridge will make it possible to lower the road at this point and permit of the elimination of an awkward "hump" in the tramway track.

Roads.—The widening of Bubbling Well Road East of Siccawei Road is completed with the exception of a small area near the corner of Siccawei Road. This is held up on account of a shortage of spalls as also is the relaying of the tramway track along the centre of the road.

The widening of Bubbling Well Road west of Ferry Road is practically completed on the north side. The widening on the south side cannot be effected until the brick boundary wall has been set back to the new line.

The ballasting and metalling of a 12 ft. strip of Tsitsihar Road north of Ward Road has been completed.

Bundings.—The concrete bunding in West Soochow Road east of Cadastral Lot 731 W. has been completed and the roadway is being made up.

Drainage.—The foundation of the Defence Creek culvert has been completed throughout. Pipes have been laid as far as Amoy Road and for a distance of 250 feet south of the Soochow Creek.

The construction of the 3-ft. diam. culvert in Ichang Road west of Gordon Road has been completed.

The culverting of the Singkeipang from Singkeipang Road to Dent Road has been completed with the exception of the section replacing Chaoufoong Road bridge.

12-in. diam. sewers have been laid as follows:—

Penang Road east of Gordon Road.
Kirin Road east of Thorburn Road.
Whashing Road north and south of Rangoon Road.

Jetties and Pontoons.—The P. & O. jetty has been reconstructed in connexion with the Bund reclamation scheme, and similar work is in hand on the Peking Road jetty and the jetty opposite the Telegraph building.

A reinforced concrete jetty has been constructed in Dixwell Road north of Broadway East.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

General.

Administration Building.—The external heating trench is about half finished. The floor battens and concrete filling on the second floor are completed. Another consignment of window casements for the third floor arrived during the month.

Fire Brigade.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The walls are now nearly up to the level of the first floor and the erection of the falsework for this floor will shortly be commenced.

Hongkew Fire Station Workshops.—The concreting of the roof has been completed.

Electricity Department.

Woochang Road Substation.—All reinforced concrete work has been completed.

Tonquin Road Substation.—Work on the construction of this building is suspended awaiting a decision as to extension.

Administration Building Substation.—Reinforcement is in place for the first floor.

Riverside Power Station.—Progress with the pile driving and foundations has been rather slow owing to obstruction encountered in the nature of pipes, cables and old foundations. All piles are driven excepting for the footings on the west side.

Fingchiao Quarry.—551.75 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month.

Cleansing and Watering.

Road sweepings collected 4,810 cartloads
Used for raising land 640 ,,
Water used for street watering 2,268,800 gallons.

Labour.—The average number of labourers employed daily was as follows:—

Coolies	2,170
Artisans	293
Foremen	211
Mafoos	155

Concretework.—The following has been produced during the month:—

Hand made	3,566 pieces

Work Shelters.—There were 48 admissions during the month and 120 bundles of wood chopped.

Mixed Court Report for January.

In connexion with the refusal to pay Municipal Taxes for the current quarter, thirty-three summonses were issued by the Court. In two cases payment of taxes was made before service of summons. Judgment was given against the remainder for the amounts claimed plus Court costs. In twenty-five cases it was necessary to issue warrants of execution. In only six cases was it necessary to seize goods and have the same sold by public auction.

There were twenty-nine persons charged with burglary during the month as against fifteen in December 1919.

Twenty-four foreign civil petitions were filed during the month.

With the approach of the Chinese New Year the number of Chinese Civil claims filed rose to ninety-five. The number of cases awaiting a first hearing at the end of the month rose from sixty-three to eighty-three.

Messrs. A. D. Blackburn, P. Grant Jones, J. E. Jacobs and R. P. Tenney have been appointed by the Consular Body as Assessors to sit in Chinese Civil Cases for the year 1920.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with, Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1919.

Price of Issue until further notice 95 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution V passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 9, 1919, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1919.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 95 per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1939.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer, Finance Department, 248 Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

By order,

E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 28, 1919.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2655.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 248 Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

The first interest period will be from September 5, 1919, to March 5, 1920, during which interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

Fire Brigade Report for January.

The total number of calls to fires or supposed fires, during the month was 53, as against 18 for the corresponding month last year. The month constituted a record for the number of calls—53, the previous record being 50 in January, 1913. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement, is estimated at Tls. 20,500 (Foreign Tls. 2,450: Chinese Tls. 18,050) as against Tls. 49,525 (Foreign Tls. 40,175: Chinese Tls. 9,350) during January, 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 643,000 (Foreign Tls. 380,000: Chinese Tls. 263,000) as against Tls. 196,500 (Foreign Tls. 134,500: Chinese Tls. 62,500) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Watch Towers 20: Telephones 19: Police 11: Street Alarms 2: and French Brigade 1.

The district call was given on 17 occasions, the remaining 36 being station calls. These calls proved to be 26 small fires, 1 chimney fire, 9 false alarms, and 17 fires outside the Settlement.

The supposed causes of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Dropped match or cigarette end 3: Sparks, or embers from stove, stove pipe or chimney 6: Candle or charcoal warmer in contact with bedding 3: Firecrackers 2: Fat falling into stove 1: Defective flue 2: Fusing of, or sparks from, electric light wires 2: Candle in contact with bunting 1: Lamp upset or in contact with curtain 1: Portable cooking stove too close to door 1: Stove overheated 1: Unknown 3:

The premises affected were:—

Foreign buildings	2
Chinese buildings	37

Of these one building was destroyed, and 38 more or less damaged by smoke, fire and water.

The water used at fires during the month was 243,650 gallons.

The Brigade was occupied 494 hours and 35 minutes at fires, or supposed fires.

The year opened with a very difficult month, as apart from the record number of calls, and the usual trouble of frozen hydrants, there was a shortage of water, which is stated to be due to the difficulty of filtration, caused by the lowness of water in the river. Also there was at times a very high wind, and it is a matter of satisfaction that the fire loss was so low. The ratio with the property at risk was but 3 per cent. A large number of calls were received for fires outside the Settlement; assistance was rendered at six of these.

January 3, XG726 North Chekiang Road.—A number of shops were alight, and the fire was difficult to check owing to it having entered a terrace of two-storey buildings at the back, which contained a good deal of lath and plaster work

January 7, Chinese City.—The Brigade in conjunction with the French Concession Brigade, rendered valuable assistance at a fire on the City side of the Boulevard de la Republic, near the o'd North Gate.

January 8, E234/5 Shanse Road.—This outbreak was fortunately quickly checked, as it was right against the back premises of No. P128 Nanking Road, a very large Silk Hong.

January 8, Woosung Road Extension, Chapei.—Assistance was rendered to the Chapei Brigade when a large number of dwellings were in flames. This fire was practically extinguished by the Settlement Brigade.

January 13, Lih Teh Oil Mills, Outside.—The Brigade by quick response, although having to pump across the creek, and work along the back of the mill, just prevented the flames from reaching a quantity of burning grease. A very large matshed containing over 1,000 barrels of oil, grease, etc., was destroyed.

January 12, Chapei.—When the Cervis Brush Factory, just the other side of the Markham Road Bridge was in flames. There was a stiff northerly gale at the time; the building contained a very large quantity of celluloid, and at times the flames were blown right across the roadway, and beyond the banks of the creek. The premises, although possessing fairly solid walls, had wooden floors, light wood partitions, etc. This fire burnt with great fierceness, and the Brigade had the hardest task of the month to confine the fire to the factory, and prevent it from involving property this side of the creek.

A regrettable number of lives were lost, and the fire provides a useful lesson as to the design and supervision that is required to ensure the safety of the inmates of buildings of the factory type.

January 14, 0228/9 Kiukiang Road.—This had the makings of a very serious fire, three corner shops being alight at the time of arrival of the Brigade. Hydrants were frozen, water was short, and high tension overhead wires were down, from which several of the men received serious shocks. Although working under these disadvantages, the fire, as soon as water was obtainable, was speedily surrounded and comparatively little damage was done.

January 14, G602 Fokien Road.—Whilst waiting for the nydrants to be thawed, the Brigade removed practically all the goods on the ground floor, consisting of valuable furs, etc., to a place of safety. The contents were insured for Tls. 15,000, but the actual loss was under Tls. 3,000.

January 17, Urga Road, Chapei.—The adjoining premises to those affected by fire on October 25, 1919, were well alight, and a number of small cotton godowns at the back. Although this building is in Chapei, the outbreak was practically extinguished by the Settlement Brigade.

January 18, Pootung.—A large number of shops, etc., on the centre street of the La Nee Duh Village were in flames. This fire was also practically extinguished by the Settlement Brigade.

January 22, B318/9 Sinza Road.—Again at this fire by salvage operations, practically the whole of the goods on the ground floor were saved almost undamaged.

January 24, Hou Sung Cotton Mill.—The fire was in the mixing bins, and a good deal of fire damage could have been prevented had the mill people carried out instructions to instal interior hydrants.

January 27, Chapei.—When the San Yah Silk Filature was destroyed. The fire was such a serious one that the Brigade again laid on across the creek, and were just in time to save the Tuck Sz Fook Filature, which was right against the burning building, and a portion had just caught on fire.

Fire Brigade.

Paragraph 13 of the Fire Brigade Report for January, published in the Gazette of February 26, should read as follows:—

"Lih Teh Oil Mills.—The Brigade, by quick response, although having to pump across the creek and work along the back of the mill, prevented the flames from a mass of burning grease from reaching and destroying a large matshed containing over 1,000 barrels of oil."

Fire Brigade Report for February.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 29, as against 12 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 10,025 (Foreign Tls. 125; Chinese Tls. 9,900) as against Tls. 20,650 (Foreign Tls. 20,050; Chinese Tls. 600) during February 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 612,500 (Foreign Tls. 437,500; Chinese Tls. 175,000) as against Tls. 361,000 (Foreign Tls. 325,000; Chinese Tls. 36,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 15; Watch Towers 8; and Police 6. The District call was given on 4 occasions the remaining 25 being station calls. These calls proved to be 25 small fires, and 4 fires outside the Settlement.

The main supposed causes of fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Dropped match or cigarette end 2; Firecrackers 3; Unknown 2; Incendiarism 2. The premises affected were:—Foreign Buildings 3 and Chinese Buildings 10. Of these 1 matshed was destroyed, and 12 houses, etc., affected by fire, smoke and water.

The Brigade was occupied 197 hours and 5 minutes at fires, or supposed fires.

In reference to the losses Foreign and Chinese, such refer to fires that occur in buildings erected under the Building Rules with Respect to Foreign and Chinese Buildings respectively, irrespective of occupancy.

Further difficulty was experienced with the water supply, in fact at times during the month the situation could only be described as serious.

Every precaution was taken as far as the Brigade was concerned, and fortunately nothing untoward occurred. Machines and men were kept specially on the alert, and other arrangements made. By effecting some remarkably good stops, fires were so quickly checked that the loss was exceedingly low.

One of the fires, a large silver shop, drew attention to the necessity of periodical inspection of the fire appliances by this Department, for although the hydrants were fitted with the standard instantaneous outlets, some of the hose had couplings of the screw type, thus not being interchangeable, and a good deal of confusion was caused when the inmates tried to use the appliances prior to the arrival of the Brigade.

In a large building a flue pipe from a closed stove had been run into the space at the back of the corble, bearing a large joist, evidently this space was taken for a flue, and the joist naturally caught fire.

In another building a flue opening had been covered by paper, and a residue of soot becoming ignited naturally set fire to the paper, and had the outbreak occurred at night, the consequences might have been serious.

These two outbreaks occurred in buildings of Chinese occupation, the former in large offices, and the latter in an educational store.

One of the outbreaks attended by the Brigade was of rather an unusual character, namely on board the Italian Submarine Chaser No. M.A.S. 226, lying alongside the Rowing Club pontoon. There was a small fire, and the crew fearing an explosion made a number of holes in the hull. The Brigade by salvage work with one motor pump, working from the road, and the Fire Float alongside, saved the Submarine Chaser from sinking, and after pumping out and plugging the holes, the Brigade Float towed it to the Old Dock.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.

MOTOR FREIGHT VEHICLES AND FREIGHT TRAILERS.

THE Public is hereby notified that on and after April 1, all owners of Motor Freight Vehicles and Freight Trailers will be required to take out a special licence under Bye-law XXXIV.

The licence conditions are as follows:—

MOTOR FREIGHT VEHICLES.

(Including Freight Vehicles propelled by steam or electricity or by internal combustion engines.)

CONDITIONS.

1. That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person and refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application made for this licence.
2. That the licensee and the man in charge of the vehicle conform to all Police regulations in force for the time being.

3. That each wheel of the vehicle be fitted with tyres made of rubber or other soft or elastic material to be approved by the Council.
4. That the chassis weight, the body weight allowance, the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers and the gross weight of the vehicle be shown on a plate affixed in a conspicuous position on the vehicle and remain at all times legible and undefaced.
5. That the over-all length of the vehicle including the body or other structure be not more than 24 feet; and that the over-all width including the body or other structure be not more than 7 feet 6 inches.
6. That the over-hang of the vehicle be not more than one-fourth of its over-all length and be measured from the centre of the rear axle to the rear of the frame or body or other structure built upon the chassis.
7. That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the vehicle; that the figures be 3½ inches high and in all parts ⅝ of one inch broad; that the width of the space occupied by each figure, except the figure 1 be 2½ inches, that the space between adjoining figures be ½ of one inch; that such number be white on a black background and remain at all times legible and undefaced and that such number be used only on the vehicle in respect of which the licence is issued.
8. That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry two lighted lamps in front, one on each side, so constructed and placed as to exhibit a white light visible within a reasonable distance in front and a lighted tail lamp showing a red light behind and a white light to the left so placed as to render the number of the licence clearly visible within a reasonable distance, that such tail lamp be kept free from mud oil or other material which may tend to obscure the light therefrom; that where head-lights only are carried in front, they be provided with a suitable means of reducing the power of the light; that within the area east of Carter Road and west of Muirhead Road the use of head-lights be permitted only when their full power is suitably reduced; and that these and other lamps carried be subject to approval by the Council.
9. That no load be carried by the vehicle which will result in a greater wheel load than that indicated by the following table:—

Diameter of Wheel	Maximum of load per inch width of tyre
2'0"	600 lbs.
2'6"	670 ,,
2'9"	710 ,,
3'0"	750 ,,
3'3"	790 ,,
3'6"	810 ,,
3'9"	840 ,,
4'0"	870 ,,

10. That the vehicle carry an instrument, other than a bell or gong, capable of giving audible and sufficient warning of approach or position, and that such instrument be subject to approval by the Council.
11. That the vehicle be fitted with efficient splash guards.
12. That proper precautions be taken to prevent exhaust pipes discharging in such a manner as to cause annoyance to the public.
13. That the speed of the vehicle be adjusted to the traffic, more especially at street crossings or corners, at sharp curves and in narrow roads and that, when its gross weight exceeds 7,000 lbs., the speed be not in excess of 12 miles per hour or, if drawing a trailer, 9 miles per hour.
14. That the driver be provided with a permit to be given him after examination by a Board to be appointed by the Council.
15. That the driver produce the licence and his own permit when called upon to do so by the Police.
16. That the licensee be responsible for any damage done through the negligence of the man in charge of the vehicle.
17. That only one trailer be drawn by the vehicle at any one time, that its maximum freight capacity be not in excess of that of the vehicle, and that it be duly licensed.
18. That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.
19. That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

SECURITY.

At the discretion of the Council.

FEES.*

(a) Where gross weight does not exceed 4,000 lbs., Tls. 14 per quarter.
(b) Over 4,000 and up to 8,000 lbs., Tls. 20 per quarter.
(c) Over 8,000 and up to 12,000 lbs., Tls. 24 per quarter.
(d) Over 12,000 and up to 16,000 lbs., Tls. 30 per quarter.
(e) Over 16,000 and up to 20,000 lbs., Tls. 40 per quarter.
(f) Over 20,000 and up to 24,000 lbs., Tls. 50 per quarter.
(g) Over 24,000 lbs. by special arrangement.

For motor freight vehicles operating as vehicles for hire or as public freight carriers the fees are 50 per cent. in excess of those set out in the above scale.

The gross weight of a vehicle comprises the weight of the chassis, the body weight allowance and the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers of the vehicle.

*Subject to approval at the forthcoming Annual Meeting of Ratepayers.

NOTE.

Standard number plates are obtainable gratis upon application at the Revenue Office.

This licence is not available for the French Settlement.

FREIGHT TRAILERS.

CONDITIONS.

1. That unless with the consent of the Council this licence is not transferable to any other person and refers only to the trailer in respect of which it is issued, which trailer is described in the application made for this licence.
2. That the trailer shall at all times carry a man-in-charge who shall ride thereon.
3. That the licensee and the man in charge of the trailer conform to all Police regulations in force for the time being.
4. That each wheel of the trailer be fitted with tyres made of rubber or other soft or elastic material to be approved by the Council.
5. That the chassis weight, the body weight allowance, the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers and the gross weight of the trailer be shown on a plate affixed in a conspicuous position on the trailer and remain at all times legible and undefaced.
6. That the over-all length of the trailer including the body or other structure be not more than 20 feet; and that the over-all width including the body or other structure be not more than that of the vehicle by which it is drawn.
7. That the over-hang of the trailer be not more than one-fourth of its over-all length and be measured from the centre of the rear axle to the rear of the frame or body or other structure built upon the chassis.
8. That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the trailer, that the figures be 3 inches high and in all parts ⅝ of one inch broad; that the width of the space occupied by each figure, except the figure 1 be 2½ inches; that the space between adjoining figures be ½ one inch; that such number be white on a black background and remain at all times legible and undefaced; and that such number be used only on the trailer in respect of which the licence is issued.
9. That between sunset and sunrise the trailer carry two lighted tail lamps placed one above the other at the right-hand side of the trailer showing red lights behind and white lights to the left so placed as to render the number of the licence clearly visible within a reasonable distance, that such tail lamps be kept free from mud, oil or other material which may tend to obscure the light therefrom.
10. That the maximum freight capacity of the trailer be not more than that of the vehicle by which it is drawn.

Sewage Disposal.

Further report by the Commissioner of Public Works in continuation of that published in the Gazette of December 25, 1919.

Shanghai, February 24, 1920.

In continuation of my report of November 22, 1919 I recommend that the sewage of the eastern portion of the Central District be treated on the plot of land belonging to the Council at the north-east corner of the Rifle Range.

I now propose to comply with the Council's instructions to me to proceed to Singapore and Rangoon probably meeting Professor Fowler at Bangalore.

It will be remembered that I was to go into the question of high water pressure supp'y at Singapore; their main drainage and system of sewage disposal is also of importance.

Rangoon is probably the only other place in the world which is faced with the same problem as we have in Shanghai and the "Ejector System" in operation there is probably the best criterion as to what should or should not be adopted in Shanghai.

The question of converting native latrines from the pail system to the water flushed system, a point on which Professor Fowler laid great emphasis can only be investigated in India.

The urgency of the Sewage question and Water Supply is becoming more and more apparent as time goes on.

C. H. GODFREY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

The Commissioner of Public Works has left for Singapore and Rangoon.

Burglaries.—It is necessary again to call attention to the precautions advised in last month's police report and in the press in regard to the fastening of verandah windows and shutters. In almost all cases of burglary entry is effected in the manner described therein, and a recently captured burglar has impressed upon the police the fact that unless the windows and shutters are secured in some way in addition to the ordinary top and bottom bolts, entry presents little difficulty to an experienced man.

On the early morning of February 28 a burglar was caught in the British Consular Compound by Mr. A. D. Blackburn, British Assessor at the Mixed Court, and handed over to the Police. On being fingerprinted he was found to be the person responsible for 6 recent cases of burglary in the Settlement.

Stolen Property.—During the month 315 reports of stolen property were received by the police. These included 41 cases of burglary, 19 of house-breaking, 1 of shop-breaking and 3 of godown breaking. In 104 of these cases investigation was made with successful results.

Robberies.—During the month the police received 4 reports of armed robbery from dwelling houses, 1 of attempted armed robbery from a dwelling house, 8 of armed highway robberies and 5 of highway robberies in which no arms were used.

Executions.—Nine persons convicted of armed robbery in the Settlement were executed at Loongwha in the presence of a representative of the Municipal Police during the month.

Bomb Explosions.—A bomb exploded on a balcony of the "New World" on the evening of February 20. Another bomb explosion took place outside a dwelling house in an alley off Nanking Road on February 22. In neither case was anyone injured or serious damage done.

Counterfeit Money.—During the month 2 men were arrested for uttering spurious 20-cent pieces and were sentenced to 1 year and 3 months' imprisonment respectively. Another man was arrested on a charge of uttering forged rupee notes and was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment.

Violent Deaths.—A quarrel which terminated fatally took place on Manila Road on February 7, the victim dying from injuries inflicted with a chopper in the hands of a burglar from whom he was attempting to extort hush money.

On February 5, as the result of a trivial quarrel, a coolie was injured on the Old Ningpo Wharf and subsequently died in hospital. His assailant was arrested and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment.

On February 13 a Chinese died in hospital from wounds inflicted on him the day before by a number of men outside a teashop in Taku Road. Three of the latter were arrested by the police.

On February 4 a burglar against whom there were 3 previous convictions was found in a house in East Yuhang Road by 2 of the inmates who handled him so severely that he died on the way to the police station. The persons responsible were formally charged before the Mixed Court and were released.

Crime Outside Settlement Limits.—Two cases of murder and 13 of robbery and piracy were reported during the month in the immediate neighbourhood of the Settlement.

Strikes.—500 workers employed in the Carding Room of the Sun Sing Cotton Mill, 87 Yangtszepoo Road, struck work on February 25 as a protest against the summary discharge of one of their number. 100 of the strikers resumed work on February 27 while the remainder were still out at the end of the month.

German Prisoners of War.—More than 800 German prisoners of War, who have been interned in Japan for some years, passed through Shanghai on February 2 en route for Germany.

Political.—An association called the People's Society was organized early in February to strengthen the Anti-Japanese boycott and the popular opposition to direct negotiations with Japan on the Shantung question. This society seems to be an offshoot of the National Organizations' Union of China and has its offices in the headquarters of that Union at Nos. 15 and 16 Yong Loh Lee (永樂里) off Rue Kraetzry in the French Settlement. Following its formation it convened a series of meetings, the most important of which took place in the Public Recreation Ground, near St. Catherine's Bridge, on February 9, and was attended by over 6,000 people. The Chairman of the Students' Union presided. He and other speakers addressed the meeting concerning the arrest of students in Tientsin, the 21 demands of Japan, the Shantung question and the Foochow incident. They urged their hearers not to recognize the Peking government and to insist on the dismissal and punishment of the Civil Governor of Chihli and the Chief of the Tientsin Police. A petition embodying these demands was drawn up, and a small deputation followed by a large crowd proceeded to Loongwha for the purpose of presenting it to the Acting Military Governor. On the way the procession was stopped by a body of troops drawn up across the road, but the deputation was allowed to proceed. The Acting Military Governor being officially absent at Hangchow the petition was handed to one of his subordinates; and after considerable parley of a somewhat heated nature, the deputation eventually withdrew. Similar petitions were also presented to the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs and to the Shanghai Taoyin.

To further emphasise the demands of the meeting efforts were made to persuade the shopkeepers in the City to suspend business on February 10. For this purpose a large procession to start from the Public Recreation Ground was arranged for the afternoon of that day. The movement was not successful, however; and it was obvious, possibly owing to the imminence of the New Year, that the bulk of the people were not particularly interested.

The Amalgamated Association of Street Unions began during the month to foster an agitation against the licensing of tobacco and exchange shops in the Settlement, but a summons to these shop owners to meet at its headquarters on February 15 met with such a poor response that the idea was eventually abandoned. The Association is now apparently giving its attention to the compilation of a list of persons entitled to vote under a proposed revision of the bye-laws which it compiled and circulated last November.

Political events in Siberia have brought into prominence locally the activities of Russian Socialists. Meetings organized by leaders of this group were held in the Russian Employment Bureau on the premises of the American Naval Y. M. C. A. on Avenue Edward VII on February 8 and 15. About 150 persons were present on each occasion. Opposition to the present Diplomatic and Consular representatives of Russia in China was voiced at both meetings and the advisability of exercising supervision over the Russo-Asiatic Bank was also discussed. A Committee of seven to attend to these matters and to devise means to bring about friendly relations between Chinese democratic organizations and the new government in Siberia was selected. The 2 most prominent members of that Committee have since left Shanghai for Vladivostock. Articles appearing in the "Shanghai Life," a local Russian newspaper, indicate that these political agitators have its support.

Considerable activity was noticeable in labour circles during the month. The drafting of rules for the Chinese Labourers' Union, which will be an affiliation of the principal trade unions in Shanghai, was continued and two new societies were formed. One of the latter is called The Ship and Godown Workers' Union, and it is worthy of note that at a meeting of its members held in No. Y.1746 North Szechuen Road on February 29 the principal speaker was a Russian Communist.

Identification Office.—During the month 424 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 144 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 162 records were received from the French Police out of which number 60 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Health Officer's Report for February.

During February the sub-epidemic incidence of Influenza, which has been present since November, continued; and there was an increase in the number of deaths returned as Pneumonia.

Since the epidemic of Cerebro-spinal fever in Hongkong early in 1918 cases have occurred in Shanghai in small numbers during the late winter months. Previous to 1918 cases were reported in the Yangtsze valley from time to time, but no such epidemic as occurred in Hongkong is known to have been previously described in China.

Smallpox continued absent, but this should not be a reason for neglecting vaccination. It is indeed due to past attention to vaccination that the present immunity is due. Free vaccination was stopped at the Branch Health Offices during the inclement weather; to be resumed after the Chinese New Year when the coming of spring always brings crowds of babies for vaccination.

The water supply continued turbid but towards the end of the month showed a return to its normal purity. The incidence of the Typhoid fevers, which is usually an index to the prevalence of water-borne disease, showed no sign of exceptional increase.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

Organisms of the coli group were present in quantities of 1.5 c.cs. and upwards of the water.

Report on Analysis.—The chlorine content, which during January had been marked owing to sea-water admixture due to lowness of the rivers, fell to normal on February 7 after 7 days rain. The water continued turbid during the month, the suspended matter being fine enough to pass through filter paper. The quantity of suspended matter is given in this report for the first time. The water is organically purer and the bacterial content very considerably reduced.

No. 2685.

MOTOR FREIGHT VEHICLES AND FREIGHT TRAILERS.

THE Public is hereby notified that on and after April 1, all owners of Motor Freight Vehicles and Freight Trailers will be required to take out a special licence under Bye-law XXXIV.

The licence conditions are as follows:—

MOTOR FREIGHT VEHICLES.
(Including Freight Vehicles propelled by steam or electricity or by internal combustion engines.)

CONDITIONS.

1. That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person and refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application made for this licence.
2. That the licensee and the man in charge of the vehicle conform to all Police regulations in force for the time being.
3. That each wheel of the vehicle be fitted with tyres made of rubber or other soft or elastic material to be approved by the Council.
4. That the chassis weight, the body weight allowance, the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers and the gross weight of the vehicle be shown on a plate affixed in a conspicuous position on the vehicle and remain at all times legible and undefaced.
5. That the over-all length of the vehicle including the body or other structure be not more than 24 feet; and that the over-all width including the body or other structure be not more than 7 feet 6 inches.
6. That the over-hang of the vehicle be not more than one-fourth of its over-all length and be measured from the centre of the rear axle to the rear of the frame or body or other structure built upon the chassis.
7. That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the vehicle; that the figures be 2½ inches high and in all parts ⅜ of one inch broad; that the width of the space occupied by each figure, except the figure 1 be 2½ inches, that the space between adjoining figures be ½ of one inch; that such number be white on a black background and remain at all times legible and undefaced and that such number be used only on the vehicle in respect of which the licence is issued.
8. That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry two lighted lamps in front, one on each side, so constructed and placed as to exhibit a white light visible within a reasonable distance in front and a lighted tail lamp showing a red light behind and a white light to the left so placed as to render the number of the licence clearly visible within a reasonable distance, that such tail lamp be kept free from mud oil or other material which may tend to obscure the light therefrom; that where head-lights only are carried in front, they be provided with a suitable means of reducing the power of the light; that within the area east of Carter Road and west of Muirhead Road the use of head-lights be permitted only when their full power is suitably reduced; and that these and other lamps carried be subject to approval by the Council.
9. That no load be carried by the vehicle which will result in a greater wheel load than that indicated by the following table:—

Diameter of Wheel	Maximum of load per inch width of tyre
2'0"	600 lbs.
2'6"	670 ,,
2'9"	710 ,,
3'0"	750 ,,
3'3"	780 ,,
3'6"	810 ,,
3'9"	840 ,,
4'0"	870 ,,

10. That the vehicle carry an instrument, other than a bell or gong, capable of giving audible and sufficient warning of approach or position, and that such instrument be subject to approval by the Council.
11. That the vehicle be fitted with efficient splash guards.
12. That proper precautions be taken to prevent exhaust pipes discharging in such a manner as to cause annoyance to the public.
13. That the speed of the vehicle be adjusted to the traffic, more especially at street crossings or corners, at sharp curves and in narrow roads and that, when its gross weight exceeds 7,000 lbs., the speed be not in excess of 12 miles per hour or, if drawing a trailer, 9 miles per hour.
14. That the driver be provided with a permit to be given him after examination by a Board to be appointed by the Council.
15. That the driver produce the licence and his own permit when called upon to do so by the Police.
16. That the licensee be responsible for any damage done through the negligence of the man in charge of the vehicle.
17. That only one trailer be drawn by the vehicle at any one time, that its maximum freight capacity be not in excess of that of the vehicle, and that it be duly licensed.
18. That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.
19. That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

SECURITY.

At the discretion of the Council.

FREIGHT TRAILERS.

CONDITIONS.

1. That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person and refers only to the trailer in respect of which it is issued, which trailer is described in the application made for this licence.
2. That the trailer shall at all times carry a man-in-charge who shall ride thereon.
3. That the licensee and the man in charge of the trailer conform to all Police regulations in force for the time being.
4. That each wheel of the trailer be fitted with tyres made of rubber or other soft or elastic material to be approved by the Council.
5. That the chassis weight, the body weight allowance, the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers and the gross weight of the trailer be shown on a plate affixed in a conspicuous position on the trailer and remain at all times legible and undefaced.
6. That the over-all length of the trailer including the body or other structure be not more than 20 feet; and that the over-all width including the body or other structure be not more than that of the vehicle by which it is drawn.
7. That the over-hang of the trailer be not more than one-fourth of its over-all length and be measured from the centre of the rear axle to the rear of the frame or body or other structure built upon the chassis.
8. That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the trailer, that the figures be 3½ inches high and in all parts ⅜ of one inch broad; that the width of the space occupied by each figure, except the figure 1, be 2½ inches; that the space between adjoining figures be ½ of one inch; that such number be white on a black background and remain at all times legible and undefaced; and that such number be used only on the trailer in respect of which the licence is issued.
9. That between sunset and sunrise the trailer carry two lighted tail lamps placed one above the other at the right-hand side of the trailer showing red lights behind and white lights to the left so placed as to render the number of the licence clearly visible within a reasonable distance, that such tail lamps be kept free from mud, oil or other material which may tend to obscure the light therefrom
10. That the maximum freight capacity of the trailer be not more than that of the vehicle by which it is drawn.
11. That no load be carried by the trailer which will result in a greater wheel load than that indicated by the following table:—

Diameter of Wheel	Maximum of load per inch width of tyre
2'0"	600 lbs.

Motor Freight Vehicles and Freight Trailers.

Correspondence with the French Municipal Council on the subject of the proposed licence conditions for these vehicles:—

Translation of letter from The Secretary of the French Municipal Council, dated November 28, 1919.

SIR,—I am directed to inform you that at its last meeting, the French Council considered it a good opportunity to carry out certain changes in the taxes levied on various classes of vehicles.

1. Vehicles for Hire.—The French Council proposes that the tax levied upon hired automobiles should be raised from Tls. 8 to Tls. 10 per quarter.

2. Vehicles for Commercial Use.—Motor trucks and delivery wagons and motor delivery cycles circulate with only one licence valid for both Concessions.

The Municipal Council issues about 70 licenses per quarter for vehicles of this kind, but the French Council only issues two.

Considering that these vehicles daily use the public roads of the French Concession and that they are also employed solely for commercial uses, the French Council considers that it would be equitable to impose a licence for each of the two Concessions, following the rule adopted for vehicles for hire.

The Council proposes to apply the following tariff:

Motor Trucks of at least 1 ton, Tls. 20 per quarter
Motor Trucks of less than 1 ton, Tls. 10 per quarter
Motor Trucks for delivery, or removal of at least 1 ton, Tls. 20 per quarter
Motor Trucks of less than 1 ton, Tls. 10 per quarter
Delivery wagons or removal vans drawn by animals from Tls. 3 to Tls 5 per month
Delivery cycles (pedals), Tls. 0.50 per month
Delivery cycles (motor), Tls. 5 per quarter.

The reason and the opportunity for such a measure are too evident for there to exist in the mind of the French Council the least doubt as to its acceptance by the Municipal Council.

I am, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Chairman of the French Municipal Council, dated December 29, 1919.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that at its meeting on December 22, the French Council considered the new regulations that the Municipal Council proposes to apply to motor vehicles such as waggons, trucks, etc.

As regards the paragraph at the end of this regulation, which implies that the licences pertaining to these vehicles will be equally available for the French Concession, the French Council can only confirm the decisions on this subject expressed in its letter of November 28, last, and it feels obliged to protest, as was agreed unanimously by the members at the meeting, that a decision of such importance and which so vitally concerns the Municipal Administration, should have been taken by the Municipal Council without previous consultation.

The Council is, therefore, firmly resolved to maintain the right of the French Municipal Administration to impose on the vehicles in question a separate licence for the French Concession, and to collect a tax, commencing from April 1, 1920, on the basis indicated in its letter of November 28, before mentioned.

I am, etc.,

P. LE BRIS,
Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, January 28, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 29, 1919, on the subject of the special licence conditions recently approved by the Council for application to motor freight vehicles and freight trailers, a corrected copy of which was forwarded to the Secretary of your Council on December 24.

It appears to the Council that your letter is based upon a misapprehension of the facts of the case. By mutual arrangement between the Council and your Council of some years' standing, residence has been the determining factor in the issue of motorcar licences and licences issued in this Settlement or in the French Settlement have been valid in the other, except only in the case of public passenger-carrying cars. No alteration in this procedure has been or is contemplated by the Council; on the other hand with the growth in the number of motor freight vehicles it appeared to the Council that the licence conditions that were originally designed for the needs of passenger-carrying motorcars were scarcely suited to motor freight vehicles. Careful consideration was, therefore, given to the question of what special conditions were required to meet the needs of the case, and eventually the conditions above referred to were passed by the Council, subject to reference to your Council for its views.

At the same time and in the view that motor transport is peculiarly suited to the traffic of the Settlement, since it relieves congestion and causes less wear and tear of roads proportionately than that caused by wheelbarrow and hand cart traffic, the tariff of licence fees was fixed on such a basis as will in fact, generally speaking, result in some reduction in the fees hitherto in force except in the case of public freight services where it was considered that the far greater use made of the roads rendered it reasonable to impose a tariff 50 per cent. in excess of that for those employed in private freight service.

The Council had practically concluded its deliberations on the matters herein referred to when your Secretary's letter of November 28 was received, making certain suggestions in regard to the licence fees and licensing procedure for public motorcars and for motor freight vehicles, and upon a consideration of these suggestions it appeared to the Council desirable that its Secretary should in the first instance call upon your Secretary and explain the position to him, requesting him to inform your Council of the view held by this Council that the existing procedure, under which residence is the determining factor in the issue of licences, is on the whole satisfactory, for although your Council may for the present be the loser in so far as motor freight vehicle licence fees are concerned yet in my colleagues' opinion it is distinctly the gainer in respect of passenger motorcar licence fees, since it has the upkeep of approximately forty-five miles of road only as contrasted with the hundred and thirty miles in this Settlement for which this Council is responsible.

As to the licence fees for motor freight trailers, I do not think that there are any in operation in the Settlement at the present moment, but with the growth of motor freight vehicles it appeared to the Council that trailers would soon be introduced and that it was, therefore, desirable that the conditions under which they should be licensed should be drawn up, and following the line taken in the case of motor freight vehicles the same procedure was not unnaturally provided for, viz., that the licence should be available in both Settlements.

In conclusion I have the honour to emphasize that there was never any intention on the Council's part that the new conditions should be enforced without their prior communication to your Council and to suggest that if you are unable to agree with the Council's views as herein expressed you should kindly delegate certain representatives to meet representatives of this Council, when I have no doubt that we could come to a mutually satisfactory arrangement.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman.

P. LE BRIS, Esq.,
Chairman, French Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Chairman of the French Municipal Council dated February 9, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 28, last, on the subject of the new regulations for motor lorries and various trucks.

The French Council considered the matter at its last meeting on February 2, and regrets that it is unable to agree with the view of the Municipal Council.

However, in order to arrive at a satisfactory solution of the question, it has decided, in accordance with the suggestion that you have been kind enough to make, to delegate two of its members, Mr. Dard and Mr. Dyer and its Secretary, to meet with the representatives of the International Settlement.

I should be much obliged if you will let me know if Thursday, February 12, at 5.30 p.m., will suit you for this conference, which could be held either at the Municipal Council's Office or at those of the French Municipal Council, whichever is most convenient to you.

I am, etc.,

P. LE BRIS,
Chairman.

E. C. PEARCE, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, February 17, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to thank you for your letter of February 9, on the subject of the Council's proposed special Licence Conditions for application to motor freight vehicles and freight trailers and to inform you that as the Council was fully occupied with Committee meetings on Thursday last, February 12, it was arranged between the Secretary and the Secretary to your Council, that the meeting of representatives of the two Councils to consider this matter should take place on Thursday, February 26, at the Council Room at 5.30 p.m., which date and hour it is understood will be convenient to you.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman.

P. LE BRIS, Esq.,
Chairman, French Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, March 8, 1920.

Sir,—I am directed to inform you that the correspondence which has passed between the two Councils on the subject of the licensing of motor freight vehicles and freight trailers was submitted for consideration at the last meeting of this Council when the Chairman reported that it had been tentatively agreed at the conference between representatives of the two Councils on Thursday, February 26, that each Council should issue separate licences for motor freight vehicles, freight trailers and motor delivery tricycles. This agreement was unanimously confirmed and at the same time members directed that the licence fees set out in the former set of licence conditions previously forwarded to you under Classes A and C for motor freight vehicles should be reduced to Tls. 14 and Tls. 24 respectively and for freight trailers to Tls. 10 and Tls. 17 respectively, such fees to come into force as from April 1 next, subject to their approval at the forthcoming Meeting of Ratepayers. I am directed to request your kind con firmation of your Council's agreement with the principle that for motor freight vehicles, freight trailers and motor delivery tricycles separate licences shall be issued for each Settlement.

I am Sir,

Your obedient servant,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,
Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Yuyuen Road. — Arrangements have been concluded with the Shanghai Land Investment Co., Ltd. for the acquisition of Mow 1.022 of land required from B. C. Lots 2630, 6144 and 6208 for the widening of this road at Tls. 3,000 per mow or a total sum of Tls. 3,066 for the area involved. Of this area Mow 0.422 will be used for the road widening and the balance, Mow 0.584 remains as Surplus Land for resale hereafter.

Gordon Road.—The following correspondence with Mr. E. S. Little is published for general information. With a view to improving and adapting this road to the increasing amount of traffic, the section of the road between Haiphong and Ichang Roads will be ballasted and metalled as soon as practicable:—

Shanghai, February 14, 1920.

SIR,—I desire to draw your attention to the deplorable condition of the Gordon Road from the Riding School to the Robison Road.

The traffic along this section of the road is constantly increasing and has already reached such a volume that it is most difficult to drive along it. Matters are made much worse by the fact that a strip is still mud. If this were metalled there would be a considerable improvement.

The carts and barrows also the rickshas very generally disregard the rule of the road because they refuse to be forced on to the mud road: they stick to the metalled part refusing to budge even to allow others to pass. I have frequently to break the rule of the road and get myself off on to the mud road in order to be able to pass at all.

I have not seen for a long time any horseman using the mud road consequently there is no need to maintain this section for horsemen.

Conditions would perhaps be somewhat improved if the policy were to patrol the section so as to regulate the traffic and compel all users of the road to obey the traffic regulations.

I trust the Council will take steps to improve the state of the road at an early date.

Yours sincerely,

EDWARD S. LITTLE.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 5, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 14, 1920, relating to the condition of Gordon Road from the Riding School to Bubbling Well Road and, in reply thereto, I am directed to inform you that the Council will ballast and metal the whole of this road so soon as is practicable, having regard to other necessary work and provision of a sufficient supply of road material.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Report of the Acting Commissioner of Public Works for February.

Great difficulty is being experienced in obtaining a sufficient supply of road materials from contractors, and many works are held up in consequence. Although the terms of the contract specify that in event of non-delivery by the contractor the Council may obtain materials from other sources and debit any additional cost to the contractor, it is usually found that other contractors are reluctant to supply, which points to the existence of a somewhat powerful "ring" formed for the mutual protection of contractors.

When opportunity offers it is intended to accumulate a reserve supply of all materials in order to obviate interruption of public works.

On the nights of February 1 and 2, a slight fall of snow occurred. The main roads had been swept clear by about 9 a.m. but it was not possible to get all the heaps removed until later in the day as it was more than the Public Works Department transport could cope with.

Roads.—The temporary traffic islands in Nanking Road and Bubbling Well Road for the accommodation of tramway passengers have, with slight modifications, been approved by the Police and they are now being made permanent.

The ballasting and metalling of a 12 ft. strip of Yuting Road has been completed west of Medhurst Road. A 12 inch diam. sewer has also been laid. A commencement has been made with the widening of Hungjao Road to 60 feet. At present work is in hand through the village west of Warren Road.

Bundings.—Although there was the usual interruption of work at Chinese New Year better progress has been made with the Bund reclamation.

Sixty feet of bunding has been completed to finished level and most of the wooden piles have been driven for the toe of the stone slope. This work can only be carried on at low water and progress is necessarily slow.

Drainage.—The remaining pipes of the Defence Creek culvert are being laid and the construction of a wooden bunding abutting on the Soochow Creek is in hand.

The culverting of the Singkeipang with 4-ft. 6-in. diam. tubes has been completed between Singkeipang Road and Dent Road. In connexion with this work the wooden bridge in Singkeipang Road and the concrete bridge in Chaoufong Road have both been demolished.

Municipal Properties.

Administration Building.—Further progress has been made with the electrical work, laying of floors and construction of heating trenches. Preparatory work in connexion with the heating apparatus has been commenced, and the contract for the cold water supply and sanitary installation has been let.

Fire Brigade.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The ground floor concrete walls of the tower have been completed. The walls generally are now up to the level of the first floor and the erection of the falsework for the first floors has been commenced.

Hongkew Fire Station Workshops.—The internal plastering and laying of floors are being proceeded with.

Electricity Department.

Woochang Road Substation.—This building is nearing completion, all centres having been removed.

Administrative Building Substation.—The concrete work for the first floor has been completed.

Riverside Power Station—Office Building.—The reinforcement and concrete work for the foundations on the east side have been completed.

Public Works Department.—A workshop and store shed with an office for the District Inspector has been completed at the Lay Road Depot.

Pingchiao Quarry.—1,709½ tons of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month.

Cleansing and Watering.

Road sweepings collected 3,925 cartloads

Used for raising land 508 ,,

Water used for street watering 1,444,200 gallons.

Labour.—The average number of labourers employed daily was as follows:—

Mixed Court Report for February.

The Mixed Court was closed from February 20 to February 24 inclusive on account of the Chinese New Year Holidays. Three courts sat on the morning of February 25 and tried all police cases which had accumulated during the holidays. The majority of these cases were of a trivial nature.

The following foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court during the month on criminal charges :—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
H. E. Johnson	British	Drunk & disorderly	3 months' impt.
Hadjo Din alias Sah Baker	Persian	Larceny	2 months' impt.
Hirsh Derman	Turkish	Embezzlement	Dismissed.

During the month the Court tried :—

18 cases of burglary, as against 29 in January.

23 cases of cruelty to animals, as against 10 in January.

165 cases of larceny, as against 240 in January.

53 cases of gambling, as against 8 in January.

Before the Chinese New Year litigants rushed to file civil claims, no less than 60 petitions being filed from February 1 to 18. From February 23 to the end of the month only twelve petitions were filed.

The number of Chinese Civil Cases awaiting a first hearing at the end of the month was 57 as against 83 at the end of January.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with, Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

VICE CONDITIONS IN SHANGHAI

REPORT OF

The Special Vice Committee

Shanghai, March 9, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to hand you herewith the unanimous report of the Committee appointed by the Council to inquire into Vice conditions in the Settlement.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
SKINNER TURNER,
Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN, Municipal Council.

At the Ratepayers' Meeting held in 1919 the following resolution was passed:—

"That the Shanghai Municipal Council be authorized to appoint a Special Committee to investigate vice conditions in the International Settlement; and that such Committee be empowered to collect evidence from the Municipal Departments and other sources and report and make recommendations thereon to the next Ratepayers' Meeting. That the said Special Committee be composed of nine persons, three to be nominated by the Council, three by the Shanghai Moral Welfare Committee and three others by the six nominated as aforesaid."

In accordance therewith a Special Committee was appointed: Messrs. A. Brooke Smith, T. Ibukiyama and Skinner Turner on the nomination of the Council; Mrs. Remer, Rev. F. Rawlinson, D.D., and Mr. L. E. Canning on the nomination of the Moral Welfare Committee. Mrs. Henman, Mr. W. D. McCallum and Mr. S. C. Lin were nominated by the first named six members. Mr. Skinner Turner was elected Chairman. The Committee so formed was fortunate enough to secure the services of Mr. P. Campbell as its Secretary. In December 1919 Mr. Ibukiyama died, to the great regret of his colleagues: and the vacancy was filled by the addition of Mr. W. P. Lambe on the nomination of the Council. In all, the Committee held twenty-two meetings and examined twenty-five witnesses in addition to obtaining evidence from the records of Shanghai and elsewhere. The assistance of the public was asked through the medium of the Gazette for suggestions and several replies were received. The various departments of the Council gave all the assistance that was asked and the same may, with some few exceptions, be said of the public. The views of representative Chinese were obtained through the medium of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

The inquiries of the Committee were directed to the question of public prostitution in the Settlement: its extent and situation: to the existence and number of brothels and their control and to the prevalence of venereal disease and the provision for its cure, with the object of endeavouring to ascertain and recommend remedies to control and check the vice known to exist here.

Before turning to the facts as we have ascertained them, it is necessary to relate shortly the past history of this matter, as far as we have been able to learn it.

History.

It is noteworthy that the original Land Regulations and Bye-laws contain no reference to brothels: they were therefore left to the ordinary operation of law enforced in the various Courts exercising jurisdiction in the Settlement. In 1871 it was estimated that there were 463 native houses with 1,612 native prostitutes in the Foreign Settlement north of the Yangkingpang Creek; with 250 houses and 2,600 prostitutes in the French Concession. (See Dr. Henderson's report published in 1871). The question of prostitution at that time was put forward by Dr. Henderson as one that demanded the serious consideration of those whose duty it was to guard the interests and care for the health of the foreign community of Shanghai. He, while recognizing the difficulties of the position, stated:—

"The greater number of these brothels exist for the use of natives only, and such ought to find no place in the foreign Settlement."

The next step that has come to our notice is the amendment of the Bye-laws in 1898. This was the outcome of the report of an influential Committee appointed by the Ratepayers in 1896 and a new Bye-law XXXIV (the present one) was then recommended and adopted. This Bye-law added the "brothel" to the list of those places that should be licensed; and we do not doubt that that recommendation was made after due thought and deliberation. But at that time no fee for a brothel licence was put forward and no attempt was made to enforce the Bye-law. In 1905 a strong Committee composed of businessmen, clergy, and missionaries sat to consider this question of prostitution in the Settlement and unanimously reported in favour of the strict carrying out of Bye-law XXXIV and, therefore, of licensing brothels. This recommendation was, however, turned down by the then Watch Committee as being, from a Police point of view, impracticable and in some directions not wholly desirable. It is interesting to note that the Chinese property owners at that time were not averse to licensing or to the limiting of the areas in which these establishments should be allowed. The fact remains that brothels never have been licensed; and as far as we know, no prosecutions have ever been instituted for the keeping of such a house without a licence. Bye-law XXXIV in this respect has been a dead letter, and no control by this means has ever been exercised over brothels.

But there is carried on now a work by the Council which in effect is the exercise of control over certain houses and their occupants. In 1877 a Lock Hospital was opened by the Council at the urgent request of the then British Admiral, for the sake of the sailors frequenting the port. The women, known as the Cantonese women, were registered and were medically examined once a week. A small fee for registration was charged and fines were inflicted for non-attendance, etc. It would appear that there is no legal sanction for the imposition of any such fine, but both fines and fees are still collected and the revenue from this head is about Tls. 2,590: while the expenditure is estimated at about Tls. 7,380. The work is now carried out at the Isolation Hospital and there are some 195 women on the roll. The card supplied to each woman contains her photograph (for purposes of identification) and is initialled whenever she is examined; but no certificate is given that she is free from disease. We do not doubt that these cards are used by the women as advertisements in their trade. This work of the Council has been considerably challenged in times past and in 1877, 1879, 1888 and 1890 was under discussion at Ratepayers' meetings: in every case the action of the Council was endorsed by the Ratepayers.

In the last few years the matter of public prostitution has been pressed upon the Council by various Missionary and other bodies in Shanghai: and your Committee is the outcome of their efforts.

Facts.

Our inquiries show that there are at least 633 brothels with 4,575 inmates in the International Settlement. Of these there are 15 houses with 53 foreign women and 618 houses with 4,522 Chinese women. This can under existing conditions only be an estimate; and it cannot be a complete one for it takes no account of the "sly" prostitute, and we do not doubt that there are many such here. But it is a sufficiently alarming fact when the population (Chinese) of the Settlement is remembered to be about 665,000. This gives the enormous proportion of one prostitute to 147 of the population. Even taking the population of the greater Shanghai as 1,500,000, it means one in 332; and adding the registered prostitutes in the French Concession it means one in 300.

It is a striking fact that brothels are in fact to be found in certain localities only; thus 4,429 of 4,522 prostitutes (about 97 per cent.) are in Central, Louza and Hongkew Police Districts: in three only out of eleven such districts, whilst 97 per cent. are in Louza district alone. The Foreign Prostitutes are to be found in Central and Hongkew Districts. And we draw the inference from this that the problem of commercialized vice is not spread all over the Settlement. We are satisfied that while the condition of some streets in the Settlement has improved, the state of things in certain parts of the town is extremely bad: the main thoroughfares are probably better than heretofore, but in certain parts the side streets are very bad indeed: women are to be seen in groups either in the street or on their doorsteps and make no disguise as to their calling. There is no reason to think that the law, if strictly enforced, is not strong enough to check and control the evil of soliciting. It is stated that this street nuisance is infrequent in the French Concession amongst the inhabitants of the licensed houses, because a conviction may endanger the licence. The penalties usually inflicted on the prostitute for the offence of street walking are probably too small to have much deterrent effect on her or on the brothel keeper who pays the fine, and efforts should be made to take proceedings against the keepers of the brothels whence these women come. We do not doubt (though we have no actual proof) that brothel properties are rented higher than similar properties let for ordinary purposes. And the owners of such properties, therefore, cannot escape criticism in a matter like this: they take the higher money for the use of their property for this trade. And as nearly all the land in the Settlement is registered in foreign names, it follows that foreigners here are, actively or passively, assisting in a degrading trade, which in some countries at all events is criminal. In England, for example, it is a criminal offence, and one which carries other consequences as well, for a landlord or his agent to let premises or any part thereof with the knowledge they are to be used as a brothel: and we find no less than 633 houses known as brothels in this Settlement. It is not long since an action for the rent of a brothel was brought by a foreign landlord in the Mixed Court: it was dismissed on the ground that such a letting was an immoral contract and therefore unenforceable at law: and again it is known that an order made by the Mixed Court closing a brothel was cancelled on the application of the registered owner, a foreigner, partly on the ground that the Mixed Court had no jurisdiction over the property inasmuch as it was registered in a foreign Consulate. These two cases show that there are foreign owners of property in the Settlement who must be fully aware of the nature of the business carried on in their houses.

Policy.

In considering the policy that should underlie any recommendations of ours, it is to be remembered that (according to the preamble of the Land Regulations) we are dealing with a place set apart by the Chinese Authorities for the residence of foreigners: and it is up to the foreigner to set a high standard in matters of morality. We find that brothels are strictly forbidden in the last Land Regulations for a British Concession (Tientsin) and we learn that they do not exist as such in the native city. They are illegal under Chinese law until licensed: they are licensed in the French Concession to the number of about 114. And we are unanimously of opinion that the ultimate aim of the Council to adopt is one of elimination of the brothel from the Settlement. We do not believe that the prosperity of Shanghai depends on the brothel: though it may well be that the prosperity of the brothel depends on the prosperity of Shanghai. In considering the methods to be adopted in carrying out such a policy we have to remember the very large number of women engaged in the business, many of them entirely against their will and many of them because they know no better. In addition Shanghai has a very mixed population with very varying ideas of morality. It would seem to be out of the question to proceed immediately for the total suppression of this business in Shanghai. But we are unanimously of opinion that, instead of endeavouring to obtain new powers it is advisable to use the powers that already exist and to rigorously enforce them. We are informed by the Council's officials that this can be done and we therefore recommend that Bye-law XXXIV be strictly enforced, and that brothels be licensed with a view to elimination. These licenses should be issued every six months and should be subject to annual drawings, whereby they would all cease in five years. The first drawing should be made in October next, so that the first reduction would come into force in April 1921. The licences should pay a nominal fee of $1 each, and they should be limited in number to the houses known to exist as brothels on December 31, 1919. No licence should allow more than ten women in any one brothel, with the further limitation that no brothel is to have in it more women than were there on December 31, 1919. In addition to other requirements the licence must contain the names of the inmates of the house and every change of occupant must be notified and entered on the licence. There must be the full right of entry by the Police and Health Departments to the licensed premises: and no sale of opium or intoxicants must be allowed therein. The usual consequences for breach of a condition will follow.

The register of licences to be kept by the Council should contain also the name of the registered owner of the land on which the brothel is situated: this register to be open to the inspection of any ratepayer. And, in order to obtain the co-operation of these registered landowners in the policy thus outlined, a formal notice should be sent to them as soon as practicable stating the use to which their property is being put.

Under no circumstances should any licence be issued for premises near schools.

A special warning should be given to each licence holder that solicitation is an offence punishable by law and that the conviction of any occupant of a licensed house of this offence will endanger the licence.

Every licensed brothel must keep exhibited in a conspicuous place the address of the nearest police station and of any other where help may be obtained by a prostitute if required: also a statement that no woman can be detained in the brothel against her will: also the address where free medical assistance can be obtained and a warning of the dangers of neglecting such assistance.

It is necessary to say that in its deliberations and recommendations your Committee has made no difference between the foreign brothel and the native brothel: the same conditions should apply to all.

Lock Hospital.

The matter of the Cantonese women and their examination by the Council's medical officers has caused us much anxiety. We were informed that some good is done by this work and that some good is better than none, but the medical examination possible is not conclusive as to the absence of disease and the value of this examination is not very marked. It is most undesirable that the cards when marked by the medical officer should be available in the hands of the women to attract customers with a false sense of security; and we understand that the British Naval Authorities would not be averse to the cessation of this examination. We recommend that the practice cease. We learn that, though there is a licensing of brothels in the French Concession, there is no medical inspection of the women.

Drink.

It is hardly necessary to enlarge upon the known relationship which exists between the liquor traffic and the brothel. It is much to be feared that a considerable amount of drink is sold in the Settlement in places that are not licensed for its sale. We recommend that more efforts be made to check this and that more supervision be kept over those who already hold licences for the sale of drink. We see no reason why all tavern licences should not be granted annually after due announcement to the public, with full opportunity for them to prefer objections. This procedure is now only followed in the case of "Foreigners" licences, and it is not applicable to Chinese licences. We think it should apply to all alike.

No liquor licence of any sort should be issued to a brothel, and the issue of what are now known as "brothel wine licences" should cease.

Indecent Advertisements.

The existence of indecent advertisements, especially in the form of quack remedies for venereal disease, is wide-spread. The difficult work of dealing with this matter is not the weakness of the law, but the fact that to the Chinese mind these advertisements are not indecent. The Courts have dealt with cases of this sort, and the law in this matter should be continually enforced, trusting at the same time to the influence of education on such a matter. It is greatly to be feared that advertisements offering to cure venereal disease in a few days, which are common here, can only have the effect of lessening one restraint against sexual indulgence.

All parks and other open spaces under the control of the Council should be well-lighted and policed in the summer months.

It follows from much that has already been stated that we are of opinion that the law wants no strengthening, but that much may be done in the matter of enforcement of the law. We recommend that the Council consider the formation of a special branch of the Police Force for work of this nature. It is naturally delicate work and requires special training. Your Committee while making this recommendation do not feel that their inquiries enable them to pronounce upon the employment of women police: the very peculiar conditions as to nationality, language, etc., make the position far different to that in the Western world, where we understand women have been usefully employed as police. This question is therefore one on which your Committee express no opinion one way or the other. At the same time, we asked the Commissioner of Police, before he went on leave, to pay special attention to this side of the matter.

Prostitutes.

While recommending the policy of the eradication of the brothel from the Settlement, with proceedings against the brothel keeper whenever possible, it must never be forgotten that steps must at the same time be taken to help the thousands of prostitutes at present in the business. Generous assistance should be given to institutions like the Door of Hope in order to provide a refuge for these women; and information should be given in all brothels of the existence of such institutions here. With the measure of control now recommended this ought to be entirely feasible. The establishment of trade schools for women and other schemes of that nature may be outside the scope of the Council's activities; but sympathetic co-operation in their establishment should, as far as possible, be given by the Council.

Hotels.

We have great reason for thinking that much immorality takes place in certain Chinese hotels in the Settlement: rooms are let without precaution and only occupied for a short time. It has been stated that it is known that rooms are let to several couples during the same night: each paying for the night but only occupying the room for a short period. It is not easy to suggest any remedy for this evil: it is a matter in which the help of the public may be most valuable. It may also be to some extent remedied by the recommendation to place all tavern licences on the same basis and only grant them, after due notice to the public, at an annual licensing meeting. We note that one of the conditions of a licence for a Chinese lodging house is that no immoral conduct be permitted in any part of the premises. This condition might well be added to the tavern licence.

Speaking generally any conviction for an offence against morality should endanger any licence and the habitual using of any licensed place other than a brothel for the purposes of immorality should be a ground for refusing the renewal of the licence holder and should incapacitate him from holding any such licence again.

Venereal Disease.

We regret that owing to insufficient information we are unable to make a statement as to the prevalence of venereal disease in the Settlement. Our inquiries from certain hospitals met with no response and the answers we did receive do not enable us to make any finding on the subject. We recommend that the Health Department endeavour to obtain regular statistics on the matter; and we further recommend that all hospitals or such like institutions in receipt of moneys from the Council be required to treat these diseases and to keep returns in such form as may be approved by the Medical Officer of Health. Further provision, in the way of clinics or otherwise, should be made by the Council for the treatment of these diseases in various parts of the Settlement.

Education.

A question has been much discussed amongst us as to what education in sex matters should be imparted in schools to the rising generation of both sexes. We realize the difficulties attending this very delicate matter and recommend that the Council call a Conference of all Educational Authorities in Shanghai and the neighbourhood to consider what, if any, instruction in these matters be given in schools. We feel sure that such an invitation would be accepted and the result would be productive of much good.

At the same time we think that the Health Department might undertake propaganda, which we understand it is prepared to do, relating to the evils of sexual indulgence and the dangers arising therefrom.

Your Committee has made no heroic recommendations: they are fully alive to the limitations upon any Municipality in matters of this sort, which are far greater in a place like Shanghai than elsewhere. They did not set out on their investigations with any idea that their work would result in the ending of prostitution: they know full well that men and women are not made moral by Act of Parliament: education must always be the main factor in matters of this sort. But they have approached their task with the hope that they may be able to recommend something which will improve the conditions of things here and at the same time will check and lessen what has been well described as "commercialized vice": the business of the promotion of vice and the artificial stimulation of passion for profit. And much assistance can be given to the authorities by the public: for instance in bringing to their notice facts relating to any licensed premises which constitute an offence or a ground for cancelling or refusing a licence.

Your Committee has not been able to enter into any investigation of the causes, economic and other, which operate in China to create this business; but they have endeavoured to put forward recommendations which will tend to make for better morals and health in Shanghai.

In conclusion the Committee wish to place on record their full appreciation of the work done by Mr. P. Campbell, their Secretary, throughout the whole of their meetings and deliberations. He was of the greatest assistance.

A summary of the recommendations is attached hereto.

Summary of Recommendations.

1. That brothels be eliminated.
2. That brothels be licensed.
3. That special notification be given to all registered owners of brothel property in order to endeavour to get their co-operation.
4. That no brothel licence be granted in any event for premises near schools.
5. That as this course necessitates more extended work for prostitutes this should be done by means of increased grants to the Door of Hope and kindred institutions.
6. That the law against street soliciting be strictly enforced, including proceedings against the brothel keeper.
7. That the law prohibiting indecent advertisements by way of posters or in newspapers be strictly enforced.
8. That the law against the sale of intoxicating liquors in unlicensed premises be strictly enforced.
9. That convictions for offences relating to prostitution recorded against holders of any licences render the holder incapable of holding any licence again.
10. That no "brothel wine licence" be issued in future.
11. That parks and other open spaces be well-lighted and policed in the summer months.
12. That the examination of prostitutes by the Health Department cease.
13. That further provision for the treatment of venereal disease be undertaken by the Health Department.
14. That propaganda be undertaken by the Health Department relating to the evils of promiscuous intercourse and the dangers arising therefrom.
15. That the Health Department keep such returns as it can relating to venereal disease and hospitals receiving public moneys be compelled to treat venereal disease and keep returns in such form as the Health Department may require; failure to do this to form ground for refusing any further grant.
16. That a Conference of the Educational authorities in Shanghai and neighbourhood be called to investigate thoroughly the advisability and methods of teaching sex hygiene in Schools.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2685.

MOTOR FREIGHT VEHICLES AND FREIGHT TRAILERS.

THE Public is hereby notified that on and after April 1, all owners of Motor Freight Vehicles and Freight Trailers will be required to take out a special licence under Bye-law XXXIV.

The licence conditions are as follows:—

MOTOR FREIGHT VEHICLES.

(Including Freight Vehicles propelled by steam or electricity or by internal combustion engines.)

CONDITIONS.

1. That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person and refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application made for this licence.
2. That the licensee and the man in charge of the vehicle conform to all Police regulations in force for the time being.
3. That each wheel of the vehicle be fitted with tyres made of rubber or other soft or elastic material to be approved by the Council.
4. That the chassis weight, the body weight allowance, the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers and the gross weight of the vehicle be shown on a plate affixed in a conspicuous position on the vehicle and remain at all times legible and undefaced.
5. That the over-all length of the vehicle including the body or other structure be not more than 24 feet; and that the over-all width including the body or other structure be not more than 7 feet 6 inches.
6. That the over-hang of the vehicle be not more than one-fourth of its over-all length and be measured from the centre of the rear axle to the rear of the frame or body or other structure built upon the chassis.
7. That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position on the back of the vehicle; that the figures be 3½ inches high and in all parts ⅝ of one inch broad; that the width of the space occupied by each figure, except the figure 1 be 2½ inches, that the space between adjoining figures be ½ of one inch; that such number be white on a black background and remain at all times legible and undefaced and that such number be used only on the vehicle in respect of which the licence is issued.
8. That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry two lighted lamps in front, one on each side, so constructed and placed as to exhibit a white light visible within a reasonable distance in front and a lighted tail lamp showing a red light behind and a white light to the left so placed as to render the number of the licence clearly visible within a reasonable distance, that such tail lamp be kept free from mud oil or other material which may tend to obscure the light therefrom; that where head-lights only are carried in front, they be provided with a suitable means of reducing the power of the light; that within the area east of Carter Road and west of Muirhead Road the use of head-lights be permitted only when their full power is suitably reduced; and that these and other lamps carried be subject to approval by the Council.
9. That no load be carried by the vehicle which will result in a greater wheel load than that indicated by the following table:—

Diameter of Wheel	Maximum of load per inch width of tyre
2′0″	600 lbs.
2′6″	670 ,,
2′9″	710 ,,
3′0″	750 ,,
3′3″	780 ,,
3′6″	810 ,,
3′9″	840 ,,
4′0″	870 ,,

10. That the vehicle carry an instrument, other than a bell or gong, capable of giving audible and sufficient warning of approach or position, and that such instrument be subject to approval by the Council.
11. That the vehicle be fitted with efficient splash guards.
12. That proper precautions be taken to prevent exhaust pipes discharging in such a manner as to cause annoyance to the public.
13. That the speed of the vehicle be adjusted to the traffic, more especially at street crossings or corners, at sharp curves and in narrow roads and that, when its gross weight exceeds 7,000 lbs., the speed be not in excess of 15 miles per hour or, if drawing a trailer, 9 miles per hour.
14. That the driver be provided with a permit to be given him after examination by a Board to be appointed by the Council.
15. That the driver produce the licence and his own permit when called upon to do so by the Police.
16. That the licensee be responsible for any damage done through the negligence of the man in charge of the vehicle.

17. That only one trailer be drawn by the vehicle at any one time, that its maximum freight capacity be not in excess of that of the vehicle, and that it be duly licensed.
18. That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.
19. That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

SECURITY.

At the discretion of the Council.

FREIGHT TRAILERS.

CONDITIONS.

1. That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person and refers only to the trailer in respect of which it is issued, which trailer is described in the application made for this licence.
2. That the trailer shall at all times carry a man-in-charge who shall ride thereon.
3. That the licensee and the man in charge of the trailer conform to all Police regulations in force for the time being.
4. That each wheel of the trailer be fitted with tyres made of rubber or other soft or elastic material to be approved by the Council.
5. That the chassis weight, the body weight allowance, the maximum freight capacity authorized by the makers and the gross weight of the trailer be shown on a plate affixed in a conspicuous position on the trailer and remain at all times legible and undefaced.
6. That the over-all length of the trailer including the body or other structure be not more than 30 feet; and that the over-all width including the body or other structure be not more than that of the vehicle by which it is drawn.
7. That the over-hang of the trailer be not more than one-fourth of its over-all length and be measured from the centre of the rear axle to the rear of the frame or body or other structure built upon the chassis.
8. That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the trailer, that the figures be 3½ inches high and in all parts ½ of one inch broad; that the width of the space occupied by each figure, except the figure 1, be 2½ inches; that the space between adjoining figures be ½ of one inch; that such number be white on a black background and remain at all times legible and undefaced; and that such number be used only on the trailer in respect of which the licence is issued.
9. That between sunset and sunrise the trailer carry two lighted tail lamps placed one above the other at the right-hand side of the trailer showing red lights behind and white lights to the left so placed as to render the number of the licence clearly visible within a reasonable distance, that such tail lamps be kept free from mud, oil or other material which may tend to obscure the light therefrom.
10. That the maximum freight capacity of the trailer be not more than that of the vehicle by which it is drawn.
11. That no load be carried by the trailer which will result in a greater wheel load than that indicated by the following table:—

Diameter of Wheel	Maximum of load per inch width of tyre

Semaphore Service.

Correspondence with the French Municipal Council.—

Council Room,
Shanghai, February 19, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 14, in which you have been good enough to inform me of the total estimate for the Semaphore service for the year 1920, which it is noted will be Tls. 21,200.

In this connexion, I have to refer to the correspondence which took place between Mr. Laferriere and myself in December 1917 on the subject and to inform you that the Council notes with concern the ever increasing estimate for this service, which has grown from Tls. 2,500 in 1913 to more than fourfold that figure for the present year.

In requesting, therefore, that you will be so good as to provide me, as heretofore, with details of the anticipated expenses, I have to request that you will be good enough to inform me whether there is a probability of foreseeing finality in the matter of the cost of this service.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

The SECRETARY,
French Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the French Municipal Council, dated March 9, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 19, last, on the subject of the expenses of the Semaphore service.

The increase in the working expenses of this service proceeds almost entirely from the fact that the pay of the European staff has been raised from January 1, 1920, by reason of the increased cost of living. No new employe has been engaged and the cost of the maintenance of the plant is very much the same as for the year 1919.

I send you herewith the statement of the contemplated Budget for 1920 and also that for 1919, to aid you in comparing the expenses of these two years.

I am, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

The SECRETARY,
Shanghai Municipal Council.

Foreign Branch Quarters.—The leases from The Credit Foncier d'Extreme Orient of Nos. 37 and 38 Darroch Road, have been renewed for a further period of two years terminating on March 31, 1922.

Official Plans for 1920.

The following is a schedule of the chief alterations and improvements in the plans for the five districts of the Settlement adopted upon the recommendation of the Works Committee.

Central District.—An improvement in the line of the Soochow Road between Honan and Shantung Roads, whereby it will be possible to land cargo west of Honan Road Bridge, has been approved.

The four road corners adjacent to the new Administration Buildings will be improved by rounding off the present acute angles.

Northern District.—Extension of the Fearon Road Electric Light Works is provided for by scheduling Lot 1075 and the unregistered land at the corner of Yuhang and Miller Roads which adjoin the works; Haining Road will be widened to 60 feet between the Settlement boundary on the west to Chapoo Road and thence eastward to Yates Road, which road also will be widened to a similar width. The big curves in the North Szechuen Road between Range Road and the Rifle Range will be straightened.

Eastern District.—A new site for the Wayside Market at the corner of Ward and Chusan Road has been acquired. Lot 5091 is scheduled for acquisition for an extension of the Yangtszepoo Police Station. Lot 2240 north of the New Chih Kuei School and the unregistered land to the west thereof will be acquired. Lots 892, 3596 have been acquired as surplus land and Lot 6051 is incorporated in Lot 6054 (Riverside Power Station). Lot 2698 has been sold and is no longer shown as a Municipal property.

Western District.—Areas scheduled from the section of Bubbling Well Road between Medhurst and Gordon Roads will practically eliminate the present curves in this section of the road. The purchase of Lot 2945, about half of which is included in the new road line, will much assist this desired improvement. The scheduled area of Temple land adjacent to the Bubbling Well Cemetery has been removed from the plans.

The radii of the corners at Lots 655 and 895, Sinza Road, will be improved, and lands scheduled are of the bend between Lots 1768 and 1783, Great Western Road, will be straightened. The Seymour Road is extended as far as Ichang Road, and the Shaoshing Road to Robison Road at an entire width of 80 feet. The West Soochow Road is scheduled to 50 feet through Lot 3553. Lot 3101, Medhurst Road, hitherto used for an Electricity Sub-station, has been sold, and Lot 3107, Sinza Road, has been purchased in substitution. Gordon Road is scheduled for widening ex Lots 4175 and 4180. The extension of the Mohawk Market, scheduled in 1919, is abandoned.

Parks Report for February.

On account of the heavy rains the soil was so saturated that any work thereon was impossible and only pruning, repairs to paths, and similar work could be carried on.

Dogs in Parks.—Now the warmer weather is approaching, it is desirable that the regulations that all dogs in the parks must be muzzled and led on leash should be strictly observed. This order applies to pup dogs and puppies also, as the former are frequently vicious, and the latter always destructive.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2693.

THE following Resolutions will be brought forward by the Council at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in the Town Hall on April 7, 1920, at 2 o'clock p.m., and are published for general information:—

Resolutions I, II and III.—Formal business and adoption of Rules of Procedure.

Resolution IV.—That the Report and Accounts for the year ending December 31, 1919, be passed.

Resolution V.—That this Meeting extends its appreciative thanks to Major T. E. Trueman for the invaluable services he has rendered as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps during the past five years.

Resolution VI.—That the programme of Electricity Department plant extensions recommended in the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager's report published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29, 1920, be approved and that the Council be authorized in its discretion to enter into such contracts as may be requisite to give effect thereto.

Resolution VII.—That the estimated expenditure for 1920, contained in the Budget proposed by the retiring Council, together with the recommendations attached thereto, be approved and adopted, and that the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose, collect and recover the rates, taxes, dues and fees recommended therein, and to raise, should it be considered expedient to do so, upon such terms and in such manner as the Council may in its discretion think fit, a sum not exceeding Tls. 4,800,000 or the equivalent of this sum, for the purposes defined in the estimate of Extraordinary Expenditure.

Resolution VIII.—That this Meeting approves of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Committee and that the constitution and powers of such committee be those set forth in the letter from the Chairman of Council to the Senior Consul dated October 24, 1919, and published in the Municipal Gazette of January 8, 1920.

Resolution IX.—Election of Land Commissioner for the ensuing year.

Resolution X.—Election of four Governors of the General Hospital for the ensuing year.

Resolution XI.—Election of two members of the Permanent Education Committee.

Ratepayers intending to ask questions in regard to the Accounts or other matters connected with the foregoing Resolutions, are requested to give notice of such intention before the Meeting, so that a full answer or other explanation may be given.

Ratepayers desirous of bringing forward additional motions, or of nominating duly qualified persons willing to serve under Resolutions IX, X and XI, are required to give notice thereof to the undersigned before 4 p.m. on April 1, for due publication.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Electricity Department Extensions 1920/21.

Correspondence with Mr. E. I. Ezra and 19 others:—

Shanghai, February 1, 1920.

SIR,—Having reference to the Extension scheme published in the "Municipal Gazette" of January 29 involving an expenditure during the ensuing two years of approximately Tls. 6,000,000 we the undersigned voicing the opinion of ourselves and others interested in the Municipal affairs request further information concerning these huge loans in order to estimate their effect upon public finance.

We propose that the matter shall be thoroughly debated at the forthcoming Ratepayers meeting and in the meantime request the Council to be good enough to give us an assurance that no new orders will be placed or the Community committed to the Extension prior to the above mentioned Ratepayers Meeting.

In order to intelligently study the question we shall be obliged if the Council will furnish us with the information asked in the subjoined queries; figures where necessary to be in Taels. Sterling and/or Gold Dollars—shewn separately.

1.—Give the exact sums to which we are already committed for Plant already ordered and not yet paid for.

2.—Give figures of the proposed extension showing contemplated expenditure during each of the years 1920, 1921 and 1922.

3.—Give details of contracts, with dates of expiry, for supply of electricity in bulk to districts outside the Settlement.

4.—How do the above figures compare with the amount of electricity delivered inside the Settlement?

5.—Give under separate headings the estimated expenditure for the supply of current inside and outside the Settlement during each of the ensuing three years.

6.—Figures showing units consumed during the last year.

(a) for Power (inside and outside the Settlement under separate headings.)

(b) for lighting and general purposes.

7.—The estimated increased consumption during the next 3 years.

(a) for Power (inside and outside the Settlement under separate headings.)

(b) for lighting and general purposes.

8.—The gross and nett profits for the last year and their disposition.

9.—The estimated profits for the ensuing 3 years including the extensions.

Yours faithfully,
Edward I. Ezra

The CHAIRMAN, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, February 10, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 1, requesting information on the subject of the proposed electricity extensions published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29 as also an assurance that no new orders for plant will be placed nor the Community committed to further extensions prior to the Ratepayers' Meeting.

Reply on the several points on which information is requested will be forwarded in due course: in the meantime I am directed to inform you that the Council had already decided that the Community should not be committed to further extensions until the views of the Ratepayers had been sought thereon at the forthcoming Annual Meeting.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

E. I. EZRA, Esq., and others.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 25, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—In continuation of my letter of February 10, I am now directed to send you herein enclosed copy of a report by the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager of the Electricity Department dealing with the several points on which information was requested in your letter of February 1.

In forwarding this report I am directed to inform you that the principle of the supply of electricity to consumers outside Settlement limits on as relatively favourable a basis as in he case of consumers inside Settlement limits, as also the principle of power consumers inside and outside limits being required to contribute to the finance of plant extensions required to supply their demand, have received the Council's very close attention and consideration for the past several months. As a result it was decided that power consumers outside limits, together with those who take their lighting and water supplies and who are connected to the Telephone Service should be required to pay a Rate of 12 instead of 7 per cent. on the rateable value of their property as from July 1 next, since they enjoy practically the same amenities as those who are resident within Settlement limits and who pay General Municipal Rate at 14 per cent. It was also decided that all new power consumers, inside and outside the Settlement, should be required to subscribe to current Municipal loan issues to the extent of one-third of the capital expenditure involved by their supply with power, the scrip being held by the Council against complete fulfilment of their contracts and the interest thereon being paid to the consumers concerned. Existing consumers will be required upon renewal of their agreements as they fall in, to make a like subscription on the like terms in respect of any increased demand called for under renewal agreements.

I am to emphasize that the question of the subscription by power consumers to Municipal loans had been under the Council's consideration for some considerable time previous to the publication of suggestions of a like nature in the local press, and that effect has already been given to the Council's decision in the matter, in connexion with the renewal of two power contracts under which a largely increased demand is called for, the subscription to the Municipal loan issue of 1919 amounting in these cases to the sum of Tls. 150,000.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary

E. I. EZRA, Esq., and others.

(Enclosure.)

Engineer-in-Chief and Manager's Report:—

The Chairman and Members of the Electricity Committee.

Shanghai, March 19, 1920.

In accordance with the Committee's instructions I now beg to submit data in reply to the letter dated February 1, 1920 signed by Mr. Edward Ezra and others. I would express the opinion that Mr. Ezra's letter may prove to serve a most useful purpose in that it calls for an explanation on subjects about which the public has some misconceptions, which I hope the information herein offered will finally dispel.

Before replying in detail to the nine questions asked by Mr. Ezra, I should like to take this opportunity of easing the minds of those ratepayers who do not closely follow the Electricity Department's yearly Balance Sheets. It is unfortunate, but nevertheless true, that there is still a large proportion of the public which seriously believes that the extension of the Electricity Undertaking is a burden on the Municipal rates, or in other words, that the Undertaking is financed largely by the rates and taxes paid by ratepayers, and that were it not for the Electricity Extensions the general rates and taxes would be lower. As a matter of fact, of course, not a cent derived from taxation is given to the Electricity Department. Not only is no revenue from taxes diverted to the Department, but on the contrary the Department pays to the Council rates and taxes exactly on the same terms as it would be called upon to pay if it were a public utility company. In 1919 the rates and taxes paid by the Department to the Council amounted to Tls. 10,683.99.

In addition to these taxes—which unquestionably ought to be paid by the Department to keep it on a sound commercial basis—the sum of Tls. 883,000 was handed over to the Council's General Fund out of the Department's surplus profits for 1917, 1918 and 1919; and in addition the Council received a profit of one per cent. on all new loan money raised for Electricity purposes. This means that by virtue of the Electricity Undertaking the Council is relieved of raising much money for other Departments as it would otherwise have to do. It is true that it has to raise money for Electricity purposes, but on all this money it receives a commission of 1 per cent. per annum which in 1919 amounted to Tls. 59,683.

I do not wish to labour the point, but it is fair to claim that if the Department were to re-invest its profits in the business a smaller loan capital for electricity purposes would be possible, and consequently the selling price of electricity to consumers could be further reduced. It is a question whether the Department should be run for the benefit of its consumers, or as a profit making concern for the Municipality in general. The foregoing remarks are offered in the hope that they may go towards clearing up those doubts and misconceptions which, unfortunately, still linger in the minds of a not small proportion of the community.

To return to Mr. Ezra's letter. Replying to Question No. 1.—"Give the exact sums to which we are already committed for plant already ordered and not yet paid for."

SUMMARY OF PAYMENTS TO WHICH THE DEPARTMENT IS COMMITTED.

ESTIMATED COST OF PROPOSED EXTENSIONS.

	£	G. $	Tls.
1920	14,425	88,000	45,000
1921	476,005	1,179,850	403,000
1922	22,950	124,800
1923		47,000
	513,380	1,439,650	448,000

In reference to the estimates of the large (1920) extension scheme, I should explain that the periods in which the money is required are necessarily empirical. Much depends upon the accuracy of the estimated cost of plant, cables and associated apparatus; much also depends upon the conditions of the various contracts. Upon some of the large contracts entered into during the past four years, instalment payments to the contractors have had to be made within a few months of placing the contracts, and percentage payments every few months, so that payments are in effect being made practically throughout the period of construction. On other large contracts no payments were required until the plant had been completed, inspected and passed ready for shipment. It will thus be seen how difficult it is to approach accuracy regarding the year or part of the year when large sums of money may be actually needed. It will be noticed under the heading "Estimated cost of proposed extensions" that some payments are expected in sterling, whilst others are in gold dollars. It will depend upon the actual placing of the contracts, whether in England or the United States, whether the relative currencies are correct, or in that proportion the contracts are given in the two Countries. The tael expenditure is to cover local work such as foundations, cable laying, building, labour, etc.

In my report dated December 22, 1919 I stated that the estimated cost of the extension scheme would be Tls. 4,304,000. Whilst this is virtually correct, it is unfortunately somewhat misleading. It is misleading in this respect, that included in the Tls. 4,304,000 is the cost of a considerable proportion of plant originally included in the 1919 Extension Scheme presented to the Electricity Committee on December 6, 1918 and published in the Municipal Gazette issue of February 13, 1919. This plant was not, at the time my report of December 22, 1919 was written, all ordered, and therefore I included it in the capital expenditure of the 1920 scheme. The amount of money required is not affected, but the estimated cost of the 1920 scheme is not actually as large as it appears, since part of the 1919 scheme, previously authorized, is embodied in it. The authorized 1919 figures included amount to approximately Tls. 871,500 which brings the 1920 scheme down to Tls. 3,432,500.

Question No. 3.—"Give details of contracts, with dates of expiry, for supply of electricity in bulk to districts outside the Settlement."

It is not definitely stated in the terms of reference what is meant by "outside the Settlement." The Department's interpretation is, that for the purposes of electricity supply all consumers served by Municipal roads are regarded as within the Settlement. Many years before power supply was initiated, lighting consumers were served outside the actual Settlement boundaries, but on Municipal roads. To instance two areas—Jessfield Village and St. John's University were given a lighting supply as far back as 1909, and the North Szechuen Road district was served very soon after that road was made up.

There is therefore precedent of long standing to show that supply outside the actual Settlement but along Municipal roads was given many years ago. To make the position perfectly plain I give the particulars of the consumers connected outside the Settlement under two headings viz. outside the Settlement entirely and outside the Settlement limits but on Municipal Roads. No supply is or has been given to the Kiangnan Arsenal or Shipyard. The consumers' names, date of expiry of their agreements, and electricity sold to them is given below.

List of Consumers at present connected outside the Settlement.

Name	Date of Expiry of Agreement	Units 1919
Chapei Elec. & Water Co.	July 1924	5,485,829
Lih Teh Oil Mill	May 1922	592,500
French Tramway Co.	July 1923	2,192,670
		8,270,999

List of Consumers at present connected outside the Settlement but on Municipal Roads.

Name	Date of Expiry of Agreement	Units 1919
Commercial Press, Ld.	(Expired—Negotiations for renewal proceeding)	412,053
Kung Yik Cotton Mill	January 1924	965,481

Toa Seima Kaisha	October 1923	455,032
Yih Sing Flour Mill	Not defined	269,559
		4,320,823

Question No. 4.—"How do the above figures compare with the amount of electricity delivered inside the Settlement."

Totol units sold bulk supply 1919	=72,348,615
Delivered—
Outside Settlement	8,270,999	=11.4%
Outside Settlement (but on Municipal Roads)	4,320,825	= 6%
Inside Settlement	59,756,791	=82.6%
	72,348,615

Question No. 5.—"Give under separate headings the estimated expenditure for the supply of current inside and outside the Settlement during each of the ensuing three years."

It is difficult to answer this question with any degree of accuracy so far ahead as 1922. Whilst it is comparatively simple to arrive at the approximate cost of the large (1920) extension scheme which is made up of a definite number of turbines, condensers, boilers, and proportionate switchgear, transformers and underground cable, it is not easy to estimate the cost of other items of plant—outside the Power House—which are largely dependant upon the growth of the demand not only for power, but for traction, light and heat. I have consequently based my estimated figures upon past experience and the totals are shown below. These totals, beside the amount for which the Department is committed and the proposed 1920 extension, also include the expenditure which it is anticipated will be incurred for normal extensions of supply mains, transformers, meters, public lighting fittings, etc., etc.

ESTIMATED TOTAL CAPITAL EXPENDITURE 1920-21-22.

	£	G. $	Yen	Tls.
1920	584,678	1,055,617	94,738	512,518
1921	613,294	1,373,854		1,388,000
1922	36,283	124,800		1,000,000

of the above amount £30,519 and G. $33,338 have been paid since the beginning of the year.

With reference to the amounts shown under "Estimated Total Capital Expenditure 1920-21-22," these taken at exchange 6/- Tls. 1 and G.$125=Tls. 100, amount to Tls. 9,089,697. I would point out however, that it will not be necessary to raise the whole of this sum by issue of debentures, as approximately the following sums will be allocated from profits to Depreciation and Reserve Accounts during the three years, and will be reinvested in the Undertaking.

1920	Tls. 835,000
1921	950,000
1922	1,100,000
	Tls. 2,885,000

The cost to supply the Chapei Electricity and Water Co., and the French Tramway and Lighting Co., is less than it is to supply the bulk supply consumers in the Western District owing to the point of supply in each case being geographically much nearer the power station. It should have been explained that in neither contract does the Electricity Department undertake the distribution of electricity, but only supplies high pressure energy in bulk. The French Company receives its supply at two points only—one on the Avenue Edward VII opposite Szechuen Road and the other on the same Avenue at a position contiguous to the Mohawk Road. Eventually, if the Agreement is renewed, there will be only one point of service in the area near the Bund. Chapei, in at present supplied at four points, but under the terms of the current agreement, bulk supply is to be given at one point only. Inference must not be drawn from these remarks that bulk supply in the Western area is less profitable than in areas nearer the power house, because to compensate for the extra transmission costs, both the standing and running charges in contracts are proportionately higher.

Question No. 6.—"Figures shewing units consumed during the last year."

(a) for Power (inside and outside the Settlement under separate headings.)

(b) for Lighting and general purposes."

UNITS SOLD DURING 1919.

(a) Power outside Settlement but	8 270,999	8.1

*This figure includes in addition to bulk supply, 7,273,933 units sold to the numerous small power consumers in the settlement.

Question No. 7.—"The estimated increased consumption during the next three years."

(a) for Power (inside and outside the Settlement under separate headings.)

(b) for Lighting and general purposes.

ESTIMATED CONSUMPTION OF ELECTRICITY 1920-1922.

	1920.	1921.	1922.
(a) Powers inside Settlement	88,935,000	153,800,000	198,500,000
" " outside " but	9,315,000	11,000,000	12,500,000
" " on Municipal Roads	16,000,000	35,200,000	39,000,000
" for Lifts	250,000	275,000	300,000
(b) Lighting	17,000,000	18,500,000	20,000,000
Heating	1,500,000	1,750,000	2,000,000
Public Street Lighting ...	1,250,000	1,375,000	1,500,000
Traction	4,250,000	5,000,000	5,500,000
	138,500,000	226,900,000	279,300,000

The above estimated consumption may, I think, be taken as reasonably accurate. If anything, I consider it to be conservative. A study of the estimated sales of electricity and the actual sales during the past ten years, will show the closeness of the estimates with the actual. It is reasonable to assume therefore, that the anticipated increase in output during 1920, 1921 and 1922 will be realized.

Question No. 8.—"The gross and nett profits for the last year and their disposition."

The nett profit for 1919 after paying depreciation and interest amounted to Tls. 386,326, and this added to a small balance of Tls. 453 from 1918 gives a total of Tls. 386,779 to be disposed of. This sum will be dealt with as follows:—Tls. 77,400 to be transferred to credit of "Contribution to General Funds—Equalization Account," and Tls. 309,000 to be placed at the Council's disposal as a contribution to General Funds. The balance of Tls. 379 to be carried forward.

Question No. 9.—"The estimated profits for the ensuing three years including the extensions."

The estimated profit for 1920 after paying all interest and depreciation charges is Tls. 735,500. With regard to the years 1921 and 1922, it is impossible to estimate so far ahead as the profit will depend upon various factors such as price of coal, cost of new loans, selling price of electricity, etc. The Department, however, aims at always obtaining a clear profit of 3 per cent. above the average interest paid for its loans on the whole of its capital outlay.

In anticipation of the difficulty of raising money for capital purposes, the Department early last year considered ways and means to get the co-operation of large power users to take up municipal debentures. A certain amount of success awarded our efforts, and considerable credit is due to those of our consumers who, appreciating our financial difficulties and realizing that their interests and those of the Department were mutual, individually took up substantial sums in municipal debentures. The amount so far taken up totals Tls. 322,000. The question next arose, as to whether future power contracts should contain a clause to the effect that power users should put up some of the capital required to supply their power demands. It was finally decided that as regards new contracts, power consumers would be given a supply only provided they took up new municipal stock to the extent of 33 per cent. of the capital cost of the plant required to supply them. The debentures to be held by the Department as security during the term of the contract, but the interest on them being payable to the consumer.

I would conclude this report by a suggestion that a small committee should be chosen by the signatories of the letter, and that this committee should be invited to meet the Electricity Committee in order that explanations may be given upon such questions as may not be quite clear.

Engineer-in-Chief and Manager.

Loan 1920.

MEMORANDUM ON MUNICIPAL FINANCE DATED MARCH 23.

During the past few years the financial requirements of Shanghai have undergone a gradual but very definite change, which is well illustrated by the following figures:—

	Total loan issued	Amount required for General Purposes	Amount required for Electricity Purposes
	Tls.	Tls.	Tls.
1910	313,800	163,800	150 000
1911	350 000	—	350,000
1912	340,000	90 000	250,000
1913	756,300	156,300	600,000
	500,000	500,000	—
1914	900,000	200,000	700 000
1915	800,000	400,000	400,000
1916	1,400,000	150,000	1,250,000
1917	1,386,800	1,000,000	386 800
1918	507,300	507,300	—
1919	1,793,300	—	1,793,300

Note:—The estimated requirements for 1920 are as undernoted:—

1920	4,800,000	2,000,000	2,800,000
Total	13,847,500	5,167,400	8,680,100

It will be seen that the loans needed for financing the capital requirements of the Settlement are becoming of greater and greater magnitude, and that a considerable proportion of the total is allocated to Electricity Purposes. As there is every reason to believe that the future development of the Electricity Department will entail increasingly heavy capital demands, it becomes necessary to analyse the effect that this development will have upon Shanghai, with the view of deciding upon a policy which will be capable of standing the inevitable financial strain of the future.

The facilities offered by the Department to large power consumers are largely responsible for the rapid expansion that has taken place in local industrial enterprise. Manufactories are springing up both inside and outside the limits of the Settlement, and Shanghai has developed from a purely distributing centre into one embracing both distribution and manufacture. If this industrial activity proceeds along sound economic lines, there is little doubt that it will re-act favourably on the general trade of the Port.

If the foregoing is accepted as, generally speaking, correct, then it follows that all classes and nationalities of the Community are interested in seeing that the capital required for electricity extensions is forthcoming. These remarks apply with particular force to the group of consumers for whose benefit the extensions are, in the main, incurred. The Council has already decided that large power consumers shall be called upon to contribute a part of the capital cost of the plant required to meet their demands. In the case of consumers who are supplied by the Department under unexpired contracts, this decision will only come into operation upon the renewal of these contracts and then only in respect of any increased demand, and thus no very material financial relief will thereby accrue to the Council for a few years. In the meantime, however, the Department has to lay down plant to cope with anticipated future requirements.

The 7 per cent. Loan of 1919 issued at 95 per cent. and which was closed on March 12 last, resulted in subscriptions totalling Tls. 1,793,300. This is the largest amount collected for loan requirements in any one year in the history of the Settlement, and while the result can be considered satisfactory, it nevertheless falls far short of the amount required, (Tls. 3,400,000) and does not encourage one to hope that any greater measure of support will be forthcoming for the Loan of 1920 unless materially improved conditions are attached thereto.

During the War the Allied Countries were in vital need of financial support from their subjects wherever situated, and the extent to which this call was responded to from Shanghai, is too well known to require emphasis. The patriotic incentive to remit money to Europe during the War, although it possibly still exists, does not carry anything like the same weight now, that it did formerly. On the other hand investors have become accustomed to thinking in terms of gold, and the high level of exchange at present ruling, provides them with a very definite incentive for continuing their remittances to Europe or for opening sterling deposits with the local banks.

Under these circumstances, coupled with the almost daily fluctuations of the exchange market, it is extremely difficult to gauge with any certainty the annual return which should be attached to a silver loan, in order to place it on an attractive basis "vis à vis" the gold loans obtainable elsewhere. Furthermore, it would, for many reasons, be highly undesirable to increase beyond 7 per cent. the annual interest attached to a silver loan, which would therefore require to be issued at a substantial discount. This would naturally have the effect of depreciating the Council's outstanding issues on the market, although to a certain extent this depreciation has been already anticipated. Doubtless a 10 year 7 per cent. silver loan issued at a price between 90 per cent. and 92½ per cent. would attract a certain measure of support, but it is open to question whether the whole amount required by the Council could be raised in this manner.

It has been frequently suggested that an issue of premium bonds would prove popular among both Foreign and Chinese investors. Tentative schemes have been prepared by the Finance Department, and the matter has been given careful consideration. The attraction of such an issue would depend very largely on the rate of interest it was found possible to offer, and the size and number of the prizes. An attractive scheme could no doubt be prepared on a capital issue of $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, but it would probably be found necessary to issue the bonds in series of $1,000,000, a course which would definitely restrict the size and number of the prizes. A limited measure of support could be expected from Foreign investors, but the average amount "per capita" forthcoming would probably be small. As regards Chinese investors to whom theoretically the bonds should appeal, the position is somewhat problematical. The Chinese would undoubtedly require bonds of small denominations (possibly even as low as $10) and the average "per capita" contribution would probably not be high. As the total number of registered holders of Municipal Loans is 1417, (Foreign 1,266, Chinese 151) it will be apparent that to make a premium bond issue a success, the present number of investors interested in the loans of the Municipality, would require to be very considerably increased. This could only be done by an extensive advertising campaign and an elaborate organization, the cost of which would be considerable, and the result doubtful. However, a modified form of the premium bond idea might with advantage be attached to an issue of silver debentures at a discount, by providing for their repayment by annual drawings at par, as for example:—a 6 per cent. 30 year silver loan issued at 80 and repayable by annual drawings at par, commencing in the second year.

The fourth alternative method of raising the funds required by the Municipality is by the issue of a gold loan. The risks attending such an issue are considerable, and fall under two headings (a) exchange losses on half-yearly interest payments, and (b) exchange loss on repayment of capital. As regards the loan required for financing the Electricity Department, an issue on a gold basis would perhaps be justified, on the understanding that the whole cost of the issue was borne by the Department, and that the rates quoted to future large power consumers were adjusted so as to meet the major portion of the additional burden that a gold loan would entail.

The most practical scheme that has been devised in connexion with a gold loan raised for Electricity Purposes is as follows:

1. A 30 year loan with interest between 5½ and 6 per cent.
2. All plant paid for out of the proceeds of the loan to be taken into the Department's Balance Sheet at an arbitrary exchange of 5/-.
3. Reserves to be created from the revenue of the Department for (a) the reduction of this exchange to 4/- at the end of 10 years;
   (b) equalizing the cost in silver of the half-yearly gold interest payments.
4. The basis upon which the above reserves are calculated to be adjusted at the end of the 10th and 20th years of the loan, in the light of information then available.

The cost of this scheme to the Department for the first 10 years would be in the neighbourhood of 9½ per cent. on the cost of the plant as stated in the Balance Sheet, i.e. at the arbitrary rate of 5/-. It might be found possible to reduce this cost during the second and third periods of ten years.

SUMMARY.

The following methods are available for raising the money required by the Municipality during 1920:—

(1) A 7 per cent. 10 year silver loan issued at 90 per cent. or 92½ per cent.
(2) A 30 year gold loan carrying interest between 5½ per cent. and 6 per cent.
(3) A 6 per cent. 30 year silver loan issued at (say) 80 per cent. and repayable by annual drawings at par, commencing in the second year.
(4) An issue of premium bonds.

E. F. GOODALE,
Treasurer and Comptroller.

The several methods of financing the Council's requirements for this year for General Purposes and for the Electricity Department, Tls. 4,800,000, as outlined in the Treasurer and Comptroller's report published above as also the issue of a short term gold loan, with settlement of exchange so as definitely to fix the possible loss to the Council on exchange in respect of the half-yearly payments of interest and in respect of the capital sum upon redemption have been considered in great detail by the Council during the past three months.

Having regard to the results that attended the loan issue of 1919 when the Council set out to raise the sum of Tls. 3,400,000 and as existing financial conditions are no less abnormal than they were a year ago, the Council considers that it would be very undesirable that the incoming Council should be tied to any particular method of financing the requirements for 1920, since it is impossible to forecast to what extent existing conditions may continue during the year and how far any particular method or methods of finance that may be adopted will prove a success. Accordingly the Budget resolution to be submitted at the forthcoming Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7 is drawn in the same wide terms as was that which was proposed and passed at the Annual Ratepayers' Meeting in 1919, viz:

"That the estimated expenditure for 1920 contained in the Budget proposed by the retiring Council together with the recommendations attached thereto, be approved and adopted and that the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose collect and recover the rates, taxes, dues and fees recommended therein and to raise, should it be considered expedient to do so, upon such terms and in such manner as the Council may in its discretion think fit a sum not exceeding Tls. 4,800,000 or the equivalent of this sum for the purposes defined in the estimate of Extraordinary Expenditure."

Tramways.

Further correspondence with the Tramway Company in regard to the matter of extensions of the rail and railless services and to the need for improvement in the existing service:—

Shanghai, May 12, 1919.

SIR,—Now that it is possible to obtain equipment for extensions of Railless Electric Traction and in view of the authority given to the Council at the recent Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to approve such extensions as it may consider desirable, I am desired to suggest that a meeting be held of representatives of the Municipal Departments concerned and of the Company to consider the question of extensions.

Our traffic is continuing to increase and is 50 per cent. heavier per mile of route than in the principal cities in the United Kingdom.

In meeting the needs of the travelling public, the Company is handicapped by a marked shortage in the length of route under Electric Traction in proportion to the population.

There is urgent need for some additional routes, particularly an arterial east and west route—which would naturally be provided by prolonging the Peking Road extension westwards along Sinza Road and Markham Road and eastwards to the Yangtszepoo district—and a new north and south route.

The enclosed extract from a letter to me dated December 21, 1918, from the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager of the Electricity Department, gives some indication of the electrical reasons why consideration of the question of Traction extensions should be no longer delayed.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. McCOLL,
General Manager.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Acting Secretary,
Municipal Council.

(Enclosure.)

Extract from letter dated December 21, 1918, from the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager of the Shanghai Municipal Council, Electricity Department, to the General Manager of the Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ltd.

"In my programme of extensions I have scheduled the Fearon Road Station to cease as a generating station in 1920, but so long as it is necessary to supply you with 900 kilowatts it is difficult to entirely close the station for generating purposes. I suggest to you that the time is more than overdue when the long deferred scheme of power supply to your Company should be definitely settled. . . From the point of view of this Department, however, it is becoming increasingly undesirable to continue the supply entirely from Fearon Road by means of the plant installed there for that purpose. Then again the temporary overhead feeders which were put up some few years ago, in order to enable you to carry on the service which was jeopardised by the breakdown of your underground cables, cannot be permitted to remain indefinitely; as it is, their presence makes work on our overhead system not only more difficult but dangerous, therefore with the increasing amount of overhead work which this Department has to put up from time to time the presence of your overhead feeders becomes more undesirable.

In view of my plan to discontinue the use of Fearon Road as a generating station at an early date and the advantages which might be expected from supplying all your requirements from the Riverside Power Station, and in addition the difficulty which this Department has to face in laying out underground cable extensions without full knowledge of what your requirements will be and at what particular locations, I would ask you to earnestly give this matter your consideration and that you present a complete scheme for submission as soon as you possibly can."

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 12, 1919.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 12 on the subject of the extensions of the railless electric traction.

In reply thereto I am directed in the first place to request that you will be so good as to favour me with the programme of extensions which you now desire to place before the Council for consideration, and that you will state whether you are prepared to proceed immediately with any of the extensions included in the programme, and if so, with what extensions, and within what period you are prepared to complete each route comprised in the programme, should it receive the Council's sanction.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

D. McCOLL, Esq.,
General Manager,
Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ltd.

Shanghai, July 23, 1919.

SIR,—With reference to your letter dated July 12 in reply to my letter of May 12 suggesting a meeting of representatives of the Municipal Departments concerned and of the Company to consider the question of extensions, it is noted with some disappointment that your letter makes no reference to the proposed meeting. The Company believed that such a meeting would facilitate consideration and expedite a settlement of the whole question and avoid a good deal of writing. In the absence of the meeting, it is necessary to burden this letter with explanations and accompanying information which it is important should be borne in mind when the proposals are being considered.

In your letter to me dated January 24, 1918, the Company was asked to eliminate all further crossings of Nanking Road except at Thibet Road: it is hoped, however, that subsequent experience has modified the view upon which that request was based. The Company is convinced that, in the interests of the community, Honan Road should form part of an arterial North and South route equipped for Railless Electric Traction, and has included this in the scheme of proposed extensions, thus entailing the crossing by railless cars of Nanking Road at Honan Road. That such crossing, however, would prove a benefit instead of the reverse, as was evidently feared, is clear from the following facts. Statement A. shows that railless cars economise road space much more than other types of vehicles. (This was illustrated by the diagram on page 3 of the statement issued with the Municipal Gazette of March 14, 1918.) It follows that a railless car must occupy a crossing for a shorter time than a string of small vehicles carrying the same number of passengers or the same quantity of goods. Obviously, the time taken to pass over a crossing depends not only upon the rate of travel but upon the length of the procession, and it is the latter factor which tells heavily against the man-drawn vehicles. Recent records taken with a stop watch at different Nanking Road crossings show that the quickest crossing of a group of ricshas equalling the seating capacity of a railless car occupied about four times longer than a railless car. With a simpler form of overhead crossing which will be used on extensions (and with which the Nanking Road and Fokien Road junction will also be equipped) the time taken by railless cars to cross will be reduced, so that a car should pass over a crossing in about a sixth of the time required for ricshas conveying the same number of passengers. The same principle applies to freight vehicles. The further point is noted that crossings of smaller groups of ricshas hold up the Nanking Road traffic very frequently and, in each case, generally for longer than a railless car conveying many more passengers. Clearly, therefore, the use of large-capacity vehicles is the only way to reduce delays at busy intersections as it is the only remedy for road congestion. Experience in all large cities has proved this.

I am desired to send you herewith:—

Enclosure Marked.

(a) Statement showing road space taken up by different kinds of vehicles and their respective contributions to the Council.

(b) Statement explaining urgent need for extensions and that the questions of railless passenger and freight services must be considered together.

(c) Map showing proposed rail and railless extensions.

(d) Statement giving lengths of extensions proposed to be put in hand during each of the three years following the Council's approval of the scheme.

Enclosures c. and d. give the information asked for in your letter under reply.

As showing the Company's realization of the urgency of preparing for a general scheme of extensions, additional land was purchased in December 1918 to allow of the car accommodation of the Wayside Depot being greatly increased and the erection there of Workshops much larger than and to supersede the Workshops at Bubbling Well Depot, thus making way at the latter also for increased car accommodation. The plans for the new Wayside buildings were passed by the Public Works Department in May last and tenders were obtained for the whole of the work. Contracts were placed on May 28 for the part of the building required for the construction and accommodation of the twenty-two additional trailer cars and railless cars sanctioned by the Council on April 1, 1919, in the hope that, by the time of the completion of that part, sanction to the general scheme of extensions would be obtained and so permit the remainder of the buildings tendered for to be proceeded with. If the Council's sanction to the programme of extensions in the Settlement could be given within six weeks from now, the complete building scheme could be carried out as was originally hoped, and accommodation thus provided in good time for the construction and accommodation of the cars required for the entire programme of extensions. As previously emphasized, traffic requirements and electrical considerations call for the least possible delay.

I am desired to make clear that to entertain now only part of the programme would avail little; it has to be regarded as a complete scheme comprising both passenger and freight requirements.

Recalling the rapid introduction of about 1,300 motor vehicles on the streets, including motor trucks (without any special applications or delays) in contrast with the history of the Company's repeated efforts to be allowed to increase its services (after more than eleven years' working it has only 167 cars to serve an enormous population) the Company feels justified in asking the Council's favourable consideration of the complete proposals now submitted.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. McCOLL,
General Manager.

Remarks:

(1) It has been thought better not to complicate this table by attempting to include the factors of speed and mileage run per vehicle. Motor cars are, of course, faster than tramcars, but the latter are faster than rickshas, handcarts and wheel-barrows. Public rickshas occupy road space whether carrying passengers or not, and many motor cars do also. As it stands, the table presents an approximate comparison, the main points of which would not be likely to be materially affected even if the factors mentioned could be embodied.

(2) The heavy cost of the roads (purchases of land and road construction) makes vitally important the questions of road space occupied per vehicle seat and per ton of goods conveyed, and of the contributions received by the Council per sq. ft. of road occupied by the respective types of vehicles, especially having regard to the fact that the mileage of roads in the Settlement is extremely small in proportion to the population as compared with Western Cities, whilst the roads, on the average, are of substantially less width than those in Western Cities. The conditions, therefore, demand, with most exceptional emphasis, that the vehicular services be those best calculated to save road space. The figures in the above table give some indication of the urgency of the need for the greatly extended use of larger traffic units, both passenger and freight.

(3) Extract from "Municipal Engineering Practice" by A. Prescott Polwell.

"In general two and a half to three feet of width and five to six feet in length should be allowed per person using the sidewalk....." This is equal to about 15 sq. ft.

Explanations Regarding Urgent Need for Railless Extensions and as to the Questions of Railless Passenger and Freight Services to be Considered Together.

Note:—The suitability of Railless Electric Cars for conditions here is assumed to have been amply proved on Fokien and Peking Roads. The advantages of the Railless system were, in any case, detailed in the Company's printed statement issued with the Municipal Gazette of March 14, 1918. Recapitulation here is, therefore, deemed unnecessary.

Density of Traffic and length of Route.

The traffic carried on the Shanghai Tramways is denser than on Western tramway systems: it is actually 50 per cent. heavier per mile of route than in the principal cities in the United Kingdom. The present length of route in proportion to the population is only about one quarter of the average in cities of the United Kingdom and considerably less than one quarter of the average in cities of the United States. In serving the travelling public, the Company is handicaped by a marked shortage in the length of route under Electric Traction. Moreover, the mileage of roads here in proportion to the population is unusually small and the roads are, on the average, narrow. These facts make clear the great importance of utilizing the limited road space in the least wasteful way: in other words they make clear the need for the more general employment of vehicles (both passenger and freight) of larger capacity and greater speed.

Freight Traffic.

On the accompanying map (C.) are shown the locations of wharves, godowns and industrial concerns generally. It will be noticed that these are so grouped that, to a very great extent, they could be served by railless freight cars using roads equipped for proposed railless passenger services, thus avoiding duplication of equipment and of road reconstruction. Moreover, a glance at the map shows that the principal places to be reached by freight cars are such that the cars could be run conveniently on other than the Central District roads now seriously congested by manually propelled freight vehicles. This alone would go far to improve traffic conditions. To make freight conveyance in Shanghai as cheap and expeditious as it should be, it is necessary to employ overhead electric wires as much as possible. So far as can be judged, there would be very little running of freight cars away from trolley wires; but each freight car would be equipped with an electric storage battery sufficient to make it independent of wires as might be found necessary. It is clear that the two questions of passenger and freight traffic are inseparable and must be considered together.

It is presumed that, of the cost of reconstructing roads for railless cars, this Company would be asked to contribute one-half as before and also contribute towards the cost of any reconstructed Soochow Creek bridges to be used by the Company's cars. It is pointed out, however, that motor freight trucks (already operating here) pay merely nominal license fees which cannot include any contribution towards road or bridge charges and attention is directed to the undesirability of the continued licensing, on such terms, of motor trucks before this Company is given an opportunity to instal electric freight cars and before the roads are reconstructed to suit either type of vehicle.

French Concession:—

The roads in the French Concession indicated on the map for running of Railless Cars are, at this stage, merely the proposals, of this Company in order to show how the Foreign Settlement routes should, naturally, be completed southwards. On receiving the Council's sanction to the extensions in the Foreign Settlement the Company would take up with the French Company the question of the prolongation of the extensions into the French Concession.

D. McColl,
General Manager.

Council Room,

Shanghai, December 11, 1919.

SIR,—On December 8 the Council received a Police report to the effect that at 8.55 a.m. on December 3 at the Honan and Nanking Roads corner the driver of an eastbound tramcar, attached to trailer No. 122, started the car without signal to the very great danger of people alighting from and boarding the car.

In the Council's opinion the continual overloading of cars is the cause of incidents of this kind. The conductor is unable to move and much less to see when the passengers are clear of the car: the motorman has thus frequently to judge for himself as to when to start the car, although his position in front of the car makes this a matter of extreme difficulty, particularly since so long as anyone can put his feet on the step of a car so long will he hang on. It would seem to the Council, and I am to suggest—that this condition of affairs, which exposes the public to a very real danger, could be mitigated by such an increase of staff as will secure greater supervision at tram stopping places.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

D. MCCOLL, Esq.,
General Manager,
Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ld.

Shanghai, December 18, 1919.

SIR,—Your letter dated December 11 has been fully considered. The incident to which it refers was not reported to the Company and there is no trace of any accident.

The rule is that a motorman must not start his car until he receives the bell signal from the conductor, any man found disobeying this instruction is suitably dealt with. As a further precaution, the motorman is expected to look back and satisfy himself that intending passengers have safely boarded the car before he starts it. From the point of view of danger, particularly referred to in your letter, appearances lead to much greater apprehension than the facts disclosed by our accident records justify. Thus for 1919, the number of cases of persons falling while boarding or alighting from moving cars will not exceed 2.50 per million passengers; for 1912 the corresponding figure was 6.35. Most of such cases occur not at or near but well away from stopping places, and any serious accidents to passengers falling in this way are almost invariably to ignorant natives alighting from cars travelling at a good speed.

With reference to the suggestion contained in your letter for greater supervision at stopping places, some time ago a Tramway Inspector was placed on special duty at the traffic islands at the junction of Nanking and Chekiang Roads; but with such crowds of Chinese to be dealt with, and (in many cases) no less than four separate entrances to a motor car and trailer, it is not clear that anything appreciable is effected by the additional man; he cannot do much more than call out. "Passengers out first," which, in most cases, the conductors and motormen can do in any case. It is to be noted that the combined seating accommodation of a single-deck tramcar and trailer here, with two conductors, is no more than that of the average double-deck tramcar in use in the United Kingdom with only one conductor.

Whilst there are no apparent grounds for apprehending additional risk of accidents due to overcrowding, I am desired to express the Company's view that the present overcrowding is undesirable from different points of view such as (1) the comfort and convenience and possibly the health of passengers, (2) delay of the cars at stopping places, thus entailing longer journey times and the employment of more cars and men to maintain the same service than would be necessary if a better average speed could be maintained, (3) interference with the work of the conductors resulting in uncollected fares.

The existing overcrowding is, of course, due largely to the very great increase of tramway traffic during the last few years beyond the increase of rolling stock which has been possible. But for the war, the additional cars sanctioned by the Council as per your letter dated April 1, 1919, would probably be already in service. New buildings have been erected for the construction and accommodation of these cars, and the necessary local materials are on hand in our works. There has been great difficulty, however, in importing, for the construction of the cars, certain materials not obtainable locally; these materials are only due to arrive about the end of the year. All preparations have been made for expediting the construction of the cars as soon as the materials in question arrive, and the cars will be completed and put into service without loss of time on the Company's part.

It should be noted, however, that the Company is one of very few traction undertakings which have been able substantially to increase their car mileage since the outbreak of the War. Many undertakings have been unable even to maintain their car mileage at pre-war standard. The Singapore Tramways, for example, with practically 16 miles of route ran 2,007,147 car miles in 1914, and, in 1918, on the same length of route, only 1,820,037 car miles. Our Company, with about 16½ miles of route, ran 3,278,826 car miles in 1914, and, with 17½ miles of route in 1918, 4,112,776 car miles For 1919 our car mileage will total about 4,550,000. But this increase of service in Shanghai has far from kept pace with the growth of the tramway traffic, the number of passengers having gone up from 55½ millions in 1914 to 95 millions in 1919—an increase of over 71 per cent. in passengers against an increase of only 39 per cent. in car mileage.

It is clear, however, that even if the additional cars (15 rail and 7 railless) now under construction, were in service, facilities would still be far short of what is necessary to cope adequately with the requirements for electric traction. The amount of single track and its locations, and other rail disabilities, restrict the frequency of rail cars which can be run, and the narrowness of the roads at certain important parts is against doubling of the track. With the existing roads and track and the restriction by the French Company of through services between the two areas, there is very little possibility of increased frequency of rail services. The Company's proposals for the extended development of railless electric traction made clear that additional lines are necessary, with interrunning of railless cars on rail routes, to give the necessary additional frequency. It is recalled that comprehensive proposals were detailed in a printed statement by the Company which was submitted to the Council in December 1917 and issued with the Municipal Gazette of March 14, 1918; also that, in correspondence with the Council in July last, the Company again emphasised that the provision of additional facilities which would be afforded by reasonable development of railless electric traction is the natural and only satisfactory remedy for conditions such as those referred to in your letter.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. MCCOLL,
General Manager.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 12, 1920.

SIR,—In reference to the scheme of railless tram extensions forwarded with your letter of July 23, 1919, to the preliminary consideration given thereto by the Watch and Works Committees, to recent discussions on the subject between yourself, the Commissioner of Public Works and the Acting Commissioner of Police and to your request that a route north and south across the Central District should be sanctioned by the Council in substitution for the route proposed by you along the Honan Road, I am directed to inform you that the Council has unanimously and definitely recorded its disapproval of any further crossing of the Nanking Road except at Thibet Road, and that accordingly it is unable to sanction the introduction of the railless system, as I understand was proposed by you on the Kiangse Road from Avenue Edward VII to Peking Road and thence eastward along the latter road to Szechuen Road and north to Soochow Road.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

D. MCCOLL, Esq.,
General Manager,
Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ld.

Shanghai, January 23, 1920.

SIR,—With reference to your letter dated January 12, I am desired to state that the Company expected to have received from the Council long before this a letter dealing with the whole scheme of proposed extensions rather than one referring only to a part thereof. Consideration of the entire scheme would permit of the bearing of the different parts upon other parts and upon the whole being more clearly discerned.

At a conference with the Commissioner of Public Works and the Acting Commissioner of Police some weeks ago, I explained at length the necessity of a new north and south railless route; they agreed, I understood, that the traffic requirements called for a railless route along Kiangse Road, and I stated that this could be substituted for Honan Road as proposed in my letter of July 23, 1919. That your letter under reply disapproves of any further crossing of Nanking Road by railless cars except at Thibet Road makes necessary the following further explanation:—

(1) A route along Honan Road or Kiangse Road south of the Soochow Creek is necessary (a) as a connecting link between the south-western and north-eastern districts where extensions have been proposed which would be practically useless without this connecting link, and (b) as a prolongation into the Central area of the North Szechuen Road line, viâ the proposed new Szechuen Road bridge over the Soochow Creek: this is necessary to give direct services to the northern districts, the present services viâ Soochow Road and the Bund being inadequate and incapable of being increased owing to the stretches of single track in the narrow parts of North Szechuen Road Extension. The northern area served by the North Szechuen Road line is now an important and rapidly increasing residential district for a large section of the foreign community, and, without a north and south direct route as proposed, the Company would be unable to provide adequate travelling facilities for these residents. There is also a very dense Chinese population to be provided for in that district.

(2) Without a new north and south route as proposed, the Company could make no use of and would not, therefore, be warranted in contributing towards the cost of a reconstructed North Szechuen Road bridge. Moreover, without such a new route, there would be no way of continuing North Honan Road cars southwards except viâ Fokien Road and, therefore, the very restricted use which the Company could make of a reconstructed bridge at Honan Road would necessarily curtail considerably the Company's contribution towards its cost.

(3) In my letter dated July 23, 1919, it was made clear that a railless car "must occupy a crossing for a shorter time than a string of small vehicles carrying the same number of passengers or the same quantity of goods." There is a substantial saving of time with the larger vehicles. The only way to relieve congestion caused by excessive numbers of small and slow vehicles is to remove restrictions against larger and faster vehicles doing a fair share of the work, as proposed by the Company's scheme of extensions. The Company cannot understand why the council continues restrictions against railless electric vehicles, particularly at a time when large motor vehicles of different kinds, private and public, are being licensed at nominal fees, in rapidly increasing numbers and without any restriction as to the routes they may take or the roads they may cross.

(4) North and south traffic is always substantially heavier than east and west traffic and demands consideration.

I am desired once more to recall that, as far back as December, 1917, the Company submitted comprehensive proposals for adequately dealing with the traffic requirements, and re-submitted these proposals in more complete form in July last year: and that my departure on Home leave has been more than once postponed in the hope that a reply would be received from the Council dealing with the whole scheme, so enabling me to discuss the matter with the London Board in a definite manner.

I am now informed by the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager of the Electricity Department that he cannot guarantee a supply of current for the 22 additional cars (sanctioned by the Council in April last) to be brought into service this summer: it is obviously necessary to have a definite scheme of extensions approved before traction electrical requirements can be gauged and the necessary converter plant and cables ordered. Deliveries of equipment for extensions are bound to be considerably delayed under the conditions prevailing, whilst the rate of traffic increase continues to be greater than ever before.

The whole position, unsatisfactory from all aspects, is one which the Company has done its utmost as the correspondence shows to prevent.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. McCOLL.
General Manager.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, February 27, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to inform you that as a result of consideration of the means by which traffic conditions in the Nanking Road may be improved the Council considers that it would be desirable to experiment on the lines of discontinuing all the request stopping places except those at the Kiangse Road crossing and erect four additional passenger islands, 3 feet wide by 58 feet long, at the crossings of Fokien Road on the north and south sides, Shanse Road on the south side and Honan Road on the north side. These islands, with those already existing, will provide accommodation for tram passengers at all compulsory stopping places with the exception of the two at Szechuen Road where the available space will not permit of the construction of any island. It is, of course, recognized that these arrangements can be experimental only and that the discontinuance of request stopping places, which will result in a proportionately larger number of passengers using the compulsory stopping places, may conceivably tend to excessive crowding of the islands and adjacent roadway, thus in effect proving a greater hindrance to other traffic than the more frequent stopping places. But it is recognized that it is only by experimentation that any improvement in existing conditions can be hoped for.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

J. G. SMEATON, Esq.,
Acting General Manager,
Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ld.

Shanghai, March 16, 1920.

SIR, I am directed to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated February 27 in which it is stated that, as a result of consideration of the means by which traffic conditions in the Nanking Road may be improved, the Council considers that it would be desirable to experiment on the lines of discontinuing all the request stopping places except those at the Kiangse Road crossing and to erect four additional passenger islands, 3 feet wide by 58 feet long, at the crossings of Fokien Road on the north and south sides, Shanse Road on the south side and Honan Road on the north side. In reply I have to state that, with the exception of the Request Stopping Places at the Kiangse Road crossing, which are very largely used, and which it is proposed should be retained, there remain only six others, viz.,

(1) Pole A-84 near Electricity Department's Show Room for west-going cars.

(2) Pole A-85 opposite Electricity Department's Show Room for East-going cars.

(3) Pole A-109 near Town Hall for West-going Cars.

(4) Pole A-110 opposite Town Hall for East-going cars.

(5) Pole A-115 opposite Louza Police Station for West-going Cars.

(6) Pole A-116 near Louza Police Station for East-going cars.

As it is found from observation of the traffic that very few passengers use Request Stops Numbers 1 and 2 and 5 and 6, the Company is aggreeable to discontinuing them, but, it is suggested that Numbers 3 and 4 should be retained as these stops are largely used by foreigners going to and coming from entertainments, etc., at the Town Hall.

The Company welcomes the Council's suggestion to erect four additional passenger islands at the crossings mentioned in your letter, and notes that these, with those already existing, will provide accommodation for tram passengers at all compulsory stopping places in the Nanking Road with the exception of the Szechuen Road crossing where the roadway is too narrow to permit of islands.

I am directed by the Local Board to state that it is thought that the provision of these additional passenger islands will facilitate the loading and unloading of tram-cars and tend to ameliorate traffic conditions, generally, in the Nanking Road.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. G. SMEATON,
Acting General Manager.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room.
Shanghai, March 22, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 23 in support of the view expressed by you verbally in conference with the Commissioner of Public Works and the Acting Commissioner of Police in December last that the provision of a new north and south railless tram route is a matter of necessity more particularly from the point of view of relieving congestion on the existing tram routes.

In reply I am directed to inform you that after due consideration of the views advanced by you and of the suitability of the several possible north and south routes, especially in relation to the traffic on the Nanking Road, the Council can only, it is regretted, affirm the decision communicated to you in my letter of January 12 disapproving any further crossing of the Nanking Road by railless cars except at Thibet Road.

Since your letter now under reply gives expression to a certain measure of disappointment at the fact that the Council has not sooner dealt with the whole of the comprehensive scheme of electric traction development submitted with your letter of July 23, 1919, I am directed to emphasise that the Council could not express its views on a scheme of such far-reaching importance until it had received that very close examination and consideration in detail that the protection and furtherance of the public interest very rightly demand. Actually this scheme of development was forwarded to the Heads of the several Departments concerned, immediately after its receipt, for their detailed comments and criticism, and in due course, on September 17, after circulation to members with departmental reports thereon, it was the subject of preliminary consideration at a meeting of the Council. Later, on October 30, it was considered at great length at a joint meeting of the Watch and Works Committees when the several Heads of Departments were heard in amplification of the views expressed in their written reports: further reports on certain material points, financial and otherwise, were then directed, whilst the Commissioner of Public Works received instructions to confer with you on certain others. These further reports, including a report by the Commissioner of Public Works on the result of his conferences with you, were submitted to the Council on December 22, 1919, and considered at a Council meeting on January 7, 1920, when I was directed to write to you in terms of my letter of January 12 above referred to, stating that the Council had unanimously and definitely recorded its disapproval of any further crossing of the Nanking Road by railless cars except at Thibet Road. Meanwhile, on December 11, 1919, by the Council's directions you were addressed on the matter of the serious danger caused by the over-crowding of tramcars. Your reply of December 18, 1919, as also your letter of January 23, 1920, on the subject of a new north and south railless route, were submitted at a further joint meeting of the Watch and Works Committees on February 12, when consideration was also given to the several outstanding points which had been the subject, in the meantime, of further departmental reports. The views recorded at this meeting have since been confirmed by the Council with certain modifications, and for convenience I am directed to deal with the whole question of rail and railless extensions and of improvement in the existing service under the following headings:—

Extensions Comprised in your Company's Programme. Rail Extension.

Programme for First Year.

At the forthcoming Meeting of Ratepayers the Council will recommend approval of the extension of the existing rail route along North Szechuen Road Extension from the tram terminus to the Hongkew Park Gate or Wonglo Road. Such extension to be approved in accordance with the provisions of Article 2 of the Tramway Agreement of 1905.

Railless Extensions.

Programme for First Year.

Honan Road from Avenue Edward VII to Peking Road.—The Council's disapproval of any further crossing of the Nanking Road except at Thibet Road is dealt with in my letter of January 12 as amplified above.

Foochow Road from Honan Road to Thibet Road.—Disapproval of the extension along the Honan Road from Avenue Edward VII to Peking Road will necessarily involve a "dead end" at the Honan Road end of the Foochow Road, which the Council is unwilling to sanction in view of traffic conditions. On the other hand the Council has no objection to an extension along Foochow Road from Thibet Road as far as Fokien Road and thence along the system already in operation on the latter road, or in the alternative as far as the Bund, linking up with the system in operation there.

Cemetery, Taku, Chungking and Manila Roads from Thibet Road to Great Western Road. This extension is considered unsuitable and cannot accordingly be approved.

Haining and Cunningham Roads from North Thibet Road to Bubbling Well Road and Boone Road from Cunningham Road to Broadway.—The Council regards these extensions as very desirable and accordingly requests that they be carried out if a respective of success or failure to obtain powers for an extension through Chapei to the Railway Goods Yard. It may be noted that a portion of the roadway on the section of Haining Road between North Thibet Road and Kansuh Road is within the jurisdiction of the Chapei Authorities, whose approval, so far as this section is concerned, should accordingly be sought.

The remaining extensions comprised in your proposed programme for the first year are passed without objection.

Programme for Second Year.

Jessfield Road from Bubbling Well Road to St. John's College. The section of this extension between Brenan Piece and St. John's College passing through Jessfield Village is considered unsuitable and cannot be sanctioned. The remainder of this extension is approved.

Szechuen Road from Ningpo Road to North Soochow Road, Ningpo Road from Kiangse Road to Szechuen Road and Kiangse Road from Ningpo Road to Peking Road. The Council is unwilling to approve these extensions in the view of the narrowness of the roads concerned and traffic conditions generally are such as to render them unsuitable.

The remaining extensions comprised in your proposed programme for the second year are passed without objection.

Programme for the Third Year.

The extensions comprised in your proposed programme for the third year are also passed without objection, but the Council requests that the extensions along North Thibet Road from North Soochow Road to Haining Road and along North Soochow Road from North Thibet Road to North Szechuen Road be undertaken in the programme for the first year.

Extensions not Comprised in your Company's Programme.

Rail Extension.

The Council considers that extension of the existing rail route along the Yangtszepoo Road to the Point would be of advantage. The Council accordingly proposes to recommend approval of this extension, as an extension under the provisions of Article 2 of the Tramway Agreement of 1905.

Railless Extensions.

Burkill Road from Carter Road to Thibet Road.—The Council considers that an extension along the Burkill Road from Carter Road to Thibet Road would be of considerable advantage and assist in the relief of traffic on the Bubbling Well-Nanking Road route.

Yuquen Road, Bubbling Well Road to Jessfield Park.—In view of the need for greater facilities for access to Jessfield Park the Council requests that an extension be provided from Bubbling Well Road along the Yuquen Road to the Park and, if desired by your Company, as far as the Jessfield Railway Station.

Extension connecting Jessfield Road with Ferry Road.—With the still development in this district, greater travelling facilities for the conveyance of mill hands, will almost certainly be requisite at no distant date, the Council therefore requires an undertaking on the part of your Company to provide this extension at such time as the Council may require.

Avenue Edward VII.—You will no doubt recall that the question of a tramway service along the Avenue Edward VII was the subject of considerable correspondence in the local press just prior to the Special Meeting of Ratepayers in June 1914, when the Council was authorized to take steps for the culverting of the Yangkingpang and the Defence Creek; you will also recall that the Council then approached the French Council and obtained its assurance that the French Tramway Company would not be permitted to construct a tram line on the Avenue unless by previous arrangement with the Council and the ratepayers of this Settlement. This was in 1914; six years have since elapsed and a close study of traffic conditions in the Avenue has convinced the Council that a tram service along this thoroughfare would undoubtedly tend to improve existing conditions and provide much needed means of transit for the general public. Accordingly the Council is addressing the French Council seeking its support to the suggestion that, subject to approval by the Ratepayers, a railless service should be provided by mutual arrangement between your Company and the French Tramway Company from the Bund to the Great Western Road and, if desired by your Company, along this road as far as Manila Road, or on such other basis as may be found practicable.

"Dead Ends."

In regard to all the extensions enumerated, the Council will require that approved arrangements be made at termini to prevent any congestion or interference with traffic by standing cars or unsatisfactory turning arrangements. In this connexion I am directed to express the Council's view that the existing turning arrangements at Honan Road are quite satisfactory and that those at Thibet Road are fairly so but that those at Avenue Edward VII are unsatisfactory.

Period for Completion of Programme of Extensions.

The period of three years over which the extensions are spread is considered entirely satisfactory.

Period for which Extensions are to be Granted.

All extensions approved will run concurrently with the Tramway Agreement of 1905.

Road Re-Construction.

In respect of all railless extensions approved, the Council will require a contribution from your Company of Tls. 25,000 per route mile towards the cost of road reconstruction, when reconstruction is required to render the roads affected suitable for the railless system.

Road Maintenance.

As a contribution to road maintenance, the Council will require your Company to pay one tael cent per car mile in respect of all railless extensions approved, including those which will traverse any rail route. This contribution will be payable half-yearly. The existing agreement in regard to the maintenance of rail tracks will continue unaffected and will be applied, on the basis therein provided for to the two rail extensions above referred to.

Re-Construction of Bridges.

Towards the cost of re-constructing bridges, over which any of the extensions approved will pass, your Company will be required to make a contribution of 33⅓ per cent. of the total cost.

Royalty in Respect of Extensions.

The Council has agreed that the royalty contribution provided for by the Tramway Agreement of 1905, viz: 5 per cent. of the gross receipts of the Company, should extend to apply to all extensions approved.

Fire Brigade Requirements.

The rail and railless systems are open to objection from the point of view of danger to members of the Fire Brigade from the live overhead wires. This matter has been the subject of consideration in the past and you will recall that in October 1918 you submitted a statement of certain proposed arrangements to reduce this danger. These arrangements were passed by the Council as satisfactory but the Chief Officer reports that although you have repeatedly promised to give a demonstration of cutting down or pulling aside the wires you have not as yet actually done anything in the matter. I am directed to request that you will take immediate steps to arrange for this demonstration and to emphasise that no extensions of the rail or railless systems will be sanctioned except upon the express undertaking of your Company to put the agreed fire arrangements into early operation.

Electrical Considerations.

The Engineer-in-Chief and Manager of the Electricity Department will make the necessary provision for cables, etc., to cover all extensions approved by the Council.

Freight Traffic.

Members are unwilling to give consideration to the desirability or otherwise of the introduction of a freight service until very radical improvement is effected in the matter of over-crowding and better accommodation for first class passengers which are dealt with hereunder.

Agreement Covering Extensions.

So soon as you have notified acceptance of the terms herein outlined, upon which the Council is prepared to sanction extension of the existing tram service, an agreement will be drafted by the Council's legal adviser and submitted for your consideration, generally on the lines of the Tramway Agreement of 1905 mutatis mutandis covering the points herein referred to and such other points as the Council may deem requisite.

Over-Crowding and Better Accommodation for First Class Passengers.

In the Council's opinion there is no matter that more urgently requires the attention of your Company than the overcrowding of cars that at present obtains in a very aggravated form on practically the whole of the rail service. On this question and supplementing my letter to you of December 11, 1919, I am directed to express the Council's view that apart from the amelioration that should follow as a natural consequence of the extensions now approved, the greatest measure of amelioration will result from an increase in the passenger-carrying capacity of the service. This can be achieved by (1) greater frequency of service, (2) increase in the length of cars and/or (3) introduction of double deck cars. It appears to the Council that the adoption of No. 1 is possible to some extent, No. 2 will add largely to the weight of cars and may result in road subsidence and is therefore perhaps undesirable, whilst the like objection applies to No. 3, added to which is the fact that double deck cars would be likely to prove too heavy and dangerous on a meter gauge track.

Apart from the question of overcrowding members feel very strongly that more consideration should be paid to the comfort and convenience of first class passengers, both foreign and Chinese. The practice of labelling car compartments on the outward journey as first class and the same compartments as third class on the return journey is considered objectionable and I am directed to request that your Company put an end thereto. Another objectionable practice that has been observed by members personally is the permitting of passengers to travel first class with third class tickets especially on the Outer Circle route, whilst chit coolies and messengers whose state of cleanliness is not always beyond reproach, are not infrequently observed travelling as first class season ticket holders. To remove the latter nuisance, I am to suggest that your Company should consider the desirability of issuing third class season tickets, even if it be only to a limited extent.

Traffic Congestion on the Nanking Road.

Closely connected with the question of over-crowding and better accommodation for first class passengers is the need of improving traffic conditions in Nanking Road so as to reduce congestion as far as possible and to protect tram passengers at the stopping places from other vehicular traffic and vice versa. Much improvement has undoubtedly been effected by the provision of traffic islands and as indicated in my letter to you of February 27 last the Council proposes by way of experiment to discontinue the request stopping places along the Nanking Road, except, as suggested by you in your letter of March 16, at Kiangse Road and the Town Hall and to provide traffic islands at all compulsory stopping places which are at present not provided with islands except at the Szechuen Road crossing where the roadway is too narrow.

Water Supply.

Correspondence with the Waterworks Company:—

Shanghai, February 18, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to your memo. of yesterday, I beg to inform you that owing to the drought and the consequent condition of the silt in the river, it has proved for the last three days impossible for the Company to filter the water sufficiently quickly to cope with the demand, and the pressure has, consequently, been low for part of the day. Every endeavour is being made to restore the filter beds and the supply to normal conditions at the very earliest possible moment.

Yours faithfully,
A. P. WOOD,
Engineer-in-Chief and Secretary.
The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, February 25, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 18 informing the Council that the drought and the consequent condition of the silt in the River had made it impossible to filter the water sufficiently quickly to cope with the demand and that the pressure had, therefore, been low for a part of the day, but that every endeavour was being made to restore the filter beds and the supply to normal conditions at the very earliest possible moment.

In reply I am directed to point out that whilst the conditions to which you allude may have been somewhat unusual they may nevertheless recur so that immediate action to provide against them is a matter of the utmost importance. Apart, however, from this aspect of the matter it seems to the Council that your Company has failed to make adequate provision to meet the growing requirements of the Settlement and is not at the present time fulfilling the obligation to the Community to provide a constant and effective supply of pure and wholesome water as is called for by the Agreement concluded between the Council and your Company in 1905. The fulfilment of this obligation is of such vital importance to the convenience, health and fire protection of the Community that the Council can, I am directed to state, only regard the existing condition of affairs as most serious. That they constitute a very real danger to the public health and to the fire protection of the Settlement is evidenced by the report and analysis of the Health Officer for January last published in the Municipal Gazette of February 12 and by the reports that are constantly made by the Chief Officer of the Fire Brigade as to the inadequate, and even on occasion almost total, lack of pressure in the mains at fires attended by the Brigade.

During the war and for some months following the conclusion of hostilities the Council was prepared to make, and indeed did make, every allowance for the difficulties that your Company had to contend with in keeping pace with the requirements of the Community but the need for such allowances no longer exists and accordingly the Council feels compelled to call for satisfactory evidence that every possible action is being taken properly and adequately to meet present and future requirements. To this end I am directed to request that you may kindly furnish the Council with as detailed a statement as possible of the storage and pumping capacity, filtering area and daily consumption of water for the months of January and February 1910, 1915 and 1920, as also particulars of any steps that are being taken by the Company to remedy the present very serious conditions and to prevent their recurrence in the future.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.
The ENGINEER-IN-CHIEF & SECRETARY,
Shanghai Waterworks Co., Ld.

Shanghai, March 3, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 25, which will be replied to as soon as possible.

Yours faithfully,
A. P. WOOD,
Secretary & Engineer-in-Chief,
Shanghai Waterworks Co., Ld.
N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Shanghai, March 12, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 25 on the subject of the low pressure of water during the period preceding the Chinese New Year.

Your letter contains allegations of so grave a nature that my Directors welcome the opportunity of submitting statistics of the increased capacity of the Company's plant in recent years, statistics which they feel confident will entirely refute the charge that the Company has not realized its obligation to the community to provide a constant and effective supply of pure and wholesome water.

My Directors would, in the first place, draw the attention of the Council to the following figures showing the total quantity of water pumped and the maximum quantity in any one day in each of the last five years:—

	Total quantity for year	Maximum quantity in one day gallons.	gallons.
1915	4,274,172,500	16,325,76
1916	4,707,500,215	17,281,20
1917	5,208,612,897	19,589,13
1918	5,461,477,571	19,915,01
1919	6,366,701,685	23,087,68

an increase in the total quantity of 49 per cent.

Such an enormous increase would, my Directors submit, tax the capacity of an undertaking even in normal times, but it must be remembered that during the greater part of this period, the Company has been hampered by the fact that the countries from which additional plant has to be obtained have been almost entirely occupied in providing munitions of war, and even at the present time, my Directors regret that they are unable to agree with the view expressed by the Council that the need for allowances for the difficulties the Company has had to contend with in keeping pace with the requirements of the community no longer exists, their experience is that in many cases the difficulties of obtaining supplies are as great as, or even greater than, during the war.

A statement showing the storage and pumping capacity, filtering area and daily consumption of water, also the area of the pumping mains and the capacity of the auxiliary pumps for filling and emptying the settling tanks, for the months of January and February 1910, 1915 and 1920 is attached; during the last five years the Company has constructed two settling reservoirs with a capacity of 22 million gallons, and 13 filter beds; it has installed a new main pumping engine capable of pumping 7½ million gallons in 24 hours, and 2 electric-driven pumps for filling the settling reservoirs, and 2 large suction gas plants.

The total cost of the works on December 31, 1900, was Tls. 2,915,490.43 on December 31, 1914, Tls. 3,528,698.26, and on December 31, 1919, Tls. 5,127,188.62.

The capital expenditure on new works during the last five years has amounted, therefore, to over Tls. 1½ millions.

The following new works are at the present time under construction, or on order:—

Land has been purchased in Kiaochow Road on which the construction of clean water reservoirs is about to be commenced; these reservoirs will have a capacity of 9,500,000 gallons, and water will be repumped into the Western District during the heavy load part of the day. But for a delay on the part of the vendors of nearly a year in transferring this land, the new works would have been in hand some months ago.

A steel pumping main tapering from 40-in. diameter to 36-in. is to be laid from the Pumping Station at Yangtszepoo to the Kiangse Road centre. The pipe is now on order, at a cost of approximately £150,000 sterling.

The laying of a 30-in. main from Kiaochow Road to the Water Tower, Sinza Road, is about to be commenced, and a new large main along the Bund is proposed.

Tenders have been invited for a new main pumping engine capable of pumping approximately 7½ million gallons per 24 hours.

Such is the provision the Company is making for a further increase in the demand for water, but there is another remedy for the existing conditions of affairs to which my Directors are again compelled to draw the Council's attention.

Statistics show that the average consumption per house during the last five years has greatly increased; this and other data have forced my Directors to the conclusion that a considerable part of the increased consumption of water is due to other than legitimate use. Leakage from mains and fittings the Company is able to cope with, but the remedy provided by Clause V of the Company's Agreement with the Council of July 1905 for prevention of waste has proved quite unworkable.

This aspect of the question, it will be remembered, was alluded to at the meeting which took place on the July 29, 1918 between the Works Committee of the Municipal Council and representatives of this Company. On that occasion the then Chairman of the Works Committee stated that the existing state of affairs, by which the consumption of water is increasing out of all proportion to the revenue, must be remedied. The representatives of the Company were consequently requested to submit to the Council a concrete proposal for the supply to all consumers by meter, and this was done in the Company's letter to the Council of August 1, 1918. Further discussion was then postponed pending the report of the committee appointed by the ratepayers on the subject of the purchase of the waterworks by the Municipal Council.

My Directors are convinced that the adoption of such a measure is rendered inevitable, not only in the interests of the Company, but also of the community, and they would earnestly request the Council to resume the discussions as soon as convenient.

In regard to the pressure of water, Clause IV of the Agreement of July 1905 requires that the Company, except when it shall be prevented by unavoidable causes, shall supply water at a pressure, when it leaves the Company's water towers, equal to a minimum head of 85 feet; that the Agreement has been construed in no narrow sense is evinced by the fact that during certain hours of the day the water is supplied from the water tower off Sinza Road at a head of approximately 125 feet. My Directors are aware that there have been occasions when the pressure has been low, due to circumstances beyond their control, they are, however, taking steps to remedy this. At the present time, provision for augmented pressure is being made by the construction of the reservoirs in Kiaochow Road and the new steel pumping main already alluded to.

Every effort is being made to maintain the water in a high state of purity, and as the Council is aware, advantage was taken of Professor Fowler's presence in Shanghai in 1918 to consult him on the question of water purification. At his suggestion a laboratory has been fitted up, and both raw and filtered waters are chemically and bacteriologically tested daily by a former pupil of Professor Fowler.

The recent shortage of water, as the Council has already been informed, was due to the abnormal state of the river the quantity of silt in the water being greater than has ever previously been recorded and of an extremely fine nature. To meet such an eventuality in the future, and to improve the quality of the water experiments are now being made on certain lines suggested by Professor Fowler.

My Directors will be glad to furnish any further information the Council may require.

Chinese Cholera Hospital.

Letter from the Governors of the above-mentioned Hospital requesting a grant-in-aid towards the erection of new Hospital Buildings, and Council's reply conveying approval of the issue of a monetary grant of Tls. 5,000.

Shanghai, March 15, 1920.

Dear Sir,—We shall be grateful if you would bring before the Municipal Council the urgent need of funds for the Chinese Cholera Hospital.

It is not necessary for us to explain in detail to you the need it has filled and the services this Hospital has rendered to the community, as since its start in 1908 its working has been carried on in close collaboration with your Health Department.

We think you will not question the justice of our claim that the Hospital has been the means of saving many thousands of lives of Chinese citizens, and that in treating and isolating disease it has contributed largely to the efforts of your Health Department in preventing its spread to the Community generally. During last year the Hospital dealt with in this way no less than 6,149 cases at no cost to the Municipality.

As you are aware in the past, from motives of economy, it has been our custom to constitute our Hospital in Chinese houses leased each year for the summer months. This year we find it is impossible any longer to continue this procedure, owners claiming that their property was subsequently depreciated in value and difficult to relet. It is, moreover, questionable if it is desirable to continue this procedure any longer, as the non-special character of these buildings and lack of essential facilities prevents the attainment of the best results. We thus came to the conclusion that an institution of such proved efficiency, and which filled so crying a need, deserved to be permanently housed. We endeavoured, therefore, to obtain a suitable site on a lease proportionate to the life of the Chinese building we purposed to build. This plan also we found impossible, owing to the very high rental asked for the few sites suitable. We had, therefore, to consider the only other alternative to the cessation of our work, namely, to buy suitable land and to build on it as best we could with the financial support we hoped to receive.

We consider we have been fortunate in obtaining a most excellent site in Thibet Road, Lot (B.C.) 9947 for Tls. 15,000. in three payments of Tls. 5,000. each, and in leasing the adjoining Lot (F.C.) 899 for thirty years at a rental of $2,000. per annum, both in the International Settlement. On this site we are now preparing to build our Hospital, the plans of which have been submitted to you.

We have been told that it will require $18,000. to $20,000. to erect the Hospital we require. Our total funds amount to $20,000. less the first instalment of Tls. 5,000 in purchase of the new site, and less $2,000. the first year's rent of the leased adjoining site, both of which have been paid already.

The remaining two payments of Tls. 5,000. each have to be made in the immediate future, and in order to accomplish this, we intend to mortgage the land.

These necessary payments have depleted our building fund by almost one-half, and we cannot hope, without the Council's help, to raise sufficient funds by voluntary contributions to make good the deficit and complete our Hospital in time for the expected renewed outbreak this summer.

In conclusion, we ask you to remind the Council that this is the first time in our twelve years of working that we have made any request of this kind, and that it is now with the greatest reluctance that we do so, in preference to extreme curtailment if not complete cessation of our work this year, and, as already stated, our justification for doing so lies in the fact that any financial assistance you are able to render is unquestionably in the very best interests of the whole community of Shanghai. We wish to make it quite clear that our appeal for assistance at this time is to meet a contingency we could not foresee and which in all probability will not recur.

No. 2693.

THE following Resolutions will be brought forward by the Council at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in the Town Hall on April 7, 1920, at 2 o'clock p.m., and are published for general information:—

Resolutions I, II and III.—Formal business and adoption of Rules of Procedure.

Resolution IV.—That the Report and Accounts for the year ending December 31, 1919, be passed.

Resolution V.—That this Meeting extends its appreciative thanks to Major T. E. Trueman for the invaluable services he has rendered as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps during the past five years.

Resolution VI.—That the programme of Electricity Department plant extensions recommended in the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager's report published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29, 1920, be approved and that the Council be authorized in its discretion to enter into such contracts as may be requisite to give effect thereto.

Resolution VII.—That the estimated expenditure for 1920, contained in the Budget proposed by the retiring Council, together with the recommendations attached thereto, be approved and adopted, and that the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose, collect and recover the rates, taxes, dues and fees recommended therein, and to raise, should it be considered expedient to do so, upon such terms and in such manner as the Council may in its discretion think fit, a sum not exceeding Tls. 4,800,000 or the equivalent of this sum, for the purposes defined in the estimate of Extraordinary Expenditure.

Resolution VIII.—That this Meeting approves of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Committee and that the constitution and powers of such committee be those set forth in the letter from the Chairman of Council to the Senior Consul dated October 24, 1919, and published in the Municipal Gazette of January 8, 1920.

Resolution IX.—Election of Land Commissioner for the ensuing year.

Resolution X.—Election of four Governors of the General Hospital for the ensuing year.

Resolution XI.—Election of two members of the Permanent Education Committee.

Ratepayers intending to ask questions in regard to the Accounts or other matters connected with the foregoing Resolutions, are requested to give notice of such intention before the Meeting, so that a full answer or other explanation may be given.

Ratepayers desirous of bringing forward additional motions, or of nominating duly qualified persons willing to serve under Resolutions IX, X and XI, are required to give notice thereof to the undersigned before 4 p.m. on April 1, for due publication.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 27, 1920.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2698.

NOTICE is hereby given that, in addition to the Resolutions to be brought forward as published in Notification No. 2693, the following will be proposed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7:—

Amendment to Resolution VIII.—To delete everything after the word "meeting" and substitute the following:

"Hereby instructs the Council to take such steps as are necessary to procure the alteration of the Land Regulations for the purpose of increasing the number of Councillors from 9 to 12 of which 3 shall be Chinese Ratepayers with the same qualifications as Foreign Councillors, and to be elected as may be subsequently determined."

Proposer: Edward S. Little.
Seconder: Edward I. Ezra.

Resolution XII.—That the Council be hereby authorized and directed to arrange for the re-assessment of the land comprised within the limits of the Settlement, during the current year, such re-assessment to come into force as from the first day of January 1921, and to engage such professional assistance for the performance of the work as may be found expedient.

Proposer: E. F. Mackay.
Seconder: P. A. Cox.

Resolution XIII.—That the Report of the Loan Redemption Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 16, 1918 be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in 1921.

Proposer: E. C. Pearce.
Seconder: A. Brooke Smith.

Resolution XIV.—That the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose collect and recover in respect of any licence or permit to carry firearms, that may be issued under the provisions of Bye-law XXXVII a fee of Tls. 10 per quarter with effect from May 1, 1920, until the next Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, payable in advance.

Proposer: E. C. Pearce.
Seconder: A. Brooke Smith.

Resolution XV.—That the report of the Special Committee appointed to inquire into vice conditions in this Settlement published in Municipal Gazette No. 681 dated March 20, 1920 be adopted and its recommendations be carried out.

Proposer: Skinner Turner.
Seconder: L. E. Canning.

HONGKEW RECREATION GROUND.

OWING to the public demand for the use of the space available for the playing of games, it has been decided, in lieu of the "First come first served" practice, to call for applications by those desiring playing space, whereafter allocation will be made and notification will be issued as to what arrangements are feasible.

All persons desiring such playing space should form themselves into groups or associations of whom one person shall be considered to be the representative.

Each application should contain the following information:—

1.—Name of group, club or association.

2.—Name of Chairman or President.

3.—Name and address of Secretary.

4.—Number of members.

5.—Space applied for.

6.—Number of months and days per month and approximately the hours during which it is desired to make use of the space applied for.

7.—Whether willing to share with another club or group, to play alternately, in case applications are found to exceed the space available.

Applications in writing should be made to Mr. R. Ross, c/o Shanghai Public School, on or before Thursday, April 15, 1920, after which date playing spaces will be allotted for the current season.

Volunteer Corps.

Light Horse.—The resignation of Captain H. S. Lindsay, forwarded by the Commandant, has been accepted by the Council with regret.

Upon the recommendation of the Commandant, a commission as Captain is authorized for issue to Mr. E. H. McMichael.

Report of the Volunteer Corps Commission.

The scope of the Commission's enquiry is contained in the resolution of the Ratepayers passed at the Annual Meeting on April 9, 1919, as follows:—

"To enquire into and report publicly upon the condition of 'B' Company, British, Shanghai Volunteer Corps, and into the Regulations governing the Shanghai Volunteer Corps generally."

There was considerable delay in selecting and securing the members of the Commission, so that an inaugural meeting of the incomplete membership was not held until August 1, 1919. Finally the following were appointed and consented to serve:—

Messrs. R. E. S. Gregson,
S. J. Halse,
Dr. J. R. Hykes,
Lt. Col. M. H. Logan and
Mr. C. C. S. Mackie.

Dr. John R. Hykes was elected chairman and Mr. S. Hammond was appointed secretary.

The first meeting of the full Commission could not be held until November 18, 1919.

The Commission held in all seven sittings.

Two applications were made to the Municipal Council for a copy of the proceedings and findings of the Court of Enquiry held on November 1, 1918. These applications were refused. The Commission was unanimous that these findings were most material towards throwing further light on its investigations and that they should have been produced. Whilst the Commission regrets that the documents asked for were not forthcoming, it considers that the evidence placed before it is sufficient to enable it to arrive at a definite conclusion as to the conditions existing in "B" Company during the years 1915-1919, and the causes which were responsible for them.

From an examination of the muster rolls of "B" Company it appears that between the dates January 15, 1918, and November 19, 1919, 75 members of this Company resigned. On November 21, 1919, the strength of "B" Company was 35 members only, a few of whom were members who had resigned and subsequently rejoined. In consequence of the large number of resignations the utility and efficiency of the Company was greatly decreased.

The Commission is of opinion that the condition of "B" Company is attributable principally, if not altogether, to dissatisfaction in the Company at the method of appointment of its officers. The method of appointment and promotion of officers is provided for by Article VIII of the Regulations for the Shanghai Volunteer Corps:

"The sole power of granting commissions is vested in the Council who will appoint and promote officers on the recommendation of the Commandant who shall satisfy himself that such officers are acceptable to their unit as a whole."

This rule is sufficiently clearly expressed and the principle that members of a unit are entitled to have a voice in the appointment of its officers cannot be doubted.

It is clear that until comparatively recently the procedure in "B" Company, in common with other Companies of the S.V.C., was that prior to the appointment of an officer to the Company, a meeting was convened and the opinion of the Company as a whole was taken as to whether or not such appointment was acceptable to the Company.

The Commission finds that during the War, officers have been appointed to "B" Company contrary to Regulation VIII, and to the spirit of that Regulation, in that the opinion of the Company as a whole was not in fact invoked prior to such appointments.

An instance occurred in the case of the appointment of an officer in October 1918, when the approval of the Company Officer and the assurance of one member of "B" Company that he was willing to forego promotion in favour of such officer was stated to be a compliance with Article VIII.

It is recognized that occasions might arise where the summary appointment of an officer to a unit would be justified by expediency, or by urgent reasons of public safety; but as no such conditions did exist, the consideration of this aspect of the matter is irrelevant to the present enquiry.

In a body such as the S.V.C., as at present constituted, there are no real means of enforcing discipline except by the good-will of the members of the Corps and the weight of public opinion; and if on this account alone the spirit and letter of the Regulations should be strictly observed.

The Commission finds that there was a legitimate grievance in "B" Company because of the failure to observe the requirements of Article VIII, and that the condition of the Company is due to this cause.

It also finds that the proceedings subsequent to the Court of Enquiry held on November 1, 1918, were irregular and that no justification existed for the publication of Corps Order No. 101 in the Public Press.

With regard to the second part of the Ratepayers' resolution it was understood that a draft of proposed new regulations would be laid before the Commission for consideration and comparison.

This has been done, but at so late a date that the Commission finds there is insufficient time before the Ratepayers' meeting for it to undertake adequately this portion of the enquiry. It, therefore, confines itself to indicating the proposed amendment to Article VIII of the present regulations, contained in Article X of the new draft, in which the Commandant is to satisfy himself as to the fitness and "acceptability" of officers; but no reference is made to the acceptability of officers "to their units as a whole."

The Commission regards this omission as of significance especially in the light of the interpretation sought to be put upon Article VIII and referred to earlier in this report: namely, that there has been a compliance with the Article, as it now stands, when the Company officers approve an appointment and the Senior N.C.O. does not object.

JOHN R. HYKES,
Chairman.

Foreign Women's Home.

Correspondence on the subject of an application for an increased grant to this Institution from the public funds:—

Shanghai, February 18, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—On behalf of the Committee of the Foreign Women's Home, I have to ask you to bring before the Members of the Shanghai Municipal Council, the following facts and request:—

Last November, the Foreign Women's Home moved into a large house in Baikal Road. The Home has been full ever since they moved in. At present it is too full, owing to the somewhat abnormal conditions now existing in the city.

But with the ever growing foreign population, the Committee are unanimously convinced that the accommodation they have will always be needed. Since the middle of November, they have given shelter and care to 34 women of English, Scotch, American and Russian Nationality.

Some of these women needed nursing and special care. Two were sent to the hospital for operations. The operations were performed gratis by a member of our Committee, Dr. Margaret Polk. In both cases, the hospital expenses were also procured by the Home.

I wish to emphasise the fact that we give shelter to any destitute or friendless foreign women. We know and recognize the great value of other organizations, working for the relief of the needy, but we are the only permanent organization that has a roof to offer to those who need one.

On the other side of our work, viz., to give a home and to help any unfortunate woman who wishes to try and reclaim her character and her womanhood, we feel, that while others have been making valuable and necessary investigations, we have been doing real work along these lines.

Because we wish to do this work in a still more efficient manner, and to be a real help to the Community, we asked our Vice-President, Mrs. Billinghurst, to try and secure for us a lady worker in England. We have received a cabiegram to the effect that she is sailing next month.

We are very grateful to the Municipal Council for the yearly grant made to the Home, and the Committee wish to express their gratitude. Owing, however, to the large number of women who have come under our care, we find ourselves in somewhat financial difficulties, and I am requested to petition the Council to increase the yearly grant Taels One Thousand per year.

Hoping that the Council will favourably consider this request, and assuring them of our very real desire to supply a need in the Community, I beg to remain,

Yours sincerely,

LIZZIE MACGILLIVRAY,
Hon. Secretary,
Foreign Women's Home.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 17, 1920.

MADAM,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 18 applying for an increase of the grant-in-aid of the Foreign Women's Home in Baikal Road, and in reply thereto I am directed to inform you that while fully sympathetic in the aims and objects of this institution, the Council regrets its inability to increase the amount of the authorised grant.

I am, Madam,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

MRS. DONALD MACGILLIVRAY,
Honorary Secretary,
Foreign Women's Home.

Report of the Special Vice Committee.

Letter containing the Council's views upon the recommendations summarised in the Report of the Special Vice Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 19, 1920:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 30, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of and to thank you for your letter of March 9, forwarding the unanimous report of the Committee appointed by the Council, in pursuance of Resolution X passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers in 1919, to investigate vice conditions in the Settlement.

In conveying to you and to your colleagues on the Committee an expression of the Council's sincere appreciation of the exhaustive investigations undertaken, as indicated by the comprehensive and instructive manner in which the several aspects of the problem of the betterment of existing vice conditions have been dealt with, I am directed to express in as few words as possible the Council's views (excepting the members who sat on your Committee) regarding the recommendations contained in the summary appended to your Committee's Report.

1.—The Council adheres to the view that the total elimination of brothels is inadvisable and that the recommendation, if adopted, will in fact result (a) in the removal of a large number of brothels to a short distance beyond the limits of the Settlement where, in the absence of all control and regulation by the Council, they would flourish under conditions infinitively worse than those which exist at present, (b) in the establishment of "sly" brothels in different areas of the Settlement, the suppression of which would have no other results than those which have attended their attempted suppression in other countries. In addition their suppression would involve a substantial increase in the strength of the Police Force such as would constitute no inconsiderable burden on the taxpayers, apart from the demoralizing influences to which the Force would undoubtedly be exposed and (c) in a very large increase in street and public resort soliciting, the suppression of which, by legal process, presents no little difficulty by reason of the reluctance of those who are solicited in coming forward and giving evidence. So long as brothels are licensed this evil could undoubtedly be kept very largely in check by proceedings against the keepers of the brothels under a condition imposed in the licence, but so soon as licences are withdrawn this means of checking this evil will automatically disappear.

2, 3, 4, 11, 13, 14 and 15. The Council has expressed its endorsement of these recommendations, though there are practical difficulties which would prevent the Council from compelling the treatment of venereal disease by certain of the hospitals which receive grants-in-aid.

5.—Effect to this recommendation would be given by the specific approval of the Ratepayers from time to time.

6, 7 and 8.—The Council has endorsed these recommendations subject to the comments under No. 1 above, but, in members' opinion, the whole-hearted co-operation of the public with the Police would be essential to success.

9.—Convictions would naturally weigh with the Council in considering the fitness of an applicant for the issue or renewal of a licence.

10.—This recommendation, if adopted, would, in the members' opinion, prove abortive in its object, through lack of co-operation on the part of the public with the Police.

12.—The Council adheres to the view that examination has its value, even if the percentage of possible prevention effected in the case of gonorrhœa is but 10 per cent., of syphilis 50 per cent., and of chancroid 75 per cent.

16.—The Council will ascertain the views of the local educational institutions on this recommendation.

In conclusion, I am directed to express the hope that, as a result of discussion of the subject at the forthcoming meeting of Ratepayers, a satisfactory modus operandi may be found whereby commercialised vice and its kindred evils may be reduced to a minimum in and around the Settlement.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Chairman, Special Vice Committee.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Muirhead Road.—The compensation offered for Mow 0.106 of land required from Lot 896 for the widening of this road has been accepted in terms of the following correspondence:—

Shanghai, August 13, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—Replying to your letter of August 8, we beg to inform you that the beneficial owner of Cadastral Lot 896 claims compensation for the area of Mow 0.106 required from this lot for incorporation into Muirhead Road Extension at the rate of Tls. 3,000 per mow, or a total of Tls. 318 for the area to be surrendered.

Yours very respectfully,
CHINA REALTY COMPANY, LD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Manager.

The MUNICIPAL ENGINEER.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 23, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter to the Municipal Engineer of August 13, on the subject of the compensation payable for the strip of Cadastral Lot 896 required for the widening of Muirhead Road.

In reply I am directed to state that the Council considers your claim at the rate of Tls. 3,000 per mow altogether too excessive, and to inform you that compensation based on the assessed value of the land, plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender, as follows, is considered equitable in the circumstances:—

	Tls.
Mow 0.106 at Tls. 1,200 per mow	127.20
Plus 10 per cent.	12.72
Tls.	139.92 say 140

In conveying a counter-offer on the above basis, I am directed to express the hope that it will meet with your acceptance.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

The CHINA REALTY CO., LD.

Shanghai, September 19, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of August 23, 1919 regarding the compensation payable for the strip of B. C. Lot 9632 required for the widening of Muirhead Road, we beg to inform you that the owner of this lot is not willing to accept your proposal of payment of Tls. 140. He, however, is willing to accept compensation on the basis of Tls. 2,000 per mow plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender or

	Tls.
Mow 0.106 at Tls. 2,000 per mow	Tls. 212.
Plus 10 per cent.	,, 21.20
	Tls. 233.20

We hope that the Council can arrange to settle the matter on this basis.

Yours very respectfully,
CHINA REALTY COMPANY, LD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Manager.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 1, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of September 19, relative to the surrender from Lot 896 of the area required from the Muirhead Road, I am directed to inform you that the Council is quite unable to comply with the owner's suggestion. In his first claim this owner demanded Tls. 3,000 per mow, he now demands Tls. 2,000 per mow. The Council has offered him the assessed value, upon which he has paid taxes. This valuation was based upon that of adjacent lots, assessed by independent experts in accordance with the usual procedure.

I have to add that the Council if obliged to refer this case for compulsory surrender with award of compensation by the Land Commissioners, may feel under the necessity, in pointing out to the Commissioners the advantage which will be derived by the property by fronting as a corner lot upon the new thoroughfare, to press for a deduction for betterment.

In these circumstances I am to suggest that you will be good enough to use your good offices with your client for settlement of this matter upon the full and adequate terms offered, i.e., the assessed value plus 10 per cent. with out deduction of any kind whatsoever.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

The CHINA REALTY CO., LD.

Shanghai, October 24, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—Replying to your letter of October 1 regarding the surrender of a portion of B. C. Lot 9632 for incorporation into the Muirhead Road, we beg to inform you that the beneficial owner has agreed to accept your offer contained in your letter of August 23, 1919.

We would thank you to forward us the necessary surrender deeds for signature.

Yours very truly,
CHINA REALTY COMPANY, LD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Manager.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Bubbling Well Road.—Acquisition has been effected of Mow 0.120 of unregistered land for widening this road East of B.C. Lot 9714 for the sum of Tls. 300.

The claim has been accepted of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ld. for the surrender of the scheduled area of Lots 234 and 233 at the assessed value plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender or Tls. 22,519 for Mow 1.890, plus cost of reinstatement of the walls and fences, etc., affected.

Yuyuen Road.—Acquisition has been arranged of Mow 0.145 of land ex F.C. Lot 606 (formerly U.S. Lot 2141) for the widening of this road, for the sum of Tls. 189.

Traffic.

The Chaoufoong Road Jetty will be closed to traffic during repairs, from Tuesday, April 6, to Tuesday, April 20 inclusive.

Motor Freight Vehicles and Freight Trailers.

Correspondence with the French Municipal Council, on the subject of the proposed licence conditions for these vehicles, in continuation of that published in the Gazette of March 15, 1920:—

Translation of letter from the Secretary of the French Council, dated March 22, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 8, 1920, on the subject of the new regulations for motor freight vehicles and trailers. This letter was the subject of consideration by the French Council at its meeting on March 15 when it recorded its agreement with the principle of separate licences for each Settlement.

I have the honour to forward herein enclosed the new regulations which will be put into force for these vehicles in the French Settlement as from April 1, 1920.

I also enclose the new tariff applicable from the same date to motor tricycles, pedal tricycles and hire vehicles.

I am, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 30, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 22 notifying the agreement of your Council with the principle of separate licences for each Settlement in the case of motor freight vehicles and freight trailers as also forwarding a copy of the regulations affecting these vehicles which will be enforced in the French Settlement as from April 1, for which I am directed to thank you.

I am also to thank you for the new tariff which will have effect from the same date in the case of motor tricycles, pedal tricycles and hire vehicles.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 28, 1919.

SIR,—Under the agreement concluded between the Council, the French Council and the Commissioner of Customs in 1899, set forth on page 178 of the Council's Annual Report for that year, it was agreed that the collection of wharfage dues should be carried out by the Commissioner of Customs on behalf of the two Councils, in accordance with the tariff therein set forth, which has since remained unchanged but for the fact that opium no longer figures therein, and that a modification has been made in the case of dues on cocoons.

Under Article IX of the Land Regulations, the Council is authorized to collect dues "on all goods passed through the Chinese Custom House. . . provided the said. . . dues shall in no case exceed the amount of one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the value of the goods. . . ." On reference to the tariff, it will be seen that the only classes of goods on which the maximum rate is not at present collected, are silk, tea, treasure and such goods as pay Customs Duty at a lower rate than 5 per cent. Recently, however, the Council has given consideration to the desirability of raising the dues on these goods to the maximum amount and subject to the concurrence of your Council, it proposes to approach the General Chamber of Commerce, for an expression of its views on the desirability of this action, and subject to their consideration, to address the Commissioner of Customs thereafter, so that provision for the collection of dues at the maximum rate on all goods passing through the Chinese Custom House may be included in the Council's Budget of Ordinary Income for 1920.

I am directed to request that you may kindly bring this proposal to the attention of your Council for its consideration, thereafter communicating its views to me for submission to the Council and for such further action as may be requisite.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

The SECRETARY,
French Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Secretary of the French Municipal Council, dated August 30, 1919.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of July 28, last, respecting wharfage dues.

The Municipal Council considered this matter at its meeting of August 18, and directed me to inform you that it entirely approves the Municipal Council's scheme relative to raising to the maximum the rates for wharfage dues, to be collected on all merchandise passing through the Chinese Custom House.

I am requested further to inform you that it is prepared to support the Council in any representations to be made on this subject.

I am, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room.
Shanghai, October 6, 1919.

SIR,—Under the agreement concluded between the Council, the French Council and the Commissioner of Customs in 1899, set forth on page 178 of the Council's Annual Report for that year, it was agreed that the collection of wharfage dues should be carried out by the Commissioner of Customs on behalf of the two Councils, in accordance with the tariff therein set forth, which has since remained unchanged but for the fact that opium no longer figures therein, and that a modification has been made in the case of dues on cocoons.

Under Article IX of the Land Regulations, the Council is authorized to collect dues "on all goods passed through the Chinese Custom House. . . provided the said. . . dues shall in no case exceed the amount of one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the value of the goods. . . ." On reference to the tariff, it will be seen that the only classes of goods on which the maximum rate is not at present collected, are silk, tea, treasure and such goods as pay Customs Duty at a lower rate than 5 per cent. Recently, however, the Council has given consideration to the desirability of raising the dues on these goods to the maximum amount in view of the need for increasing the revenue of the Settlement and, with the concurrence of the French Council, as indicated in the enclosed copy of a letter from that Body dated August 30, 1919, it was decided to approach your Chamber for an expression of its views on the desirability of this action, and, subject to consideration thereof, to address the Commissioner of Customs thereafter, so that provision for the collection of dues at the maximum rate on all goods passing through the Chinese Custom House may be included in the Council's Budget of Ordinary Income for 1920.

I am, accordingly, directed to request that you will kindly bring this proposal to the attention of your Chamber for its consideration, thereafter communicating its views to me for submission to the Council and for such further action as may be requisite.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,

The CHAIRMAN,
Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce.

Shanghai, October 24, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge your favour dated October 6 which was placed before my Committee at their Meeting on October 14, and a reply will be sent you as soon as possible.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
G. J. W. MORGAN,
Acting Secretary,
Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Shanghai, November 4, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—The Wharfage Dues Agreement which was signed in March 1899, by representatives of the International Settlement, the French Concession, and by the Commissioner of Customs, provided, as you know, for the collection of wharfage dues on all dutiable cargo landed and shipped at this port at the rate of 5 per cent. of the duty paid; and, in the case of duty-free articles, at the rate of 5 per cent. of 5 per cent. of their value. A specific tariff was, however, fixed for opium, silk, tea, table waters and treasure. Of these articles, opium no longer appears on our tables.

The levy of wharfage dues on silk, tea and table waters at specific rates instead of at a fixed percentage of the duty paid is an arrangement which entails considerable inconvenience to the Customs, owing to the fact that special records for these commodities have to be kept; and I now venture to request that this matter be laid before your Council with a view to arranging that wharfage dues be levied on silk, tea and table waters from April 1 next at the rate of 2 per cent. of the duty paid instead of at the specific rates now in force

The articles affected by the change now proposed are as follows:—

Article		Customs Duty. Present rate.	Present rate of Wharfage.	Proposed rates for Wharfage. per
Silk, Steam Filature	Picul	10.000	0.320	0.200
Raw and White	,,	10.000	0.180	0.200
Yellow, Native	,,	7.000	0.135	0.150
Waste, Raw	,,	2.500	0.100	0.050
Wild, Filature	,,	2.500	0.120	0.060
Re-reeled, Native	,,	10.000	0.250	0.300
Re-reeled, from Dupion	,,	15.000	0.500	0.300
Re-reeled, Filature	,,	10.000	0.360	0.300
Cocoons	,,	1.000	0.020	0.020
Tea, Black and Green, fired	,,	3.000	0.600	0.600
Brick	,,	1.200	0.016	0.025
Coal	,,	0.600	0.015	0.015
Dust	,,	1.200	0.015	0.025
Unfired	,,	0.600	0.003	0.012
Table Waters, Native or Foreign	Dozen	1.000	0.015	0.200
		foreign.	0.0025	0.0014
		1.000
		Free, native.

It will be noticed that the proposed uniform rates of 2 per cent. of the duty paid represent, in the case of certain of the above articles, an increase over the present rates; in others, a decrease; while in the case of silk refuse and silk cocoons there would be no change.

The effect of the proposed unification of rates on the total wharfage dues collection would be negligible,—one year would show a slight increase, another a decrease as compared with the present collection, depending on the relative quantities of these commodities landed and shipped.

I append a table showing the difference between the actual wharfage dues collection on the above commodities during the last five years at the present specific rates, and the wharfage dues collection on the same articles worked out on the basis of the proposed uniform rate of 2 per cent. of the duty for the same period. Had 2 per cent. of the duty been collected during this period, it would have meant a slight increase in the wharfage dues collection in 1914 and 1915, and a decrease in 1916, 1917 and 1918. Over the whole of this 5-year period there would have been a total net decrease in the wharfage dues collection of Hk. Tls. 8,319, which represents slightly over half of 1 per cent. of the total wharfage dues collection for the 5-year period.

In view of the fact that the proposed change would simplify considerably the recording of the wharfage dues collection, and at the same time make no appreciable difference in the amount collected, I should be gratified if your Council could see its way to sanction the new procedure. I would further ask you kindly to inform me whether your Council is prepared to adopt the change now proposed, so that I may likewise approach the Chinese authorities interested in the question.

I am, Dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,

L. A. LYALL,

Commissioner of Customs.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

SIR,—With reference to your letter of October 6 and the Acting Secretary's acknowledgement dated October 24, I now beg to enclose copies of letters received from the Bankers', Silk, and Tea Associations dealing with above subject, and would commend them to the Council's consideration.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

M. G. BECK,

Secretary,

Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

(Enclosure No. 1.)

Shanghai, October 29, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of October 24 with enclosure regarding the proposed increase in the charge at this port for wharfage dues from 30 taei cents per Tls. 1,000 to Taei 1 per Tls. 1,000.

At present all imports of bullion are subject to a tax of 75 cents per Tls. 1,000 made up as follows:—

Wharfage Dues	...	30 cents
Conservancy Tax	...	45 ,,
		75 cents

The present charge for wharfage dues appears to be a sufficient tax for the services rendered, especially as no such charge is made in other countries on imports and/or exports of bullion and currency.

The Banks are of opinion that any increased tax on bullion will only tend to create a further charge on the currency of this country and the inland exchanges, and on these grounds are of the unanimous opinion that a strong protest must be made against the proposed increase in the charge for wharfage dues at this port.

Yours faithfully,

C. J. SCOTT,

Chairman,

Shanghai Foreign Exchange Bankers' Association.

The SECRETARY,

Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce.

(Enclosure No. 2.)

Shanghai, November 5, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—I have to thank you for your letter of October 24 requesting the views of our Association on the proposed increase of wharfage dues as set forth in copy of letter from the Secretary of the Shanghai Municipal Council dated October 6. The views of my Committee are as follows:—

If dues are to be collected at the maximum rate of one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the value, this will represent an increase of some three times the present dues, say

	Present Dues per picul. Tls.	Hk. Tls.	Proposed Dues per picul. Hk. Tls.
Steam Filatures	1.000	0.320	1.00
Re-reeled White	700	0.250	0.70
Wild Filature	400	0.120	0.40

While eventually exporters pay an increase, this is a point which from previous experience my Committee has found very difficult to impress on the Chinese dealers, who will have to pay such an increase first. The majority of silkmen have lost money (the Steam Filatures having suffered most are studying ways how to relieve the situation) and to enforce such a increase in a bad season will cause general dissatisfaction and might interfere with business. My Committee consequently suggest that any proposed increase be gradual after due notice and if possible to commence at the beginning of the season, say June 1.

With regard to the proposal to levy dues on a value basis, my Committee consider this entirely impracticable on an article which fluctuates Tls. 200 in a couple of months and which is frequently contracted for three to five months ahead. The only practicable way is the one at present in use, a charge per picul.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
A. JOST,
Hon. Secretary,
Foreign Silk Association of Shanghai.

The CHAIRMAN,
Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce.

(Enclosure No. 3.)
Shanghai, October 30, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—I have circulated your letter (together with the copy of the letter from the Shanghai Municipal Council) among Members of the China Tea Association.

The general opinion is that the tax is so small anyway, that it is of little importance if there is a slight increase.

The present rate of wharfage dues on tea is Tls. 0.015 per picul. The present average value of tea is about Tls. 25 per picul.

If Tls. 25 per picul is taken as a basis and the maximum rate of 1/10th of 1 per cent. is charged, the rate for wharfage dues would be Tls. 0.025.

As the tea trade is suffering from the absence of a Russian demand, and the export largely diminished in consequence, the trade in certain kinds of tea is threatened with extinction, and hundreds of thousands of workers have to look for other employment.

The Customs to help the trade have removed the export duty for two years and reduced the likin by a half. It will therefore give a bad impression to the native authorities if the foreign community at this time make any advance in taxation of tea even though it may not be appreciable to individual dealers.

I suggest under the circumstances that the wharfage dues on tea remain unchanged.

I am,
Yours faithfully,
H. A. J. MACRAY.
Chairman, China Tea Association.

ACTING SECRETARY,
Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce.

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 29, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to refer to your letter of August 30 last on the subject of wharfage dues and to enclose herein copy of correspondence which has passed between the Council and the General Chamber of Commerce, copy of a letter from the Commissioner of Customs and extract from the minutes of the meeting of the Finance Committee held on January 22 and subsequently confirmed by the Council at its meeting on January 28. This minute records the Council's present views on the subject, but before communicating these views to the Commissioner of Customs I am to request you kindly to favour me with the views of your Council as it seems to the Council most desirable that the two Councils should be agreed as to the action to be taken.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,
Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Secretary of the French Municipal Council, dated February 16, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated January 29 last, in reference to wharfage dues and the correspondence enclosed therewith,

The French Council considered this matter at its last meeting on February 9, and directs me to inform you that it is in complete accord with the views of the Municipal Council.

I am, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, February 28, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to refer to your letter of November 4, 1919, on the subject of the collection of wharfage dues.

Towards the end of June last the Council reached the view that it was desirable that the dues on silk, tea, treasure and goods upon which Customs duties are paid at a lower rate than 5 per cent. should be increased so as to bring them into line with other goods, upon which dues are already collected at the maximum rate laid down in Article IX of the Land Regulations, viz., one-tenth of 1 per cent. on their value. This view was communicated to the French Council with a request for its views on the subject and on August 30 reply was received expressing its agreement with the Council. The General Chamber of Commerce was next addressed and on October 24 the Council was informed that the matter had been considered at a meeting of the Committee of the Chamber held on October 14 and that a reply would be sent to the Council in due course. On November 4 your letter now under reply was received. On November 26 the Chamber of Commerce replied enclosing copies of letters on the subject from the Bankers, Silk and Tea Associations, copies of which are enclosed herein for your information.

The whole of the above correspondence was considered in detail at a meeting of the Finance Committee on January 22 when the following minute was recorded and subsequently confirmed by the Council:—

Wharfage Dues.—A letter from the French Council is submitted expressing concurrence with the Council's views on the subject of wharfage dues as recorded in the Committee's minute of June 26, and signifying their willingness to support representations in this connexion. There is also submitted the ensuing correspondence with the General Chamber of Commerce, wherefrom members note that the Shanghai Foreign Exchange Bankers Association is opposed to any increase in the dues on bullion, in the view that it will tend to create a further charge on the currency of the country and on inland exchanges, whilst no such charge is made in other countries: that the Foreign Silk Association is somewhat diffident in regard to an increase in the dues on silk, expressing the view that any increase should be gradual after due notice, and that a levy on a value basis is impracticable since silk values are liable to violent fluctuations; and that, whilst of the opinion that the dues are so small that a slight increase would be of little importance, the China Tea Association nevertheless suggests that the dues should remain unchanged, a suggestion which the Association supports by alluding to the fact that the Customs duty has been remitted for two years and likin reduced by one-half, with a view to helping the tea trade. Finally a letter from the Commissioner of Customs is submitted suggesting alteration of the basis upon which wharfage dues are collected in the case of silk, tea and native and foreign table wares. He points out that the levy of dues on the commodities mentioned at specific rates as at present instead of at a fixed percentage of the Customs duty, entails considerable inconvenience, and he suggests that from April 1 next, the dues be levied at the rate of 2 per cent. of the duty paid.

Whilst members have no objection to the principle involved in the Commissioner's suggestion, it is recalled that the object in addressing the French Council and the General Chamber of Commerce was to secure a larger revenue from wharfage dues, whereas consideration of the statistics, which the Commissioner quotes, in regard to the dues collected during the last five years, shows that the collection on the basis which he proposes would have meant a net decrease in the dues of Hk. Tls. 8,319. Accordingly, subject to ascertainment of the view of the French Council, members recommend that reply be made to the Commissioner approving his proposals provisionally and in principle, but pointing out that the increased cost of the administration of the Settlement necessitates collection of 3 instead of 2 per cent. of the duty paid, but so that such percentage shall not in any case exceed one-tenth of one per cent. of the value of the goods concerned. With regard to bullion it seems to members that an increase in the wharfage dues from 30 to 45 cents per Tls. 1,000 which is the amount levied for the Conservancy tax, would not appreciably affect the currency of the country or the inland exchanges, and a recommendation that the dues be increased accordingly is recorded.

The French Council was again approached on the matter and the Council has since been informed that it is in complete accord with the views expressed in the above minute.

I am accordingly directed to inform you that, subject to their confirmation by the Ratepayers at the forthcoming Annual Meeting, which will probably be held in the second week of April, the proposals outlined in your letter of November 4 have been provisionally approved on the basis that the collection of dues shall be at the rate of 3 instead of 2 per cent. of the duty paid, but so that such percentage shall not in any case exceed one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the value of the goods concerned. With regard to treasure the Council proposes an increase in the dues to 45 cents per Tls. 1,000.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

L. A. LYALL, Esq.,
Commissioner of Customs.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 1, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to thank you for your letter of February 16, on the subject of wharfage dues, and to forward herein for your information, a copy of the communication that the Council has addressed in this matter to the Commissioner of Customs. A copy of the correspondence therein referred to was forwarded with my letter of January 29.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,
Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, March 5, 1920.

SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 28 concerning my proposal to simplify the collection of wharfage dues.

As I understand the proposal now made by you, it is to collect as wharfage dues 3 per cent. of the amount of Customs duty collected on all goods imported or exported, provided that this amount shall in no case exceed one-tenth of one per cent. on their value.

I may mention that this proviso re the amount not exceeding one per mille of the value, though found in the Land Regulations, is not found in the agreement concerning the collection of wharfage dues made in March 1899, between the Councils of the Foreign Settlements and the Commissioner of Customs.

As the Customs duty on nearly all articles paying a specific duty rate is less than 5 per cent. it was probably thought unnecessary to complicate the collection of wharfage dues by incorporating this proviso in the memorandum of agreement concerning their collection, but now that you propose that the rate of wharfage dues shall be increased from 2 per cent. to 3 per cent. of the amount of Customs duty collected on goods, this proviso will become of great importance for on goods paying an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent. on their value, 3 per cent. of 5 per cent. will amount to 1.5 per mille. It will, therefore, be necessary to fix 3 per cent. of the Customs duty on all goods paying a specific tariff duty, and 2 per cent. of the Customs duty on all goods paying an ad valorem rate. This will very greatly complicate the collection of wharfage dues and will not only defeat the object I had in view when writing my letter of November 4 last, but will make the situation far worse from the Customs point of view than it now is.

The only interest that the Customs have in the collection of wharfage dues is that their collection shall be as simple as possible, and shall, therefore, delay as little as possible the passing of goods through the Custom House. As the proposal now made by you will not help towards this end, you will readily understand that it would not be becoming for me to lay it before the Chinese Authorities and endeavour to enlist their support for it.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
L. A. LYALL,
Commissioner of Customs.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai March 30, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to refer to the correspondence already exchanged on the subject of Wharfage Dues and to forward herein copy of a further letter addressed to the Council by the Commissioner of Customs on March 5.

It would seem to the Council that the only practical means of avoiding the difficulties to which the Commissioner refers and, at the same time, of increasing the possibilities of revenue from Wharfage Dues, apart from the results of increased trade and the operation of the 5 per cent. effective Customs Import Tariff, would be by alteration of Regulation IX of the Land Regulations governing this Settlement so as to provide that Wharfage Dues shall in no case exceed " per cent. of the Customs duty on the goods so passed, landed, shipped or trans-shipped" instead of "the amount of one-tenth of 1 per cent on the value of the goods so passed, landed, shipped or trans-shipped."

The incoming Council will give consideration to this matter at an early date, and with this end in view I am directed to request that you may kindly favour the Council with an expression of the views of the French Council.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,
Secretary, French Municipal Council.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2693.

THE following Resolutions will be brought forward by the Council at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in the Town Hall on April 7, 1920, at 3 o'clock p.m., and are published for general information:—

Resolutions I, II and III.—Formal business and adoption of Rules of Procedure.

Resolution IV.—That the Report and Accounts for the year ending December 31, 1919, be passed.

Resolution V.—That this Meeting extends its appreciative thanks to Major T. E. Trueman for the invaluable services he has rendered as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps during the past five years.

Resolution VI.—That the programme of Electricity Department plant extensions recommended in the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager's report published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29, 1920, be approved and that the Council be authorized in its discretion to enter into such contracts as may be requisite to give effect thereto.

Resolution VII.—That the estimated expenditure for 1920, contained in the Budget proposed by the retiring Council, together with the recommendations attached thereto, be approved and adopted, and that the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose, collect and recover the rates, taxes, dues and fees recommended therein, and to raise, should it be considered expedient to do so, upon such terms and in such manner as the Council may in its discretion think fit, a sum not exceeding Tls. 4,800,000 or the equivalent of this sum, for the purposes defined in the estimate of Extraordinary Expenditure.

Resolution VIII.—That this Meeting approves of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Committee and that the constitution and powers of such committee be those set forth in the letter from the Chairman of Council to the Senior Consul dated October 24, 1919, and published in the Municipal Gazette of January 8, 1920.

Resolution IX.—Election of Land Commissioner for the ensuing year.

Resolution X.—Election of four Governors of the General Hospital for the ensuing year.

Resolution XI.—Election of two members of the Permanent Education Committee.

Ratepayers intending to ask questions in regard to the Accounts or other matters connected with the foregoing Resolutions, are requested to give notice of such intention before the Meeting, so that a full answer or other explanation may be given.

Ratepayers desirous of bringing forward additional motions, or of nominating duly qualified persons willing to serve under Resolutions IX, X and XI, are required to give notice thereof to the undersigned before 4 p.m. on April 1, for due publication.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 27, 1920.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2698.

NOTICE is hereby given that, in addition to the Resolutions to be brought forward as published in Notification No. 2693, the following will be proposed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7:—

Amendment to Resolution VIII.—To delete everything after the word "meeting" and substitute the following:

"Hereby instructs the Council to take such steps as are necessary to procure the alteration of the Land Regulations for the purpose of increasing the number of Councillors from 9 to 12 of which 3 shall be Chinese Ratepayers with the same qualifications as Foreign Councillors, and to be elected as may be subsequently determined."

Proposer: Edward S. Little.
Seconder: Edward I. Ezra.

Resolution XII.—That the Council be hereby authorized and directed to arrange for the re-assessment of the land comprised within the limits of the Settlement, during the current year, such re-assessment to come into force as from the first day of January 1921, and to engage such professional assistance for the performance of the work as may be found expedient.

Proposer: E. F. Mackay.
Seconder: P. A. Cox.

Resolution XIII.—That the Report of the Loan Redemption Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 16, 1918 be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in 1921.

Proposer: E. C. Pearce.
Seconder: A. Brooke Smith.

Resolution XIV.—That the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose collect and recover in respect of any licence or permit to carry firearms, that may be issued under the provisions of Bye-law XXXVII a fee of Tls. 10 per quarter with effect from May 1, 1920, until the next Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, payable in advance.

Proposer: E. C. Pearce.
Seconder: A. Brooke Smith.

Resolution XV.—That the report of the Special Committee appointed to inquire into vice conditions in this Settlement published in Municipal Gazette No. 681 dated March 19, 1920 be adopted and its recommendations be carried out.

Proposer: Skinner Turner.
Seconder: L. E. Canning.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 1, 1920.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2699.

NOTICE is hereby given that, in addition to the Resolutions to be brought forward by the Council and Ratepayers, respectively, as published in Notifications Nos. 2693 and 2698, the following will be proposed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7:—

Amendment to Resolution VI.—That the following words be added after the words "give effect thereto":

"And that the Council be directed not to contract for the supply of power in bulk or to renew any contracts for an increased supply of power in bulk unless the consumer, if within the Settlement, which term is to include consumers who pay taxes on Municipal Roads outside the Settlement, subscribes to the Council direct for the current Municipal loan issues, to the extent of one-third of the capital expenditure involved by their supply with power, and if without the Settlement sixty-six per cent."

Proposer: Edward I. Ezra.
Seconder: Edward S. Little.

Amendment to Resolution VII.—That the following words be added after the words "Extraordinary Expenditure":

"And that for the payment of the Electricity Department Contracts in Europe or America, the Council gives its careful attention to the desirability of issuing gold loans in sterling or gold dollars."

Proposer: Edward I. Ezra.
Seconder: Edward S. Little.

Resolution XVI.—That the Report of the Volunteer Corps Commission, as published in the Municipal Gazette of April 1, 1920, be received and adopted.

Proposer: Evan Morgan.
Seconder: Edward S. Little.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Shanghai, April 1, 1920.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2700.

NOTICE is hereby given that, in addition to the Resolutions to be brought forward by the Council and Ratepayers, respectively, as published in Notifications Nos. 2693, 2698, and 2699, the following will be proposed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7:—

Amendment to Resolution VII.—That the following words be added after the words "Extraordinary Expenditure":

"Provided that no money be raised by the issue of Premium Bonds without the express sanction of the Ratepayers."

Proposer: Cecil Holliday.
Seconder: Edward S. Little.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 5, 1920.

Report of the Special Vice Committee.

Letter containing the Council's views upon the recommendations summarised in the Report of the Special Vice Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 18, 1920:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 30, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of and to thank you for your letter of March 9, forwarding the unanimous report of the Committee appointed by the Council, in pursuance of Resolution X passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers in 1919, to investigate vice conditions in the Settlement.

In conveying to you and to your colleagues on the Committee an expression of the Council's sincere appreciation of the exhaustive investigations undertaken, as indicated by the comprehensive and instructive report in which the several aspects of the problem of the betterment of existing vice conditions have been dealt with, I am directed to express in as few words as possible the Council's views (excepting the members who sat on your Committee) regarding the recommendations contained in the summary appended to your Committee's Report.

1.—The Council adheres to the view that the total elimination of brothels is inadvisable and that this recommendation, if adopted, will in fact result (a) in the removal of a large number of brothels to a short distance beyond the limits of the Settlement where, in the absence of all control and regulation by the Council, they would flourish under conditions infinitively worse than those which exist at present, (b) in the establishment of "sly" brothels in different areas of the Settlement, the suppression of which would have no other results than those which have attended their attempted suppression in other countries. In addition their suppression would involve a substantial increase in the strength of the Police Force such as would constitute no inconsiderable burden on the taxpayers, apart from the demoralizing influences to which the Force would undoubtedly be exposed and to a very large increase in street and public resort soliciting, the suppression of which, by legal process, presents no little difficulty by reason of the reluctance of those who are solicited in coming forward and giving evidence. So long as brothels are licensed this evil could undoubtedly be kept very largely in check by proceedings against the keepers of the brothels under a condition imposed in the licence, but so soon as licences are withdrawn this means of checking this evil will automatically disappear.

2, 3, 4, 11, 13, 14 and 15. The Council has expressed its endorsement of these recommendations, though there are practical difficulties which would prevent the Council from compelling the treatment of venereal disease by certain of the hospitals which receive grants-in-aid.

5.—Effect to this recommendation would be given by the specific approval of the Ratepayers from time to time.

6, 7 and 8.—The Council has endorsed these recommendations subject to the comments under No. 1 above, but, in members' opinion, the whole-hearted co-operation of the public with the Police would be essential to success.

9.—Convictions would naturally weigh with the Council in considering the fitness of an applicant for the issue or renewal of a licence.

10.—This recommendation, if adopted, would, in the members' opinion, prove abortive in its object, through lack of co-operation on the part of the public with the Police.

12.—The Council adheres to the view that examination has its value, even if the percentage of possible prevention effected in the case of gonorrhœa is but 10 per cent., of syphilis 50 per cent., and of chancroid 75 per cent.

16.—The Council will ascertain the views of the local educational institutions on this recommendation.

In conclusion, I am directed to express the hope that, as a result of discussion of the subject at the forthcoming meeting of Ratepayers, a satisfactory modus operandi may be found whereby commercialised vice and its kindred evils may be reduced to a minimum in and around the Settlement.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

SKINNER TURNER, Esq.,
Chairman, Special Vice Committee.

Bye-Laws.

It is proposed to submit the following Bye-Law for the Ratepayers' approval at the Special Meeting of Ratepayers convened for Wednesday, April 7, at 1.45 p.m., in the Town Hall:—

XXXVa.

Printed Matter.—Any person who shall print (which term shall for the purposes of this bye-law include any mechanical mode of reproduction) or publish, or cause to be printed or published, any newspaper pamphlet circular handbill leaflet placard or other paper containing public news intelligence or occurrences of any remarks or observations thereon, and shall not prior to such printing or publishing have registered or caused to be registered, in the case of foreigners with the Consul of the nationality to which such person belongs and otherwise with the Municipal Council, his name and usual places of abode and business or shall knowingly have made or caused to be made any misrepresentation or omission whereby such registration shall be misleading; and any person who shall print any paper whatsoever which shall be meant to be published or dispersed and who shall not print upon the front of every such paper, if the same shall be printed upon one side only, or upon the first or last or editorial leaf of every paper which shall consist of more than one leaf, in legible characters, his name and usual places of abode and business; and any person who shall publish or disperse, or assist in publishing or dispersing, any such paper on which the name and usual places of abode and business of the person printing the same shall not be printed as aforesaid, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars or to imprisonment not exceeding three months or to any such other penalty as shall be prescribed by the law to which such person is amenable.

Chinese Advisory Committee.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 24, 1919.

SIR,—Since so much attention has been focussed during the past few months on the demand made at the time of the Rate Agitation of July and August last, that Chinese should be admitted to membership of the Council, and since it is understood that official representations have recently been made to the Diplomatic Body and referred to the Consular Body for an expression of its views, I have the honour to advise you that the question of admitting Chinese to participation in the administration of the affairs of this Settlement, either through the medium of a Chinese Advisory Board or Committee or by amendment of the Land Regulations to permit of their election to the Council, was considered at a recent meeting of members and ex-members of Council. After full discussion a vote was unanimously recorded against Chinese representation on the Council on any consideration, but in favour of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Board or Committee, provided that its meetings be held in the Council's Offices, that it shall have a membership of five to be nominated annually by the Chinese, that the nominations be subject to the veto of the Consular Body, that the nominees shall have resided in the Settlement for the five years immediately preceding nomination, that they shall have paid General Municipal Rate during the whole of this period on an assessed rental of not less than Tls. 1,200 per annum, that they shall not, at the time of nomination nor whilst on the membership of the committee, hold any official appointment under the Chinese Government, and finally that the functions of the committee be limited to those set forth in Clause 4 of the Settlement Extension Draft Agreement of 1915 hereinafter referred to.

In recording this vote the meeting was unable to dissociate the demand for Chinese representation on the Council from the efforts of the past few years and particularly since the signing of the Armistice, to secure the abolition of Extra-territoriality Settlements, Concessions and Spheres of Influence, and general expression was given to the view that these efforts must be met and resisted until, by good government and by the adoption of a policy of progression and development in accord with the standards common to every enlightened Nation, China has shown that she is fitted to receive full retrocession of those rights which she contends have been wrongfully wrested from her, but which in fact the foreigner either had vested in him by treaty or has been forced to assume and exercise from motives of self-preservation and protection, or because of the hopeless inability of China to exercise them herself for the benefit of her own people and of those who seek a domicile in her lands.

As regards an Advisory Board or Committee, the considerations are different. The Council has always appreciated the value of the Chinese viewpoint and, at every critical time in Municipal affairs where Chinese interests have been concerned, has sought means of learning the opinions of prominent Chinese residents. True it is that its recognition of a so-called representative committee, in 1905-6 led to the passing of a resolution at the Meeting of Ratepayers held on March 1906, declining to confirm its action, but it is believed that the views of Ratepayers on this subject have since undergone considerable change. Indeed when the Draft Agreement for an Extension of the Settlement, with provision for the establishment of a Chinese Advisory Board, submitted to you by the Special Envoy for Foreign Affairs early in 1915, was laid before the Ratepayers in March of that year, their approval was readily accorded. Inasmuch however as approval was sought and given upon the basis that the Settlement area would be extended, and since ratification of the Agreement has remained in abeyance for reasons for which I need not deal, it will now be necessary for the Ratepayers' directions to be sought as to whether such a Board or Committee should be approved irrespective of Settlement Extension. I have the honour to inform you that the Council proposes to seek such directions at the Meeting of Ratepayers in March or April next and to state that there is every reason to believe that such approval will be duly accorded.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium
and Senior Consul.

Extract from Settlement Extension Draft Agreement 1915.

3.—The Chinese Government are of opinion that in theory the Municipal Council should include several Chinese members to deal jointly with matters affecting Chinese in the whole Settlement, but recognizing that the existing Land Regulations preclude such inclusion, they accept in the meantime the Advisory Board provided in Article IV as a satisfactory substitute until Chinese representation on the Council may become feasible.

4.—The Chinese Advisory Board referred to in the preceding Article to consist of two nominees of the Ningpo Guild, two nominees of the Canton Guild and one nominee of the Special Envoy for Foreign Affairs or of the highest local Chinese authority in Shanghai. The nomination of the Members of the Board to be subject to the veto of the Consular Body. The duties of this Board to be confined to advising at the request of the Municipal Council on all matters affecting the interests of the Chinese residents in the whole Settlement and to making representations to the Council with regard thereto. The members of the Chinese Advisory Board when giving advice and making representations to the Municipal Council must do so in unison and they will not be allowed to act independently.

Volunteer Corps Commission.

Interchange of correspondence with the above Commission:—

Shanghai, November 18, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—I am directed by the Committee to ask you to be good enough to furnish us with the general file of correspondence and all other documents relating to "B" Company and covering the period of the past two years; also copies of "B" Company Rules, of the Corps Regulations and the proposed new Regulations, of the agreement which a member signs on joining, and the Company's Roll Call for the past two years.

I shall be glad of an early reply.

Yours faithfully,
S. HAMMOND,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, December 3, 1919.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of November 18, and in accordance with your request to submit the following herewith:—

1. File containing certain correspondence relating to the transfer of Mr. L. M. Beytagh, 2nd Lieut. of the first reserves of "B" Company British and to the discussion which arose thereon leading up to the "Heal" incident.
2. Six copies of the Corps Regulations.
3. Six copies of "B" Company British Rules and Regulations.
4. Six copies of old form of application for enrolment.
5. Six copies of new form of application for enrolment.
6. Six copies of enrolment papers.
7. Copy Roll of "B" Company British from January 1, 1918 to November 21, 1919.
8. Six copies of receipt given by the Orderly Room for equipment returned on resignation.

With regard to the proposed new Volunteer Corps Regulations, I am directed to inform you that the British Volunteer Regulations have been taken as a basis and that the views of the officers of the Corps have been sought thereon and that after discussion at a meeting to be called shortly these will be embodied in a formal set of Regulations, of which a copy will be forwarded for the consideration of the Commission in due course—probably within the next two or three weeks.

I shall be glad if you will kindly return the file of correspondence, being enclosure No. 1 herewith, as soon as the Commission has dealt with the same.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

S. HAMMOND, Esq.,
Secretary, Volunteer Corps
Special Commission.

Shanghai, December 17, 1919.

SIR,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 3, and the enclosures therewith. As requested by you I return the file of correspondence (No. 1 enclosure), copies of which have been made for the members of the Commission.

I am now directed to ask you to be good enough to supply, for the information of the Commission, copies (six if possible) of the evidence taken before the Court of Enquiry of November 1, 1918, and the findings thereof; the Commandant's decision of November 29, 1918; and all the correspondence leading up to Lieut. Beytagh's appointment.

The Commission also desire that the Secretaries of the S. V. C companies be asked to ascertain from their Minutes, what is now, and what has been the custom of appointing officers during the last six or seven years—and, in particular, was it customary to call meeting of members, or not, for that purpose?

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
S. HAMMOND.
Secretary

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council

Council Room,
Shanghai, January 10, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 17, 1919, and in response to your request for copies of certain documents and for certain information for your Commission to reply as follows:—

1. The Court of Enquiry of November 1, 1918, was called by the Commandant to deal with a question of discipline. Under the procedure governing Courts of Enquiry the only person who would be entitled to a copy of the evidence taken before the Court and of the Court's findings would be an officer or member of the Volunteer Corps, who is tried by Court Martial in respect of any matter or thing reported upon by the Court of Enquiry. As a matter of fact no one was so tried nor was any charge framed. The Council therefore regrets that it is unable to call upon the Commandant for copies of the evidence and findings as requested by your Commission.
2. The Council cannot trace any decision of the Commandant of November 29, 1918, and on enquiry the Commandant states that he does not know to what decision your Commission intends to refer.
3. The whole of the correspondence leading up to Lieutenant Beytagh's appointment was sent you with my letter of December 3, 1919.
4. Secretaries of S.V.C. units, where such exist, are appointed under unit bye-laws for dealing with matters other than military matters, they are not provided for under S.V.C. Regulations and minutes (if any are kept) are therefore private records from which neither the Council nor the Commandant can, it is regretted, require any extract.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

S. HAMMOND, Esq.,
Secretary, Volunteer Corps
Special Commission.

Shanghai, January 26, 1920.

SIR,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 10, and on behalf of the Commission to reply as follows:—

1. The Committee derives its authority from a resolution of Ratepayers and cannot recognize any plea of privilege in respect of documentary or other evidence which it may require to enable it properly to undertake the enquiry with which it has been entrusted.

The Commission considers the evidence and findings of the Court of Enquiry of November 1, 1918, necessary for the purpose of its investigation.

If the refusal to produce the material is persisted in the Commission will find itself obliged to withdraw altogether from the enquiry and report accordingly to the Ratepayers, indicating the reason for such withdrawal.

2. The decision referred to is that given by the Commandant at his office at 6 p.m. on November 29, to certain members of "B" Company who were ordered to attend by circular dated November 27, 1918. It is understood that this decision was embodied in a typewritten document which was read to the men.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
S. HAMMOND,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, February 25, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 26 further expressing the views of the Volunteer Corps Commission in the matter of the production of the evidence and findings of the Court of Enquiry called by the Commandant on November 1, 1918.

In reply I am directed to affirm the Council's views on this subject as expressed in my letter of January 10, and supplementing them to point out that it is improbable that the British Government would in the future consent to second a British Army officer as Commandant of the Corps if the evidence and findings of any Court of Enquiry convened by him were subject to production to any Commission appointed pursuant to a resolution passed by the Ratepayers. It seems to the Council obvious that, in a matter such as this, the British Government would naturally insist on the application of the military law of Great Britain which definitely lays down that the reports of Courts of Enquiry are privileged documents and the property of the officer or soldier convening the Court with the proviso that of a Court Martial follows upon any matter reported on by a Court of Enquiry or (subject to contrary orders by the Army Council) if the character or military reputation of any officer or soldier is, in the opinion of the Army Council, affected by anything in the evidence before or in the report of the Court of Enquiry then and in such cases only the officer or soldier concerned shall be entitled to a copy of the proceedings of the Court of Enquiry including its report on payment of the actual cost of the copy required.

Apart from these considerations I am directed to bring to your attention the remarks of the mover of the resolution moving the appointment of the Volunteer Corps Commission: "I may state at once that this resolution is not the outcome of any particular case or cases which have cropped up in connexion with the volunteers and it has nothing to do with any such particular case or cases in any way whatever. I think it necessary to make this initial statement because it has been suggested that this is taken as a step to create a final court of appeal in regard to such a case or cases from the decisions which have already been given upon them. It is nothing of the sort." Had it not thus been clearly stated that the resolution had nothing to do with any cases which had cropped up in connexion with the "B" Company dissension and was not proposed as a step to create a final court of appeal from decisions which had already been given, the Council would have very strongly opposed the resolution.

In regard to the further point referred to in your letter under reply, I am directed to state that the decision to which you refer as having been given by the Commandant at his office on November 29 was not a "decision" but merely an address to certain members of "B" Company pointing out the wrong position that they had placed themselves in and endeavouring to put them in the right.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

S. HAMMOND, Esq.,
Secretary, Volunteer Corps
Special Commission.

Report of Volunteer Corps Special Commission.

Letter containing the Council's views upon the report of the above Commission published in the Municipal Gazette of April 1, 1920.

Council Room,

Shanghai, April 6, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to thank you for the Report on the enquiry conducted by the Volunteer Corps Commission in pursuance of Resolution XI passed at the last Annual Meeting of Ratepayers and in thanking you and your colleagues on the Commission for their labours, to express the Council's sincere regret that it finds itself at issue with certain of the findings set forth in the Report.

1. The reasons for the Council's refusal to comply with the request made by your Commission for a copy of the proceedings and findings of the Court of Enquiry held on November 1, 1918, are set forth at length in the Council's letters of January 10, 1920 and February 23, 1920 to the Secretary to your Commission and the Council can only affirm such reasons.

2. So far as the Council is aware not a single witness was called to give evidence before the Commission, whose findings were based on certain official correspondence which was submitted in response to your Commission's request and upon a written statement furnished by certain ex-members of "B" Company who considered that they had a grievance. In the Council's opinion—and I am to emphasize that the Council regrets that it feels called upon to express such an opinion—the Commission was not justified in reaching its findings without calling as witnesses the Commandant, Mr. Cubitt and the ex-members of "B" Company concerned.

The findings of the Commission in so far as they may be considered to reflect upon the action of the Commandant and of Mr. Cubitt are in the Council's opinion unwarranted since neither has been given the opportunity of stating his case.—I am to add that the Council has every reason to believe that had the Commandant been called as a witness, his evidence would have been of such a character as would not improbably have resulted in the Commission reaching very different conclusions to those expressed in its findings or in some of them.

3. The statement "that between the dates January 15, 1918 and November 19, 1919, 75 members of the Company resigned is correct as a statement of fact, but given without the natural context of "how many joined" in the same period, it is misleading. Some Units change as much as 33 per cent. in one year in normal times. As a matter of fact 37 joined "B" Company during the period mentioned, so that the actual loss in the strength of the Company was 38. The Council does not know whether the members of the Commission were aware of the fact that a great many of the resignations in "B" Company which took place after October 1918, were not voluntary but the result of threatening anonymous post cards, sent through the post. In one instance within the Council's knowledge several of these anonymous post cards were received by a member of the Company.

4. Strictly speaking it was not the appointment or promotion of an officer, but his transfer from one company to another that was the focus of the trouble in "B" Company. Transfers of officers from one unit to another are not specifically provided for in the Corps Regulations, Article VIII referring only to appointments and promotions. The Council does not lay any particular stress on this distinction, but finds it necessary to point out that Article XXXVII of the Corps Regulations provides that "Should any case arise not provided for by these Regulations or should there be a doubt as to the interpretation of any Regulation, the Council shall decide the course to be adopted." If the ex-members of "B" Company were dissatisfied with the Council's ruling on Article VIII they should unquestionably have adopted constitutional means to bring about such an alteration by the Council of the Regulation in question as would meet with the wishes of the Corps as a whole. The action that they in fact thought fit to take was, in the Council's opinion, wholly unjustified and subversive of discipline, whatever grievances they may have had.

5. All Corps orders appear in the Public Press and there appears to the Council to be no good reason why Corps Order No. 101 should not have been so published. Apart from this, the Council desires to point out that the Commandant's action in the matter, with which the Order dealt, was upheld by the Committee which sat in the latter part of December 1918, and in the early part of January 1919, and whose Report was published in the Municipal Gazette of January 23, 1919, and that upon that Commission's recommendation the order was re-published with the word "discharged" substituted for "dismissed." The Council considers that your Commission cannot be considered a Court of Appeal on the findings of the Committee referred to and that it was not within its province to pass judgment upon a matter upon which that Committee had already passed judgment.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

N. O. LIDDELL,

Secretary.

DR. J. R. HYKES,

Chairman, Volunteer Corps Commission.

The Municipal Gazette

Vol. XIII. SHANGHAI, THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1920. No. 687

REPORT

OF THE

ANNUAL MEETING OF RATEPAYERS

Held in the Town Hall on April 7, 1920.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

Chairman.

Resolution I.—That our esteemed fellow-ratepayer, Sir Havilland de Sausmarez, be invited to take the Chair.

Secretary.

Resolution II.—That Mr. E. L. Allen be appointed Secretary to the Meeting.

Rules of Procedure.

Resolution III.—That the annexed rules of procedure be adopted for use at this meeting and remain in force until the next annual meeting.

Report and Account for 1919.

Resolution IV.—That the Report and Accounts for the year ending December 31, 1919, be passed.

Major T. E. Trueman.

Resolution V.—That this Meeting extends its appreciative thanks to Major T. E. Trueman for the invaluable services he has rendered as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps during the past five years.

Electricity Department Extensions.

Resolution VI.—That the programme of Electricity Department plant extensions recommended in the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager's report published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29, 1920, be approved and that the Council be authorized in its discretion to enter into such contracts as may be requisite to give effect thereto.

Amendment.—"And that the Council be directed not to contract for the supply of power in bulk or to renew any contracts for an increased supply of power in bulk unless the consumer, if within the Settlement, which term is to include consumers who pay taxes on Municipal Roads outside the Settlement, subscribes to the Council direct for the current Municipal loan issues, to the extent of one-third of the capital expenditure involved by their supply with power, and if without the Settlement sixty-six per cent."

Budget for 1920.

Resolution VII.—That the estimated expenditure for 1920, contained in the Budget proposed by the retiring Council, together with the recommendations attached thereto, be approved and adopted, and that the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose, collect and recover the rates, taxes, dues and fees recommended therein, and to raise, should it be considered expedient to do so, upon such terms and in such manner as the Council may in its discretion think fit, a sum not exceeding Tls. 4,800,000 or the equivalent of this sum, for the purposes defined in the estimate of Extraordinary Expenditure.

Amendment.—While assenting to the increase of the Municipal Rate from 7 per cent. to 12 per cent., payable by foreigners who reside outside the Settlement limits, this Meeting instructs the Council to take steps to procure that the franchise be extended to such ratepayers as soon as possible on the conditions stated in Section XIX of the Land Regulations.

Chinese Advisory Committee.

Resolution VIII.—That this Meeting approves of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Committee and that the constitution and powers of such Committee be those set forth in the letter from the Chairman of Council to the Senior Consul dated October 24, 1919, and published in the Municipal Gazette of January 8, 1920.

Election of Land Commissioner.

Resolution IX.—That Mr. A. J. Welch be elected Land Commissioner for the ensuing Municipal year.

Election of Governors of General Hospital.

Resolution X.—That Dr. J. W. Jackson and Messrs. H. A. Macintyre, E. F. Mackay and A. Brooke Smith be elected to serve on the Board of Governors of the Shanghai General Hospital.

Permanent Education Committee.

Resolution XI.—That Mr. E. I Ezra and Mr. E. C. Pearce be elected to serve on the Permanent Education Committee.

Land Assessment.

Resolution XII.—That the Council be hereby authorised and directed to arrange for the re-assessment of the land comprised within the limits of the Settlement, during the current year, such re-assessment to come into force as from the first day of January 1921 and to engage such professional assistance for the performance of the work as may be found expedient.

Loan Redemption Committee's Report.

Resolution XIII.—That the Report of the Loan Redemption Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 16, 1918 be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in 1921.

Licence for Firearms.

Resolution XIV.—That the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose collect and recover in respect of any licence or permit to carry firearms, that may be issued under the provisions of Bye-law XXXVII a fee of Tls. 10 per quarter with effect from May 1, 1920, until the next Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, payable in advance.

Special Vice Committee's Report.

Resolution XV.—That the report of the Special Committee appointed to inquire into vice conditions in this Settlement published in Municipal Gazette No. 681 dated March 19, 1920 be adopted and its recommendations be carried out.

Volunteer Corps Commission.

Resolution XVI.—That the Report of the Volunteer Corps Commission, as published in the Municipal Gazette of April 1, 1920, be received and adopted.

PROCEEDINGS.

A Special Meeting of Ratepayers was convened for 1.45 p.m. but, as a quorum was not represented, at 2 p.m. the business of the Annual Meeting was proceeded with.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Ladies and gentlemen, the special Ratepayers meeting having been adjourned, I beg to propose

Resolution I.—That our esteemed fellow-ratepayer, Sir Havilland de Sausmarez, be invited to take the Chair.

Mr. A. BROOKE SMITH—I beg to second that.

Mr. PEARCE—Will those in favour kindly signify in the usual manner? Thank you, ladies and gentlemen. Carried unanimously.

SIR HAVILLAND DE SAUSMAREZ then took the Chair.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to move

Resolution II.—That Mr. E. L. Allen be appointed Secretary to the Meeting.

Mr. A. BROOKE SMITH—I beg to second that.

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour please hold up their hands. Carried unanimously.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to propose

Resolution III.—That the annexed rules of procedure be adopted for use at this meeting and remain in force until the next annual meeting.

Mr. A. BROOKE SMITH—I beg to second that.

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour of this resolution please hold up their hands. Against? That is also unanimously carried. I will now call on the mover of Resolution IV.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, as we have a more than usually full and important agenda for discussion at this afternoon's meeting, and as the more important phases of Municipal activity in 1919 have been dealt with in the Municipal Gazettes published weekly throughout the year and in the several parts of the Annual Report which have been in your hands for some little while, I will be as brief as possible in my retrospect of the past year.

I cannot look back on 1919 without feeling that it was the most trying year of my term of office as one of your elected representatives. The spirit of unrest which has disturbed the greater part of the world during the last few years has spread hither. The failure of North and South to settle their differences and the presence of opposing political factions in and around the Settlement have proved a constant source of anxiety. Labour and trades of all kinds have organized. Strikes have been frequent though, generally speaking, of a peaceable character. We have experienced a long sustained boycott of Japanese goods with its concomitant racial embitterment. The schools have been infected by politics. The collection of our rates has been resisted by certain misguided sections of the Chinese Community. Threats of strikes and of the non-payment of rates have accompanied demands for Chinese representation on the Council, for the extension of the franchise to Chinese payers of taxes, and for other concessions calculated to undermine the administration of this Foreign Settlement, and to be achieved by alteration of our Land Regulations or Charter of local self-Government. We have had to call out our Defence Force to assure the preservation of peace and good order. We have had to take measures to maintain essential public services and to safeguard our food supplies and all the while we have had to keep a watchful eye on the course of events in Siberia and to take such measures as have been possible to stem the influx of undesirable refugees from Northern ports.

With some aspects of these elements of unrest I must briefly deal.

With the political aspirations of young China we are only concerned at this Meeting in so far as they affect the maintenance of peace and good order in the Settlement. Any movement that has for object the uplift of China must compel our sympathy when the means chosen to that end are such as can command our respect and when the movement in question is directed by those who are willing to place pro patria before all considerations of party gain and self-aggrandisement. That the intentions of the students as a whole, in so far as they were designed to secure better government, were indeed worthy no one will deny, but the fact remains that in the inexperience and indiscretion of youth they permitted themselves to be exploited by a band of unscrupulous intriguers, to whom pro patria has no meaning, unless it holds forth some personal gain such as is provided by the spoils of office. Moreover, the policy of intimidation, which was the strongest weapon of the Student Movement and of the rate agitation, does not augur well for the future, and when such a policy is applied, as it unquestionably was, in an effort to bring pressure to bear on the foreign residents of this Settlement, it must inevitably alienate our sympathy and set up a reaction that must, it is regretted, have a natural tendency to retard the awakening of China.

In its early stages the Student Movement as it affected the Settlement was indeed harmless enough, but as so often—indeed one might almost say invariably—happens, in the case of any popular movement in China, it soon attracted the scum of the agitating class and got out of hand, with the result that we had to adopt a strong arm policy to prevent serious trouble. The lesson which we have learnt and which future Councils should keep well before them, is that the Authorities here must safeguard the general interests of the Community, Foreign and Chinese, by placing a strict ban on political movements within the Settlement. It may be argued that this is not a wholesome policy, but, ladies and gentlemen, you must bear in mind that this little Settlement of ours, a mere speck on the map of China, is in a particularly peculiar position. Its well-being and prosperity are largely founded upon its neutrality in Chinese politics. Indeed it is the observance of this neutrality which has probably contributed more than anything else to its preservation and to the preservation of those who reside therein from the devastation and ruin that have befallen the greater part of China in those times of political turmoil, which have been by no means rare during the past 50 or 60 years. We must maintain this neutrality and suppress action that is inimical thereto. Surely, there is ample room in the vast outside expanse of China's domain for those who are so deeply concerned in her politics. Why I ask you, should this Settlement be made a centre for their political activities?

The rate agitation of July and August last calls for a few remarks. In the early stages the refusal of payment was based on the allegation that insufficient notice had been given to Chinese residents of the increase in the General Municipal Rate from 12 to 14 per cent. and of the collection of a special levy of 1 per cent. with effect from July 1. This allegation was nothing more nor less than a plank in the studied policy of prevarication adopted by the Chinese, for your approval of the increased rate and special levy at the Ratepayers' Meeting in April 1919, some three months before they came into operation, was fully dealt with in the Chinese press at that time. Hardship was then pleaded. Hardship because the special levy was to be collected in one payment instead of by instalments. When this hardship was removed by spreading the levy over three quarters, objection to payment of the rates was taken on the stand of "no taxation without representation." These and other considerations indicated in the most unmistakable manner that the agitation was conceived and engineered by those who had an ulterior motive in encouraging the Chinese community to flout your Council's authority and to produce a state of unrest of which they fondly hoped to be able to take advantage to further their own nefarious schemes. It is clear—in fact we have the most conclusive proof—that a large measure of the support accorded the agitation was not willingly given but the result of intimidation, against which, unhappily, so very few Chinese can hold out. Support of the agitation can also be attributed in a measure to the hope of a section of the Chinese Community that by agitating they would escape payment, or at least secure some reduction in the amount of the rates properly payable by them, as their quota to the cost of the administration of the Settlement. The agitation cost the Community a substantial sum, which will, of course, fall upon the rates, of which those who supported the agitation will have to pay their due proportion, and it is to be hoped that when they realize this and realize the futility of opposition to the rates they may take a saner view of things and avoid any further unpleasantness. With the question of representation I shall have occasion to deal when addressing you in connexion with Resolution VIII.

You will recall that at our last Annual Meeting you passed a resolution authorizing us to approve and sanction any such extension or extensions of the railless tram system as we might from time to time consider desirable in the public interest. In July a comprehensive scheme of railless traction development was submitted by the Tramway Company. This scheme has engaged our very careful attention and as you will have observed it the Gazette of March 30 we have recently addressed the Company dealing with the whole question of extensions—rail and railless—and with that most important question, improvement in the existing service. You will have noted that we recommend two rail extensions, the one from the Tram terminus North Szechuen Road to the Hongkew Park Gate or Wonglo Road and the other from the Yangtszepoo terminus to the Point and that the scheme of extensions approved by us will open up much needed facilities for cheap and quick transport over a very wide area. In this connexion I may state that we have recently had a proposal laid before us in regard to the introduction of a motor bus service along the Avenue Edward VII to Thibet Road thence northwards across the Soochow Creek to Haining Road and along Haining Road to Woosung Road. Consideration of this proposal must necessarily take some time and publicity will in due course be given to our views on the subject. In considering this and other proposals of a like nature there are many important points to be borne in mind, not least of which is the need for providing still further transport facilities than will exist even when the tram service extensions are in actual operation.

Passing now to departmental activities with which I shall deal but shortly:—

VOLUNTEER CORPS.

In April the Corps was inspected for the first time since the outbreak of the war by an officer of H.M. Regular Forces, kindly deputed for the purpose by Major-General F. Ventris, Chief Officer Commanding H.M. Forces in China. The report made by this officer, Col. J. R. Young, R.E., has been published and we can congratulate ourselves on its very satisfactory character as reflecting the greatest credit on Major Trueman and on those under his command. As a result of Col. Young's inspection and report and of the representations made by Major-General Ventris, H.M. Army Council has promised us every assistance possible in re-arming the Corps with more modern weapons of war. I take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of this promised assistance as also of the loan made by the American Government of two Gatling guns for the use of the American Company and of the loan made by the Italian Government of two machine guns, together with a supply of rifles and ammunition for the use of the Italian Company.

Our thanks are due for the very efficient services rendered by the corps upon those occasions of unrest during the past year when we had to call upon their assistance to preserve peace and good order. In this connexion and whilst extending a welcome to those who have joined or rejoined the Corps upon their return from war service, I venture to express the hope that all who possibly can will join the Corps, so that when we have to face further troublous times we can meet them with a far greater sense of security if we know that we have behind us a force that has not only reached a high standard of efficiency but is also not lacking in numbers.

To General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang and Military Commissioner for Sungkiang and Shanghai, we express our sincere appreciation for the facilities provided for artillery target practice at Woosung.

FIRE BRIGADE.

1919 witnessed the conversion of the Brigade from an essentially volunteer into an entirely professional organization. The considerations that rendered this change necessary have been fully dealt with in the Annual Report and I propose therefore merely to express again our deep appreciation and gratitude for the invaluable services rendered by the long succession of volunteer officers and firemen who have served in the Brigade. At the time of the conversion questions were raised as to the ability of the Brigade efficiently to carry on the fire protection of the Settlement upon the withdrawal of the volunteer members. The months that have since elapsed have provided the answer, for the work of the Brigade has earned general commendation.

POLICE FORCE.

The arrival of a number of recruits for the Foreign Branch of the Force in the autumn of last year and the expected early arrival of recruits for the Sikh Branch made it possible for us to give the Specials that release from their active duties which they had so well earned. I do not propose to enlarge upon the circumstances under which the Specials were brought into being, nor upon the most excellent work which, often at great personal inconvenience, they performed as an active Branch of the Police Force, suffice it to say that their services proved so valuable that when it come to the point we felt that we could not possibly dispense with them altogether. We felt that, by keeping them together as a force for use in emergency, that emergency was far less likely to arise than it otherwise might and that, if unhappily it did arise, we should be in a far better position to meet it than would otherwise be the case. We decided, therefore, to establish a Special Police Reserve and it is most gratifying to record that this decision met with such satisfactory support that we can count, should the occasion require, on a very substantial police unit.

In June 1919 the United Services Association came forward with an offer to form a unit of British officers and men, who had seen war service, to assist, under the orders of the Commissioner of Police, in the protection of foreign interests in Shanghai. Needless to say, we replied accepting and expressing appreciation of the public spirit shown by the Association in thus offering its services to the Community. The Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit constitutes another valuable addition to our defence forces and our thanks are due to those who have come forward and enrolled therein.

I referred a minute ago to the arrival of recruits for the Foreign Branch of the Force. Generally speaking these men are making good. Some of them, I regret to say, have failed utterly to appreciate what duty, discipline and example mean, and I am sure that I am voicing your sentiments and the sentiments of all those who have given loyal and valuable service in the Force for many years when I state that the Force has no use for men of this stamp. It has traditions of which it can well be proud, and we must see to it that these traditions are not sullied. My remarks, of course, apply to a few men only and I hope that they may reflect upon the wrong that they do their fellow members of the Force and turn over a new leaf. Apart from these men the work of all branches of the Force has been most excellent. Much attention has again been given to the matter of traffic regulation, which, as I stated last year, probably presents greater complexities here than in any other city, by reason of the extraordinary variety and number of vehicles on our streets and the meandering propensities of the average Chinese footpad. Many new tram traffic islands have been placed in position and others are to follow. Motor traffic also is being encouraged in the view that it will relieve congestion. The experiment of one-way traffic in the Szechuen and Kiangse Roads, which from a traffic point of view proved a complete success, had subsequently to be abandoned because of the strong opposition of property owners and shopkeepers along the roads affected. The arrangements in connexion with the repatriation of German and Austro-Hungarian subjects fell largely to the Police Force whose work in this connexion was most efficiently carried out, and has received recognition by the Chinese Government.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

From the health point of view 1919 can scarcely be considered very satisfactory if we are to base our judgment on the death rate: in the case of foreigners 20.6 per mille and in the case of Chinese 14.3 per mille as contrasted with 16.5 and 12.8 per mille in 1918. We were visited by epidemic waves of influenza in June and October, whilst in June, July and August choleraic diarrhoea took a heavy toll. There was again no case of plague and smallpox did not claim a single victim amongst the Chinese.

The Private Nursing Service has been extended, tubercular cases are now treated in a pavilion set aside for the purpose at the Isolation Hospital, the new western wing has been taken into use, additional quarters have been provided for the nursing staff and a children's ward has been started at the Victoria Nursing Home. Much useful work has been accomplished in the laboratory in sanitary inspection, and in health propaganda, directed from the sixteen sub-district Branch Health Offices and in mosquito reduction, the results achieved reflect the efficiency of the Health Department Staff.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The Commissioner of Public Works was given an extension of leave to enable him visit the United States and Canada to examine and report upon the question of sewage disposal which, in a rapidly growing and modernised city like Shanghai, is becoming one of daily increasing importance. His preliminary reports have already been published for your information and you will observe that the experimental and other work now in progress will form an integral part of the comprehensive sewerage scheme which will eventually have to be carried out. Mr. Godfrey has recently left for Singapore and Rangoon, to give further study to this question and to that of a high pressure water system and we hope that he will have the opportunity of meeting and conferring with Professor Fowler and other sewage experts.

The policy of widening and extending roads leading west and east has been continued during the year so far as finances permitted, but, as the Commissioner states in his report, the absence of a proper arterial road system on a large scale is becoming a matter of real necessity demonstrating the need for some form of Settlement extension. As regards road maintenance it is hoped that the introduction of fast motor transport will result in the gradual elimination of those archaic survivals—the handcart and the wheelbarrow—that cause such serious wear of road surfaces.

It has been a source of disappointment to the Council that the new Administration building is not yet ready for occupation, the delay has been due to re-arrangement of the accommodation by elimination of staff quarters so far as possible, so as to provide for the housing of the Electricity Department, to consequent revision of the lighting scheme and more particularly to the delay in the matter of the preparation of the heating plant by the London expert entrusted therewith, and to the non-delivery of heating plant and piping. It is hoped that a portion of the building will be taken into use in the Autumn and the whole of the building early next year.

The many activities of the Department are dealt with in the report of the Commissioner of Public Works and in the works section of the Annual Report and so I will pass on to

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Despite the shortage of trained and qualified teachers the general standard of work in the several Municipal Schools, foreign and Chinese, was well maintained throughout the year.

With the exception of the Ellis Kadoorie, Nieh Chih-kuei and Polytechnic schools, whose numbers were slightly affected by the Student Movement, the attendance at the various schools again shows a considerable increase. Financial considerations have precluded the construction of the new school for girls, which is badly required in the Western District, but we propose to proceed with its construction during the current year. To complete the site and to provide for an enlargement of the play-ground at the Thomas Hanbury School for Boys, an area of Mow 1.259 on the east side of the school was purchased during the year. Much needed additional playground facilities have been provided at the Public School for Boys by the turfing and levelling of a piece of surplus land on the Council's possession, situated between the School and the Rifle Range.

Due to the influx of children from the outports and from Vladivostok and other Russian centres, it was found necessary to formulate a ruling to prevent the crowding out of local children by the children of non-resident parents, whose applications for admission will no longer be accepted. As a result of the inspection of the four foreign schools carried out during December 1918, by Mr. F. M. H. Holman, B.A., Lecturer on Education, University of Hongkong, who was very kindly delegated for the purpose by the University Authorities, all four schools were recommended for approval by the Local Examinations and Lectures Syndicate, University of Cambridge. We are indebted to Mr. H. C. White for gift of a bursary to be given annually of a best pupil at the Thomas Hanbury School for Boys, and to the late Mr. S. Rayner, Headmaster elect of the Polytechnic Public School for Chinese whose death on war service we record with deep regret, for the bequest of an annual prize for the best mathematical scholar in the Public School for Chinese.

With the Band I shall deal in my remarks on the Budget for 1920.

FINANCE.

I shall now deal with the Financial Statement for 1919.

Our Ordinary Income exceeded the estimate as amended by the amendment to Resolution V passed at our last Annual Meeting, by Tls. 123,431.47. Our receipts fell slightly short of our estimates in the case of Special Advertisement Rate, Rent of Municipal Properties, Revenue from Municipal and Public Undertakings and Land Tax. On the other hand our estimates were exceeded in the case of General Municipal Rate Tls. 58,764, Wharfage Dues Tls. 48,836, and License Fees Tls. 20,844.

Turning to Departmental Estimates of Ordinary Expenditure you will note under expenditure in the case of the Volunteer Corps, the Health Department, the Public Library, the Finance Department and Stock and Stores, whilst overexpenditure is to be recorded in the case of the Fire Brigade, the Police Force and the Public Works Department, largely due to the return of employees from war service and to increases in Chinese rates of pay. Over-expenditure will also be noted in the case of the Public Band, the Educational Department, the Secretariat, Interest, Brokerage, etc., and General Charges. Under the last heading chiefly due to war service pay awarded under the terms of the amendment to Resolution V passed at the last Annual Meeting and not covered by the special levy then authorized. The actual deficit on the Ordinary Budget carried to Extraordinary Income was Tls. 148,945.98 as against the amended estimate of Tls 8,195.

Passing on to Extraordinary Expenditure you will note underexpenditure under Land, chiefly traceable to the fact that no expenditure was incurred in respect of the provision made for the extension of the Isolation Hospital for Chinese and for the purchase of a new Cemetery site, and under Buildings, chiefly due to the fact that no expenditure was incurred in respect of the construction of Sikh Barracks at the Louza Station, the construction of a Goal Hospital, the extension of the Isolation Hospital for Chinese, the extension of the Police Hospital for Chinese, and extension of the Tungchow Road Workshop. On the other hand Extraordinary Expenditure for which no appropriation was made was incurred in respect of land Tls. 9,358 and Building Tls. 4,835.

During the period January 1 to March 15, 1919, Tls. 63,600 of the 1918 loan was issued. The loan authorized for 1919 was Tls. 3,400,000, of which Tls. 2,500,000 was required for electricity purposes. At the end of the year Tls. 1,468,100 only was issued but a further Tls. 325,000 has been issued since then until March 15. Omitting this last amount the deficit carried forward to 1920 is Tls. 753,121.58 against an anticipated deficit of Tls. 111,139. Under conditions such as those that existed during the past year, when silver continued at a very high level and when attractive gold loans were available for investment, the support which our loan issue received must be considered satisfactory.

In conclusion our thanks are due to all those who have been good enough to give of their time and advice on the various Committees. Specially are our thanks due to those who have served on the Volunteer Corps Commission and to those, who, as members of the Vice Committee, have gone so exhaustively into that most important but withal difficult question, the betterment of moral conditions within the Settlement. We may not be able to agree to the practicability of every one of the recommendations that they have made, but their labours have been most thorough and exhaustive and we thank them.

I now propose

Resolution IV.—That the Report and Accounts for the year ending December 31, 1919, be passed.

Mr. Brooke-Smith—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and gentlemen, I beg to second that resolution.

The Chairman—Resolution IV has been duly proposed and seconded, and is open for discussion. I would remind ratepayers that they have been invited to ask questions, and if there are any questions to be asked, they should be asked before the debate proceeds. As there are no questions, and no one wishes to address the meeting, I put the Resolution. Those in favour please hold up their hands? Against? Carried unanimously. I will now call upon the mover of Resolution V.

Resolution V.—That this Meeting extends its appreciative thanks to Major T. E. Trueman for the invaluable services he has rendered as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps during the past five years.

Mr. E. C. Pearce—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, No more pleasing duty has fallen to my lot as Chairman or Member of Council than that of proposing a vote of thanks to Major Trueman for his services to the community.

Major Trueman has a unique and unrivalled record as a volunteer. He joined the Corps as a private in January, 1884, and having passed through the whole gamut of volunteering from A to Z he will very shortly relinquish the duties of its highest post, with the signal honour conferred on him of the King's Commission with the rank of Major.

Shortly after the outbreak of the Great War when our then Commandant Col. Bray, was called Home by the British Military Authorities, Major Trueman stepped into the breach and kindly undertook the duties of Commandant. For over five years, during an extremely trying and anxious period, he has carried out these honorary, but very onerous duties in a manner that has earned very high commendation as well as the deep gratitude of the Council and the community.

Under his command the high standard of efficiency attained by the Shanghai Volunteer Corps under the command of officers seconded by the British Government has been fully maintained. On every occasion when we have had need to call upon him for his advice and counsel in matters affecting the defence of this Settlement he has willingly given them, and he has as readily placed the benefit of his experience at our disposal. The zeal, energy and time that he has devoted to his duties, the while attending to the calls made upon him by his business affairs, must have constituted no light tax, and under these circumstances and as he will shortly be handing over the command of the Corps to Lt.-Col. R. Marr Johnson, who has been seconded for the appointment by H. M. War Office, I take this opportunity in thus briefly addressing you upon the resolution before the meeting, to add our and your best wishes for a well earned rest.

We felt that you would wish that some little token of the community's appreciation of his services should be given to Major Trueman and on its coming to our knowledge that he had ordered a motor car, we considered that its presentation to him by the community would form a suitable and withal useful mark of the community's esteem, and an appropriation accordingly has been included in the Budget which I shall shortly introduce for your approval.

Ladies and Gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure to propose Resolution V.

That this Meeting extends its appreciative thanks to Major T. E. Trueman for the invaluable services he has rendered as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps during the past five years.

Mr. A. Brooke-Smith—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and gentlemen, I have very great pleasure in seconding the Resolution.

The Chairman—Does any ratepayer wish to address the meeting? Will those in favour of the vote of thanks proposed to Major Trueman please hold up their hands. And against? That is carried unanimously. I will now call on Mr. Burkill to move Resolution VI.

Mr. A. W. Burkill—Mr. Chairman, before speaking on the resolution now before you, I will very briefly touch on the result of this year's working of the Electricity Department which can be considered satisfactory. The total units sold show an increase of 18.62 per cent. over 1918, and when I tell you that this 18.62 per cent. means an increase of 16,000,000 units, you will be better able to appreciate what the demand during 1919 has been. Whilst we are still without a sufficiency of Reserve Plant, our troubles during the year under review were not as acute as they have been, and when the 10,000 Kilowatt Parsons Set and the first of the 18,000 Kilowatt G.E.C. Sets are put into commission during the next few months, for the first time for some years the Electricity Department will have some reserve machinery to fall back on.

The return on Capital outlay for 1919 at 7.34 per cent. may seem unsatisfactory, but as Mr. Peebles explained when reporting to you on the working of the Electricity Department at the last Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, this result as well as the return of 7.03 per cent. in 1918, is due to abnormal causes, extreme prices for coal and plant running below its full efficiency.

Realizing that these abnormal conditions could not last, it was decided, rather than raise rates, that the Department should bear the loss. This decision has been justified, we now have cheaper coal and with our new plant coming into use, greater efficiency.

The return for 1920 will, we hope, be what is always aimed at, viz., at least 9 per cent. on the capital invested.

The strain on our staff during 1919 has not been quite so heavy as during the war, still the work has been arduous and I would like to take this opportunity of expressing the thanks of the Electricity Committee to one and all for their loyal services.

I will now turn to the Resolution that I have the honour of bringing before you.

Since early in 1919 the expansion of industrial activities in Shanghai has been remarkable, and the demands for power are such, that a revision of the scheme for extension prepared in December 1918 is essential.

At the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers last year, you sanctioned what we call the 1919 extension scheme, covering the period 1919 to 1924, and as short a time as a year ago, the figures on which this scheme was based, were considered by some as too optimistic. The result of this industrial activity during 1919, an activity that is only in its infancy, has made it absolutely necessary to revise the 1919 scheme of expansion.

The following figures are more convincing than any words of mine can be. The estimated load for 1920 was 34,000 kilowatts whereas it is now 45,000, a figure we did not expect to touch until 1922. We now estimate a load of 64,000 kilowatts in 1921, a load that only a year ago was not thought possible at any rate until after 1924. In view of this demand for power, a revised scheme for the extension of the Electricity Works was prepared and published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29.

This 1920 programme of extension, with the consequent heavy borrowings by the Electricity Department, aroused considerable interest amongst the Ratepayers, and the result was a letter dated February 1 from Mr. Edward Ezra and others interested in the future of your Electricity Department.

I now take this opportunity of informing you that the Electricity Committee welcomed the interest displayed, and were only too pleased to give the information asked for, especially as there are many Ratepayers who do not fully realize what the Electricity Department has done and proposes to do for Shanghai. In the first place this Department is not and for many years past has not been a burden on the rates, true, good deal of money has to be raised for it, but it pays all the interest on the loans allocated to it, and further pays the Council an over-riding commission of 1 per cent. on their loan, the total of this commission last year was Tls. 59,689, and this annual payment of commission rises as we have more money from the Council. Then apart from paying for all its own interest and a yearly commission, the surplus profits of the Department are paid over to the Council for general purposes. Tls. 368,680 has been paid to the Council for surplus profits and commission in respect of the past year's working, and as the Department expands so will our contributions increase.

It must be remembered that the aim of the Department is not to make a large profit, but only to make a fair return on the money invested, give the ratepayers as cheap power and light as is consistent with sound trading and not make a big profit at their expense.

One very grave misapprehension that existed, and which I feel sure is now cleared up, is that the Electricity Department extension were for the benefit of consumers outside the Settlement, more particularly for power.

The figures given in Mr. Aldridge's report of March 19 will, I hope, effectually dispose of this, out of a total bulk supply in 1919, 82.6 per cent. was delivered to consumers inside the Settlement, 6 per cent. to consumers outside the Settlement, but on Municipal roads, and 11.4 per cent. to consumers outside the Settlement. Those consumers who are on Municipal roads outside the Settlement are required to pay certain contributions towards the rates, so that only 11.4 per cent. of our supply goes to those who contribute nothing to the upkeep of this Settlement. Then, again, in the estimated increase looked for in 1920, 1921 and 1922, to provide for which you are now asked to sanction this resolution. The following figures are of interest, showing as they do that the demand for power comes from consumers either in the Settlement or outside the Settlement, but on Municipal roads, as against a demand from those situated outside the Settlement altogether:—

Estimated increase for Power from consumers in Settlement

	1920	32.7
	1921	72.9
	1922	29.1
Outside Settlement but on Municipal roads	1920	270.3
	1921	120.0
	1922	10.8
Outside Settlement	1920	12.6
	1921	19.2
	1922	13.6

The development of industries on Municipal roads outside the Settlement mean a big increase to the Municipality in revenue, as all users of current will have to pay 12 per cent. taxation on the assessed value of their properties.

Adverting to the increased demand for bulk supply, this gave rise to two questions which were fully gone into by the Council and the Electricity Department towards the end of 1919, viz: what form of guarantee could be got from consumers that they would fulfil their contract with the Electricity Department who have to invest large sums to provide the necessary power, and what form of contribution could be obtained from these power consumers towards this capital expenditure. The decision come to by the Council was that in future all new power consumers would have to take up Municipal Debentures for the current year in which they were connected up equal to 1/3rd. of the capital cost of the plant required to meet their contracts, and that these debentures were to be lodged with the Council as a guarantee for the fulfilment of their contracts; the interest of course going to the consumers. All existing power consumers to take up debentures on the same scale for any increase in demand over their existing contracts.

I would like here to explain that existing power consumers, when their present contracts fall in, cannot be asked or made to take up debentures, as the plant to supply their demands is already installed and working, and it is not their demands that call for this big extension.

I hope I have made it clear to you all, that this form of contribution towards capital cost had been decided on by the Council and Electricity Committee before the letter from Mr. Edward Ezra and other Ratepayers was received, in fact two contracts had been made on these lines. Whilst, however, this decision had been come to, the amendment to this Resolution will strengthen our hands, and I am authorized by the Council to say that they accept same.

The following is a rough estimate of what can be expected from new consumers, the figures are dependant on the various prospective load contracts being carried out under the new conditions.

1920 will produce Tls.		310,000
1921	,, ,,	490,000
1922	,, ,,	725,000

or a total of Tls. 1,525,000 during the next three years.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I come to the great question of "Supply of Power," the cause of our expansion in the past, and of our proposed extension.

For many years past I have preached the doctrine of supply of power for the industrial expansion of Shanghai, and I am to-day more than ever convinced that the future of Shanghai lies in her industries, we have been and are a large commercial centre, but all around us are competitors striving for our trade.

Hankow as the great railway terminus of China will naturally draw business that used to come through us here, and as the various other ports on the Yangtze or on the coast grow, the tendency of direct shipment will rob us of some of our trade.

The increase during the past few years in the trade of China has been such that we have apparently not suffered, but that is no reason to complacently say that we are not going to suffer. The competition from the other ports in China is growing, and whilst we here will always have our share of the trade of China, yet as the years go on our share will grow less and less. Shanghai cannot continue on her prosperous career dependant on trade only.

We are now the greatest industrial centre in China, and why, because industries have been attracted here by the facilities offered by your Electricity Department in the shape of power at reasonable rates.

The rise of the big manufacturing cities of this world is due to their being situated where they can provide cheap power generally in the way of coal, the raw material is carried to where power can be got cheaply and abundantly. The facilities given by the Electricity Department in the past have stimulated industries, but we are only on the threshold of our manufacturing greatness, we are proud of the position Shanghai takes now as a business and manufacturing centre, but it is nothing to what we shall become.

The natural result of an expansion of the industries established in Shanghai is increased opportunities for all engaged in making a livelihood here, no whatever their occupation. Every new mill established means more capital into the place, and the more capital we can attract, the more will the commerce of this port increase. This increase in our trade and prosperity helps the Municipality in two ways. Increase in the revenue from taxation that will come, and increase in contribution from the Electricity Department, the bigger the turnover, the bigger will be the surplus handed over.

Two arguments have been brought forward against this extension scheme, one that we have sufficient industries here already and that an increase would spoil Shanghai as a residential city is not to be taken very seriously, but the one, that in view of the difficulty the Council has experienced in raising loans during the past two years, a difficulty that will continue, is worthy of serious consideration.

The fact has to be faced that there is not that money available for Municipal Loans that there used to be. The present level of Exchange has taken a great deal of money out of the place, and all Silver securities have suffered. Apart from the pronounced tendency to invest in Gold securities, there is now available for Silver investors a much larger choice of sound investments than there used to be, and with the increase in trade and industries far more money is used for Capital purposes. We have come to the time when we must grapple with this problem of raising money for Municipal purposes, and in this I include the loans required for the Electricity Department, as it is a Municipal enterprise. It is no use putting off, it is not going to be any easier to raise loans in another two or three years, let us face this problem now and not shirk it. Difficulties are made to be overcome, and when you consider what the result of overcoming the present difficulty is going to be, increased prosperity for Shanghai, I trust that you will all agree with me that the object is worthy of very serious efforts. Shanghai has gone through many trying times and triumphed, let us again rise to the occasion and progress, not stand still.

Gentlemen, I now propose

Resolution VI.—That the programme of Electricity Department plant extensions recommended in the Engineer-in-Chief and Manager's report published in the Municipal Gazette of January 29, 1920, be approved and that the Council be authorized in its discretion to enter into such contracts as may be requisite to give effect thereto.

Mr. PEARCE — Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to second that.

The CHAIRMAN—Resolution VI is now proposed and seconded and is open for discussion. Before the discussion is proceeded with, the amendments, if there are any, should be considered. I have notice of one amendment and I will call upon Mr. Ezra to move it.

Mr. E. I. EZRA—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and gentlemen, in rising to propose the amendment that I have given notice of, it is needless for me to repeat the great development that has taken place in recent years in the electrical undertaking that is owned by the ratepayers of Shanghai, starting as it has done, as an undertaking to supply public and general lighting to the present huge undertaking for power. When the proposals of the extension scheme that Mr. Burkill has just explained to you were published, a large number of ratepayers and myself wrote in asking various questions regarding the nature and the extent of the work that had been done by the electrical undertaking here, and I must say, and I think you will all agree with me, that the reply we have received is an eminently satisfactory one. There is one point in that reply that deserves careful attention, and that is that practically the present extension is entirely for power. Whilst on this subject, it is necessary for me to state that the special committee appointed by the ratepayers, of which I was a member, specially recommended the Council and ratepayers to meet every demand for power that would arise. In this report that Mr. Aldridge has submitted it would be observed that during the next three years he expects lighting to rise from 17,000,000 to 20,000,000 units, heating from 1,500,00 to 2,000,000, traction from 4,250,000 to 5,500,000, which, you will observe, whilst it is a large increase, could easily be met from the undertaking as it is worked from the present moment. But when we come to power we notice that power from inside the Settlement and also on Municipal roads outside the Settlement is expected to advance from 104,935,000 to 237,500,000 units. You will see, therefore, that this present extension is entirely for power. We could, if we desired, refuse this extension by stopping further contracts for power and yet have sufficient plant for lighting and heating without purchasing any new sets. We should, however, look at the question from a broader standpoint. Do we desire to see a great industrial development of the city of Shanghai, or are we content to see Shanghai as a city for imports and exports only?

In my opinion, the future of Shanghai lies in its development not only as a commercial centre, but as a great manufacturing centre, and I endorse what Mr. Burkill has just said in regard to this. To be a great manufacturing centre like other great manufacturing cities in Europe and America, cheap and efficient power is vital and absolutely essential. This development of the electricity undertaking should, therefore, be encouraged. To do so, however, the undertakings that benefit from this huge development should support it. We are therefore, as I have already explained, in a position either to stop or to go on. As explained, to stop is to trade fully; to go on means money, and this money must therefore partly be produced from the consumers.

The scheme that I am suggesting has already been published. It is a very simple one. All new contracts for power in bulk will have to be purchased direct from the Council from the current estimate debentures to the extent of 33 per cent. of what it would involve to supply their power necessary for them; and if they are outside the Settlement, then 66 per cent. This scheme can only be enforced by the co-operation of the Electricity Department itself and the consumer. The consumer in reality risks nothing and loses nothing, but would have a realizable asset. It would only apply to new contracts and to increased requirements on old contracts. In the amendment I propose it is stated: "Power in bulk." Now the question arises, what is power in bulk? In consultation with the Chairman of the Electricity Committee and the electrical engineer we have arrived at the conclusion that 100 horsepower would be taken as the limit, or the starting point of "power in bulk." The Department, in helping, will help themselves to create any extension in the future. If they come before us again, they will be asked the important question: "What do you expect to receive in debentures towards the cost from the consumer?" In this way, together with the annexed amendment, the Council funds will increase concurrently to the extension of the undertaking. It is to be hoped that when consumers are added to this new system, and when they realize the benefits of not having any capital outlay and having power cheaper than they could produce themselves, no depreciation, no plant to purchase, and a realizable asset in their possession, that the electrical engineer will be able to reduce the limit from 100 horsepower as now suggested to perhaps less, 70 or 80.

One point, I think, should be made clear. The Council and the ratepayers are prepared to develop this undertaking, that they will only accept the responsibility of doing so, providing those interested will assist. Otherwise we shall have to seriously consider curtailing these power extensions in the future. With the enlargement of the undertaking, the question of depreciation becomes very important indeed. Also, are our power rates profitable? To the ordinary layman if the power rate is profitable, then the lighting rates as charged appear to be too high. If the lighting rate is correct, then the power rate appears to be too low. It may be advisable for the incoming Council and the Electricity Committee to satisfy themselves on depreciation and power rates. In conclusion, I desire to say that I strongly support the Resolution that has been proposed to-day. I think that it is absolutely necessary, and I think also I should mention that in working out this extension, we are going to spend not Tls. 5,000,000 or Tls. 6,000,000, as we imagined before, but about Tls. 2,750,000, the balance of the amount that will have to be spent during the next two or three years having been already sanctioned. I have, I hope, made it quite clear, and I think Mr. Aldridge's report also has made it quite clear, that in the Electricity Department the ratepayers have a very valuable asset, that it is worked on very profitable lines, and that it is an asset that should be developed for the benefit of Shanghai. At the same time, with the carrying of this amendment, fully one-third of the capital outlay would be derived from the consumers themselves, and will be the starting of a principle which I think will extend. As the Department itself gets larger the ratepayers and the Council will have to depend largely on the issue of debentures to these consumers, and, therefore, in starting this new procedure this year, the Council and the ratepayers are taking a vital step in the future development of this undertaking. I have very great pleasure in proposing the amendment that stands in my name and which reads as follows:

"And that the Council be directed not to contract for the supply of power in bulk or to renew any contracts for an increased supply of power in bulk unless the consummer, if within the Settlement, which term is to include consumers who pay taxes on Municipal roads outside the Settlement, subscribes to the Council direct for the current Municipal loan issues, to the extent of one-third of the capital expenditure involved by their supply with power, and if without the Settlement sixty-six per cent.

Mr. E. S. Little—In seconding, I should like to support the statements of Mr. Ezra and Mr. Burkill as to the extreme soundness of the Electricity enterprise. Mr. Ezra in proposing, and myself in seconding this amendment have no thought but to strengthen it, and to endeavour to go forward to the full extent of its power in order to strengthen the position of Shanghai as a great manufacturing city.

The Chairman—The amendment is proposed by Mr. Ezra, and seconded by Mr. Little and is now open for discussion.

Mr. Pearce—I have pleasure in stating that the Council is quite agreeable to accept Mr. Ezra's amendment, seconded by Mr. Little.

The Chairman—Those in favour of the amendment please hold up their hands—against—carried unanimously. Now the resolution stands as it was originally read to you, with the addition read to you by Mr. Ezra. If any ratepayer wishes to address the meeting on this resolution in that condition he will be heard. If not, I will put the resolution as amended. Will those in favour please hold up their hands?—and against? that is carried unanimously.

Mr. Pearce—With your permission, I would like to make a digression from the ordinary business of the meeting because I have been asked by the retiring members of Council and past Municipal Councillors to present this afternoon to our worthy Chairman Sir Havilland ne Saumarez a small token of their thanks and appreciation for having presided at our meetings for a period of 14 years.

It is a great pleasure to me to make this presentation and I feel that I am voicing all your feelings when I say that Sir Havilland during the many years he has occupied the chair has given every ratepayer wishing to express his opinions a fair hearing and that he has always conducted our meetings with the utmost courtesy and fairness to all.

Sir Havilland, it affords me very much pleasure to ask you to accept this small silver salver as a token of our highest regard and esteem and with all our good wishes to both yourself and Lady de Saumarez for a very pleasant voyage and all happiness in your own home on British soil. Should you return again to Shanghai, I need hardly add that we shall one and all accord you a hearty welcome.

Sir Havilland de Saumarez—Mr. Pearce, former and present Councillors of Shanghai who have been associated with you, and my fellow ratepayers, I thank you all for your share in the very handsome gift which you have given me by your Chairman, who has been your Chairman for so long and his fellow councillors who have worked with him for the good of the Settlement. If I have been able to assist them and you in the discharge of the not always easy duty of getting something out of our annual meetings beyond the cut and dried part of it, I am happy. It is not always an exhilarating time to pass for some hours as the Chairman of your meetings, but it has its recompenses in occasional, what I would call lurid incidents, or at all events more exciting ones. I have tried, and Mr. Pearce would induce me to believe I have had some success, to hold the balance even when passions have been somewhat excited. I have had my recompense. I have been here 15 years and I have only missed two meetings and I think my total meetings are something like 20. I don't think anybody else has done that or is likely to do it for some time to come. When I use this very handsome silver salver, when I get home, I shall think of my fellow ratepayers and the times we have been together to look after the affairs of this Settlement. Mr. Pearce, I thank you and the councillors for the gift and I thank my fellow ratepayers for their appreciation.

Mr. Holliday—Mr. Chairman, I would crave your indulgence and that of the meeting, if I be permitted, to say a few words in connexion with another matter.

The Chairman—Certainly.

Mr. Holliday—Well Mr. Chairman we have just been assisting at a little farewell ceremony to our esteemed fellow Ratepayer Sir Havilland de Saumarez and I am venturing to take it on myself as one of the oldest, though not the oldest rate-payer present for I notice Mr. John Prentice and Mr. Brodie Clarke are present, to remind you we are also saying good bye to another citizen conspicuous in our civic life. Of course I mean the Chairman of the Council. Mr. Pearce.

Mr. Pearce went on the Council in 1911 and became Chairman in 1913. Now one often hears of a position in which there are more kicks than ha'pence,' well, in the position of Chairman of the Council the kicks are there all right but—as to the h'pence—there 'aint none.'

Nevertheless Chairman he has remained ever since, serving the Community faithfully and well through good times and bad taking the rough with the smooth and grudging neither his time nor his labour on its behalf until now he feels he is justified in passing on the burden to someone else. At this Meeting last year we had the pleasure of presenting him with the freedom of the City but then he was going to serve us for another year whilst to-day it is really good bye for when he leaves this building to-night he will walk out as a private citizen I think you will agree with me that we can hardly let the occasion pass without in some way marking it and so I venture to propose the following Resolution.

"That this meeting of Ratepayers desires to express to Mr. Pearce on the occasion of his retirement from the Council its hearty thanks for and its appreciation of his long and unselfish service to the Community and to wish him all happiness and prosperity in the future,"

I have come up here without a Seconder, and indeed I suspect I am hopelessly out of order and that my old friend the Chairman of this Meeting would be perfectly justified in directing my still older friend the Secretary to the same to have me forcibly ejected, but I hope he won't and that someone will second the resolution, that you will carry it unanimously I am sure.

Mr. Brodie A. Clark—It gives me very great pleasure to second Mr. Holliday's proposal. I am sure that all those who know Mr. Pearce personally know what he has done for Shanghai. I could not say how many years I have known him, but I have known him in many circles of our port and since he became Chairman of the Council I know he has given up more of his time for the benefit of the community than probably any man has who has sat as chairman.

The Chairman—Mr. Holliday has proposed and Mr. Brodie Clarke has seconded a resolution which Mr. Holliday has read to you and which I am sure you all appreciate. I am sure we all hope that the motion will be passed and recorded in the minutes of this meeting. Will those in favour hold up their hands?—against—carried unanimously with much applause.

Mr. Pearce—Mr. Chairman, Mr. Holliday and Mr. Brodie Clarke; words fail me to thank you sufficiently for the kindly manner in which you have made the proposition. I have done my best for you these seven years. It has been a tussle but the work has been of the greatest interest to me and I have had the loyal support of your Councillors and I have also had the most loyal support of the whole Municipal staff. They have one and all given me the greatest help and assistance during the last seven years. Without that and without the unanimous support of the Council I could not have continued in the very pleasant manner which I have during these years. Gentlemen and ladies, I thank you very much indeed.

The Chairman—I will call upon the mover of resolution VII.

Mr. E. C. Pearce—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I now have the honour to propose the adoption of the Budget for 1920, in terms of the following resolution:—

Resolution VII.—That the estimated expenditure for 1920, contained in the Budget proposed by the retiring Council, together with the recommendations attached thereto, be approved and adopted, and that the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose, collect and recover the rates, taxes, dues and fees recommended therein, and to raise, should it be considered expedient to do so, upon such terms and in such manner as the Council may in its discretion think fit, a sum not exceeding Tls. 4,800,000 or the equivalent of this sum, for the purposes defined in the estimate of Extraordinary Expenditure.

In settling our programme of expenditure for presentation at this Meeting, we have again had to recognize the necessity for cutting down so far as is reasonably possible and consistent with efficient administration and essential public development. Continued abnormal financial conditions demand such a policy of economy, but you will appreciate that there comes a time when development, that it was possible to defer during the past few years, cannot longer be deferred. Thus it is that the accumulated effects of economy have resulted in our having to lay before you this afternoon a more than usually heavy Budget of Extraordinary Expenditure.

INCOME.

The total of our ordinary income is estimated at Tls. 4,742,870, which is Tls. 322,909 in excess of our income for 1919. You will recall that for the last two quarters of 1919, the levy in respect of Land Tax was increased from 6/10ths to 7/10ths of 1 per cent. and in respect of General Municipal Rate from 12 to 14 per cent. Upon a preliminary consideration of the estimates as presented to the Finance Committee by the several Committees, concerned it seemed that the Land Tax and General Municipal Rate would have to be levied at increased rates, but after going very carefully into the estimates justification was found for increasing Revenue and for reducing Ordinary Expenditure under certain headings, so that the Ordinary Budget showed a small surplus carried forward to Extraordinary Income. Under ordinary circumstances we ought not to be content with so small a margin between income and expenditure, but I think you will agree that the retention of the levy in respect of Land Tax and General Municipal Rate at the same rates as for the last half of 1919 is desirable under the circumstances even though as a result so small a surplus is shown.

In this connexion, I may state that we closely examined the position of those occupants of premises outside Settlement limits on Municipal roads who are served by the Waterworks or Telephone Companies or by the Electricity Department.

Under provision of the Waterworks and Telephone agreements we have power to collect a Special Rate from outside occupants not exceeding such General Municipal Rate and Land Tax combined as they would have to pay were they within Settlement limits. We came to the conclusion, which I am sure you will endorse, that as these outside occupants enjoy practically the same amenities as are enjoyed by those inside the Settlement, they should contribute more than they have hitherto done towards the expenses of providing them with such amenities. Hitherto they have paid a rate, which has been included in our Budget under the heading General Municipal Rate, equal to one-half of the General Municipal Rate payable by residents in the Settlement. It seemed to us that it would be essentially equitable that they in common with those outside occupants who take their supply of light or of power from the Electricity Department, should be called upon to pay a special rate of 12 per cent. as contrasted with the 14 per cent. General Municipal Rate payable by those inside the Settlement. We considered it only fair that reasonable notice of this increased taxation should be given to those affected and accordingly we have made allowances for the increase as from July 1 next only.

From Land Tax we look for an increased revenue of Tls. 1,400. Making due allowance for building activity, we anticipate an increase of Tls. 96,000 in the receipts from General Municipal Rate. The Special Rate on occupants outside the Settlement, to which I have just referred, is shown under a special heading this year, and the increase in the receipts from this source should be approximately Tls. 15,000. With progressive improvement in the trade of the port and with the operation of the 5 per cent. effective Customs Import Tariff, and taking as our guide the receipts for the last quarter of 1919, we have felt justified in allowing for a total increase of Tls. 164 in the receipts from Wharfage Dues.

From Licence fees we anticipate an increase in revenue of Tls. 63,156. The number of motor vehicles on our streets is rapidly increasing and from this source alone we anticipate an increased revenue of Tls. 25,000. The licence fee for private rickshas has remained at $8 per quarter since 1908. You will note from the Schedule of Rates, Taxes, Dues and Fees that we recommend an increase to $4 per quarter as from July 1. Allowing for this increase in fees and for an increase in the number of private rickshas, of which there is every indication, we estimate the receipts from this source will exceed those of 1919 by Tls. 15,000. With the operation of the amended bye-laws which were passed at our Special Meeting in July last, and to which the assent of the Consular and Diplomatic Bodies was later accorded, the licensing of Exchange shops and Tobacco shops, for which nominal appropriations only were made in the Budget for 1919, has become effective. From Tobacco shops we expect a revenue of Tls. 15,000, and from Exchange shops Tls. 9,000. Other increases anticipated from license fees are notably cars, Tls. 5,500, dogs $4,500 not due to any anticipated increase in the number of dogs, but to the fact that the increased fee sanctioned by you last year, only came into operation after the majority of dog owners had already taken out their licenses for the year—pawnbrokers Tls. 4,000 and wheelbarrows Tls. 3,000. Small decreases are anticipated in the receipts from privately owned ponies and carriages and from livery stables. There is a small increase in the estimate under Rent of Municipal properties, due to an anticipated increase in the receipts from market fees.

You will observe an increase of Tls. 59,801 in the Revenue from Public and Municipal Undertakings. The contribution to General Funds from the Electricity Department shows an increase of Tls. 67,000 whilst it is anticipated that the Royalty received from the Shanghai Electric Construction Co. Ltd. will produce Tls. 12,000 more than the estimate for 1919. On the other hand the dividend on our share-holding in the Waterworks Company, including 741 additional shares recently acquired, will probably show a serious drop due to the prevailing high exchange.

ORDINARY EXPENDITURE.

During last year we gave much attention to the question of improvement in the pay and terms of service of both the foreign and Chinese staff, as you will have noted from a perusal of the remarks in this connexion set out on page 8 of the Finance section of the Annual Report. The improvements effected have, we believe, been thoroughly appreciated. We still have under consideration the question of efficient foreign-trained medical aid for the Chinese staff and also the introduction of a retiring gratuity for those of them who give long and valuable service. As regards the foreign staff, there are still questions of importance attaching to their terms of service which require consideration, and as we recognize that conditions of employment the world over have undergone very great change during the last few years, and that other employers of foreign labour in Shanghai will probably welcome a lead in this matter, we have thought fit to appoint a representative committee to go into the whole question. The names of those who have kindly consented to serve on the membership of the committee have been published and its sittings will commence within a very short time after this meeting. The committee will probably call for the views of what—without casting any reflection on them—we may term the lower grade employees, as well as of those who occupy the more responsible appointments in the service. It will also, I believe, invite other employers of labour in Shanghai to give evidence on some of the points that will come up for consideration, and when its labours have been completed, it is hoped that it may be possible to make public its report. The improvements already granted, to which I have referred, have necessarily meant a large increase in Departmental expenditure apart from the specific causes of increase to which I shall draw your attention.

The Volunteer Corps estimate which makes provision for the appointment of a paid Commandant, Lieut.-Col. R. Marr Johnson, C.M.G., D.S.O., whom we shall shortly welcome, is the only departmental estimate which shows a decrease on the estimate of last year. This decrease, Tls. 1,765, is almost entirely due to a somewhat smaller total strength and the late arrival of uniform material last year. Under Stock and Stores we have made provision for the purchase of an armoured car and of two motor machine gun cars, which will provide the Corps with a greater measure of mobility in dealing with sudden emergencies.

For the Fire Brigade, provision is made for expenditure which shows an increase of Tls. 56,410 on the estimate for 1919, with which, however, comparison is of little, if any value, owing to the conversion of the Brigade from an essentially volunteer into an entirely professional organization. We have made provision for the very necessary equipment with uniform of the whole of the Chinese staff, at a cost of Tls. 14,000, but we have reason to believe that, once this initial expenditure has been made, the appropriation under this heading for future years should not reach anything like as high a figure unless occasioned by any expansion of the Brigade. Increased expenditure is to be noted under Stock and Stores, due very largely to the provision made for the purchase of a new Fire Float Tls. 25,000: we have not been able to obtain a very close estimate. The present float is in a very unsatisfactory condition and the uncertainty of the water pressure and the importance of a speedy and powerful float as an auxiliary in the case of water-side and shipping fires cannot be over-estimated. We went into the question of calling upon Fire Insurance Companies to make a contribution towards the expenditure involved, but came to the conclusion that this would be impracticable. One the other hand we agreed that the present charge for the service of the float Tls. 100 per diem is totally inadequate and that a largely increased scale of charges should be levied upon those to whom services are rendered. The Chief Officer is going into this question as also into the matter of a scale of charges for the services of the Brigade at fires outside Settlement limits on property which does not contribute, by taxation, towards the cost of the administration of the Settlement. Last year provision was included in the estimates for two motor pumps. With the close of the year neither of these had arrived, and the appropriation now inserted covers these two and one additional pump. Another turn-table escape is required at an estimated cost of Tls. 2,000 and further appliances and tools for the Brigade work shops at an estimated cost of Tls. 5,000.

Coming to the estimates for the Police Force, you will note a very large increase on those for last year —no less than Tls. 277,935—attributable in the main to the return of those members of the Force who proceeded on War Service, to the engagement of recruits for the Foreign Branch, to the filling up of vacancies that it was impossible to fill during the war, to promotions, to renewals of agreements, to passages, to revision of the Pay of the Foreign and Chinese Branches, to increase in the cost of uniforms and equipment caused by the high cost of materials and the increased strength of the Force, to the provision of medical aid, to a large increase in the strength of the Sikh Branch and to an increase in the Japanese Branch. Towards the close of last year, we carefully reviewed the strength of the Force, as measured by the growth of the Settlement and the increasing elements of unrest, and as a result we came to the conclusion that it was essential that we should add a further 50 constables to the Sikh Branch, which has given such loyal service to the community. Effect has been given to this decision and the estimates for this year are swelled accordingly. Under Stock and Stores, provision is made for the purchase of five motor-cars, including 4 Ford cars which are required for District Stations for use normally by Inspectors in the larger and more important districts, and to enable Senior Police Officers at Station to get into quicker touch with members in their district in times of emergency, as well as to afford a means of rapid transit.

For the Health Department the comparatively small increase of Tls. 31,310 is chiefly traceable to the appointment of an additional Health Officer and of an additional Analyst, as well as to the return of employees from War Service, to increase in the strength of the Sanitary Staff, and to renewals of agreements. For plague prevention it has been possible again to reduce the appropriation in view of the continued absence of plague-infected rats. Increased receipts in respect of fees from patients accounts for a decrease of Tls. 40 on the appropriation for 1919 for the Victoria Nursing Home. On the other hand for the Municipal Hospitals as a whole a substantial increase in expenditure is anticipated, caused by the improved pay of the nursing staff, by the filling up of vacancies, which it was found impossible to fill during the war, by the full working of the recently constructed West Wing of the Isolation Hospital and by the opening of the old West Wing as a tuberculosis section. Renewal of the grants-in-aid to the Shantung Road and St. Luke's Hospitals Tls. 5,000 each, to the Paulun Hospital Tls. 2,000 and to St. Elizabeth's Tls. 1,000 are provided for, whilst, in recognition of its valuable services to the Chinese community, we have made provision for a grant-in-aid of Tls. 5,000 for the Chinese Cholera Hospital, which we strongly commend for your approval. The grant-in-aid to the General Hospital, a total of Tls. 60,000, includes the usual contribution towards the expenses of treating indigent patients Tls. 3,500, the interest charges upon the Council's guarantee in respect of the Hospital overdraft on building account, and the deficit on the Hospital working account for 1919, for which you directed assumption of responsibility at our last Annual Meeting. Under Stock and Stores you will find provision for a third ambulance to operate under the Ambulance Service, for a motor disinfecting wagon which is much needed, for an additional departmental motor-car and for a motor wagon to increase the efficiency of the house refuse removal service. For the establishment of a launch service in connexion with the Mokanshan Sanatorium for the greater comfort and convenience of those proceeding to this summer resort, the purchase of a motor launch at a cost of Tls. 5,000 is provided for. It is the intention that this service shall cater for non-Municipal as well as Municipal visitors so far as circumstances permit. The fees charged in the case of the former will be upon a higher scale than for the latter and it is anticipated that this service will pay for itself in a very short space of time.

The estimates for the Public Works Department show an increase of Tls. 138,495 traceable in particular to the return of employees from War Service, to the growth of the work of the Department, to meet which additional staff is required, to passages and to improved pay for the Chinese staff, drainage, the maintenance of roads and footways and the cleansing and watering of roads show largely increased expenditure, due more especially to the cost of the disposal of cesspool sewage, to increase in the road mileage, to the higher cost of materials and haulage and to Chinese labour, to the last of which may very largely be ascribed the increased cost under Parks and Open Spaces. Expenditure under Stock and Stores includes provision for the purchase of four motor tank wagons to deal with the increasing volume of cesspool sewage, two motor wagons for haulage work, a concrete asphaltic mixing plant, steam roller and other necessary stores, but the bulk of the expenditure is allocated to road materials, Tls. 280,000.

The total estimate for the Public Band is much higher than for last year, but I think you will readily concur that the results achieved by Maestro Paci, our new Conductor, in the reorganization of the Band are such as to fully justify the increased outlay on its maintenance.

I now come to the Educational Budget. The cost of education by the Municipality is advancing rapidly. The increase for this year Tls. 64,690, is in the main explained by the augmentation of staff necessitated by increased attendance at the schools which have not already reached the limit of their capacity and to the filling up of vacancies on the staff left unfilled during the war. The several estimates have been very carefully considered by the Foreign and Chinese Educational Committee respectively, by the Permanent Education Committee and by the Finance Committee and Council, and I think you must take it that any cutting down is out of the question. The usual grants-in-aid have been made to St. Joseph's Institution, St. Xavier's College, the Shanghai Jewish School and the Institution of the Holy Family.

Under General Charges provision is made for the re-assessment of land in the Settlement as provided for by Resolution XII on the agenda for this meeting. An appropriation is also included for the expenses of the "History of Shanghai." You will probably be anxious to known how we stand in this matter. At the time of the much regretted death of the late Mr. George Lanning, the first volume of the History carrying us down to the end of 1857 had been completed with the exception of the index and appendices: much material and data for the 2nd and 3rd volumes had also been collected and carefully tabulated. With Mr. Lanning's death the question arose as to who was to carry on and complete the History. The Rev. Mr. Couling, author of the Encyclopedia Sinica and other works, was approached and I am glad to be able to tell you that he has undertaken the work and that we hope that it may be possible to publish the first volume at an early date. The 2nd volume should be ready within the next 18 months and the 3rd and final volume within the following 18 months. Mr. Couling has given up his scholastic work at Medhurst College and thus is able to devote his time almost entirely to the completion of the History. The grants-in-aid to various institutions remain the same as for last year, with the exception that an increase in expenditure will necessitate an increase of Tls. 1,500 in the grant-in-aid of the Stray Children's Home.

The appropriation for the Redemption of Debentures makes no allowance for the redemption of the sterling loan of 1905 nor for the short term silver loans of 1917, 18 and 19. Under present conditions it is considered undesirable that any appropriation should be made for the redemption of these loans.

EXTRAORDINARY EXPENDITURE.

The Budget of Extraordinary Expenditure that is presented for your consideration this afternoon, reaches a very much higher figure than any previous Budget. This is very largely a natural consequence of the rigid economy that we have had to exercise in the past few years. Through force of circumstances we have had to allow the Settlement to outgrow its public development, but this policy cannot longer be permitted. If it is, the burden in future years must necessarily be such as will fall very heavily on the community.

Apart from the deficit from 1919, Tls. 753,122 and the requirements of the Electricity Department Tls. 2,800,000 including expenditure to the extent of nearly Tls. 164,000 under the 1920-21 programme of Electricity Department extensions with which you have just authorized us to proceed, we anticipate Extraordinary Expenditure to the extent of Tls. 1,610,490.

For a portion of the cost of the reconstruction in steel and reinforced concrete of the Bridge over the Soochow Creek at Szechuen Road, we estimate expenditure to a total of Tls. 30,000. The estimate as presented to the Finance Committee included provision also for bridges over the Yangtszepoo Creek at Hochien Road and over the Chowdongpang at Lanching Road, but financial considerations required the excision of the relative appropriations. For Bundings we shall have to expend Tls. 36,000 including the balance of the cost of the reclamation of the Bund Foreshore between the Public Garden and Avenue Edward VII. An appropriation for bunding on the Sawginkiang was included in the preliminary estimates but as we considered that this work was not absolutely urgent and that finances did not permit, we had perforce to excise the appropriation. On Drainage we anticipate a total expenditure of Tls. 61,400, provision being included notably for a portion of the cost of the Sewerage Scheme to deal with water closet sewage in the Central District. We propose to culvert the Hart Road Creek from Avenue Road to Bubbling Well Road, the Avenue Road Creek from Gordon Road to Hart Road, Weihaiwei Road West of Yates Road, Yuyuen Road from Kiaochow Road to Hart Road and Siccawei Road from Great Western Road to Bubbling Well Road. The balance of the cost of completing the culverting of the Defence Creek from Peking Road to Soochow Road is provided for. Under Landing Stages we have made provision for the construction of a re-inforced concrete jetty at Kwanghsin Road and for a portion of the cost of improved landing accommodation on the Bund, as to which, however, we are not in a position yet to make public any details.

For Land we anticipate a total expenditure of Tls. 310,700 covering (inter alia) the balance of the cost of extension of the gaol site, the cost of the Yangtszepoo Police Station and Isolation Hospital for Chinese sites, the purchase of a new site for the slaughter house, a new cemetery site and additional land for the Nieh Chih Kiai Public School for Chinese, the cost of addition to and development of Jessfield Park and the balance of the cost of the completion of the site for the Public School for Girls in the Western District.

Under Buildings, provision is made for the sixth year's expenditure on the new Central Office Tls. 450,000. The unexpended appropriation for additional quarters for Chinese Staff at the Soochow Road Sub-Fire Station, included in the Budget for last year, is not inserted. Provision is made for the balance of the cost of the construction of the Hongkew Fire Station workshops and for the construction of the Yangtszepoo Fire Station, for the latter Tls. 60,000. For a portion of the cost of the construction of a Western District Fire station, an appropriation of Tls. 5,000 is included. For the Police Force Tls. 30,000 is allowed for a portion of the cost of additional quarters and offices at Louza Station; the appropriation for this purpose in the Budget for 1919, Tls. 20,000 was not expended. We have to provide more accommodation for the Sikh Branch at the Hongkew Station and accordingly Tls. 20,000 is included for a portion of the cost. For a Gymnasium at the Gordon Road Station and for better accommodation for stray dogs, the unexpected appropriations of last year are re-inserted, in the case of the latter reduced from Tls. 7,000 to Tls. 4,000. For the Convalescent Hospital, last year's unexpended appropriation of Tls. 10,000 is re-inserted, increased to Tls. 20,000 and we have made provision for the balance of the cost of the two Gaol Cell blocks.

For the Health Department, the total expenditure of Tls. 61,000 is anticipated including a portion of the cost of the extension of the Isolation Hospital for Chinese and the cost of the reconstruction in concrete of the old wooden section of the Hongkew Market. Provision for the latter work was excised from the preliminary estimates of 1918 and again in 1919, but the market is an exceedingly popular one and more accommodation is urgently required. It is considered that reconstruction should be undertaken during the year for although the existing wooden section would probably last for 3 or 5 years more, its upkeep is very expensive. Reconstruction will enable a distinct improvement by the widening of the road to the scheduled line. In the estimates as presented to the Finance Committee, provision was made for the construction of a cement and stone Sanatorium of 3 or 4 stories on the "Drumsheugh site" at Moulmein shan at a total estimated cost of Tls. 80,000 of which Tls. 30,000 was required for this year. We still undoubtedly have to provide a new Sanatorium at an early date, but it seemed to us that it should be possible to construct a very much less expensive building and the

Vol. XIII. SHANGHAI, FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920. No. 688

REPORT

OF THE

ANNUAL MEETING OF RATEPAYERS

Held in the Town Hall on April 7, 1920.

matter has accordingly been referred back again to the Works Committee for further consideration and in the meantime the appropriation has been excised.

For the Public Works Department expenditure is anticipated to the extent of Tls. 18,500. The balance of the cost of the Sawgin Road Depôt and for extensions to the Tungchow Road workshops. In the case of the Educational Department we have inserted an appropriation of Tls. 10,000 to enable a start to be made with the construction of the new School for Girls on the Tifeng Road site in the Western District.

For the acquisition of land for new roads and extensions and widenings of existing roads we have felt it necessary to increase the appropriation to Tls. 200,000 and for the making up and metalling of roads to Tls. 175,000. Expenditure under these headings naturally depends very largely on building activity, but we are of the opinion that last year's estimates were upon too conservative a basis.

LOANS.

Our loan requirements for this year for Extraordinary Expenditure for General Purposes and for the Electricity Department are Tls. 800,000. The means by which this sum is to be raised have been the subject of much careful consideration. Several alternatives have been discussed, but so difficult is it to guage the money market under existing abnormal conditions that we have felt compelled to avoid any specific recommendation and to ask you again, as was the case last year, to give your incoming Council a free hand so that it may adopt whatever method the conditions of the moment may in its discretion indicate to be best.

I have nothing further to say on the Municipal programme for this year. We have notice of one amendment with which I will deal when the amendment has been moved. We also have notice of two questions, but I am prepared to explain any point so far as I can upon which explanation may be desired.

The questions of which we have notice are asked by the Rev. Isaac Mason as follows:—

1.—In view of the increase of the Municipal Rate to 12 per cent. payable by foreign residents living outside the limits of the Settlement, but who are said to "enjoy practically the same amenities as those who are resident within Settlement limits," is it the Council's intention to give, as soon as possible, the franchise to such residents on the same conditions as those stated in Section XIX of the Land Regulations?

2.—If the reply to the foregoing question is in the affirmative, will the Council add to its Remarks on Estimates for 1920, under the heading of "Ordinary Income, Special Rate," a clause clearly indicating this intention?

The answer is that the Council has no power under the Land Regulations to give the franchise to residents outside the Settlement. I may emphasize in this connexion that the 12 per cent. rate to be paid by them—Foreign and Chinese—compares with a 14 per cent. rate and Land Tax of 7/10ths of one per cent. payable by residents inside the Settlement.

Mr. A. Booke Smith—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and gentlemen, I beg to second Resolution VII.

The Chairman—The resolution has been duly proposed and seconded and is now open to discussion. I will first call on the mover of the amendment of which notice has been given, and which stands in the name of Mr. Ezra.

Mr. E. I. Ezra—While Shanghai remained a small City it has been possible to obtain all our funds for extraordinary expenditure in the local market, but with the tremendous development of the Electricity Department the policy of scraping every available cent in Shanghai is not only a serious mistake, but it is now quite out of date. We have millions of taels to raise every year in extraordinary expenditure for the electricity undertaking, as well as for general Municipal purposes. For the last three years we have been unable to raise what is required. Desperate attempts have been made by the Council to raise funds. Being short of funds our credit has been seriously impaired. We must, therefore, invade other fields and devise ways and means to avail ourselves of different methods of raising funds. The former amendment will assist materially, by compelling industrial concerns to invest in Municipal debentures, and if this amendment is carried and the Council carefully considers measures to float gold loans for payment of electrical purchases in Europe or America they will very soon find themselves in a satisfactory and sound position.

There should be no fear in gold loans, to meet gold payments and not for purposes of remittance to China. If a proper method is adopted, with an exchange fluctuation account written yearly and a sinking fund apportioned at fixed rates of exchange every year, the Council will be able to issue gold loans for local and European investors to meet electricity purchases in Europe and America, without any fear that they are indulging in bad finance. The interest, whatever it may amount to at current rates of exchange, will be charged to the expenses of the electricity undertaking. Also any loss profit in the rates of exchange for the sinking fund is also chargeable to the Electricity undertaking. The proper method of working could without difficulty be ascertained.

The general idea that it is inadvisable to effect gold loans, as it is disadvantageous to bring money out at the present rate of exchange, is correct, provided we intend bringing money to Shanghai, but such is not our intention at all. My intention is, with a proper sinking fund and yearly working of a fixed rate of exchange, sufficient safeguards will be arranged for the due payment of gold loans when they mature.

If silver is at present high in value, so are prices of all commodities in Europe and America. There is, therefore, every probability if normal conditions are restored abroad that prices will also decline together with the silver prices. We should, therefore, be satisfied with issuing a gold loan over a long period of years to finance our purchases abroad, such gold loans to be paid off by a proper system of funding worked out every year. If these gold loans are issued the Council's position in Shanghai would be materially eased.

For delivery in 1920, 1921 and 1922 we contracted for Electrical Plant in Europe and America £720,875.—Gold $1,161,621, whilst the estimated cost of the new purchases approved of just now will amount to £513,380, Gold $1,439,650, which all taken together comes to £1,234,255 and Gold $2,554,271.

Our tael requirements would also be much reduced with debentures taken by the Power consumers, and would probably result, if these gold loans are issued, that not only would the Municipal Departments be well provided with funds for all extraordinary expenditures, but if local conditions are favourable the Council may be able to issue a considerable amount of local debentures in silver, which may, if they appear advantageous to the Council, result in reducing the total amount of the gold loans to be issued. In this way the Council would be able to obtain funds from three sources:

(1) From the Power consumers,
(2) Locally in silver,
(3) Abroad in gold—to meet payments in gold.

If this plan is adopted I predict that not only will the Council's credit be improved but that they will be able to undertake the work entrusted to their care without being short of funds all the time.

I now propose as an Amendment that the following words be added after the words "Extraordinary Expenditure":

"And that for the payment of the Electricity Department contracts in Europe or America, the Council gives its careful attention to the desirability of issuing gold loans in sterling or gold dollars."

Mr. E. S. Little—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and gentlemen, I beg to second the amendment.

The Chairman—The amendment proposed by Mr. Ezra and seconded by Mr. Little is now open to discussion.

Mr. E. C. Pearce—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, in reply to Mr. Ezra's amendment. The outgoing Council has given a very great deal of consideration to the means by which the year's financial requirements should be met. In fact no question has engaged more attentive consideration than this during the past three months and more. We have consulted our bankers and we have consulted others who have been kind enough to give us the benefit of their advice. We have considered the possibilities of a straight silver loan issue as for the past year, but issued at a greater discount. We have considered a short term gold loan with the exchange risk on the half-yearly interest payments and upon redemption guaranteed by the bank. We have considered the possibilities of a 30-year gold loan at 5½ or 6 per cent. with electricity plant paid for out of the proceeds, taken into the Electricity Department's Balance Sheet at an arbitrary exchange of 5/- with reserves for the reduction of this exchange to 4/- at the end of 10 years and for equalising the silver cost of the half-yearly gold interest payments, and with adjustment of these reserves at the end of the 10th and 20th years of the loan. We have considered the possibilities of an issue of premium debentures on popular lines and finally the issue of a 6 per cent. silver loan at, say, 80 per cent. repayable by annual drawings at par commencing in the second year, i.e., a modified premium debenture issue.

The short term gold loan with the exchange risk covered by the bank would cost at last 14 per cent. per annum, and is thus quite out of the question. As for the other alternatives much can be said for and against and our views are on record for the incoming Council.

We consider that it would be very unwise to tie the hands of the incoming Council. Most of us—most of the outgoing Council—are inclined to think that in the first instance it would be well to try a simultaneous issue of a straight 7 per cent. silver loan at 90 to 92½ per cent. and a 30-year gold loan on the basis already outlined. On the other hand a gold loan issue on this basis would cost about 9½ per cent. per annum at the arbitrary exchange of 5/- and at this arbitrary rate the plant purchased for the Electricity Department would be shown at a considerably higher cost than the actual cost—assuming that exchange does not fall very considerably during the year.

Thus in effect with such an issue you would be very largely cutting down the possible exchange loss at the outset at the cost of the electricity department Balance Sheet, and if a gold loan is decided upon this certainly seems desirable. The Treasurer and Comptroller, however, warns us against a gold issue if such an issue can possibly be avoided and in addition to the very good reasons set out in his report on the subject of finance published in the Gazette of March 30, he points out that a gold issue must necessarily add a complication to the question of electricity department costing which we have recommended should receive careful consideration by the incoming Council. Others of us are inclined to favour a popular premium debenture issue. Then one cannot overlook—in fact we are all agreed as to the possibilities of a modified premium debenture issue such as I have outlined. Under all the circumstances we say give your incoming Council an absolutely free hand, for you can be confident that they will adopt whatever method or methods may seem best under the conditions that may from time to time prevail during the year.

The Chairman—Will those in favour of Mr. Ezra's amendment please hold up their hands?—Against?—I shall have to call for a division on this amendment, being unable to distinguish an outstanding majority. I name as Tellers, Mr. Ezra and Mr. Little and Mr. Bain and Mr. Lambe.

A division having been taken, the Chairman announced the result of the vote as follows: In favour of the amendment 80, against 116. The amendment is lost. I now call on the mover of the next amendment.

Mr. C. Holliday—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to move the following Amendment to Resolution VII.

That after the words "gold dollars" there be added "Provided that no money be raised by the issue of Premium Bonds without the express sanction of the Ratepayers."

My object in doing so is simply this:

Firstly—In the Treasurer's memorandum of Finance of March 23 he enumerates amongst the various ways in which money might be raised that of Premium Bonds.

Secondly—Resolution VII as it stands authorizes the Council to raise money in such manner as it in its discretion may think fit. Clearly then, taking the two together, if the Council decided to raise money by an issue of Premium Bonds it would be perfectly justified in doing so and also in claiming it was acting under your express permission, whether you wish this to be so or not I don't know, but if you turn down this amendment it will show that you do and there is no more to be said, but if you don't wish it then you will support the amendment and so secure to yourselves the certainty of having the matter fully debated before it is decided. I am not arguing on the merits or demerits of Premium Bonds, that is not the question before us at all. The question is simply whether you wish to sanction them right away or whether you wish to give them further consideration. It is not a matter to make a long speech about—the issue is too simple for that. All I wish to do is to place this issue clearly before you and leave it to you to decide.

Mr. E. S. Little—Mr. Chairman, I second the amendment.

The Chairman—The amendment moved by Mr. Holliday and seconded by Mr. Little is now open to discussion.

Mr. Pearce—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, Your Council's view on Mr. Holliday's amendment is this, that it would be most undesirable under present abnormal conditions that you should in any way tie the hands of your incoming Council in the matter of Finance. The incoming Council will have to find no less than Tls. 4,800,000 or Tls. 400,000 a month for the requirements of the year for Extraordinary Expenditure for the Electricity Department and for General Purposes and you will be well advised to leave it to them to adopt such methods of finance as may seem to them to be most expedient. Speaking for your outgoing Council, I may say that most of us regard what may be termed the popular premium Debenture issue as the last alternative that should be adopted, though some of us are of the opinion that such an issue would attract a large measure of support, and if other alternatives fail, should be adopted. We live in abnormal times and abnormal methods of financing our necessary requirements may become necessary. A modified scheme of premium debentures has been suggested by the Treasurer and Comptroller—the issue of debentures at a substantial discount with redemption at par by drawings commencing with the second or third years. This follows the lines of the British Government Victory Loan and we see not the slightest objection to its adoption if the incoming Council see fit to sanction it.

I would like to ask Mr. Holliday, if his resolution includes what is called the British Government Victory Loan—on that system?

Mr. HOLLIDAY—The difference between Premium Bonds, as we know them—where a certain proportion of the interest is set aside for people to gamble with—and a bond which is redeemable at a much higher rate than that at which it is issued and you take your chance as to when you get it. Those are not quite the same things. In the one case the Council deliberately runs a lottery and in the other the redemption of the debentures is left to chance. If there is no premium whatever and the loan is repaid by annual drawings there is still a chance whether you get your money back this year or the next. You cannot eliminate altogether the element of chance, but it is quite another thing to run a lottery.

The CHAIRMAN—I understand, Mr. Holliday, that the position that you take is that the Victory Loan which was referred to by Mr. Pearce is not a premium issue and is not included in your recommendation?

Mr. HOLLIDAY—It is not a premium bond in the sense defined by the Treasurer in his report in his fourth alternative Otherwise he would never have had the third alternative.

The CHAIRMAN—I hope that is clear to ratepayers.

Mr. HOLLIDAY—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and gentlemen, I take my right of reply because I am a very pleased man. I was hoping that that old wheeze "leave it to your Council" would be given to us; because here the objection to premium bonds is a matter of morals; so that in affect your Council is asking you to leave the regulation of your morals to them (laughter). I do not know that you wish to do that (laughter and some applause).

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour of the amendment please hold up their hands?—Against?—The amendment is lost. (Applause). Does anyone wish to speak to the original resolution?

The Rev. ISAAC MASON—I thank the Chairman of the Council for the explanations given in reply to my questions with regard to the extension of the franchise, but I do not feel sufficiently at ease to give my vote on the motion without saying just one other word. It may be true—it is true—that the Council has no option and cannot extend the franchise, but surely the matter need not rest there. The Land Regulations have been amended before, and presumably they can be amended again. I speak on behalf of a large number of fellow citizens who never attend this meeting and have no say in whatever taxes or rates may be placed upon them. Therefore it seems that this meeting is the right place to voice in some way what is the feeling of those who live outside the limits of the Settlement. I am not going to speak at any length upon the benefits of the franchise at this time of day especially as we shall hear more on this subject before we are through with this ratepayers' meeting. We should look upon it in this sense: every city needs the best it can get from its citizens. It is simply a matter of right and how much we can extort from the governing body. We need the best everybody can give. I now speak for a class of respectable citizens who have lived here for years and whose counsel we ought to have at this meeting meeting and who ought to be represented here in a way they are not now represented. With that I believe you will all agree. It is very often an accident which causes many to live outside the limits of the Settlement. Many would live within the limits if houses were available. We have been compelled to go to the outskirts, but we are, none the less, interested in the welfare of the Settlement and wish to have our say in the great issues that come before this meeting. Therefore I wish that some method may be found by which the council could be instructed to take steps to extend the franchise to those who are living outside the Settlement but who are living on Settlement roads. We have come perilously near this to-day in Mr. Ezra's amendment, wherein it is laid down that the term "consumers within the Settlement" is to include consumers who pay taxes on municipal roads outside the Settlement. Now we are coming very near to supposing that the two are synonymous and we are now getting a rate of 12 per cent. instead of 14 per cent. Surely we may go a little further and instruct our Council to take whatever may be the proper procedure that something should be done in this matter, that those who really ought to be represented should not only pay taxes but should have this elementary justice given to them. I would like to suggest that in increasing the Municipal rate from 7 per cent. to 12 payable by foreigners who reside outside Settlement limits the Council will take steps to have the franchise extended to those paying municipal rates outside the Settlement under Section 19 of the Land Regulations. I may be out of order in suggesting that, but it does voice the feelings of our fellow ratepayers outside the Settlement and who are denied the privileges of representation simply because the Council cannot get the power now and are to have, year after year, the taxes increased upon them.

The CHAIRMAN—I think, Mr. Mason, your speech is directed, in effect, to an amendment of the resolution and it is quite in order to put that forward as the subject of a proposition. Before you put it to the meeting I shall have to ask you to reduce it to writing in accordance with the rules of procedure. If you have done so I will take it now and help to put it in order if it is not entirely so.

Mr. VILOUDAKI—Mr. Chairman, I have much pleasure in seconding the motion of Mr. Mason.

The CHAIRMAN—You understand the object of this amendment is to call attention to what Mr. Mason has described as a hardship. We have put it together the best we can to enable that to be done and as it is signed by Mr. Mason and Mr. Viloudaki, it reads as follows:—

Amendment.—While assenting to the increase of the Municipal Rate from 7 per cent. to 12 per cent., payable by foreigners who reside outside the Settlement limits. this Meeting instructs the Council to take steps to procure that the franchise be extended to such ratepayers as soon as possible on the conditions stated in Section XIX of the Land Regulations.

That amendment is now before the meeting.

Mr. PEARCE—I need hardly say the Council will heartily welcome those new ratepayers and in fact hold out our arms to them to come and join us. Some of you may remember that in 1915 in this very hall I had the pleasure of proposing a resolution for the extension of the Settlement under an agreement with the Chinese authorities which has not yet been ratified. Since those days the Council has been ever fighting to get this extension, but the Chinese are a peculiar race in these days and we cannot get it. We will do our best and I am sure the incoming Council are very glad to receive this amendment as it will strengthen their hands considerably as an expression of opinion from the foreign ratepayers.

The CHAIRMAN—Will those in favour of the amendment moved by Mr. Mason hold up their hands—against—carried unanimously.

Does any other ratepayer wish to address the meeting upon the now amended resolution? If not I will put it to the meeting, Resolution VII which has had added to it the amendment which has just been passed by you. Will those in favour of the resolution in its amended form please hold up their hands?—against?—that is also unanimously carried.

The CHAIRMAN—I will now call upon the mover of Resolution VIII. This matter has been before me for several days and has given me some cause for thought and I have decided that the best results will be arrived at by dealing with these two matters independently. They do not necessarily cover each other, or, I think, overlap. The first is a resolution by the Council itself asking for instructions to do a thing which it thinks, and I think, rightly thinks it can do. Mr. Little's amendment, on the other hand, is an amendment very much on the same lines as that which Mr. Mason has brought forward. He is asking the Council to do something which he thinks is right, but which the Council cannot do themselves, but which will have to go to the Powers who have negotiated treaties under which our Land Regulations are drawn up, because they are matters concerning the treaty and it is quite impossible for anybody in the Settlement to alter the Land Regulations without the consent of all those whom it may concern. It has got to go to Peking to be threshed out between the Powers and the Government of China. That, of course, may mean considerable delay. Hence there is particular reason for keeping the two things separate. Again, as I think is shown by a letter which has been addressed by the Chairman of the Council to the Senior Consul, it appears that an expression of the opinion of the community as to the steps which should be taken is of advantage, but they are two different things. If the matter had gone forward as an amendment, I failed to see how it could be done and I came to the conclusion that it could not be done. We shall deal with the the matter of Resolution VIII and with the amendment as Resolution VIIIa instead of an amendment to Resolution VIII Therefore, the first matter which will be ventilated will be put before you by Mr. Pearce on behalf of the Council.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I now rise to propose a resolution that is of the greatest moment in the history of the Settlement. This resolution reads as follows:

Resolution VIII.—That this Meeting approves of the creation of a Chinese Advisory Committee and that the constitution and powers of such committee be those set forth in the letter from the Chairman of Council to the Senior Consul dated October 24, 1919, and published in the Municipal Gazette of January 8, 1920.

If you will kindly refer to the Agenda for this Meeting you will observe that Mr. E. S. Little was to have moved an amendment to this resolution directing your Council to take steps to procure the alteration of the Land Regulations so as to provide for the direct representation of Chinese on the membership of the Council. With the approval of the Chairman of the Meeting and with your approval it is now proposed that Mr. Little shall move his amendment as a separate and distinct resolution as it in fact is and not as an amendment. Both resolutions have a common object—Chinese participation in the affairs of this Foreign Settlement—and they differ only as to the extent to which and manner in which such participation shall be conferred.

In the course of my remarks when moving the adoption of the Report for 1919 I referred to the circumstances under which the demand for Chinese representation had gained such prominence during the past nine or ten months and I explained how the demand of no taxation without representation was made one of the grounds, in fact the final and most important ground, upon which opposition to the payment of Municipal rates was taken in July last and again in January of this year.

In examining the desirability of supporting this demand or of supporting any measure of participation by the Chinese in the affairs of this Foreign Settlement it is necessary, I think, that we should first have a clear conception of the true status of our Chinese fellow residents. By this I mean that we should analyse their strict rights as distinguished from those privileges which have been extended to them and which they now enjoy or those privileges which you may desire to recommend should be extended to them in the future. This analysis does not require that I should go very fully into the history of the Settlement nor that I should take up your time with a treatise upon the evolution of its Municipal government but there are certain matters of history to which I must nevertheless refer, in order to enable a proper comprehension of this most important point.

By the Treaty of Nanking, which was concluded in 1842, the port of Shanghai was thrown open to foreign trade and residence. In 1845 the original boundaries of the Foreign Settlement were determined, when an area of considerably less than one square mile of marshy mosquito-ridden mud flat was set apart for foreign habitation and trade. There is no need for me to go into the reasons why this area was set apart, suffice it to say that it has been extended from time to time and by a process of evolution, that is crystallised in our present code of Land Regulations and Bye-laws, powers of local self-government have been conferred on foreign residents exercisable through an executive committee or Council of nine elected by them annually. It is necessary to emphasize that the Settlement was set apart or reserved for foreigners—with the addition of such Chinese only as belonged to their business offices and households. Indeed the Land Regulations of 1845 specifically prohibited native inhabitants from selling or renting land or houses to other Chinese, and foreigners from building houses for renting to or for the use of Chinese, so that the whole of the Settlement area should eventually come into the complete occupation of the foreigner as a foreign reservation. This principle was affirmed in 1854 when a proclamation was issued by the then Taotai, emphasizing that permission for Chinese to reside in the Settlement must first be sought in every case.

Again, in a great many of the foreign title deeds issued for land in the Settlement contain a clause that no Chinese subject can legally enter into possession of any land, tenements or houses within the Settlement unless under an official letter of authorization.

Such was the position in the fifties. In the 'sixties, the system of the issue of permits for Chinese to reside in the Settlement fell into disuse, as with the presence of the Taipings in the neighbourhood of the Settlement and with the arrival of some thousands of Chinese refugees seeking that protection and shelter that the Settlement offered as neutral zone, it became impracticable to carry out the strict enforcement of this permit system. This, however, does not alter the fact that those Chinese who were then down in our midst as refugees from the oppression without, together with all those Chinese who have since found that residence in the Settlement offers certain attractions that are not offered by residence in other parts of China, are there by sufferance of right but as the guests of the Foreign Community. The observance of local regulations was specifically imposed upon them as was the obligation to contribute their quota to the taxation levied to meet the very great increase in the cost of administration of the Settlement, which I cannot too strongly emphasize was largely and is largely occasioned by their presence and not because of the needs of the Foreign Community. In this connection so as touching on the status of Chinese in this Settlement, it is not without interest to recall that so late as 1898 the Taotai as the representative of the Chinese Government expressed his unconcern in Municipal questions which he stated were a matter for arrangement between the Consuls and the Consular Body, an attitude, which would certainly not have been adopted by the Chinese Government had the large Chinese population of the Settlement had any such status as would entitle them as of right to any voice in the administration of the Settlement. The fact is they are here so to speak on sufferance and they have no legal right to claim participation in our administration.

Let us now examine our subject from a very different point of view. Should we not as a matter of equity and justice concede the right of participation by Chinese in our local self-government? We welcome the Chinese as fellow residents we have the greatest feelings of friendship for them and we must admit that they are a very large and essential factor in the prosperity of our Settlement; should we not, therefore, say to them come and be partners with us in our government of ourselves and of you?

In answering this question let us for the moment disregard the fact that practically every cent that has been found for expenditure on the development of the Settlement as distinguished from expenditure on its maintenance and upkeep has been provided by the Foreign Community and not by the Chinese. Let us disregard the fact that it is the energy and efforts of the foreigner and not of the Chinese that have converted this mosquito-ridden swamp of early days into a great and prosperous city. Let us forget that this transformation has been effected in spite of constant obstruction on the part of the Chinese. Let us instead think only of the Chinese who reside here as our friends and as a very important factor in our prosperity and then let us ask whether they should be admitted to a voice in our affairs.

Ladies and gentlemen, it is from this point of view rather than from that of the strict status and legal right of our Chinese fellow citizens that the whole question of Chinese participation in the administration of the Settlement has been considered by your Council and certain ex-members of Council who kindly gave us the benefit of their assistance at a meeting held in the Council Room on October 7 last. The conclusions reached are briefly set forth in my letter to the Senior Consul of October 24, which is referred to in Resolution VIII. If you will kindly refer to the copies of this letter, which you will find in your seats you will observe that we reached an absolutely unanimous decision against Chinese representation on the Council on any consideration, but that we were equally unanimously in favour of a Chinese Advisory Committee with the constitution and powers therein outlined, and as to which I shall make a few observations later.

We want to get into closer touch with the views of our Chinese fellow residents. We want to be in a position to feel the pulse of the Chinese feeling better than we now can, and on the whole we have come to the conclusion that it is through a Chinese Advisory Committee that we can best achieve this end. There was a time when we could look to the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to help us very greatly, but, alas, the Chamber has no longer the same standing as it had, it is no longer so representative of the Chinese Community as it was of yore, other rival institutions have challenged its supremacy.

In this connexion you will recall that your Council's recognition of a so-called consultative committee in 1905-6, led to the passing of a Resolution at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers held in 1906 declining to confirm its action. Times have changed since then and in 1915 when the Draft Agreement for Extension of this Settlement with provision for the establishment of a Chinese Advisory Board was submitted to the Consular Body by the Special Envoy for Foreign Affairs, and subsequently laid before you at our Annual Meeting of that year, your approval was readily accorded.

This approval was sought and given upon the basis that the Settlement area would be extended. Ratification of the Draft Agreement has remained in abeyance and although the need for settlement extension is now no less, in fact it is far greater than it was in 1915, it seems to us that we should nevertheless give our approval to a Chinese Advisory Committee irrespective of extension. Safeguards there must, of course, be, and the safeguards that we suggest are these. That the meetings of the Advisory Committee be held in the Council's Offices. That it shall have a membership of 5, to be nominated annually—the method of nomination is, I think, better left to the Chinese to settle amongst themselves, so that so far as possible we may be sure that such nominees do represent them. That the nominees shall have been resident in the Settlement for the five years immediately preceding nomination, that during the whole of this period they shall have paid General Municipal Rate on an assessed rental of not less than Tls. 1,200 per annum, i.e., the qualification for election to the Council in the case of a foreign Ratepayer. That they shall not at the time of nomination, nor whilst on the membership of the Council hold any official appointment under the Chinese Government—this is a most important stipulation. That nominations shall be subject to the veto of the Consular Body—this as a desirable safeguard against any possibility of a Chinese resident being permitted to take his seat on the membership of the Committee who for some reason may not be acceptable to the Treaty Powers. And that the functions of the Committee be limited to those set forth in the Settlement Extension Draft Agreement for 1915, viz., to advise at the request of the Council on all matters affecting the interests of the Chinese residents in the whole Settlement, and to make representations to the Council with regard thereto. The members of the Committee when giving advice and making representations to the Council must do so in unison, and will not be allowed to act independently.

If you will turn to page 44c of the report you will find that the Chinese paid in general rate Tls. 1,224,000 and the foreigners Tls. 811,000. If we take the Chinese population at 700,000—it was 620,400 in 1915—and the foreign population at 30,000—it was 18,519 in 1915—we find that the Chinese paid Tls. 1.71 per head as against the foreigners Tls. 27.00 Gentlemen I think when we pay so much more than the Chinese, the foreigner is at least entitled to walk in his parks in comfort.

Ladies and gentlemen, I now move Resolution VIII.

Mr. HOSIE SMITH—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I have very great pleasure in seconding that resolution.

The CHAIRMAN—Resolution VIII has been duly proposed and seconded and is now open for discussion. As no one wishes to address the meeting, I will put it to the vote. Those in favour of the resolution please hold up their hands—and against—that is unanimously carried.

I will now call upon Mr. Little to move his resolution.

Mr. E. S. LITTLE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, in the lives of States as well as of individuals there come times of crisis. Important decisions must then perforce be made which influence the future for good or ill. We have reached to-day in our Shanghai Municipal life such a time of crisis. We are at the parting of the ways and cannot continue as we have done in the past. Forces completely beyond human control are sweeping across the face of all lands and we in China are not beyond their influence.

The position with which we are faced to-day is the result of the operation of the sure laws of evolution. Let none flippantly dismiss its consideration on the false assumption that it has been brought into existence by the action of a mere superficial agitation. Its roots go very far deeper than that; it is due to the change which consciously or unconsciously has been taking place in the Chinese mind and is a sign of progress which all must welcome.

I cannot too strongly direct your attention to this radical change of mind which is being effected by a variety of exciting causes. Amongst these causes may be mentioned the effect of the world changes and upheavals, the influences of Foreign thought which are reacting on the Chinese mind and the results of an ever widening education through the Press and the Schools by which vast numbers of Chinese are being mentally remoulded. It is in this soil the seeds which have produced the present demands have been sown. They can never be again uprooted or destroyed nor would any sane man ever suggest any such attempt should be made.

Our decision to-day will have far reaching consequences but most assuredly it will not kill the demand. If to-day rejected it will inevitably recur and keep on recurring till it be granted.

I have heard none but who has admitted that it must come; there can be no object in putting off what all admit to be inevitable and which very many who know the Chinese best aver will be for the best interests of our Settlement. I hope I shall be able to show not only that we ought to admit the Chinese to the Council but that we shall be well advised to take the preliminary steps now and I would urge upon you to remember that it is only the preliminary step that we can under any circumstances take at this Meeting.

In order that we may thoroughly understand the points at issue I propose to very briefly review the arguments advanced against and in favour of the proposition; when the review is completed I trust you will agree with me that in your judgment the time has arrived when this meeting must recommend the granting of the privilege now asked by our Chinese fellow-townsmen.

And first I address myself to the arguments against me.

The strongest objections to Chinese Councillors have been raised on the ground of the inbred tendency of the Chinese to graft or squeeze. Very much has been made on the part of many Foreigners of this objection. One gentleman has gone so far as to rush into print with an assessment of the value to the first Councillor of his seat; he has stated the first seat is worth half a million taels to the lucky holder. He does not advise how he reaches this figure and it is grotesquely absurd that I am not going to waste your time by trying to follow his figures but I hope to show you it is altogether impossible for any Councillor to reach this or any other figure.

We must all admit at once the prevalence of squeeze amongst the Chinese. From time immemorial it has been inbred in their system of Government. Through long ages it has been the governmental practice to assess the value of every office and only to pay Chinese officials a merely nominal salary, a salary so meagre as to be insufficient to defray the wages of Yamen servants and employees—much less to live. The occupants of various offices from the highest to the lowest were supposed to receive funds from all kinds of recognized sources. This was the Chinese system of remunerating their officers. Foreigners who have been accustomed to a different procedure call the proceeds a wrong name when calling it squeeze. There was nothing secret or irregular about it from the Chinese viewpoint. There is something faintly analogous to it in some of the Foreign Consular fees in which the Foreign official is allowed to participate. It was the regular, recognized, and authorized method by which the Chinese remunerated their officers. Naturally the system has led to many abuses and has degenerated to a means of self-enrichment at the expense of the State. When the depredations reached too far the populace were accustomed to indicate their disapproval by various methods such as burning down the unpopular one's Yamen or refusing to trade.

I am by no means defending the system nor do any modern Chinese. It is as much condemned by them as by us and they are exerting every effort to secure the complete abolition of the scheme and its replacement by Western methods of remuneration by adequate salaries. Now let us be perfectly fair and frankly recognize that to change the practice and mental viewpoint of centuries is no easy matter. Their efforts to change over from the old to the new must of necessity be extended over a considerable period of time and must be inevitably characterized by numerous lapses. We are now in the transition stage. Modern Chinese are struggling to eradicate ancient abuses which are as high as mountains. The vast accumulations of fortunes by the Tuchuns for example is bringing about a state of public opinion which will give the movement to reform a great impetus. They are receiving in their laudable efforts every encouragement from sympathetic foreigners who understand the problem. We are very far from our bearings if we imagine there will be any disposition or attempt to bring this confirmed system into our international municipal life. It only requires a moment's intelligent thought to be convinced that such a thing is beyond the bounds of possibility.

We may be certain that in their first election to the Council the Chinese Ratepayers will return the best and most trustworthy men available. They will probably be chosen from the mercantile and professional classes just as are our own men. These men not being contaminated by official methods and understanding what is required of them will have to their duties a sense of honour not a whit behind that which actuates the foreign Councillors. They will realize that the reputation of their race is at stake and will act accordingly. We shall run no risk whatever in admitting them to this position of trust.

It is, of course, very easy to say that the Chinese will squeeze and forthwith condemn offhand the entire proposition. In the last few days I have heard the charge bandied about from one to another and seen it repeated ad nauseam in the public print. Opponents think they have in the charge their strongest weapon and have been working it for all it is worth. I have recently challenged more than one who has made the usual flippant remark in my hearing with the request to tell me exactly and particularly where and how the Chinese Councillors will have the opportunity to squeeze. A general charge is useless; it is necessary to get down to details. It has been interesting to note that none has been able to give a concrete instance as to where they will have an opportunity of touching public funds or be in a position to extract funds from their countrymen.

As to public funds I speak from inner knowledge since I have served on the Council and on its Finance Committee. I say without fear of successful contradiction that it is utterly impossible for any Councillor to be able to get his hands on any Public Funds. These funds have to go through so many hands that it is a physical impossibility for any Councillor to put his hands into the public till. You may, therefore, take it as absolutely and positively certain that all your funds will be as secure as they are to-day and that there are no conceivable circumstances under which they can be tampered with. I pray you, therefore, to dismiss this ridiculous assumption from your minds and not permit this absurd argument to weigh with you in making up your minds as to how you will vote on this question.

It is true the Chinese Councillors may get wind of new roads and be able to buy up the land cheaply. In any case they will only share this knowledge with and at the same time as their foreign colleagues. Under our present scheme proposals and plans have to go through the hands of a number of people including Councillors and the Chinese and foreign employes of the Council. So the Chinese Councillors will be in no better position than anybody else on the Council. Not every Chinese Councillor will be a land speculator any more than their foreign colleagues are. The case against Chinese representation must be particularly weak if this is the kind of stuff it has to rely upon for support. The argument is of very little force in any event. It need not be seriously entertained.

It is asserted by some ardent believers in the non-existence of any Chinese who does not live for self that the Chinese Councillors will in some mysterious way be able to obtain in virtue of his position bribes to do something he ought not to do. There is a delightful indefiniteness in the minds of objectors as to what this "something" is. Let me remind you what you all know as well as I do, namely that the Chinese is no fool. Do you not think that every Chinese will before offering a bribe to a Councillor weigh well in his mind as to whether it will pay him to do so? He will reflect that a Chinese Councillor is only one twelfth of the authority that will have to decide any question he wishes to have decided in his favour. It will be no use to bribe one but all three and even then he will have to bribe four of the Foreign Councillors before he can get a majority of the Council in his favour. A little thought will convince you that an attempt to bribe a Councillor will be utterly futile. The man who advances arguments of this nature has surely forgotten there are still nine Foreign Councillors who will still dominate the situation, so all three Chinese Councillors even if bribed up to the neck will be powerless. Once more I say Chinese are not such fools as to throw their money away in bribes in such utterly impossible conditions.

Again consider for a moment the utter loss of face, character and reputation, that would happen to a Councillor who offended by taking bribes. He would suffer so severely at the hands of his fellow Chinese Ratepayers that he would be unable to live in this country. I can assure you our fellow townsmen are so determined on this point that any of their representatives who betrayed their trust and confidence would better never have been born. The risks under the new public opinion are too fearful that not one of them would dare to take them. There are no bribes that could under any conceivable circumstances be big enough to warrant the offer or acceptance. Any event of the enormous dimensions to warrant the offer or acceptance in our Municipal life of large bribes would in any case be beyond the power of the Council to negotiate; such enterprises would have to come before this august meeting.

Moreover, we are all aware or ought to be that there are just as honorable, upright and honest Chinese as there are Foreigners. We must begin, if we have not done so already, to recognise that the Chinese are our equals in all respects. They are men of like passions with ourselves. There are amongst them good and bad just as there are amongst ourselves. Our Chinese fellow ratepayers may be trusted to select competent and trustworthy Councillors in exactly the same manner as we are.

I have dealt with this question of squeeze somewhat fully because much has been made of it and I am convinced it has been the predominant thought in the minds of many voters. I am sure the fear is a mere bogey fear and that it may be dismissed from your minds and consideration. It need cause you no anxiety. I go further and state that as I understand the mind and temper of the Chinese on this question that you will find their Chinese Councillors as far removed beyond the suspicion of reproach in all financial matters as are our Foreign Councillors. Do not, therefore, permit any fears on the ground of squeeze prevent your voting to-day to give your fellow Chinese ratepayers the small amount of representation they are now asking for.

This is another bogey which has been raised to scare the timorous. I wonder who are the men of fearful wisdom who manufacture these and such like scares.

Fearful pictures are drawn of our Settlement sinking to the level of Chapei, Pootung and our other native environs. Pictures of filthy streets, ill-lighted and with disorganized traffic are painted in vivid colours till the hearers shudder. It is certain that all such follies vanish as one will but give the smallest thought to the matter and not take as gospel all the small patter that is passed around by Shanghai gossips.

I again remind you the nine Councillors will be still in supreme control, all our departments will be still manned by the competent staff in whose hands is the real administration of the government of the city. All these will remain exactly as of yore and will function with the same efficiency as now. The addition of three Chinese Councillors will not weaken in a single point our efficiency. This Ratepayers Meeting will still remain the ultimate Court of Appeal and I think we may safely trust ourselves to see that there is no dereliction of duty. Let this ghost of Chinese control be, therefore, finally laid. It may ease the minds of some ratepayers to be told that the Chinese have no wish or thought to control the Settlement; they have said explicity they do not wish to control the place and are free to admit they could not do so efficiently as it is now done if all power were put in their hands.

Another class of objector says this is only the entering wedge and that they will not be satisfied with this for very long. They will soon want something more when this has been granted. Let me remind the advocates of this argument that in thus describing the Chinese he is describing us all. It is a truism that the absolutely self-satisfied man with no ambition for higher and better things is nothing more than a living dead man. We as much as the Chinese are always looking for something more. The answer to this objection is as before, namely, that so long as the foreigners are in control they can only get what we are willing to concede to them.

We are reminded ad nauseam that this is a Foreign Settlement and not intended for Chinese. I reply it is decades too late to advance this argument. We have invited the Chinese to come here and in every Consulate in the place are registered deeds in the names of foreigners which really belong to the Chinese. We trade with the Chinese and take taxes from them. We know their presence in the Settlement adds immensely to its wealth. We must frankly admit that if the Chinese were not here we should have no market for our wares. It is because it is to our advantage to have them here that we have encouraged them to come. You know quite as well as I do that if a resolution were introduced into this Ratepayers' Meeting that the Chinese should be altogether removed from the Settlement you would one and all be up in arms against such a proposition because you know perfectly well your livelihood would be gone. I venture this further statement that if the Chinese were not here we should have to go to them for we are a trading community and must have the Chinese with us in order to make our markets. Why, therefore deliberately deceive ourselves by repeating arguments which we know have no value. The Chinese, if they were so minded, might take our very words and apply them to our residence in China. We are linked together in all kinds of enterprises and are now essential the one to the other.

We are invited to show one city the Chinese have themselves governed well and are told that when they can govern themselves decently let them come and govern us. I assume none of us take such statements seriously. The conditions in Shanghai are unique in China indeed they cannot be matched anywhere else in the world; it must be judged therefore by itself. Supposing the statements are all absolutely true they do not apply to the present situation. We are not asking the Chinese to govern us, we are simply asking them to join with us and assist us in governing to the very best advantage to them and to us the vast numbers of their fellow-countrymen who are at the same time our fellow townsmen in this great cosmopolitan city. We admit there are difficulties constantly arising in which our Chinese Councillors will be of the greatest assistance in clarifying the situation This is a far cry from the Chinese governing us and our Settlement, as every fair-minded man must agree.

These, then, are the great and outstanding objections to the motion now before us. Upon sifting and analysing them we cannot but come to the conclusion that they are of no very great consequence. We may reject the resolution but we cannot do so on any of the grounds so far advanced.

Let us now turn to the arguments in favour of the scheme; if they appeal to your mind, as they do to mine, I have no doubt but that you will show the same by an overwhelming vote in favour of granting the very modest request that three Chinese shall be requested to join the Council and give us the benefit, on equal terms with ourselves, of their advice and assistance.

The first argument has been worn threadbare and is so obvious that I must apologize for referring to it, namely, that without representation there should be no taxation. This is so ingrained in the Anglo-Saxon mind that it is a waste of time for the most part to argue it. The history of our struggle for freedom and especially the right to decide our own taxation took its first definite form when King John 700 years ago, frantic with rage, was compelled to sign the Magna Charta. From that time onwards the rights of the taxpayer have been progressively recognized. Liberty-loving British Colonists in America carried the fight a step further, their fellows in the Old Country being with them heart and soul, and as a result of their efforts to control their own taxation set up the United States of America. In every country these principles are now accepted.

By every possible device we have inculcated these principles into the Eastern nations of Japan and China. In virtue of the same we have with us to-day a large body of Japanese voters and standing at our doors asking for admittance are the Chinese ratepayers who demand that our principles shall be applied to them. We have taught the Chinese people that they too have rights and have shown them by our example how they should demand them. The Chinese Republic is the first result. There is a keen competition amongst the Great Powers to get Chinese students to go to their schools of learning where they will drink to the full of our ideals of liberty. They will be made still more dissatisfied with their conditions as a result of these waves of students going to the West and returning with burning zeal to carry their new learning into effect. How great is the mockery and the unrealness of our teaching when we meet them in Shanghai by telling them we do not carry out our principles here.

We cannot on any grounds of reason, logic or justice honourably refuse their just and reasonable demands. We can only say without giving any valid excuse we don't want you and we wont have you. If we take up this position we can only maintain ourselves by the exercise of our superior physical force and in so doing we stultify ourselves. But reasonable civilized men of A.D. 1920 do not so benave themselves. We have fought the greatest war of all human history to make the world free for democracy: we should stultify our own history and sacrifice in vain the terrific losses in life and wealth so far as Shanghai is concerned if we now refuse the moderate demand now made upon us. To vote down this resolution is to proclaim to the Chinese and the world that the Foreign Community of Shanghai is still in the back ages and has been left behind by the rest of the world in its onward march of progress.

The Chinese pay a large proportion of the taxes of Shanghai. Our roads, parks, police protection and all the comforts of our civilization are due in part to their annual contributions to our revenue. I recognize they share in most of these advantages as much as we do, not all for all Chinese even the most respectable and highly educated are denied admittance to the parks.

Though they pay so large a part of the taxes they have heretofore had no voice whatever in the amount or disposition of their contributions. They have no option and cannot refuse to pay: it is a case with them of stand and deliver. The resolution does not contemplate giving the Chinese power commensurate with the amount of taxes they pay: we only propose to give them 25 per cent. of the executive and administrative power of the Settlement. With this representation they will still be powerless as to their taxation or its distribution, they will only have a chance of expressing their wishes on even terms with ourselves. There is no one with the faintest spark of what is right and just and fair who will not at once agree that the demand is most modest and reasonable and should be conceded, and that we must do so if we do not wish to violate our great traditions.

I would remind you that there is nothing novel, risky or experimental contemplated by this resolution. It has been the genius of Anglo-Saxon rulership throughout the world and it is one of the secrets of our success that we always associate with ourselves the natives of the country we are governing. In Singapore, Hongkong and elsewhere Chinese occupy the highest places of power, trust and honour. Their work is everywhere commended as of the highest service to the country, and one never hears that the Europeans under them have any cause of complaint.

In Tientsin where the conditions may be said to very nearly parallel our own a Chinese member has sat in Municipal Council for the last 8 years. There is not a breath of suspicion that the Tientsin Chinese Municipal Councillor has in any way personally benefitted by his office. The scheme has worked well there and is favourably reported upon. Doubtless there were timorous souls amongst the Tientsin ratepayers when it was decided to give the Chinese there a moderate representation on the Council. Doubtless there was repeated there the same kind of objections with which we are familiar here and with which I have already dealt. Tientsin has now travelled far beyond those doubts and fears and having worked the scheme for 8 years is satisfied.

We pride ourselves that we are the Model Settlement but it is evident we have much to learn from others. Surely we are not going to allow ourselves to be left behind in the onward progress of modern advancing thought and action. What is good for Tientsin is surely not going to destroy our vigorous life here in Shanghai.

This demand by the Chinese is very general and it is sincere. It is not a superficial demand and most assuredly you have not heard the last of it if you reject it to-day. When you want something badly and are satisfied you are entitled to it, you do not easily drop your demands but press and work for it until you get it. You will not be surprised or blame the Chinese if they show the same characteristics and will have no cause to reproach them if they will not let the matter drop. But surely it is repugnant to all of us to put ourselves in the invidious position of refusing what we know by every moral and legal right we ought to grant.

I hold in my hands a petition from Chinese ratepayers to this meeting which will prove to you that there is a general and widespread desire for representation. It is signed or chopped by more than 8,000 Chinese firms and ratepayers in the Settlements. It reads as follows:—

"We the undersigned 8,000 signatories, representing over 600,000 Chinese residents and ratepayers within the Settlement, respectfully petition the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to grant the Chinese representation on the Council.

"We do not desire to argue the point but would emphasise that the Chinese subscribe a considerable proportion of your revenue annually and yet are without any voice in taxation or any other Municipal matters.

"You, gentlemen, from the West taught us that it is repugnant to your ideas that there should be taxation without representation.

"We, therefore, feel that in approaching you with our request we shall meet with a sympathetic hearing. We earnestly pray your honourable Meeting to grant this our Petition."

These neatly bound books contain this great list of chops and signatures which anyone may inspect at their leisure. Here is a mild and respectful petition: it is not thinkable we shall rudely reject it. We shall honour ourselves by meeting our fellows as they ask.

This petition is typical of the progress the Chinese have made in their mental outlook on life. When I compare the China of to-day with that of nearly 35 years ago, when I first came out, I am amazed at the astounding differences. The Chinese have made the most astonishing progress. The request they have presented to-day expresses a very deepseated and earnest desire for a recognition of this progress.

You are to-day making history and your decision will travel far and wide in this country. It will affect our future relations with the Chinese. If you reject it the only interpretation that can be placed upon such rejection will be that foreigners are not well disposed towards them. Whilst an acceptance will be interpreted to mean that we as foreigners are disposed to put our get-together pronouncements into actual practice, it will encourage the Chinese to put forth their best endeavours to live up to the confidence we repose in them and will make for goodwill between them and us.

More than once in our history we have been faced with periods of unrest and waves of discord have swept over the face of our municipal life. I think you will agree with me that in almost every case these disturbances would not have occurred if we had understood the Chinese view point and they had understood ours. Now Chinese Councillors will be of inestimable assistance to us by their presence on the Council. Not only will they be able to officially represent the ideas of the Chinese to us but they will stand before the Chinese themselves as their officially elected representatives and they will feel bound to listen to the advice they may give them.

All this will work for more amiable relations between the two communities and will lessen the friction which naturally arises from a misunderstanding of each other's position.

Shanghai stands in many ways as a model for all China and they look to us for guidance. Its influence is immense. Chinese cities are beginning to copy Shanghai. When interior towns wish to build roads, hospitals, schools, mills and such like they come to Shanghai to see what we are doing. They are beginning to erect Municipalities, crudely it is true, but they have never had modern municipalities before and do not fully understand how to create them or how to run them when created.

Here is an unrivalled opportunity for us to be the schoolmaster of China.

If we grant the request now before us we shall train the Chinese here how to become electors. Representatives of all the Provinces are in our city, multitudes are constantly coming and going. They are and will be learners in our school. As they go back to their cities to be leaders in their Municipal life; they will say thus and so is the way it ought to be done, for this is the way they do it in Shanghai.

Similarly our Chinese Councillors will have an insight into the way modern municipal governments are run and will in their turn impress on hundreds of other leaders the lessons they have learnt with us.

We have a golden opportunity of influencing millions of Chinese in this way in the democratic ideas and forms of government which we shall be most unwise to miss. Surely we are blessed with sufficient imagination to realize that we can now, by our vote, exert an influence on China which the Gods might pray for and fail to get.

I am speaking in this of what I know. Arcent Chinese patriots are looking to foreigners for counsel and guidance; it will be the severest blow to their confidence in us and the greatest disappointment to those who are trying to make a clean pure democracy effective in this country if we now, by an adverse vote, shatter their hopes.

I am certain if we could appreciate the opportunity we now have of exerting a widespread influence in China we should recognize that the vote we are about to cast is perhaps the most important we have ever cast. A great responsibility now rests upon each one of us to deliberate most earnestly and carefully so that we shall vote in the right way.

My last argument is one that has a measure of self-interest in it for all of us. As Shanghailanders we have an interest and a pride in our city and wish to make it into a greater Shanghai as they have done in London and New York. Great realities have first found their birth in the dreams of some enthusiast. Have we never in our minds what we could do here if we in Shanghai control Chapei, Pootung, the native city and all the environs of our Settlement. The Engineer-in-Chief of the Conservancy has given an outline of an ambitious harbour scheme which is only possible to a Greater Shanghai. How greatly we can improve the roads, and hygienic conditions of all our surroundings if these places could be brought under our control. At the moment all necessary extensions to our Settlement are difficult or impossible to effect.

I am optimistic enough to imagine that all our dreams of greatness are possible to us—not at once but gradually—if we have associated with us as partners with us on equal terms Chinese in our Council. It is certain they can get for themselves and us what we can never hope to get for ourselves. It is reasonable to expect that the Chinese Government, jealous for the preservation of its sovereignty, would grant to a Council in which Chinese had a prominent voice extensions and privileges which they do not now feel safe in granting. On purely selfish grounds, therefore, I urge you to now accede to the request for Chinese representation on the Council.

I have the honour of addressing one of the most intelligent and cultivated audiences of any municipal government in the world. I realize you are guided by intelligent reason and are not swayed by passing events. I am sure you fully appreciate the great issues that are at stake in the decision you will make to-day. It is an historic occasion and the future of Shanghai will be greatly influenced by the action you now take. Being guided by right principles and having regard to our future prosperity I have no hesitancy in asking you to decide in favour of this resolution.

Mr. Ezra—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I rise to second this resolution and to commence my argument, I maintain the Council's authority in Shanghai must be undisputed. The whole community must realize, whether they are foreigners or Chinese, that there is one governing body in this great industrial community, and it is imperative that this governing body must be without any rival, and must be in a position to be the sole factor of Municipal Government.

The Council in the past have invariably looked upon any attempt to infringe their prerogatives with disfavour, and, in their various attempts to resist any such intrusion in their sphere of power, received the unanimous support of the ratepayers. It has always been an undisputed ruling in this settlement that the Council is and must remain in sole control in the government of this settlement and its complex problems.

The history of the recent agitation for representation is too well known to require further comment. The ratepayers should not be surprised or discouraged by any agitation that may arise or that has arisen, or by the ill-advised manner the present agitation has been conducted. This agitation is the result of a general democratic wave over the whole world.

It has been recognized by the British Government in India, Egypt and elsewhere, even in Malta, where the population demanded and were accorded representation, even in Japan there is now a demand for universal suffrage.

What is the Council's attitude in the face of this agitation? They come before the ratepayers, doubtless after careful consideration, and recommend out of the dilemma the creation of a Consultative Committee which, if of any value, really means the creation of a rival body functioning in the settlement, absolutely contrary to all general proposals governing the settlement in the past.

Do the Council realize what they suggest? If they do they will certainly agree with me that this resolution is unwise and unworkable. It will only serve its purpose as a temporary expedient, and although the Resolution creating it has just been passed by the Ratepayers I shall submit argument showing that as a permanent institution it will be found unworkable and unsatisfactory.

What would probably happen in times of trouble? This body will be nothing else but a sure and certain means of increasing unrest and disorder. Being a separate body they will be bound to follow the wishes of the noisy majority of the population. They will also be bound to give the Council advice which is certain to be rejected.

Then the question will arise—Who is going to control this community in affairs Chinese, the Council or the Committee? The Committee being a separate body must give advice to the Council. This advice, if accepted by the Council, will certainly cause general weakness in the Council's position, especially with the native population.

If advice is rejected by the Council it will only cause more fuel to be added to the fire. It is, therefore, most inadvisable in the light of experience.

The ratepayers and Council must make up their minds if the demand for representation is wrong to refuse it altogether. If the demand is one that we feel should meet with sympathetic consideration, let us act like true democrats and instead of creating something neither fish nor fowl, give reasonable representation on a workable basis suited to local needs and requirements, the principle of which is provided for in this resolution.

This Consultative Committee—who wants them? Certainly not the Chinese, and, with due deference, certainly not the Council. The Chinese have declared that all they desire is reasonable representation on the Council. They admit this is a foreign community, but they say the time has arrived when they should have some representation. Therefore, an Advisory Committee is not what they want.

The Council, on the other hand, have already all the means at their disposal to ascertain what is necessary for proper Municipal control in Shanghai. The Council have a competent staff to advice them what is required and to properly administer this city, and they themselves are usually men who have interests in Shanghai and quite capable of conscientiously carrying out their duties. Therefore, this Advisory Committee is certainly not wanted by them.

Who is responsible for this offspring? Apparently the Council. Why have they adopted it? Because they are not anxious to suggest the real and proper course.

I, therefore, repeat the following propositions:—

This settlement has been and will continue to be under foreign control. It is most inadvisable to set up a rival body. If there is a desire by the vast bulk of this growing community to be represented, they should be encouraged and their wishes granted, provided no harm results.

Provided the majority of the Councillors are foreigners, what have we to fear if such a proposal is accepted by the ratepayers? In fact, we have nothing to lose, but everything to gain.

It is to our advantage not only to work in harmony with the bulk of the native population, but to provide a local Government, which, while safeguarding the position of foreign interests in Shanghai, is also representative of the entire community.

As, however, the old regulations provided that Chinese should not be allowed to live here and in course of time these particular regulations have been entirely superseded and we have now a prosperous and ever growing Chinese population in our midst, so the time has certainly arrived when we must again broaden our outlook and permit this huge population a reasonable amount of representation, to mutual benefit and harmony.

So long as our own position is safeguarded we should welcome a few Chinese Councillors. It will materially assist in that feeling of friendly co-operation between foreigners and Chinese that is necessary for the development of our commerce and our trade.

In order, however, to clearly show that we are not suggesting anything detrimental to our interests it will be necessary to study the various criticisms against Chinese being on the Council. It is said that there is not a single Chinese who is fit or worthy or sufficiently unselfish to be capable to sit and act as a Councillor, without some benefit to himself or his friends. This in my opinion is absolutely false, and I will proceed to prove it.

How many here to-day are Directors on Boards of local Companies that have Chinese Directors sitting with them? Can anyone say that a Chinese Director associated with foreign Directors ever acted in a way that would result in his being unfit to continue in office? In fact Chinese Directors on many of our Companies have invariably proved themselves to be quiet, unassuming and loyal members of any Board of Directors, not only in Shanghai but everywhere else.

It has also been said that the post of Councillor to a Chinese would result in his being in a position to give patronage and make large sums out of it. With nine foreign Councillors, is it likely that any Chinese in this town is going to waste his money on these three Councillors, if they happen to be corrupt, knowing that if these men were to do or suggest anything that is improper the whole Municipal staff would expose them? Even supposing the nine Councillors were hypnotized by these three men, it seems to me that such an argument can only be made by people suffering from jaundiced eyes. It was repeated many times in India, but on actual working found to be erroneous. In fact as things turned out the native Councillors proved most honorable and loyal. My experience as Chairman of the Chinese Educational Committee, with two Chinese Colleagues, amply demonstrates the truth of this statement.

The next criticism that three Councillors would mean introducing the thin end of the wedge, and that, having had three Councillors, the day would arrive when our own position here would be insecure—in short, that it would mean the end of foreign domination in this settlement. A more absurd proposition I have never heard. The Chinese have never asked to be in control of this settlement. The proposer of this resolution and myself have not even dreamed of such a suggestion. What we, however, maintain, what we hope confidently that you will also maintain, is that this large and ever growing population deserves and is entitled, justly entitled, to reasonable representation of their interests, no more and no less an axiom which should certainly be received sympathetically by representatives of Democratic Countries, such as we are.

Another criticism has been the suggestion that these Councillors would most probably be undesirables, men who had attained public notice by noisy utterances. The resolution that is proposed now says "three representative to be elected in a manner to be subsequently determined." When the Council receives this mandate to increase the number of Councillors from nine to twelve, it will be for the Council and the rate-payers to devise ways and means to elect the three new Councillors in such a manner as to preclude noisy demagogues. We are not deciding that point to-day. We are only deciding the principle.

It is also stated that no Chinese is capable of being a Councillor, and that they must be educated to be in a position to be Councillors. This is another absurd proposition. If the Chinese community are good enough for us to associate with in business and to live with, surely in such a vast population men could be found capable of being elected to this high office. They have been on on many occasions in the fields of sport and finance. Surely there are some of them who may be capable of sitting as equals in Municipal matters. No one has yet maintained that Municipal Councillors require specialized brains. If that is so, as a past Councillor myself, I have not yet seen it.

Now, having disposed of all the objections, let us study the benefits.

To start with, British territories with large Chinese interests, such as Hongkong, Singapore, Malay States, have invariably seen that it was advantageous to the proper government of the Colonies to have Chinese on the Legislative Councils. In India, long before self government was talked of, it was always a rule that natives should be on the various Municipal Boards and Government Councils. They have invariably found them useful and helpful members of the Council. They have, likewise, proved themselves honest and honorable in the exercise of their duties. No one has said that any Colony has suffered by having Chinese members on the Legislative Council, and when agitations have arisen the native members presented their side of the case, which was most useful to the other Councillors, and after a debate a vote was taken. The Chinese Councillors then explained to their various supporters that they had done their best, but the Council, as a majority, decided otherwise. In our case it will be exactly the same. Furthermore, we have preached all over the East, and especially in China, that we hail from Democratic Countries. Let us then be truly democratic and allow the population here some representation, on the clear and distinct understanding that we do so on the grounds that this is a foreign settlement and a foreign settlement only, but that we recognize they have a large interest in it and should, therefore, have some voice in its management.

It has also been stated that representative Government is not in existence in China. That is true, but it has always been a well known fact—a fact that we have been exceedingly proud of—that Shanghai leads the fashion and customs for the rest of China. Let us then show what Shanghai can do from a broadminded, cosmopolitan standpoint, showing to China and the world that where a general desire has been expressed by a large section of this community that it was received with sympathy and with consideration—that we not only preach, but practice what we preach. The benefits to us, in my opinion, would be very material.

In numerous matters and affairs concerning Municipal administration the Council would be in a position to obtain first hand information; the Chinese Colleagues being on an equality with the Council would be able to take part in the debates and discussion; they would be able to influence the Council from their point of view in a manner that the Council would never be in a position to have brought before it in any other way. They will be, likewise, in a position to thoroughly understand the Chinese point of view, and in accepting or rejecting any proposals or suggestions there will be no ill feeling of any sort, as the proposal that the majority rules must naturally be clearly observed.

Furthermore, the Chinese in these settlements here will realize that we foreigners are willing not only to trade with them, not only to make money in our business relations with them, but also to treat them on an equality and to give them a fair chance of being reated as equals when they show themselves anxious and capable.

The Chinese Councillors by being present in the discussions of the Council would be in a position to throughly acquaint themselves with the foreign point of view. The result would be most satisfactory, as both parties will realize the arguments of the other side. A permanent Consultative Committee would only be acquainted with decisions, and not with the arguments which decide the Council to any particular decision. The result would be detrimental to a general and better understanding between foreigners and Chinese in Municipal affairs.

The rate payers must realize that to build a great Shanghai in the future, on a solid basis, co-operation is the only means of ultimate success, and this resolution, if carried, means this ideal of co-operation which, in my humble opinion, is absolutely necessary and vital to the continued development and well-being of this International community.

In conclusion, it has been said that the more Chinese and foreigners come into personal touch there results nothing but increased personal regard. Let us, therefore, be broad minded enough to put that belief into deeds and show to the Chinese people that we foreigners stand ready to assist them by every means in our power towards harmony and good feeling.

The CHAIRMAN—The resolution now is "That this meeting hereby instructs the Council to take such steps as are necessary to procure the alteration of the Land Regulations for the purpose of increasing the number of Councillors from 9 to 12 of which 3 shall be Chinese Ratepayers with the same qualifications as Foreign Councillors, and to be elected as may be subsequently determind." That resolution has been proposed and seconded and is open for discussion.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Ladies and Gentlemen, when moving Resolution VIII, I referred to the fact that the whole question of Chinese participation in the administration of the Settlement had been considered by your Council and certain ex members of Council who kindly gave us the benefit of their assistance at a meeting held in the Council Room on October 7 last. I stated that the conclusions reached were briefly set forth in my letter to the Senior Consul of October 24, which is referred to in Resolution VIII, and I called your attention to the fact that we reached an absolutely unanimous decision against Chinese representation on the Council on any consideration, but that we were equally unanimously in favour of a Chinese Advisory Committee.

If you will refer to paragraph 2 of the letter of October 24, of which you will find copies in your seat, you will observe the following statement:—

"In recording this vote the meeting was unable to dissociate the demand for Chinese representation on the Council from the efforts of the past few years, and particularly since the signing of the Armistice, to secure the abolition of Extra territoriality Settlements, Concessions and Spheres of Influence, and general expression was given to the view that these demands must be met and resisted until by good government and by the adoption of a policy of progression and development in accord with the standards common to every enlightened nation, China has shown that she is fitted to receive full retrocession of those rights, which, she contends, have been wrongfully wrested from her, but which in fact the foreigner either had vested in him by treaty, or has been forced to assume and exercise from motives of self-preservation and protection, or because of the hopeless inability of China to exercise them herself for the benefit of her own people and of those who seek a domicile in her lands."

Such, Ladies and Gentlemen, were the general but none the less weighty and important considerations upon which were based our objection to Chinese participation in the affairs of the Settlement by direct representation on the Council as contrasted with participation through an Advisory Committee, which we favour; but since the question of their participation in our affairs is being pressed to an issue and since the fate of this foreign Settlement hangs in the balance, it is incumbent on me, as the spokesman of your Council, to amplify the grounds on which our opposition to representation is based.

In the first place I wish to impress upon you that Chinese representation on the Council is regarded by certain official and unofficial Chinese as a means to and end—and that end is first and foremost the abolition of Extraterritoriality. A most worthy end, you will agree, but God forbid that it should come under conditions such as those which exist at present. Never I venture to affirm has chaos, disunion, and inefficient government been more marked in China's annals than it is to-day. Until this condition of affairs has been righted, until China has firmly established good government, until she has carried out judicial reforms and has attained to standards of efficiency, progress and development which are more in accord with our own, this backdoor method of working for the abolition of Extraterritoriality must be defeated. It is not in our interests, it is not in the interests of our fellow Chinese residents—and my views, I know, are shared by a large number of thinking Chinese—that we should have forced upon us a change that would inevitably mean a very serious setback to this Settlement's progress and prosperity, and a change that would expose the Chinese residents within our boundaries to official impositions and exactions by the Chinese Authorities against which we have so consistently protected them in the past. Only a few months ago we very strenuously and successfully opposed the imposition of the Chinese Government Stamp Tax in the Settlement and the occasions have been numerous when likin and other forms of native taxation have been equally strenuously and successfully resisted. When China has reached those standards to which I have just referred—then speaking for myself and I am sure that I am voicing the sentiments of most of you here this afternoon Extraterritoriality should go, but not until then.

The Council—and I include those ex-members of Council who kindly gave us their help in our deliberations on this question—is not opposed to the principle of Chinese representation, but it holds the view and holds it most strongly that such representation should not be granted, until we have every assurance that it will not be to the detriment of the vast interests, Chinese and foreign, which are at stake in the Settlement, as there is every reason to suppose that it would be, if granted under present conditions.

Now for my second point. We must not forget, in fact we cannot afford to forget, that the well-being and prosperity of this Settlement are largely founded upon its neutrality in the politics of China. Indeed, as I mentioned when addressing you on the report for last year, it is the observance of this neutrality that has in the past contributed in no small degree to the preservation of the Settlement and of those resident therein from the devastation and ruin that have befallen other parts of China in times of political turmoil. In the present unsettled state of the country, when North is divided against South, and when North and South are in turn split into different political groups, when the Settlement and its environs are crowded with contending political factions, there would, in the opinion of my colleagues and myself, be the very gravest danger that Chinese representatives on the Council with executive decisions would further the policy of the political faction favoured by them, quite apart from any political influence that might be brought to bear upon them by those holding official positions, with the result that the Settlement might well be embroiled in Chinese politics with disastrous consequences. For this reason, if for no other, Chinese representation should be rejected.

Coming now to my 3rd point. It is our opinion that as a matter of sound principle or policy, no alteration should be made in our constitution unless that alteration is calculated to strengthen that constitution and produce greater efficiency in our administration. To be frank and without desiring in any way to hurt the susceptibilities of our Chinese friends, I must tell you that we are most definitely of the opinion that Chinese representation would not achieve this end but would on the contrary weaken our constitution and lessen the efficiency of our administration. There is not in our opinion any evidence of administrative ability on the part of the Chinese, so that their admission as members of Council instead of producing greater efficiency and progress in the development of the Settlement and the advancement of the interests of those who reside therein, would be likely, indeed, gradually to bring the Settlement down to that level which is exemplified by the inefficiency and lack of progress which is so marked even in those Chinese districts which adjoin the Settlement, and which have the efficiency and development of the Settlement before them as standards which they could so easily follow had they either the ability or the will to do so.

Eight years ago—I think it was eight—the Hankow native city was burnt down. The Bureau of Reconstruction undertook to rebuild it as the finest and most modern city in the new Republic.

Plans were drawn up and several pictures of the new houses to be built in the new city were exhibited in the window of the Bureau and three steam rollers were ordered.

That is all the Bureau has ever done. Such is the picture painted by the "Central China Post." Whether it is over or under coloured, I cannot say, but I present it to you as a typical illustration of how things are done or left undone in this topsy-turvy country.

Ladies and Gentlemen, are we going to permit of the introduction of inefficiency into our local administration, are we going to allow Chinese to experiment in local administration in our Settlement. Are we going to allow them to try the experiment of popular representation here. Surely there is plenty of room outside this Settlement in which they can try these experiments. So far as I am aware, and I believe it is a fact, the Chinese have no such thing as popular representation in local affairs in China. When the Chinese have done their experimenting outside this Settlement; when they have shown that popular representation in their local affairs his proved a success; when they have produce l satisfactory evidence of their ability as administrators, when they have established local and national government on a sound basis and when they have shown us such progress and development as can inspire confidence, then Ladies and Gentlemen, it seems to us that it will be time enough to give consideration to the desirability of admitting Chinese to a direct voice in our affairs with executive functions.

You will probably have noted that Dr. C. T. Wong, one of China's envoys, at the Paris Peace Conference, adddressed a meeting of the Civic League but a few days ago, strongly advocating Chinese representation. I read Dr. Wong's most interesting but historically hopelessly incorrect speech, and the conclusion I reached was that the advice which he gave to those present at a dinner only a month previously was very much sounder than the views which he expressed before the Civic League. At the dinner in question Chinese representation was one of the topics discussed and dealing with it Dr. Wong said that, if the leading cities of China, the provincial capitals and the commercial metropolis, where commerce, industry, educational institutions and sanitary systems are best developed, could undertake to model local government after the Foreign Settlement of Shanghai, the question of local representation and a host of other associated issues such as Extraterritoriality would be solved by themselves.

My fourth point is a very important one, and one upon which I must of necessity speak with a certain measure of brutal frankness. We can pride ourselves on the fact that the administration of this Settlement is as clean and free of graft and squeeze as any other administration in the world. Situated as we are in a country where squeeze is so rampant as it is in China, where it is in fact recognised as an essential to almost every business transaction, where it is a sine qua non of officialdom, where it has—to quote the "North-China Daily News"—been reduced to a perfect system which can no more be escaped than we can escape the pressure of the atmosphere, it would be most dangerous to introduce an element into our executive that can only regard squeeze as a legitimate perquisite of office. Indeed if graft and squeeze are allowed to enter into our executive then shall we go tumbling down the hill into the depths of inefficient administration.

So recently as April 2 that aged Chinese Statesman Dr. Wu Tingfang gave his reasons for leaving Canton as follows: "My sole object in going to Canton was to restore peace, uphold the law and maintain order. I had no axe to grind. At my time of life I am tired of all that. I came south to assist in the welfare of my country as a patriotic Chinese, although I have long wished to retire. But in Canton I met many people whom I found selfish, aiming at power and wealth. National affairs were to them minor considerations and self-interest or party interest was foremost."

It is no use for the Chinese to tell us that they would elect representatives who would be above such practices. There are no doubt many Chinese of integrity, men who would certainly not willingly lend themselves to such practices, but sooner or later, intrigue, at which the Chinese are such adepts —will inevitably bring about the result that men of the calibre we have mentioned would be forced off the Council by those whose main desire in securing a seat, would be to avail themselves of those opportunities that offer in connexion with Municipal contracts and other dealings in which we come into daily contact with the Chinese.

I could go on giving you reasons ad nauseam in support of your Council's recommendation that you should reject Chinese representation in no uncertain manner but as I have already spoken at some length I will content myself with calling your attention to one more reason only. There was a time, not so long ago, when there existed a class of Chinese of ability and influence who commanded great respect and carried great weight with the rank and file. This class unhappily no longer exists. The Chinese who hold responsible and respected positions in this Settlement are incessantly subjected to various forms of intimidation and our experience of the last few years has shown us that as a consequence these same men, with but few exceptions, have no longer the courage of their convictions. They are afraid, they are intimidated by the agitator who has them very largely in the palm of his hand. We cannot possibly have men of this ilk sharing in our executive.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Mr. E. S. Little has dressed his shop windows in some very pretty colours, but it is not the outside effect that we have got to consider, it is the inside effect that is material. It is the effect on our Administration of this foreign settlement that counts. Has any Chinese city in our immediate vicinity yet emulated our progressive policy? Have Hangchow, Soochow, or Ningpo shown any specific administrative progress? Have they carried out any public improvements of any real consequence, is not the same dear old official squeeze as rampant as ever? Does Pooting offer an example of efficient administration? Is not Chapei a festering sore on our side? Where can you point to any really sound improvement in local government by the Chinese for the Chinese, and yet, Ladies and Gentlemen, you are asked to recommend their admission to actual membership on our Council with executive functions. I fear that the well-intentioned among those who are at the back of this movement are only playing into the hands of agitators, self-seekers and upstart politicians out for personal gain, or because representation provides the back door to the abolition of Extra-territorial rights.

In this connexion I ask you to bear in mind that these gentry—not Mr. Little nor Mr. Ezra of course—but those who really count in the move for direct representation, have actually forwarded through the usual channels to the Consular Body—and will press for the adoption of—a re-draft of our Land Regulations, calling for the grant of the franchise on such a basis that practically every Chinese in the Settlement will be entitled to a vote—thus a rental of only $10 per annum is to confer a vote. Just imagine for one moment what this would mean, it would mean nothing less than this, that this foreign settlement would pass into the hands of the Chinese, it would pass into their control. It would be within their power to elect a Council consisting exclusively of Chinese.

Again this re-draft provides for the establishment of a new Court to take the place of the Court of Consuls. A Court composed of members of the Consular Body and of Chinese officials. Provision is also made for an additional Chinese Assessment Land Tax on property within the Settlement, presumably as a sop to Chinese officialdom, and among the innovations that we find in this remarkable re-draft is provision for the withdrawal of the jurisdiction of the Mixed Court except in regard to breaches of the proposed new Regulations—and in its stead the Shanghai Sub-District Court is to function in this Settlemen.

Ladies and Gentlemen, we have the utmost confidence in you that you will reject this scheme to wreck the prosperity of this Settlement, the prosperity and well-being not only of the foreign Community, but just as much the well-being and prosperity of the very large Chinese Community who dwell here and trade under our protection.

When you vote upon the resolution remember that your Council has always before it the policy of fostering the best interests of the Settlement as a whole, striving for a greater measure of efficiency in administration and encouraging such development and progress as will ultimately establish the Settlement as one of the most important industrial centres and centres of progress in the whole world—and let your vote be against direct representation of the Chinese on the Council. The time may come—and let us hope that it will come—when the concession of representation can be safely made without determent to this Settlement—but that time is not now.

Mr. LITTLE—Mr. Chairman, may I reply one word?

The CHAIRMAN—Yes, certainly.

Mr. LITTLE—I will only take up a moment or two of your time, but I think a word or two must be said. I find myself in agreement with a great deal of what Mr. Pearce has said. He has said a great deal and he has put it eloquently. He has narrated lots of facts and put them in the best possible language, but they do not apply in the vast majority of cases he has named to the resolution which is now before you. He has laid a great deal of stress on the fact that it will lead to the abolition of extraterritoriality. It has nothing whatever to do with it.

Cries of "Hear, Hear."

Mr. WILKINSON—Nonsense.

Mr. LITTLE—I hear a gentlemen say "Nonsense."

Mr. WILKINSON—Yes, I said it. I know what I am talking about.

Mr. LITTLE—Are you aware that in 1902 the British Government the American Government, the Japanese Government incorporated in their treaty that the abolition of extraterritoriality was contemplated by their Governments. Is that nonsense or not?

Mr. WILKINSON—A pious expression: a pious hope—"Sometime."

Mr. LITTLE—Gentlemen, I am just as much opposed to the abolition of extraterritoriality as any man in this room (Hear, hear) but the suggestion that we are now asking you to pass has nothing whatever to do with that. Mr. Pearce is afraid that if we have three Chinese councillors the Chinese will be able to levy exactions in this Settlement. They will have no more power to do that now than they have had before, for this is a foreign Settlement and a foreign community. Mr. Pearce has eloquently referred to the Chinese political conditions. That has nothing whatever to do with the administration of our Settlement and the admission of two or three Chinese Councillors into our governing body. We have been told that the Chinese will elect a completely Chinese Council, that again is hopelessly impossible. It is never confemplated. Gentlemen, I trust you will not be swayed by Pearce's remarks which have very little bearing upon this particular resolution (laughter) and that you will realize that the election of three Chinese Councillors will not bring about the realization of any of the fears of timorous persons like Mr. Pearce and some others who seem to sympathize with him.

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour of Mr. Little's proposition, please hold up their hands—Against—the motion is lost by a majority of about three to one. We come to Resolution IX.—That Mr. A. J. Welch be elected Land Commissioner for the ensuing Municipal year.

Proposed by Mr. E. C. Richards, seconded by Mr. E. T. Byrne Those in favour—against—carried unanimously.

Resolution X.—That Dr. J. W. Jackson and Messrs. H. A. Macintyre, E. F. Mackay and A. Brooke Smith be elected to serve on the Board of Governors of the Shanghai General Hospital.

This is proposed and by Mr. E. C. Pearce, seconded by Mr. W. L. Merriman, Those in favour please hold up their hands—against, carried unanimously.

We now come to

Resolution XI.—That Mr. E. I. Ezra and Mr. E. C. Pearce be elected to serve on the Permanent Education Committee.

Proposed by Mr. A. Brooke Smith, seconded by Mr. W. L. Merriman. The resolution was put to the Meeting and carried unanimously

The CHAIRMAN—I will now call upon the proposer of Resolution XII.

Mr. E. F. MACKAY—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: I beg to propose

Resolution XII.—That the Council be hereby authorized and directed to arrange for the reassessment of the land comprised within the limits of the Settlement during the current year, such re-assessment to come into force as from the first day of January, 1921, and to engage such professional assistance for the performance of the work as may be found expedient.

In common with most other things, the cost of the administration of this Settlement is on the upward trend, and whilst the Budget which has been presented to and passed by you this afternoon shows a surplus of Income over Ordinary Expenditure I think that you will agree with me that this surplus gives us but a very bare margin and that we must, therefore, look ahead and provide for an increase in our revenue next year such as will not necessitate any increase in the percentage rates of taxation.

I think there can be no question but that land has advanced in value considerably in most, if not all, districts of the Settlement. since the last re-assessment was carried out in 1916 as the result of the resolution which I had the honour to propose at the Annual Meeting of that year. If this is admitted then land cannot be said to be bearing its full proportion of our taxation, and it seems to me only reasonable that a re-valuation should be undertaken to come into operation on January 1 of next year. This re-valuation should give the Council a larger total assessment and consequently a larger revenue from land tax, and that will, to some extent at least, postpone the necessity of any increased percentage in our rates and taxes. I have, therefore, no hesitation in commending the resolution to your hearty support.

Mr. P. A. Cox seconded.

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour of Resolution XII please hold up their hands—against—carried unanimously. I will now call upon Mr. Pearce to move Resolution XIII.

Mr. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, you will recall that by Amendment to Resolution V, moved by Mr. A. L. Anderson and seconded by Mr. O. M. Green at our Annual Meeting in 1918, it was directed that the Report of the Loan Redemption Committee should be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers next after the conclusion of peace.

I may quote from Mr. Anderson's remarks in 1918: "None of us know what the conditions of the money market will be after the war. I suggest, therefore, that we might very well wait until we have a chance of seeing what these conditions will be" and again "my amendment will be that this report be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting to be held next following upon the conclusion of peace. We shall then know more about the conditions that we have to meet and I do not think that when the war is on and money is hard to get we should make any alteration in our long accustomed procedure."

Ladies and gentlemen, in our opinion the present time is not more opportune for the consideration of this report than it was in 1918, and we therefore consider that its consideration should be deferred until next year when we hope that conditions may be more normal.

I, therefore, propose

Resolution XIII.—That the Report of the Loan Redemption Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 16, 1918 be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in 1921.

Mr. BROOKE SMITH—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to second the resolution.

The CHAIRMAN—The resolution has been duly proposed and seconded and is now open for discussion.

Mr. CECIL HOLLIDAY—Mr. Chairman ladies and gentlemen: I am not going to move any amendment to this resolution but am merely going to vote against it because I take it that if it is lost the directions of the Ratepayers at the 1918 Meeting would automatically come into force and the matter be considered and settled at this Meeting. And I cannot for the life of me see why it should not. No one in their senses would wish to embarass the Council in any way in its battle with the present adverse financial conditions but the fact that as things stand at the moment it would be impossible to carry out the recommendations in full has really very little bearing on the case because if you read the Report you will see how very careful the Committee was in emphasising that nothing it said was to be taken as tying the hands of the Council in dealing with emergencies. The two main points the Committee made were 1st. . . That the present system under which no provision whatever is made for the payment of loans until they come due is radically unsound. 2nd . . That the Redemption of loans under a system of annual drawings is desirable as being calculated to maintain the securities at par and so add to their popularity. To my mind it would be difficult to find a time more opportune than the present to illustrate and bring home to your minds the truth of both these points, take the first: no doubt you are fully aware that under the present system whilst money is set aside each year ostensibly for the Redemption of loans it is not really used for that purpose at all but is spent elsewhere, being merely transferred to Extraordinary Expenditure, along with any Surplus there may be of Ordinary Expenditure, so that when a Loan falls due there is nothing in the stocking so to speak to meet it with and it has to be provided for out of the current resources of that year which means practically what can be borrowed. Now you can see for yourselves what a nice mess we should have been in if it had happened that a big Loan had fallen due for repayment say last year with everybody clamouring for their cash to turn into Gold and nobody looking at silver securities. And you must remember it is pure luck and nothing else that during the last few years of financial stringency there have been no loans of any moment falling due. Even as it is in 1922—only two years hence—you will have to find over one and a half millions of taels to pay off loans maturing before you can think of spending anything on Electricity Extensions or your other current necessities.

The fact is that the system is radically unsound, you may get along under it all right whilst things are easy but its just like going to sea in an unsound vessel —so long as the weather is fair nothing happens but when the storm comes down you go! Now to take the second point. Here again you can see for yourselves. A great many of you here present have put some of your money into Municipal Debentures and I put it to you would'nt you like it if you knew these were being redeemed by annually increasing drawings so that as each year went by you had a better and a better chance of getting your money back in full?

I know there was a lot of talk at the Meeting two years ago about the inconvenience of "having your money thrown back at you in driblets" I think that was the way it was put. I submit that now you'd be jolly glad to get even driblets back at Par! And anyhow it did not seem to occur to the talkers that it would be the simplest thing in the world for the Council to arrange to take back drawings into the current years loan automatically so that the owner would have the choice of either cash or re investment. For these reasons I think it a pity to postpone the consideration of the Report, for the further you go on the wrong tack the harder it is to change. Our financial ship has got out of order and the sooner we start to put it in order the better so that I am going to vote we do it and do it now!

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour of Resolution XIII please hold up their hands—against—the motion is carried. I will now call upon the mover of Resolution XIV.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, Bye-law XXXVII which was passed by you in July last and which came into force on December 25 last provides that

"No person except naval or military officers of any Treaty Power, Diplomatic and Consular Officers, Officers of the Council duly authorized, and members of the Volunteer Corps when in uniform or on duty shall under any pretext carry or convey within such limits any firearms other than those used solely for sporting purposes, etc., etc., without a licence or permit first obtained from the Municipal Council."

Our object in licensing under this Bye-law is not to encourage everyone to carry firearms—thus the fee is purposely fixed on a somewhat high basis—but to facilitate action against those who do carry them without the necessary licence and I may state that amongst a certain class who constitute an element of danger to the Community, the practice of carrying such arms is becoming all too common.

Firearms which are solely used for sporting purposes do not come within this licensing measure and upon a reasonable interpretation of the Bye-law we shall not require members of a recognized revolver or rifle club to take out a licence provided the membership of the Club is submitted for record with the Police together with particulars of the weapons owned by members, and subject to the right to insist upon a licence being taken out in any individual case when exemption is for good reason considered undesirable in the public interest.

With this brief explanation I have the honour to move

Resolution XIV.—That the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose, collect and recover in respect of any licence or permit to carry firearms, that may be issued under the provision of Bye-law XXXVII a fee of Tls. 10 per quarter with effect from May 1, 1920, until the next Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, payable in advance.

Mr. BROOKE SMITH—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to second that resolution.

The CHAIRMAN—The resolution has been duly proposed and seconded and is now open for discussion. Those in favour please hold up their hands—against—that is carried. I will call upon Mr. Skinner Turner to move resolution XV.

Mr. SKINNER TURNER—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I have to propose resolution XV and as the report of the Special vice Committee has been in your hands for some days now, I need do nothing more than read the resolution.

Resolution XV.—That the report of the Special Committee appointed to inquire into vice conditions in this Settlement published in Municipal Gazette No. 681 dated March 19, 1920 be adopted and its recommendations be carried out.

Mr. L. E. CANNING—I have much pleasure in seconding that resolution.

The CHAIRMAN—Resolution XV has been proposed and seconded and is now before the meeting.

Mr. E. C. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: The Special Vice Committee has covered an immense amount of ground in the course of its enquiry, and its work has been most thorough and exhaustive. I desire, therefore, to express our appreciation to Mr. Skinner Turner and the members of the Committee for their labours and for the results of such labours as summarised in their report.

There is much in this report with which your Council is in entire agreement, on the other hand there are certain material recommendations of the Committee with which we find it impossible to agree. These recommendations are briefly dealt with in the Council's letter of March 30 to the Chairman of the Committee, a copy of which is contained in the special issue of the Gazette which you will find in your seats. I propose to deal shortly with these recommendations and to refer also to certain points of less consequence, but which nevertheless have their importance.

We are in whole-hearted agreement with the licensing of brothels with a view to their regulation, on the other hand we consider that their total elimination is inadvisable and that any attempt to secure such elimination must inevitably result, as stated in our letter to the Committee, in the removal of a large number of them to a short distance beyond the limits of the Settlement where, in the absence of all control and regulation by the Council, they would flourish under conditions infinitely worse than those existing at present. Any attempt to eliminate brothels would also result, in our opinion, in "sly" brothels in different areas of the Settlement, the suppression of which would have no other consequences than those that have attended their suppression in other countries, while a substantial increase in the strength of the Police Force would be involved such as would constitute an increased burden on the taxpayers, apart from the very demoralising influence to which the Force would unquestionably be exposed. Their elimination must, moreover, inevitably result in a very large increase in street and public resort soliciting, the suppression of which, by legal process, presents exceeding difficulties, by reason of the natural reluctance of those who are solicited in coming forward and giving evidence. So long as brothels are licensed this evil can be kept very largely in check by proceedings against the keepers of these establishments under a condition imposed in their licences, but with the withdrawal of licences as contemplated under the Committee's recommendation this means of checking this evil will automatically disappear.

The licence fee recommended by the Committee of $1 for each licence presummably $1 per annum—would meet but a fraction of the actual cost of carrying out the licensing of brothels, that is to say the balance of the cost of such licensing would fall upon the rates. In the opinion of your Council this would be undesirable and we think that, without departing from the object of the Committee in keeping the fee a nominal one, provision should be made for a fee of from $1 to $25 per quarter according to the class of establishment. Whether or not this would bring in a sufficient revenue to cover the cost of licensing can scarcely be estimated with accuracy, but I think it would probably meet the requirements of the case.

The Committee recommends that all hospitals and such like institutions in receipt of grants-in-aid from the Council should be required to treat venereal diseases. This is a recommendation to which it would be quite impossible for your Council to give effect, without the withdrawal of certain grants-in-aid which would be most undesirable, and in the case of the General Hospital it would, I understand, mean entirely new nursing arrangements as the nursing sisters will not, so I believe, nurse any such cases.

The Committee recommend that no liquor licence of any sort should be issued to any brothel and that the issue of what are known as "brothel wine licences" should cease. I am afraid that the net result of giving effect to this recommendation will mean that liquor will be sold without any licence unless the Police are to be constantly visiting brothels.

The Committee recommend that the medical examination of certain Cantonese women should cease. In our opinion this examination undoubtedly has its value and from a health point of view should be continued. There are certain objections to the examination cards being handed to the women concerned, but this is an objection that can be overcome by the cards being kept in a central registry.

The Committee see no reason why all tavern licences, Chinese as well as foreign, should not be granted annually after due announcement to the public with full opportunity for them to prefer objections. At present our annual licensing session is limited to applications for foreign tavern licences, and we are of the opinion that it would be undesirable to extend it to include Chinese tavern licence applications. The object of the Committee can, however, be achieved by the Council publishing in the Gazette from time to time applications that are received for Chinese tavern licences, giving the public an opportunity of protesting within, say, a week or ten days, of such publication.

With the exception of the points to which I have called your attention, we are in general agreement with the findings of the Committee, but I must again emphasize that we do not favour the licensing of brothels to secure their elimination as contrasted with their regulation.

Under the circumstances under which the Special Vice Committee was appointed by you at our last Annual Meeting, the Council does not propose any amendment to the Committee's report but contents itself with placing on record its views on those matters upon which it is in disagreement with the Committee. If any ratepayers care to move and second an amendment to the effect that the Committee's report be adopted subject to the views I have expressed on the subject or to any one or more of them, then his amendment will naturally have our support.

Mr. RANKIN—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, I am before you in deepest sympathy with the report of the vice commission, with its aims and ends, but as to the proposal of licensing brothels I am unalterably opposed to that. In the first it is wrong. In the second place we consider that at the present time it is outlawed under the laws of Shanghai. Under the Land Regulations it is provided that unless a brothel is licensed it is subject to a penalty of $100 for each violation and to $25 for each 24 hours it continues its offence. Up to the present time, because of a sense of propriety, I am sure, and in respect for the finer senses of the community of Shanghai our Council, although there has been the word "Brothel" in the Land Regulations, allowing it to be licenced, for I understand about 22 years the Council has never issued a liecence for it. It has been an illegal institution and I am glad it has been so. This report states that it is a criminal offence in England and so far as I know the law of the United States, it is a criminal offence there. It seems to me to be a perversion of the law and a debasement of the law to make it a cloak for what, under the laws of our lands, is a criminal offence, not a criminal offence made so by the operation of law, but because, like murder and theft, it is a crime in itself and the law cannot make it right. At the present time it would seem that the committee calls for, the enforcement of the law, and my proposal is this: not that we make it illegal five years from hence, but that it remains illegal as it is to-day and that the law as it stands to-day be enforced by the suppression of this vice as far as may be practicable to do it with the police regulations. We recognize the trouble and difculties but leave it illegal, fight it as an illegal thing and do not cloak it with the sanction of the law. For one, I am jealous of the law and its purity and integrity and it should not be made the cloak for what the committee calls a degraded trade. I am opposed to that. Now I do not want to lose the benefit of the fine work done by this committee. I would like to amend the report, if possible to save it all and substitute for that part which recommends the licensing of brothels a recommendation that our Council continue its policy of not licensing brothels and then enforce the law which stands against it to-day as against an evil that is continuing without recognition by our Council, and then our Council can take steps to do it from the Land Regulations the word "brothel" so that it shall no longer seem to stand there as an opportunity for licensing. The point I oppose is that of licensing, and I want to say that I am not here from any captious state of mind and we are here to-day to face our responsibilities as ratepayers of Shanghai. If we favour the licensing of the brothel and give authority and direction that it be licensed—an authority without which it cannot be licensed—if we having that power grant the authority then why should we pass over the man who rents his ground for use as a brothel. Are not we by the act of granting authority joint principals in the maintenance of a brothel. It is an old rule that he who does a thing through another does it himself. It is an old law of the land or any other country and there is no lawyer who will controvert that principle. With the report as it stands I cannot conscientiously do otherwise than vote against the licensing. I wish also to state my position frankly as to why I believe it is a serious thing. At the end of five years the brothel will stand exactly as it does to-day—that is to say outlawed.

The CHAIRMAN—I understand what you wish to do is to secure that the report be adopted subject to the delection of the recommendation as to the licensing of brothels.

Mr. RANKIN—And with the recommendation that the Council follow their old policy of not licensing them and enforcing it as it now stands.

Rev. ISAAC MASON—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen. I hope this meeting will give hearty support to the report which has been presented, after all the painstaking work which has been done during the past year. I have been very glad to hear from the chairman of the Council that they are heartily in agreement with, by far the greater part of this report. I have the same view as Mr. Rankin. I have a horror of licensing or official recognition of brothels as such. I entered upon the work which I have been taking a share in during the past two or three years with just these feelings, but we are met by very practical difficulties. Every lady and gentlemen in this room now will recognize that its difficulties are real, and how often we have these high ideals which we do well to have, yet if we wish to have any progress towards the betterment of the Settlement it is necessary, it is unfortunately necessary to compromise in order to obtain some real progress. Therefore, let us meet this question as practical people seeking a real practical solution of it. I am very glad, this discussion has reached this point—we have it that the Council recognizes the existence of brothels in the Settlement. This issue has often been evaded it seems to me, in correspondence and conversation, but now we have the recognition, frankly, that these places do exist. Why they exist and have never been proceeded against is a mystery. British law would be on our side in trying to eliminate these brothels. No one here, surely, would wish to keep any brothels in Shanghai longer than was absolutely necessary. There is no intrinsic value about them. It may be a weakness of human nature making such places necessary, but experience in other places does not always justify that statement. Let us be clear. In combatting prostitution and commercialized vice we are not necessarily attacking all moral laxity. You cannot put down all moral laxity by legislation, but we can by such power as exists, or may be obtained by this meeting, oppose, attack and destroy the commercialized vice evil as has been done in other cities and countries. Shanghai would be better without these places. Now, as regards the objections to elimination which have been put before you by the chairman of the Council, I read these objections carefully and was not able to see very much weight in them. First, if we turn them out of these places at the rate of 190 or more per year, they would probably locate on the outskirts, That may be so. But the Chinese have powers to deal with these things and it will be then our duty to try and urge upon them the necessity for carrying out such legislation as they sometimes think about and say they would like to see carried out. They would have a full opportunity for trying to do it. Those who live in the interior never see such a state of things in Chinese cities as can be seen any night within a stone's throw of this building. Prostitution in China exists, one grants, but conditions are never so open or so objectionable as those which are to be found in this Settlement. Now when we speak of the danger of pushing the evil a little outside, we do not meet the argument with regard to theft and robbery with violence. We do not say if we are strict against thieves and robbers here in the Settlement, they will go and operate just outside. Because of that we do not make our efforts in the Settlement itself against them. We feel we must preserve law and order here, that we must cleanse our own Settlement and I believe the same principle should apply to this question of commercialized vice. Let us at least do our share.

The second objection is the difficulty of cost. Ladies and gentlemen, we have been speaking to-day in terms of millions of taels for electricity and other admirable objects. Are we then to be deterred from a good real moral reform by a few tens, or even hundreds of thousands of taels. I do not believe it. I believe the ratepayers of this Settlement would rise cheerfully to an increase in taxation for any real moral betterment of this settlement. I have that confidence in my fellow ratepayers.

I do not think there is very much in the difficulty of raising money or increasing the police force to deal with the evil. The increase of solicitation in the streets and public places is also feared. I am afraid it will be very hard to increase the amount of solicitation with police on every night about here. It would be almost impossible to increase it. Possibly solicitation might be found in some other places where it is not now found if the policy of reduction and elimination is decided upon. But I believe that could be met. We have an excellent police force and we know they do excellent work. I believe if they put their shoulder to the wheel and we had the backing of the ratepayers and the Council these fears would be found to vanish into thin air. I am opposed to licensing as such without a definite policy of elimination. I would almost take Mr. Rankin's stand against licensing except as a means to an end. It is a concession to the practical needs of the situation. Therefore, I move that this meeting will adopt the report which is the best thing, by far, I have seen. It seems to open avenues of real progress and therefore, I ask you to give it your support, but not if the first clause be eliminated and the second clause (of bending be accepted) without the first. I hope you will give your hearty support to the recommendations as now found in the report in your hands.

Mr. Skinner Turner—May I say just one word. Every one of the objections to our report which have been put forward by the Council were considered by the Committee before they issued their report. (applause.)

The Chairman—Those in favour of the adontion of the report, moved by Mr. Skinner Turner, hold up their hands—against—carried. I will now call upon the mover of Resolution XVI.

Resolution XVI.—That the Report of the Volunteer Corps Commission, as published in the Municipal Gazette of April 1, 1920, be received and adopted.

Rev. Evan Morgan—This resolution arises from the report of the Commission appointed by the ratepayers at last year's annual meeting. After some delay and difficulty the Council appointed a Committee composed of representative men. This Commission has made an exhaustive examination of the facts as presented to them and they have given us a report which is clear and concise.

There are two remarks I want to make on the general features of this report.

One is that the Report deals with principles and not with personalities. This is a very happy feature of the report. In this way the Commission greatly helps to right any personal grievances and extinguish any smouldering animosities that may have existed. These gentlemen have eliminated the personal element and concentrated their attention on defining certain principles and making clear the rules of certain articles which the city fathers of the past, in their wisdom devised for the carrying on of the affairs of this community.

And the other thing I want to say is that in reading such a report as this one is struck with the fact of what little friction there has been in administering a complicated organization such as our community is. Especially is this manifest in dealing with departments such as we are now revising. When we consider the administration of a complicated department like the Volunteer body which on the one hand is semi-military with laws that must be observed and discipline that must be maintained and on the other hand where the work has to be carried on in the volunteer spirit and on the volunteer basis it therefore speaks well for the good sense, the friendly feeling of all concerned, that things have worked so amicably and smoothly. It is in the nature of things how-that occasional misunderstandings should arise and a certain amount of friction ensue such as happened recently and which called for the appointment of this Commission. Even the best cooks drop a little fat into the fire now and then. And I think the Commission has gone about its business in the best way in presenting the recommendations that are now before you. In adopting these in such a spirit it is clear therefore we shall not be impugning the good faith or the good will of any. It is well to emphasize the principles that should always guide and help those who administer authority as well as those who compose the units of the Volunteer corps. All it should be remembered are volunteers banded together and established with the same common purpose of preserving the welfare of the community and the maintenance of the public safety. I feel confident in asking you to receive and adopt this Report that the gentlemen who drew it up had no other purpose in mind other than the maintenance of this instrument of public safety in its most efficient form. Finally as these recommendations are not hostile to the Council, but rather seek to maintain the authority that they have themselves drafted it is to be hoped that the Council too will support them.

I wrote those words last night in the hope that would be the last word, but, unfortunately this morning there appeared a letter which must be referred to, for it contains certain statements which, I think, cannot be substantiated and I wish that Dr. Hykes could have spoken on the matter, but he was not feeling well and he has given certain facts to me which I will now read.

(1) The Council refused to comply with the request made by the Commission for a copy of the proceedings and findings of Enquiry held on November 1st, 1918, on the ground that the evidence contained in these documents is of a confidential and privileged character and therefore cannot be submitted to the Commission. The Volunteer Commission is an official body appointed by the ratepayers and is as much entitled to all the evidence in the case as is the Council itself; which in another capacity is only an Executive Committee appointed by the ratepayers to manage their affairs. They have no right to withhold from a Committee authorized by the ratepayers to do a specific work for them any evidence or documents material to the matter so entrusted to it.

(2) The Commandant, Mr. Cubitt and the members of "B" Company were not called to give evidence because it was not deemed necessary:—the official, documentary evidence being sufficient to arrive at the findings in the Report. These findings, so far as they may be considered to reflect upon the action of the Commandant or Mr. Cubitt are founded upon their own written, official statements; so that their accuracy cannot be doubted. The Council say it "has every reason to believe that had the Commandant been called as a witness, his evidence would have been of such a character as would not improbably have resulted in the Commission reaching very different conclusions to those expressed in the findings or in some of them. In answer to that, it is not improbable that the findings or some of them would have been strengthened if the Commission had been supplied with a copy of the proceedings and findings of the Court of Enquiry held on the 1st of November, 1918. In any case any verbal statement made could not have altered the facts before the Commission. Documentary evidence is the best that can be produced.

(3) A copy of the Roll of "B" Company, supplied by the Council, bears out the statement in the Report as to the condition of the Company into which the Commission was directed to enquire. In fact the statement was compiled from it. The names of the 75 members who resigned, with the dates of their resignations are tabulated alphabetically: as are also the 35 names of those who are stated to be "the active members of the Company," presumably on the 21st of November, 1919. The Council admits the correctness of these figures, but says that "given without the natural context of 'how many joined' is misleading." If the "Roll" is correct, 75 members resigned during the period mentioned; and at the end of it, the active strength of the Company was 35. It is difficult to see how 37 could have joined.

(4) It was not the transfer of an officer from one company to another that was the focus of the trouble in "B" Company, but the method of the appointment of officers to it, which was contrary both to the letter and the spirit of Article VIII of the Corps Regulations. It appear that 2/Lieut. Beytagh of the First Reserves was recommended on the 30th of September, 1918, by the Commandant to be transferred to the active list and "appointed to "B" Company": he, Mr. Beytagh evidently having been informed by the Commandant that the Officers, N.C.O.'s and members of the same were agreeable to the change. The manner in which the Commandant satisfied himself that this officer was acceptable to the unit as a whole, as stated by himself in an official letter addressed to the Secretary of the Council, was that with the assurance from Capt. Cubitt that the Colour Sergeant was willing to forego promotion in favour of Mr. Beytagh, he considered he had complied with Article VIII. The members of the Company, with two exceptions, knew nothing whatever of the proposed appointment (which was practically decided upon August 28, 1918, and officially recommended by the Commandant on the 30th of September) until the 2nd of October, the day before it appeared in the Municipal Gazette.

That the manner of this appointment was the real cause of the trouble is confirmed by the fact that on the 3rd of October, 1918, 32 members addressed a letter to the Hon. Secretary of "B" Company, in accordance with Rule No. VIII of the Company's Regulation, requesting that a General Meeting of the Company be called for the purpose of discussing the following Resolution:—

"That this meeting of "B" Company, British, is of opinion that in order to comply with Regulation VIII of the S.M.C., Regulations of the S.V.C., and to ascertain whether officers are acceptable to the Unit as a whole, it is advisable that a special meeting of the Company be called before the appointment of an officer to this Unit, according to the custom of the Company prior to October 12th, 1915."

This letter was forwarded to Capt. Cubitt, who absolutely refused to call the meeting requested.

Be it noted that at a meeting of "A" Company, British, held a month later a motion was passed that in the matter of appointment of officers the Municipal Council Regulations be interpreted as they read; and that hereafter in "A" Company officers shall be named by the Captain of the Company, but submitted to a ballot by the members of the Unit for approval.

It is also confirmed by a request for the Council "to give in writing an interpretation as to how under Clause VIII of the S.M.C., Regulations for the S.V.C., the Commandant should satisfy himself that an officer before appointment is acceptable to the 'Unit as a whole'."

To ascertain the cause of the trouble and fix the responsibility of it is the crux of the whole investigation and the Commission succeeded in doing this beyond the peradventure of a doubt and by indisputable evidence.

With regard to the last paragraph of the Council's letter, which is unfortunately worded, the Commission has in no sense constituted itself a Court of Appeal.

Corps Order No. 101 is as follows:—

"Reference Corps order No. 84, Court of Enquiry."

"The action of the N. C. Officers and men which formed the subject for a Court of Enquiry held on Friday, November 1st, 1918, constituted conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. The culpability of those concerned varies in degree, so also does their effort to make suitable amends and they have been dealt with accordingly."

"(Under Article XXVI of the Council's Regulations for the S.V.C., Corporal A. J. Heal is dismissed from the Corps from this date.) The other N.C. Officers and men are reprimanded or admonished."

With the exception of the sentence referring to Mr. Heal, whose case the Commission has not touched, everything in the Corps Order refers to the other troubles in "B" Company which the Commission was constituted to investigate.

The whole of the findings are therefore within the four corners of the instructions conveyed in the ratepayers' mandate.

With regard to the statement in the Council's letter of the Commission dated February 25, 1920, and published in the Municipal Gazette of April 7th that the decision to which the Commission referred as having been given by the Commandant was not a "decision" but merely an address, etc. I have a copy of an order dated 27th of November and signed by the Commandant, officially, and addressed to a member of "B" Company ordering certain members to assemble at the Commandant's Head quarters on the 29th which says. "The Commandant will give his "decision" in the case, arising from the Report dated 25th of October, 1918, from the Officer Commanding "B" Company.

That is signed by Dr. John Hykes and I ask you to consider the resolution which I have put before you, and I think perhaps in justice to all persons concerned, I ought to say again that no personalities are mentioned in this report so that we are not reflecting on the good faith of any person at all in passing this report, but I maintain that if we do not pass this resolution to-night and adopt the recommendations of the commission we shall not be doing the best thing for the Shanghai Volunteer Corps. The chairman, just a little while ago, expressed the hope that now men are returning from the war, and there are many new people coming to Shanghai, that there would be a great accretion, a great press of men to join the volunteer force and make it worthy of this great settlement. Gentlemen, the only way to get men to join that force is to adopt this resolution and carry it out in spirit in the coming days (applause.)

Mr. LITTLE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I second the resolution.

The CHAIRMAN—The resolution has been proposed and seconded and is now open for discussion.

Mr. PEARCE—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, your Council's views on the Report of the Commission are set forth in detail in its letter of April 6, published on page 136 of the Gazette of to-day's date of which you will find copies in your seats. The Council has nothing to add to those views nor does it withdraw any one of them.

The CHAIRMAN—Those in favour of the adoption of the report please hold up their hands—against—the report is carried. (Applause.)

That concludes the business of the meeting.

Mr. PEARCE—Before parting I would like to record a hearty vote of thanks to our worthy Chairman. (Applause.)

The meeting then terminated.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

OF late there have been certain unbridled utterances by political malcontents and others affecting the Chinese Government; with attacks upon public personages, and immoderate defamatory accusations in which terms of violent abuse have been employed of such nature as tend to perturb the public mind and to prove subversive of peace and good order.

In the Foreign Settlement, the Council is the executive custodian of order. In pursuance, therefore, of the powers vested in the Council the following regulations with regard to meetings of a political nature are issued for observance by all persons within the Foreign Settlement. These regulations will be enforced forthwith:—

1. No meeting of a political nature shall be held in the Foreign Settlement without special permission from the Council.

2. Any person or persons wishing to convene such meeting shall apply for the necessary permission at least forty-eight hours in advance to the Commissioner of Police stating the object of the meeting and giving in a general way all particulars with regard to those attending the meeting and the programme to be observed at the meeting.

Before retirement of the outgoing Council Mr. Merriman addressed the meeting as follows:—

"Gentlemen, this is the last occasion upon which the retiring members of the Council for the past year will be present in this room and since I have been a Councillor for a longer period than any of you excepting Mr. Pearce, I desire to say a few words on the subject of our retiring Chairman. Mr. Pearce has served on the Council for 9 years, and for the past seven as our Chairman. I have served on the Council during the entire period of his Chairmanship and I can personally testify to the great service which he has done for Shanghai. I am sure I am voicing the view of all of you when I express our very great appreciation of his work as Chairman. I feel it a privilege to be your spokesman on this occasion and to propose a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Pearce not only for what he has done for Shanghai but for the constant and unfailing courtesy and assistance which he has always shown to us in the course of our deliberations in this room."

Responding to this vote of thanks, which is passed with acclamation, Mr. Pearce expresses his great appreciation and thanks for Mr. Merriman's kind words and for the loyalty and co-operation, which his colleagues have shown him throughout his period of office. He stated that his association with Mr. Merriman during the past seven years had been such as closely to cement their personal friendship, and he requests that his name be coupled with his own in members' vote of thanks, referring to the fact that Mr. Merriman had missed only one meeting of Council since his election to its membership. Members heartily endorse Mr. Pearce's remarks.

Messrs. Howard, Macray, Merriman and Pearce then withdrew.

The meeting adjourned at 5.15 p.m.

AT the meeting of the Watch Committee held on Friday, April 9, 1920, at 4.30 p.m., there were:—

Wooden Houses.

Letter from Messrs. O. Thoresen on the above subject, with Council's reply:—

Shanghai, March 1, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to the public discussion which has lately been going on in respect of the possible introduction into Shanghai of wooden houses, we should feel obliged if you would kindly inform us what view is taken by the Municipal Council regarding the matter, and whether it may be anticipated that permission to erect wooden houses in the Settlement will be given.

Yours faithfully,

p. pro. O. THORESEN,
E. O. APENES.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 18, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 1, and in reply thereto to state that whilst the erection of houses with wooden walls is contrary to the provisions of the Building Rules, the Council would not prohibit the erection of wooden houses in certain localities, provided that the person desiring to erect such a structure gave a satisfactory undertaking in writing that an unobstructed open space of at least 50 feet would be permanently left on all sides of the house.

Apart from the walls, such a structure would have to comply in other respects with the Building Rules.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Messrs. O. THORESEN.

Easement.

The application of the Fei Lung Garage Co., has been approved to install a Gasolene pump outside their premises, No. F 1787-9 Bubbling Well Road, on the following conditions:—

(1) That the position of the gasolene tank be approved by the Commissioner of Public Works.

(2) That the tank installation be approved by the Chief Officer of the Fire Brigade.

(3) That the tank be removed or its position changed at the expense of the owners whenever the Council may direct.

(4) That an annual fee of Tls: 5 be paid for the privilege.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Bubbling Well Road.—Compensation for the land surrendered for the widening of this road ex Lot 2820, and for the reinstatement work involved has been settled in terms of the appended correspondence, which follows upon that published on pp. 55/56c of the Report for 1918.

There remains, therefore, the question of the payment of compensation, if any, in respect of the alleged depreciation of the remainder of the lot by reason of the severance of a portion of the gardens, and in accordance with the request of Messrs. Palmer and Turner, this matter will be referred for settlement by the Land Commissioners.

Shanghai, May 30, 1919.

SIR,—We are instructed by our clients the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to again register a protest against the proposed widening in the immediate future of the Bubbling Well Road which would necessitate surrender of the scheduled portion of Cadastral Lot 2820 as shown by plan No. 8353.

They express the hope that the new Council will adhere to the decision of the last as given in your letter dated July 31, 1918 which was "that they have no intention of requiring surrender of the scheduled area until the lot is put to some other use than at present or until rebuilding takes place."

The loss of 21 ft. off the gardens of the two houses occupied by the Sub-Managers would seriously affect their desirability as residences and the amenity generally.

We are, Sir,
Your obedient servants,
PALMER & TURNER.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 15, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of May 30 on the subject of your protest against the proposed widening of Bubbling Well Road, ex Lot 2820, I am directed to inform you that the present Council has felt itself obliged, in the public interest, definitely to overrule any suggestion as to abandonment of the scheduled widening, and while it is desirous of causing the least disturbance possible to your tenants, it is considered necessary to carry out the scheduled improvement at the earliest date possible.

Arrangements have already been concluded for the surrender of the necessary road land, to the west of your property, and I am directed to state that with a view to affording you every convenience in the matter of setting back the walls, trees and shrubs, etc., the Council would be willing to defer the work until the autumn of the present year when the requisite reinstatement work could be effected to the best advantage, either by yourselves or in your option, by the Public Works Department.

The Municipal Engineer has accordingly been directed to arrange with you details as to the reinstatement work involved.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

MESSRS. PALMER & TURNER.

Shanghai, July 23, 1919.

SIR,—We have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of July 15 on the subject of the proposed widening of Bubbling Well Road ex Cadastral Lot 2820, and we are instructed to state that whilst our clients are not desirous of opposing any measure conceived to be in the public interest, they still consider that some more cogent reason as to the urgency of the proposed widening should be given than that advanced in your letter under notice, and also for the complete abandonment of the policy announced in your letter of July 31, 1918.

We are, Sir,

Your obedient servants,

PALMER & TURNER.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, September 11, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of July 23, with further reference to the projected widening of the Bubbling Well Road ex Lot 2820, I am directed to state that it has been apparent for some years, that the Bubbling Well Road, which is the chief arterial thoroughfare in the Settlement leading west, would have to be widened if it were to continue effectively to serve its purpose. To this end, therefore, an increased width for the road to 70 ft. throughout its length was scheduled in 1918 and in those parts in which it was particularly narrow, and properties were undeveloped, no time was lost in proceeding to expropriate such land as was requisite for the improvement. As regards your lot, however, and other properties similarly affected, where, by reason of recently completed development, immediate excision of garden land might constitute avoidable hardship, the Council hesitated to press the matter and gave special instructions that the owners' convenience should be studied in every way; hence the letter of July 31, 1918.

In the meantime the volume of traffic along this important thoroughfare has increased far more rapidly than was expected, the number of motor vehicles on the Revenue Office register for the quarter ending June 1916 was 709, for the quarter ending June 1919 it was 1,425, exclusive of 535 registered by the French Council. Comparative figures of traffic on Bubbling Well Road west of Mohawk Road, taken in July last year and this year, show that the maximum number of motor vehicles passing along the road in one hour was 188 in 1918; in 1919 it was 264. The traffic figure on one average day in July each year are as follows:—

	1918.	1919.
Pedestrians	4,851	4,363
Motor Vehicles	2,070	3,061
Carriages	402	442
Ricshas	1,878	2,110

In these circumstances the Council, charged with the public duty of making adequate provision for traffic requirements, has found itself obliged to press forward with the widening earlier than was intended and work has accordingly proceeded steadily from the Bubbling Well, till at length, it has reached your property. The Council is indeed reluctant to approach once again, at so early a date, those owners who considered that the widening would be detrimental to their properties and to whom the Council had given an assurance of every consideration. Lot 2437 opposite is perhaps one of the lots which suffers most in this respect; the owner has however, consented to surrender from his garden a strip measuring 22 feet at its widest by 562 feet in length. Lot 2820 is also a fully developed residential property adversely affected but the Council has no option but to express the hope that you will be so good as to surrender the requisite strip of land, and in making this suggestion I am to observe that the Council hopes that it may be considered not disadvantageous to set back the numerous trees and shrubs now rather than be confronted later with increased growth and progressively greater difficulty in reinstatement.

At the same time I am to renew the Council's assurance that it fully realizes the inconvenience caused you in this matter and desires to alleviate that inconvenience as much as possible.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

MESSRS. PALMER & TURNER.

Shanghai, December 12, 1919.

SIR,—On May 28, 1918, we were instructed to address to you a letter in which were stated the terms and conditions under which our clients the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation were prepared to surrender that portion of B. C. Lot 2152, which was required for the widening of the corner of Ferry Road.

At that time it was not considered necessary to deal with B. C. Lots 1251 and 2151, as it was not anticipated that the question of widening Bubbling Well Road ex these lots, would assume a definite form for a number of years; and this view was fully confirmed by your letter dated July 31, 1918, in which it was stated that it was not the Council's intention to require the surrender of the land until the lots "were put to some other use or rebuilding took place." The widening of Bubbling Well Road having been decided upon in face of the protests contained in our letters of May 28, 1918, and May 30, 1919, and the work now being in progress, we have been instructed to put forward our client's claim in regard to the land compulsorily acquired out of their property.

Yours faithfully,

PALMER & TURNER.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, January 20, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 12, containing your claim for widening the Bubbling Well Road ex Cadastral Lot 2820.

In reply thereto I am directed to state that the Council accepts your claim in its entirety for the land, at the assessed value, Tls. 4,000 per mow, with 10 per cent. added, and without deduction for betterment as under:

			Tls.
B. C. Lot 2152	Mow	0.151	664
,, ,, 2151	,,	0.341	1,365
,, ,, 1251	,,	0.432	1,900
,, ,, 6105	,,	0.115	506
		Tls.	4,370

It will be noted that the last named item was not included in your claim, but the amount is added since it is presumed that you would wish the corner lot dealt with at the same time.

With respect to the two items for depreciation of the property, estimated at Tls. 15 and Tls. 25 per mensem respectively, capitalized at 6 per cent. I am directed to point out that were the Council to pay compensation on the basis of capitalized loss of rental, a claim for the land as well would be equivalent to paying the value of the land twice over.

The Council recognizes, however, that you are entitled to some further compensation in respect of the loss of privacy and the fact that the gardens may be rendered too small for the purpose for which they were designed, and to this end would be willing to make payment of a sum of Tls. 1,000 in the case of each house, in accordance with the principle underlying the award of the Land Commissioners in the case of the adjoining property on the west.

I am directed, therefore, to suggest that you will be so good as to indicate your acceptance of these terms.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. Rowe,
Assistant Secretary.

Messrs. Palmer & Turner.

Shanghai, March 8, 1920.

Sir,—We have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated January 20, 1920 on the subject of compensation for the surrender of land ex Cadastral Lot 2830 for the widening of Bubbling Well Road.

We have referred the matter to our clients, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, and are instructed to state, that whilst they accept the offer for the land to be surrendered, Mow 1.039, at the rate of Tls. 4,000 per mow plus 10 per cent. added for compulsory surrender, they are not prepared to accept the offer of compensation at the rate of Tls. 1,000 per house for the two smaller houses, for the depreciation effected to their property by reason of the severance of a considerable portion of the gardens.

Under the circumstances, therefore, we are instructed to request that the matter be referred to the decision of the Land Commissioners.

Yours faithfully,
Palmer & Turner.

The Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 15, 1920.

Gentlemen,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 8, on the subject of the widening of the Bubbling Well Road ex Lot 2830.

In reply thereto I am directed to state that the Council notes that while your clients, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, accept the Council's offer as regards compensation for the land, they desire that "the question of the additional compensation, if any, to be paid in respect of the depreciation effected to the property by reason of the severance of a considerable portion of the gardens," be referred for decision by the Land Commissioners.

I am directed, therefore, to inform you that the matter will be placed before the Land Commissioners in due course, and that notice of the date set for the hearing will in due course be conveyed to you.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. Rowe,
Assistant Secretary.

Armed Robberies.—During the month 18 persons (including 2 Foreigners) were arrested in connexion with 6 cases of armed robbery in the Settlement. The most serious case was one in which the Russian proprietor of a jeweller's shop in North Szechuen Road was attacked and seriously injured by his houseboy and others. Seven reports of armed highway robbery were received and 3 persons were arrested. In one case the victim raised the alarm and was shot dead by the robbers. In one case of unarmed highway robbery, in which the victims were 2 foreigners, 5 foreign sailors were arrested and 4 of them have since been sentenced to 2 years' imprisonment each. Ten persons arrested for armed robbery before March 1 were handed over to the Chinese Authorities to be dealt with, and several were sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment each by the Mixed Court.

Stolen Property.—Successful investigations were made in 150 out of the 382 cases reported to the police during the month. These cases included 43 of burglary, 22 of housebreaking, 1 of office breaking and 4 of godown breaking.

Between January 1 and March 31 the cases of burglary in the Settlement totalled 131, of house breaking, 53 and of office, shop and godown breaking, 24.

Special mention must be made of the arrest in the West Hongkew District on March 12 of a gang of 4 youths against whom 30 cases of larceny can be proved, and on March 21 of another gang of 6 men who were responsible for 35 cases of larceny and burglary.

Shoplifting.—Three Russians were arrested on March 10 and a large quantity of stolen property was recovered from their lodgings. These men had recently arrived from Siberia and were responsible for a number of cases of theft from shops in the Settlement. They were sentenced respectively to 2, 3 and 9 months' imprisonment by the local Russian Consular Court.

Counterfeit Money.—On March 3, a Chinese was arrested on a charge of uttering counterfeit twenty-cent pieces and was sentenced to 3 months' imprisonment.

Bombs.—Following the receipt of a number of threatening letters, a bomb was exploded on the roof of the New World about 10 p.m. on March 5. No one was injured and no material damage was done.

Strikes.—From March 16 to March 19, 300 women workers in the No. 2 Shanghai Cotton Mill were on strike owing to a new rule obliging them to take their meals on the mill premises.

In consequence of the engagement of local workmen, about 70 Cantonese plumbers in the employ of the Waterworks Company struck work on March 18 and were still out at the end of the month.

Between March 9 and March 17 a number of painters employed by the Horse Bazaar went on strike owing to pressure put upon them by the Guild leaders. Two of the latter were charged at the Mixed Court with intimidation; and in passing sentences of 2 and 4 months respectively, the Assessor said in part as follows:—

"No combination or union, whether it be a Street union, a "Student union or a Trade "union, can be allowed to "employ such methods amongst a "population that is peculiarly "susceptible to intimidation; and "any attempt to do so will be "punished with the utmost rigour "of the law."

It is important in these days for all employers of labour to note that striking and causing strikes are punishable offences under the Chinese Provisional Criminal Code.

Gaol Breaking.—On March 21 a big gaol break occurred from the Zau Oo Ching prison near Lunghwa. Of the 174 prisoners who escaped, most are still at large.

Bars Outside Limits.—Following repeated representations made by the S. M. Police, the Chapei Police have at last undertaken to introduce effective control, by means of stringent licence conditions, of the low-class bars bordering on North Szechuen Road Extension which have so long been a source of trouble to the Settlement Authorities.

Gambling Outside Limits.—The seals on the gambling resort at No. 28 Paoshan Road (North Honan Road Extension), which was closed by the local Chinese Authorities on November 14, 1919, were removed on March 30, and the building was handed over to the Tsi Sung Charitable Institution for use as a hospital.

Motor Traffic Offences.—During the quarter ended March 31 proceedings have been taken in 153 cases against drivers or owners of motor vehicles for breach of licence conditions. In all, 13 convictions have been recorded against foreigners and 133 against Chinese chauffeurs. The chief offences committed are causing street obstruction and driving to the public danger. In respect of the former, there seems to be a marked disinclination on the part of some owners to comply with perfectly reasonable requests made by the Police as to the ranking of cars in the streets. In regard to the latter, the same selfish lack of consideration for the public convenience is also prevalent to an undue extent. It is the intention of the police to ameliorate this condition as far as it is possible to do so, and they will continue to prosecute 'road-hogs,' whether Foreign or Chinese, in all cases where evidence sufficient to prove the offence is forthcoming. It may be repeated that the police always welcome and appreciate any assistance that may be given to them in bringing offenders to book because they realize that without public co-operation and support their own efforts can never be entirely effective.

Exchange and Tobacco Shop Licences.—Some 300 proprietors of Exchange and Tobacco Shops held a meeting in the Native Tobacco Dealers' Guild outside the East Gate on March 16 to protest against the new taxes which the Council proposed to levy. This was followed by certain representations to the Council, and the shops were subsequently advised by their leaders to pay the tax.

Japanese Boycott.—Efforts to keep this movement alive are still being made by various local societies. In general, however, they appear to lack vigour and there are indications that public interest in the matter continues to decline. The principal meetings held in March were at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. in Szechuen Road on the 7th and at the National Organizations' Union Headquarters in Frenchtown on the 10th. The National Perseverance Society and the Boycott Bad Goods Society appear to be taking prominent parts in the agitation.

Amalgamated Association of Street Unions.—Since the return of its president, Chen Tse-ming, from Canton on March 1, this Association has made renewed efforts to restore itself to popular favour. During the month, according to the native press, it petitioned the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs for the restoration of the Mixed Court; and it also took a leading part in the preparation of a petition for representation on the Municipal Council to be presented at the Annual Ratepayers Meeting in April.

Inquest.—The inquest on the body of Mr. F. E. Weiss, who was found dead in the country off Pinglian Road on August 22, 1919, was resumed at the American Court on March 20, the jury returning a verdict that "deceased came to his death by a bullet wound in the head and a razor cut in his throat, both either self-inflicted or by a person or persons unknown."

Identification Office.—During the month 596 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 163 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 126 records were received from the French Police out of which number 68 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1920.

Price of Issue Until Further Notice 92½ Per Cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the annual meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1920.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 92½ per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1930.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, 248 Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 13, 1920.

No. 2710.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 248 Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

With effect from March 6, 1920 and until further notice, interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

Chinese Advisory Committee.

Letter to the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 17, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to inform you that by Resolution VIII proposed by the Council and passed at the recent Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, approval was given to the creation of a Chinese Advisory Committee with the constitution and powers set forth in the letter from the Chairman of Council to the Senior Consul, dated October 24, 1919, of which a copy with extract from the Settlement Extension Draft Agreement of 1918, was published in the Municipal Gazette of April 7, 1920, copy herewith.

As the Council desires to give effect to the Resolution above referred to at an early date, and as it is desirable that the names to be submitted for nomination to membership of the Chinese Advisory Committee should be as representative as possible of the whole of the Chinese Community resident in this Settlement, I am directed to seek the good offices of your Chamber in taking the initiative in calling together the guilds and associations established in this Settlement representing the several sections of the Chinese Community, with a view to the selection of at least 5 Chinese residents who are considered suitable for nomination to membership of the Chinese Advisory Committee and who have the qualifications laid down in the Chairman of Council's letter to the Senior Consul, contained in the enclosure herewith, and with a view also to the submission of their names to the Council for the approval of the Consular Body.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

The CHAIRMAN,
Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

Four applications for new licences with Police Reports have been submitted to us and considered. There were no protests by the public, although against two of them objection was lodged by the Police. Plans of the Central and Northern Districts were submitted and were inspected showing the positions of the various premises already licensed, and in giving consideration to the applications now put forward, we have had special regard to the number and position of the existing establishments. The applications were taken in detail as under, it being noted that all of them are for third class tavern licences :—

1. Cafe Paulista S. Uyeda, Manager, P148, Nanking Road.—Recommended for approval.

2. M. Y. Sun & Co., Ld., 37 Nanking Road.—Recommended for approval.

3. U. Kawai, Japanese, K257 Boone Road.—This application was for premises within the prohibited area, as per decision of the Council in the year 1913, but exception has heretofore been made in favour of Japanese restaurants in the view that while the district was, generally speaking, well served with such establishments, the Japanese community was a growing one and that for bona fide restaurants some increase in the number should reasonably be permitted. Members bear the views of the Police and Revenue representatives on this matter, in the course of which they endorse the view that the time has come when even Japanese restaurants in this neighbourhood will have to be restricted. The applicant is already in possession of a billiard saloon licence for these premises and having regard to the whole circumstances, the Committee regrets that they must recommend refusal of the application.

4. The widow Lydia Rogovenko, Russian, 1105/6 Broadway.—This application was also in respect of the area in the Northern District already congested with taverns and the premises proposed to be licensed are almost opposite the Savoy Hotel, a fully licensed house. The Committee regrets that they are obliged to recommend refusal of the application.

Health Officer's Report for March.

During March the sub-epidemic prevalence of Influenza, which has been present since last November, continued in mild form. Measles has been prevalent. Cases of mild Smallpox have been observed and upwards of 2,000 free vaccinations have been done at the Branch Health Offices during the month, large numbers coming on the "Flower Birthday," which is considered by the Chinese an auspicious occasion for vaccination.

Cerebrospinal fever has made itself conspicuous in Shanghai and many parts of the Yangtze valley, highly coloured reports of its prevalence have been received from many towns and especially from country districts, children and young adults being most susceptible. The disease is not highly contagious. Cerebrospinal fever occurs in all civilized countries. The disease lingers indefinitely after an outbreak and in all large cities a moderate number of cases occur every year in the winter and spring. Meningitis carriers, persons who have the germ in their throats or noses, but who are themselves unaffected, play an important part in transmitting the disease. This makes preventive measures very difficult to carry out. On the other hand few persons are susceptible to infection. When contracted the fatality is high but considerably reduced by the early use of the specific curative serum. Four deaths occurred among foreign residents and 26 among the Chinese. It is probable that the latter figure was exceeded as the disease is not easy to recognize.

The nursing staff was augmented by ten new nurses during the month—a welcome addition.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

Health Officer.

Report of the Acting Commissioner of Public Works for March.

The failure of the Contractor to supply the requisite quantities of road and building materials, has culminated in the cancellation of his Contract to supply during 1920, and the forfeiture of his cash deposit.

At the present time it is impossible to obtain supplies in sufficient quantity to carry out the various public works with anything approaching a reasonable speed. There is also a shortage of some classes of labour, and there is every indication that this will be more acutely felt during the summer months. Recent constructional development in Shanghai has been on a scale that the time-honoured and rather primitive internal organization and methods of the Chinese Contractors are unable to satisfactorily cope with. Local stocks of imported material have always been liable to fluctuation, and a complete absence of necessary material, cement for example, has occasionally occurred for short periods, but until a year or two ago, the supply of domestic material has been fairly adequate and of a uniform quality. The shortage of bulk material such as sand, gravel, and broken stone, for which there is a very large demand, is in a large measure due to the inadequacy of the boating facilities, a state of affairs which could in a large measure be overcome by quickening the movements of the cargo boats and junks by the installation of crude oil engines or other power, so that more journeys in a given time could be made.

This course would involve radical improvements in the methods of handling material on shore, or congestion would soon result, as landing facilities are already inadequate.

Foreign enterprise has mitigated the conditions to some extent, by the introduction of motor trucks. Well organized motor transport can compete with hand cart haulage, but here again quick loading and unloading is one of the most important factors for financial success. At the present time, however, few if any godowns or wharves are equipped with labour aiding devices.

If a careful economic study of the port transport and industrial conditions could be made it would probably be shown that the introduction of mechanical aids would increase the capacity of all yards, godowns, and wharves, and at the same time release men for operations in which manual labour cannot be substituted.

The outstanding features, in all constructional work at the present time, from the supply and delivery of material onward are the need for a "speeding up" and careful planning of all processes, better co-ordination of various forms of labour, and the intelligent introduction of labour aiding appliances with a view to increased efficiency and ultimate economy.

Roads.—The widening of Bubbling Well Road opposite the Country Club has been completed.

A small foundation is being laid in East Seward Road between Chaoufoong Road and Kungping Road, the original broken brick foundation having become disintegrated.

A useful widening has been effected at the corner of Chapoo Road and Tiendong Road.

Drainage.—1-ft. 6in. by 1-ft. sewers have been laid in Yu Yuen Road West of Tifeng Road and in Mokanshan Road West of West Soochow Road.

The sewer in Hankow Road has been relaid between Fokien Road and Hoopeh Road.

A 12-in. sewer has been laid in Tengyueh Road South of Yangtszepoo Road.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Building.—The electric work is proceeding satisfactorily. Practically the whole of the flooring to the second floor has now been laid. A large consignment of piping for the heating installation has arrived from England, and the work in that connexion is being pushed forward as quickly as possible.

FIRE BRIGADE.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The falsework for the First Floor is now completed and the steel reinforcement laid. A start has also been made with the pouring of the concrete, to beams and slabs.

Hongkew Fire Station Workshops.—The paving of the compound is in hand.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Woochang Road Substation.—The construction of this building has been completed.

Administration Building Substation.—A portion of the centering in the second storey has been put in place. Progress on the construction of this building has been slow, due to the more urgent requirements of the Administration Building.

Riverside Power Station, Office Building.—A portion of the centering for the first storey is in place.

Tongun Road Substation.—An expanded metal screen supported on iron framework is being placed around the first storey.

Pinghiao Quarry.—2,067 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month.

Cleansing and Watering.	Total
Road sweepings collected cartloads	4,691

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1920.

Price of Issue Until Further Notice

92½ Per Cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the annual meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1920.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 92½ per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1930.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 13, 1920.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2710.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24B Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest ab a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining to credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

With effect from March 6, 1920 and until further notice, interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

Reserve of Officers.—Five months leave is granted to 2nd Lieut. J. W. Baldwin from April 2.

Letter from Major T. E. Trueman, expressing appreciation of the vote of thanks passed at the recent Meeting of Ratepayers :—

Shanghai, April 16, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to express my deep appreciation of the reference made by the late Chairman of Council at the Ratepayers' Meeting held on April 7, to my service as Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, and for the endorsement of the Council's recommendation by the Meeting of Ratepayers in presenting me with a motor car.

The work done by myself is not worthy of special notice any more than the service given by every loyal Volunteer who has served the Council and the Community during the past five years. Each one has had his own special duty to perform, and it happened that I was senior, and the whole-hearted co-operation of the other officers has made it possible for me to carry on the duties of Commandant entrusted to me by the Council.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
T. E. TRUEMAN,
Major,
Commandant S.V.C.

The CHAIRMAN, Municipal Council.

Unburied Coffins.

Letter from residents in the Western District on the subject of an accumulation of unburied coffins just beyond the Settlement Boundary, with resultant correspondence with the Chinese authorities, and reply :—

Shanghai, February 28, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—The undersigned residents in the Foreign Settlement beg to call the earnest attention of the Council to the accumulation of unburied coffins, in various stages of decay, in a small space just outside the western boundary of the Settlement and close to the Kiaochow and Jessfield Roads.

These coffins—the majority of flimsy construction and evidently brought from long distances—lie rotting and exposed in a higgledy-piggledy heap—an offence to all the senses, a scandal in the eyes of all respectable Chinese such as would not be suffered elsewhere, and an intolerable nuisance, if not a danger, to the residents in the neighbourhood.

The explanation given is that land in the vicinity of Shanghai is now so valuable that the poorer classes cannot afford to purchase burying space. But it is not conceivable that the Chinese officials concerned, or our Chinese fellow citizens generally, will permit such a consideration to cause the maintenance of an abominable state of things which time will only aggravate; and we feel sure that the Council has only to move in the matter to have it properly dealt with.

We would, therefore, request the Council to address the Chinese official immediately responsible with a view to the decent burial or removal of the coffins as quickly as possible. The heap is constantly being added to and prompt action is necessary.

We remain,
Dear Sir,
Your obedient servants,

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 23, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your petition of February 28, on the subject of the nuisance caused by an accumulation of unburied coffins just beyond the western boundary of the Settlement, and, in reply, to forward for the information of yourselves and your co-signatories the enclosed copy of a letter which has been addressed to the Senior Consul on the subject.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

MESSRS. ARTS & CRAFTS, LTD., and other residents in the Western District.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 23, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that the Council has received a petition from a number of residents in the Western District complaining of the nuisance caused by an accumulation of unburied coffins about 300 yards beyond the Settlement boundary, west of the Kiaochow Road.

The Health Officer refers to this coffin dump, which consists of about 500 exposed coffins, as offensive and dangerous to the health of those living in the vicinity.

In view of these facts, I have the honour to request that you will kindly arrange with the Chinese Authorities to remove or bury these coffins, in order to improve the present unsatisfactory state of affairs.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. C. PEARCE,
Chairman

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 19, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of February 28, on the subject of an accumulation of unburied coffins in the vicinity of the Western boundary of the Settlement, I am directed to forward, for your information and that of your co-signatories enclosed copies of correspondence with the Chinese local authorities. The Council trusts that as a result of this measure, the nuisance complained of will be abated.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

MESSRS. ARTS & CRAFTS, LTD.,
and other Residents.

Shanghai, March 30, 1920.

SIR,—In pursuance to your letter of March 23, 1920, concerning 500 exposed coffins about 300 yards beyond the Settlement boundary, west of the Kiaochow Road, I have the honour to hand you herewith for your consideration a copy of the Chinese text and a free translation of a letter received from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Siccawei Road.—Letter received from the French Council notifying proposed improvements to the Siccawei Road (French side) with reply, for general information.

Translation of letter from French Municipal Council, dated March 26, 1920.

SIR,—In the course of its recent meetings, the French Council has renewed the examination of the question of the widening of the Siccawei Road (French side) between the Route Say Zoong and Siccawei.

On this subject, the Council has come to the following decision which I now communicate to you:—

"Siccawei Road.—After examination of the plan of the whole and of the tracing of the Siccawei Road between Siccawei and the Route Say Zoong and considering the sum necessary for the widening of this road, which was set aside for this purpose by decision of July 9, 1917,

"considering that in its present state, it is, however, indispensable that the Council retains a strip of land sufficient for the placing thereon of electric light poles and various pipes,

"the Council decides upon a widening of 10 feet (French side) and with a view to safeguarding future requirements to reserve a zone non edificandi of 10 feet as well (French side).

"The Council adopts the new plan of the widening of Siccawei Road (French side) submitted by the Acting Municipal Engineer. (Decision of March 15, 1920)."

I am, Sir, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary,
French Municipal Council.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
The Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 21, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 26, on the subject of the widening and control of the Siccawei Road (French side) between Route de Say Zoong and Siccawei, and to thank you for the information therein contained.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,

Public School for Boys.

PHYSICAL REPORT TO END OF SPRING TERM, 1920

By the Physical Diagnosis of the boys in the Public School for Boys which has just been completed, one hundred and four of the two hundred and sixty two boys of the school were found to be suffering from bad teeth, defective vision or other ailment. These one hundred and four together have one hundred and forty-seven physical defects.

The figures are as follows:

Total number enrolled:	262 boys
Number examined:	247 —
Number having defects:	104 —
Number of cases:	147 —

Ailment	Number of cases	Left School	Attended to	Remarks
Teeth	50	4	14
Eyes	34	1	13	Only those needing glasses were included in the 34. 13 have already procured glasses.
Adenoids	13		4
Tonsils	10		2	Only those who have enlarged tonsils with habitual sore throat, colds, etc., are included.
Scoliosis (Lateral Curvature of the Spine)	2			These are taking exercise daily under the supervision of the Physical Director.
Other Postural Defects (such as round shoulders, etc.)	18			Individual exercises have been prescribed.
Waistcoat too high in back	4		4	In these four cases the waistcoat was found to be too high in the back causing the head to be thrown forward with a consequent poor posture.
Deafness (slightly or totally, in one or both ears)	16			Boys suffering from deafness have been seated near the front of the class room. (Some of these cases may be cleared up with the removal of adenoids).

It will be seen that many have taken measures to correct their defects. Some others are waiting for the Easter or Summer holidays to have their adenoids or tonsils removed. etc.

Many of these who have had defects remedied have reported marked physical improvement. There is no doubt that more serious difficulties have been avoided in some cases by prompt action. The doctor who examined one boy's eyes for glasses, told him that he would have been blind in a short time if he had continued without them.

The testing of sight and hearing and of the general physical condition of the scholars is now done under the direction of the School Director of Physical Training Beyond the necessary allowance made in the school work of a child who shows abnormality or physical defect, no remedial or corrective treatment is attempted by those responsible for the examination of the children. Where it is considered desirable, however, the Headmaster communicates privately to parents the result of the examination.

Fire Brigade Report for March.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 17, as against 16 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 8,500 (Foreign, Tls. 450; Chinese, Tls. 8,050), as against Tls. 1,075 (Foreign, Tls. Nil; Chinese, Tls. 1,075) during March 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 97,000 (Foreign, Tls. 42,000; Chinese, Tls. 55,000), as against Tls. 83,000 (Foreign, Tls. 7,000; Chinese, Tls. 76,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 10, Watch Towers 4, Police 1, and Street Alarm 1. The district call was given on 4 occasions, the remaining 13 being station calls. These calls proved to be 12 small fires, 4 false alarms (one of which was malicious) and 1 fire outside the Settlement.

The main supposed causes of fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Sparks, ashes or embers from stoves 2, dropped match or cigarette end 2, defective flue 2, paper rubbish on fire 1, back fire 1, joss paper 1, negligence 1, smoking in bed 1, and unknown 1, The premises affected were:—Foreign building 1 and Chinese buildings 10. Of these, 11 buildings were more or less damaged by fire, smoke and water.

The Brigade was ocupied 58 hours and 47 minutes at fires or supposed fires.

There were no fires of note during the month.

From March 10 to 27, the writer was absent from Shanghai on a professional visit to Manila, Hongkong and Canton, etc., to inspect the various methods of fire protection, etc., particularly in relation to street alarm service, hydrants, water supply as appertaining to fire extinction, fire equipment, building construction and other important details.

The visit was extremely interesting, and allowed me to compare the fire protection of these cities with that here, also useful information was gathered. Several fires were seen, one actually taking place just as I was arriving in Manila Harbour, when an explosion occurred on the schooner Alfonso which had on board a large quantity of gasolene, and shipping at the mouth of the Harbour was endangered. This fire was attended with serious loss of life.

There was a marked comparison between cities under Western rule and that of Canton, under Chinese rule. In the former there are Fire Departments, whereas in the latter, there is not the semblance of one, devoid of fire appliances, with the exception of obsolete hand-pumps. In this respect it is, however, satisfactory to state that the Chinese City here is far more progressive, and has recently received a 300 gallon motor fire engine, which is one of six to be delivered in the near future. These machines are the same types as used by this Department.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2702.

7 PER CENT. LOAN, 1920.

Price of Issue Until Further Notice

92½ Per Cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the annual meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for debentures in the 7 per cent. Loan of 1920.

The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

They will be issued at 92½ per cent. until further notice and will be redeemed on December 31, 1930.

The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants, but no allotment for a less amount than Tls. 500 nominal will be made except to depositors in the Municipal Investment Bank.

Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 13, 1920.

Municipal Investment Bank.

DEPOSITS will be accepted by the Bank during the first five days of each month and will be converted twice yearly into Municipal Debentures. Pending their conversion interest will be allowed at the rate from time to time advertised.

The rules governing deposits are as follows:—

1.—Deposits may be for any amount in Taels or Dollars local currency. Dollar deposits will be converted into Taels at the rate of the day on which they are received.

2.—Deposits will be received at the Finance Department of the Council, 24B Kiangse Road, from the first to the fifth day inclusive of each month.

3.—Each depositor will be supplied with a Pass Book in which will be entered details of the amounts deposited. The Pass Book must accompany each deposit.

4.—Interest at a rate to be advertised from time to time will be credited the accounts of depositors half-yearly, on March 5 and September 5, and will be calculated on the amounts at credit of depositors' accounts on the fifth day of each month.

5.—On March 5 and September 5 debentures in the current Municipal Silver Loan (in denominations of Tls. 100 or multiples of Tls. 100) will be allotted depositors to the maximum amount permitted by each depositor's account. Accounts will be debited with the allotments calculated at the price at which the Council is issuing debentures at the date of the allotment. Any balance remaining at credit of accounts will be carried forward.

6.—The deposits will not be subject to withdrawal, except in the following cases:—

(a) On the death of a depositor the amount at credit of the account, with interest, will be paid on application by the legal personal representative.

(b) Should the Council at any time decline to receive further deposits, any balances remaining at the credit of accounts, after the allotment of debentures provided for under Rule 5 has been made, will be repaid to depositors forthwith.

(c) Subject to giving 3 clear days' notice of his intention, a depositor may close his account at any time, whereupon an allotment of debentures as provided for under Rule 5 will be made, and the balance remaining at his credit will be refunded. No interest will be allowed on such accounts except such as may have been already credited under Rule 4.

With effect from March 6, 1920 and until further notice, interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum (calculated as provided for under Rule 4) will be allowed on deposits.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date of payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

LICENSING OF BROTHELS.

NOTICE is hereby given that all keepers of brothels, Foreign or Chinese, are required to take out a brothel licence under Bye-law XXXIV in pursuance of the recommendations contained in the Report of the Special Vice Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 19, 1920, and adopted by Resolution XV passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers held on April 7, 1920.

The licence conditions are as follows:—

CONDITIONS.

1.—That the licence be not transferable and refers only to the particular brothel in respect of which it is issued.

2.—That the licensee be the keeper of the brothel, and responsible for its proper conduct.

3.—That the licensee shall not sublet nor part with the possession of the brothel without the written permission of the Council.

4.—That the licence number plate be fixed in a conspicuous position at the main outside entrance to the brothel and remain at all times legible and undefaced, and that the licence be kept exhibited in a conspicuous place inside the brothel.

5.—That free access be given to the Police on duty and to Officers of the Health Department and of the Revenue Office charged with the inspection of licensed premises.

6.—That the names, ages and nationality of all female inmates of the brothel be kept properly recorded in the space provided at the foot of the licence, and that any changes be immediately notified in writing to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Honan Road.

7.—That no intoxicating liquor be sold in or upon any part of the brothel.

8.—That no disorderly conduct or gambling be permitted in or upon any part of the brothel.

9.—That no opium smoking be permitted in or upon any part of the brothel, and that the licensee notify the Police of the presence of any person found to be smoking opium.

10.—That the use of morphia, cocaine or other noxious drugs be not permitted in or upon any part of the brothel.

11.—That no solicitation by any female inmate of the brothel be permitted either on the streets, or in places of public resort, or from the doors or windows of the brothel.

12.—That the notice issued by the Council with this licence stating that no female inmate can be detained in the brothel against her will and giving particulars of the nearest Police Station and of any institution where help or free medical assistance can be obtained and warning against the danger of neglecting such assistance, be kept exhibited in a conspicuous place inside the brothel, and remain at all times legible and undefaced.

13.—That the brothel be maintained in an approved sanitary condition and be conducted in accordance with the requirements of public health and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or his accredited representative.

14.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.

15.—That on a breach of any of its conditions, the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

Resignation of Member.

The resignation of Lieut.-Col. P. A. Cox, O.B.E., as a member of the Council has been accepted with regret, upon his transfer to Hongkong.

Municipal Loans 1920.

Subscriptions for the Council's 7 per cent. silver and 6 per cent. sterling debenture issues are invited on the terms set forth in Municipal Notifications Nos. 2702 and 2715, published in this issue of the Municipal Gazette and in the public press.

The simultaneous offer for subscription of silver and sterling debentures affords an excellent opportunity to the investing public to make their investments half in silver and half in gold, and thus neutralise the exchange factor. To those who desire silver investments only, the silver debenture issue at 92½ per cent. shows the attractive return of slightly over 8 per cent. per annum, whilst to those who desire a gold investment only, the sterling debentures issue at par should appeal strongly, in view of the high rate of exchange now ruling, and having regard to the nature of the security offered.

It is with the greatest confidence that the Council appeals to the community in general and to those industrial and commercial undertakings in particular, whose interests are so inseparably connected with those of the Settlement, to support both debenture issues and thus enable the Council to proceed with, and to carry to a completion, the programme of public development and improvement outlined in the Budget for 1920 which was presented and approved at the recent Annual Meeting of Ratepayers.

Municipal Salaries Commission.

The vacancies in the membership of the Municipal Salaries Commission, caused by the resignations of Messrs. L. A. Lyall and S. Trumper, have been filled by Lieut. Col. Hayley Bell, D.S.O., and Mr F. C. Butcher.

Postal Commissioner.

A letter from Mr. F. L. Smith, Acting Deputy Postal Commissioner, informs the Council that he has assumed charge of the Postal District of Shanghai from Mr. W. W. Ritchie, with effect from May 7.

Saltpetre and Sulphur.

Letter from the Foo Lee Company requesting the Council to enforce a monopoly in the sale of saltpetre and sulphur in the Settlement, with reply pointing out that, as upon numerous occasions in the past, the Council refuses to recognise any form of native official monopoly within the Settlement, in which the sale of all goods is and must remain free:—

Translation of letter from the Foo Lee Company (monopolists) of the Saltpetre|Sulphur Bureau of the Kiangsu Province, to the Council; dated March 20, 1920.

The writer states that saltpetre and sulphur are essential materials in the manufacture of gunpowder and concerns the maintenance of peace and good order. A bureau has been established to have sole charge of the sale of these materials and measures have been adopted to provide against smuggling of these materials, in the interests of the general peace and good order. On April 20, 1915, the writer made an application, and obtained, from the Provincial authorities, through the above mentioned bureau, a monopoly for the sale of saltpetre and sulphur. In consideration of the payment of a certain amount, for the sole right of dealing in these materials in the whole of the Kiangsu province, merchants of other provinces being debarred from engaging in the trade (in this Province). Regulations have been promulgated for the apprehension of smugglers, together with the appointment of an examining staff, the various offices concerned having been notified and asked to render assistance and co-operation in this matter. Subsequently as Tsao Ye (曹 [illegible]), chief inspector, refused to hand over the remaining quantity of saltpetre and sulphur left by the former contractor, with a view to their illicit sale in the Settlement, the writer asked the late Tuchun Feng, of Nanking, to issue instructions to the Shanghai Taoyin requesting the Mixed Court to communicate with the Commissioner of the S. M. P. to co-operate in this matter of guarding against smuggling. Dealers in such materials must indicate the use and destination of these materials and must furnish bona fide security before being granted a pass, this is in the interests of public peace. The writer says that the International Settlement of Shanghai is a part of the Kiangsu province. However, illicit sale of saltpetre and sulphur is being extensively carried on within this area and if no action is taken to check it the loss to his interests though small, yet if these materials pass into the hands of desperadoes the menace to the good order and peace of the district will be very serious.

For these reasons the writer proposes to appoint several inspectors of his own to ferret out the smuggling of saltpetre and sulphur in the Settlement. When anyone, not belonging to the Kiangsu province, is found trading in these materials in the Settlement their business is illegal and the writer's inspectors shall be expected to report the smugglers to the Police who shall assist in making arrests, after which they will be handed over to the Police or to the Mixed Court to be dealt with according to law.

The writer will address the Mixed Court, asking the Magistrate to communicate with the Council on the subject, and in the meantime he asks the Council kindly to sanction his request according to precedent (!) with a view to avoid menace to the peace and good order of the Settlement.

At the same time he asks the Council to request the Police Commissioner to give directions to the Police, and to render such assistance and co-operation as may be applied for by him from time to time.

When a smuggler is caught his cargo must be handed over to the Bureau for which $14 per picul will be paid for saltpetre and half this price for sulphur, half of the proceeds to be confiscated and the remaining half to be given as rewards to those who catch the smugglers. There are many detectives and constables of great ability in the S.M.P. They will be entitled to similar rewards for their co-operation and assistance rendered to the (writer's) Company. If the Council will be so good as to comply with the writer's request he will submit a list of his inspectors, their names, number, age, and native places for your information, so that forgeries may be avoided.

Enclosed please find copy of the Mixed Court's letter and proclamation and a Liu-Chiao (licence tax) for retailers in connexion with this subject.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 11, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 20, on the subject of the sale of saltpetre and sulphur in Kiangsu Province, to which the Council has given its consideration.

The Council has taken due note of your statement that on April 30, 1915, you made application to and duly obtained from the Provincial Authorities a monopoly for the sale of these commodities in consideration of the payment of a certain sum, which entitles you to the sole right of dealing in them in the whole of the Kiangsu Province, merchants of other provinces being debarred from engaging in this trade.

The Council notes that accordingly you propose to appoint several inspectors of your own to apprehend such as may be found in the Settlement engaged in this trade, and that you propose a payment of $14 per picul for saltpetre and half this price for sulphur, a moiety of which to be handed over to the detectives and constables of the Shanghai Municipal Police if they will co-operate and assist.

In this connexion I am directed to inform you of the fact that all trade within the limits of the Settlement is free and unrestricted, and that no form of monopoly, whether granted by the Chinese Government or others, can be permitted to operate in the Settlement. If, as you state, you have been granted such monopoly for the Province of Kiangsu, such must necessarily and in accordance with local custom exclude the limits of the Foreign Settlement, within which trade is free.

So recently as the year 1913, your predecessors in the Saltpetre Bureau represented that as saltpetre is a valuable commodity essential for the making of fireworks, ham and other salt meats, leather, silvermelting and for the purpose of making ammunition, the trade was of considerable value, and therefore it was desirable to take measures for providing means for limiting its circulation. I may observe that saltpetre is used in numerous other trades as well. On that occasion, the applicants were informed that no question could be considered of restricting the sale of saltpetre within the limits of the Settlement, and in this connexion I am directed to allude to the fact that in January 1914, July 1915 and November 1915 similar applications were met with the same reply, i.e., that within the Settlement, no monopoly in the sale of this or other commodities could be tolerated, nor would any suggested interference with the operations of any rival establishment be permitted.

In conclusion I am directed to remind you that the question of provincial monopolies in this and other trades has been before the Council upon many occasions in the past, and that upon every such occasion, the applicants have been prevented from exercising monopolies in the Foreign Settlement.

Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. Rowe,
Assistant Secretary.

Case of Illegal Detention.

Correspondence with Chev. G. D. Musso and letter to the Senior Consul relative to the illegal detention of a resident of the Settlement:—

Shanghai, April 13, 1920.

Dear Sir,—I have the honour to bring the following facts to your notice requesting you to transmit same to the Senior Consul with the request to take the necessary steps in this matter.

My client Mr. Ning Ang-ngi (任行義) who has been a resident of this International Settlement for the last 25 years and is carrying on his business as a dispensary in No. 89 Hankow Road (三馬路曲江里八十九號), was invited on March 24 of this year by a certain Sung Chien-dan (沈秋潭) who was accompanied by 2 others whose names are unknown to him, to go with theu to see one of his friends, Mr. Yang. The said Mr. Yang is living in the native city and he was told by them that he was seriously ill and desired to see him.

Being without any suspicion he went with them to the native city and was taken by them to the Native Police, where he was taken into custody and then transferred to the cells of the Native City Court of Justice near the Kiangnan Arsenal.

He was informed later on that he was wanted by the Shanse Authorities with reference to a certain civil case and that he had to remain in custody pending the arrival of a despatch warrant to be issued by the Shanse Authorities.

My client having been a resident of the International Settlement for a number of years, has been as you can see from the above stated facts, kidnapped on basis of vague allegations made by some Chinese Authorities hundreds of miles away from Shanghai, whereas the proper course to be taken was to make the necessary steps in the International Mixed Court to whose jurisdiction alone my client is amenable.

It seems to me that this is a case which deserves prompt and determined action on the part of our Authorities as the high-handed manner in which my client was enticed away from the Settlement is contrary to the principles of justice and particularly to the protection Chinese residents are entitled to in this Settlement.

Thanking you in advance for your kind assistance in this matter.

I am, Dear Sir,
Your obedient servant,
G. D. Musso.

N. O. Liddell, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Shanghai, April 21, 1920.

Dear Sir,—Referring to my letter dated the 13th instant, with reference to the kidnapping of my client Ning Ang-ngi from the settlement to the Chinese City where he has been kept in unlawful custody since March 24, I shall feel obliged if you would let me know what steps have been taken to obtain his release.

Yours faithfully,
G. D. Musso.

N. O. Liddell, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 27, 1920.

Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 13, on the subject of the detention in the Shun Pan Ting in the Chinese City of your client Ning Ang-ngi (任行義), a resident of this Settlement, and in reply to inform you that the Consular Body has been addressed in terms of the letter of which a copy is enclosed herein, with the request that it may make the necessary representations to the Chinese Authorities for his immediate release and rendition.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. Liddell,
Secretary.

G. D. Musso, Esq.

(Enclosure)

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 27, 1920.

Sir,—In August 1919, my predecessor had the honour to address you on the subject of the illegal arrest and detention by the Shanghai Native City Authorities of a resident of this Settlement named Yu Tshung-ling. As a result of his representations and of your kind co-operation and assistance, the unfortunate man concerned was ultimately released from custody in December of that year. It is with extreme regret that I now have the honour to bring to your notice a further instance of the illegal arrest and detention of a resident of this Settlement for the past 30 years, one Ning Ang-ngi, with respect to whom complaint has been made by Chev. G. D. Musso, in terms of the copy letter enclosed herewith.

From Police enquiries into the circumstances of the case it appears that the account given by Chev. G. D. Musso is correct. On March 24, Ning was visited by one Sung Chiendan, who told him that his friend, one Yang, was very ill and desired to see him. On Sung's invitation Ning visited Yang's house in the Chinese City, where he found Yang perfectly well and at work. An adjournment to a teashop was suggested, but as soon as Ning had set foot on the road, he was arrested by the Police of the Native City, and transferred to the Shun Pan Ting, where he is held pending the receipt of despatches from Shanse.

There is no doubt that Ning is a bond fide resident of this Settlement. He has been proprietor of the Tai I Dispensary at 89 Hankow Road for the past 4 years, prior to that he was employed for many years by the Anglo-Chinese Great Eastern and International Dispensaries and his son testifies that he has been a resident of this Settlement for 30 years.

I have the honour to protest against this further instance of illegal arrest and detention in breach of the established principle, that no Chinese resident of this Settlement shall be removed without a prima facie hearing in the Mixed Court, and to request that you will be so good as to make the necessary representations to the local Chinese Authorities, with a view to the immediate release and rendition of this resident to the Settlement, whereafter any bond fide charge against him can be laid in the Mixed Court.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. Brooke Smith,
Chairman.

C. H. GODFREY, Esq.,
Engineer & Surveyor.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 12, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of July 28 addressed to the Municipal Engineer, on the subject of the compensation payable for the strips of Cadastral Lot 190 required for the widening of the Soochow and Peking Roads. In reply thereto, I am directed to state that the Council considers that this case is similar to that of Cadastral Lot 194, Peking and Soochow Roads, settled in 1910, in accordance with the correspondence set forth on pages 206-210 of the Annual Report for that year.

On these terms the amount of compensation payable in respect to your claim will be as follows:—

Soochow Road.

	Tls.	Tls.
The outer 10-ft. strip measuring 0.018 mow to be surrendered free
The middle 10-ft. strip 0.139 mow at half the assessed value, Tls. 10,000 per mow	1,390
The inner 10-ft. strip 0.167 mow at the assessed value, Tls. 20,000 per mow	3,340
Plus 10%	473
		5,203
Peking Road.
0.035 mow at Tls. 20,000 per mow	700
Less one-third for betterment	233
	467
Plus 10%	47
		514
		5,717

I am directed to express the hope that you will be good enough to signify acceptance of these terms.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 12, 1919.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of July 28, on the subject of the compensation payable for the scheduled area of Lot 211, Peking and Honan Roads, I am directed to accept your claim subject to deduction of one-third for betterment.

The amount payable will thus be as follows:—

	Tls.
Mow 0.175 at Tls. 24,000 per mow	4,200
Less one-third for betterment	1,400
	2,800
Plus 10 per cent.	280
	3,080

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Messrs. E. D. SASSOON & Co.

Shanghai, October 23, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—We have to acknowledge receipt of your two letters of August 12, re surrenders ex Cadastral Lots 190 and 211 Central.

Cadastral Lot 190.—With regard to the surrenders from this lot we note from your letter in connexion with it that the Council considers these surrenders to be similar to that of Cadastral Lot 194 "set forth on pages 206-210 of the Annual Report for 1910," and so far as the fact that land has been surrendered for the construction of the Soochow Road and the widening of the Peking Road from both Cadastral Lots 190 and 194, we are in accord with the statement of the Council.

In the correspondence on pages 206-210 above alluded to and dealing with the method of payment for the land required for the construction of the Soochow Road, the then Secretary to the Council—Mr. Leveson—writes in his letter of April 12, 1910 as follows:—

"The outer strip of 10 feet is considered to be surrenderable free in accordance with Article VI of the Land Regulations and the decision of the Court of Consuls in the case of Lot 571 wherein it was ruled that 10 feet was sufficient for public requirements vide Annual Municipal Report for 1900, page 345."

We have no objection whatever to Messrs. Scott, Christie & Johnson accepting that statement but with it we cannot agree, for upon turning to page 345 of the Municipal Report for 1900 we find the following:—

"This case arose on the application of the Company to build upon Cadastral Lot 571, a portion of which was held to be foreshore within the meaning of Article VI of the Land Regulations and therefore subject to public use," and further Clause 1 of the Council's petition was:—

"That it may be declared that the site of the buildings proposed to be erected by the defendant Company as shown by the said plan includes beach ground or foreshore now dedicated to public use by virtue of the Land Regulations."

From the fore-going it appears perfectly clear that not only did the defendant Company propose to build on land covered by the title deed, but that it intended to erect a building or buildings upon the foreshore or accretions to the Soochow Creek which under Article VI of the Land Regulations the Company was not entitled to do.

That feature is, however, entirely absent in the case of Lot 190, for whereas the title deed area of the lot is 3 mow 5 fun 4 li 3 haou the Council's Assessment Schedule gives the area of the lot as 2 mow 9 fun 0 li 4 haou thereby plainly showing there are no accretions or foreshore to this lot as defined by Article VI of the Land Regulations.

This we think effectually disposes of the Council's claim to similarity with Cadastral Lot 571, so far as relates to the claim for free surrender of the outer 10 feet strip.

With regard to the central strip of 10 feet, in the Council's letter of April 12, 1910 it says:—

"I am to remind you that the Harbour Authorities will not permit any buildings except outhouses to be erected thereon," and in reply to this we would respectfully ask from whom the Harbour Authorities obtained the right to say what should or should not be erected on land clearly covered by a British Consular deed, and until it can be proved conclusively to us that those Authorities have such a right, we deny their powers to say what shall not be erected on land, the full use of which has been acquired with the issue of the title deed.

With regard to the surrender for the Peking Road widening we deny that a strip 4 ft. 3 in. in width at the Eastern boundary of the lot running to a point at the Western boundary in any way improves the lot, and we cannot therefore agree to the Council's request for a reduction of 1/3rd in our claim for betterment, and that our claim as a whole must stand.

Cadastral Lot 211.—In the case of this lot we also cannot agree to the proposed reduction in our claim. In fact the very large piece taken from the North-East corner of the lot constitutes a worsement, the public only being the ones to benefit from such a surrender, and our claim in respect to this lot must also stand.

We are, Dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,
E. D. SASSOON & Co.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 4, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—With reference to your letter of October 23, 1919, on the subject of the surrender of the land required from Lots 190 and 211 for the Peking, Honan and Soochow Roads, dealing first with the question of Cadastral Lot 190, I am directed to inform you that as regards your contention that there is no foreshore land in the deed for this property, the Council is of opinion that due weight should be given to the following circumstances, i.e., that in the case of Lot 571, which you cite, the full width of the road was excised from the lot and it was in respect of the outer 10ft. only that free surrender was claimed, while in the case of the lot under discussion an average width of 20ft. only is required, the remaining 10ft. being beyond the lot boundaries and at present under water. Thus when the road is completed the lot will be fronted with a 30ft. road to which it will have contributed land to a width of 20ft. only. This section of road will prove an exceedingly expensive one to construct and its construction cannot fail materially to benefit your property, and in the circumstances I am directed to inform you that the Council considers that in view of the betterment to be derived by the property by the construction of this road, it is justified in requesting you to make a free surrender of that portion of the lot which lies in the outer 10ft. strip, a comparatively small area measuring Mow 0.018.

As regards those portions of Lots 190 and 211 which are required for widening the Peking Road, I am directed to state that the terms upon which the widening of this road has been carried out are contained in the Municipal Gazette of June 4, 1909, extract from which is enclosed herewith. You will, of course, recognize that while the details of every case vary to a greater or less extent, this practice of a standard deduction for betterment is the only one that can reasonably be applied and is that which the Land Commission itself, having regard to the circumstances, has concurred in as being a reasonable manner of assessing the betterment derived by property in the case of this and other roads similarly situated. It is obvious, of course, that in the case of some lots, from which a large area is required to be surrendered, with consequent heavy payment of compensation, the betterment is obvious; so also however where a very small fraction of a lot is required, though the betterment is not so obvious, as perhaps in your own case, it is none the less reflected in the smaller deduction for betterment.

I am directed, therefore, to reaffirm the terms contained in the Council's letter of August 12, relative to these proposals, and to request that you may be so good as to express your acceptance thereof.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

E. S. B. Rowe,

Assistant Secretary.

Messrs. E. D. Sassoon & Co.

(Enclosure.)

Extract from the Municipal Gazette of June 4, 1909.

"The Engineer reports to the effect "that all the unregistered land required for the widening of this "road is purchased or in a fair way "towards arrangement, and the first "of the claims for registered properties are submitted as follows:—

Hanson, McNeill & Jones, Lot 189.

E. D. Sassoon & Co., Lots 190, 209 and 211.

J. P. Bisset & Co., Lots 301 and 307.

J. Ambrose, Lot 311.

"With regard to these and future "claims, it appears to the Council "necessary to arrive at some definite "understanding as to the policy "which shall be adopted in respect "to the compensation payable. The "Council's proposed treatment of "the Peking Road is unusual, in"asmuch as it has been decided that "owners shall be required to set back "to the scheduled line, without wait"ing for rebuilding under normal "conditions or as the result of a fire. "Thus the project to constitute the "Peking Road a serviceable carriage "traffic outlet westward will be "carried to a conclusion with as "little delay as possible. The road "will be metalled and provided with "cement paved footways.

"It has, speaking generally, been "the practice of the Council wher"ever possible to compensate owners "in districts such as the Peking "Road, which are closely built over "with Chinese houses, at the assessed "value of the land, with 10 per cent. "added for compulsory surrender, "and to call for a reduction of the "claim by one-third where the "scheduled roadway is 30 feet in "width. For 40 foot roads it has "been held that no additional "advantage accrues to the owner "from the extra 10 feet, which has "therefore been paid for in full "from the public funds.

"The proposed treatment of the "Peking Road, however, is calculated, in the Council's opinion, to "ensure immediate enhancement of "values, and higher rentals for the "frontage shops, throughout its "whole length, inasmuch as what is "at present a somewhat squalid bye"street will be converted into a main "thoroughfare of some importance, "wherein a better class of house "may be expected to be built. For "this reason the Council considers "that the principle of betterment "may justly be applied in each case "of expropriation up to the full "width of 40 feet.

"Reasonable claims for the rein"statement of premises, and for loss "of rental during such reinstate"ment, will be paid in each case.

"It is apparent that a public im"provement of this magnitude will "involve no little inconvenience to "landowners and agents, and the "Council relies upon the co-opera"tion of those concerned in bring"ing the work to a satisfactory con"clusion."

Shanghai, March 9, 1920.

Dear Sir,—We are in receipt of your letter of the 4th instant relative to the surrenders required from Cadastral Lots 190 and 211 Central for the construction of the Soochow Road from the former, and the widening of the Peking Road by the excision of strips from both the lots.

Soochow Road.—In reply we are unable to agree with your contention relating to the construction of this road viz: "its construction cannot fail to materially benefit your property."

You are, of course, aware that the surrender from Cadastral Lot 190 was occasioned by the remodelling of the buildings on this lot, that in consequence they will not require rebuilding (except in the event of a fire) for many years, and that the backs of those houses are on the Soochow Road, so that for the purpose of access to the rear of those houses a passage not more than 5 feet in width would be ample.

The construction of the road has, therefore, reduced the number of houses which could have been erected on the lot, but apart from that, had no road been scheduled along the Soochow Creek, and had we decided to erect the buildings just as they are at present, the occupants of those houses would have had a strip of land capable of being used in their business free from all Police or Public interference.

The benefits (if any) derived from the construction of this road are therefore purely public ones, and its effect upon the lot, in our opinion, is a "worsement," from both the owners' and occupiers' points of view, there being many who would willingly pay and pay well for the strip of which the Council has dispossessed us and them.

We will, however, admit that in the claim contained in our letter of July 28, 1919 we failed to take note of the fact that the outer strip (averaging 10 feet in width) required for the road was to be taken from the Soochow Creek, and we, therefore, abandon our claim for it.

The amended claim will, therefore, be as follows:—

	Tls.
Mow 0.306 at Tls. 20,000.00 per mow=	6,120.00
Plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender	612.00
or a total of	Tls. 6,732.00

Peking Road.—With regard to the widening of this road the Council some years ago placed it on record that in purely Chinese localities betterment should be imposed only on surrenders necessary to make the road 20 feet in width, and beyond that width that no betterment should be imposed, and we think no one will deny that West of the Honan Road the Peking Road is purely Chinese, hence it should be treated as such in paying compensation for surrenders, and also think most persons would admit that the widening of the Peking Road at a very large expense to the Ratepayers has not brought about the improvement which the Council anticipated either to the owners or occupiers of the shops fronting it.

In our opinion any benefit by the wider road has been only to the Tramway Company and to the Public using the Trams.

Had the Trams not been running on this road it is more than probable that those using them would have walked over this section of the road and in all probability patronised the shops fronting it, but being carried over it in the Trams they have no opportunity of doing so.

This in our opinion also constitutes a worsement owing to the shop-keepers being unable to do the amount of business they might reasonably have expected though we make no such claim.

Our claim, therefore, for the widening of this road is:—

	Tls.
Surrender ex Cadastral Lot 190 Mow 0.035 at Tls. 20,000.00 per mow =	700.00
Surrender ex Cadastral Lot 211 Mow 0.175 at Tls. 24,000.00 per mow =	4,200.00
	Tls. 4,900.00
Plus 10 per cent. compulsory surrender	490.00
Total amount of c'aim	Tls. 5,390.00

We are, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
E. D. Sassoon & Co.

N. O. Liddell, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 25, 1920.

Gentlemen,—In reply to your letter of March 9 with further reference to the question of compensation payable for the areas required from Lots 190 and 211 for the Peking and Soochow Roads, I am directed to state as follows:—

Soochow Road.—Lot 190; The Council notes that you were unaware of the fact that the outer strip (averaging 10-ft. in width) required was to be taken chiefly from the Soochow Creek and that accordingly you abandon your claim to it.

With respect to the amended claim, Tls. 6,732, for the remaining twenty feet, measuring Mow 0.306, I am directed to observe with respect to your contention that the construction of the road has reduced the number of houses which could have been erected on the lot, that, were it possible to construct the same number of houses, each to be the same size as before, there would be no question of compensation at all. You have perhaps overlooked the fact that if indeed you surrender a small strip of your lot, the Council in point of fact is not asking you to do so without monetary compensation. The same argument applies to your further contention that had you erected the houses, set back from the creek bank, as at present, the occupants would have enjoyed a strip of land capable of being utilized in their business free from police or public interference. The Council quite admits this contention, but it follows therefrom that in such case, the Council would not have offered to pay you Tls. 5,203 for sharing the use of this land with the public.

I am directed, therefore, to reiterate the view that for the loss of the privileges which you enumerate and which you value at Tls. 6,732 the Council's offer of Tls. 5,203, as aforesaid, is ample compensation.

Peking Road.—Lots 190 and 211:—Dealing now with the question of the areas required for the Peking Road, I have only to express the view that, having regard to the rates of compensation paid to owners for the land required to widen this road throughout its length during the past few years, and which have resulted in a most marked improvement to the whole of the properties abutting thereon, the Council's offer of the assessed value, plus ten per cent. addition, and less one-third for betterment, is only fair.

In the circumstances, I am directed to state that unless you are willing to accept the terms contained in the Council's two letters of August 12 last, i.e., a total amount of compensation of Tls. 8,797 for the land required for road purposes from these lots, the Council will have no option but to have recourse to the Land Commissioners for settlement of this matter.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. Rowe,
Assistant Secretary.

Messrs. E. D. Sassoon & Co.

Shanghai, April 28, 1920.

Dear Sir,—We are in receipt of your letter of March 25 re surrenders for Soochow and Peking Roads ex Cadastral Lots 190 and 211 Central.

Soochow Road, Cadastral Lot 190. We note all you say in respect to this road, and though in your letter under reply you have not repeated the statement contained in yours of March 4, viz.:—"Its construction cannot fail materially to benefit your property" it was the chief argument used in that letter why we should accept a reduction in our claim for compensation.

We, however, most emphatically deny that the construction of the road will in any way benefit this lot, as the road, even when completed throughout its entire length, will be of no use for shops, and we assert that the public only will reap any benefit from it as an additional thoroughfare, in which respect it might possibly prove to be a detriment to the lot by diverting from the Peking Road pedestrians who might be customers of the shops fronting it.

We, therefore, cannot see our way to accepting the Council's offer for the surrender of the land required for the construction of this road.

Peking Road, Cadastral Lots 190 and 211. We cannot agree to a reduction in our claim of one-third for betterment for the surrender of the strips required from these lots for the widening of the Peking Road which was 30 feet and more in width prior to those surrenders.

The Council has on numerous occasions stated that in purely Chinese localities a reduction of one-third for betterment should apply only to widening roads to a width of 30 feet, and that for any increase in the width of such beyond 30 feet, compensation would be paid in full.

In support of this we refer you to the following taken from the Municipal Gazette:—

Of August 14, 1913 re Cadastral Lot 1019 Northern. "It is true that the Council customarily makes no reference to betterment in the case of purely Chinese streets of 30 feet or more."

Of November 18, 1915 re Cadastral Lot 270 Central. "But from properties developed with Chinese houses and shops for widening to a width of 30 feet only."

There are many other instances of a similar nature in the "Gazette," but the above two are sufficient to show that the Council has adopted the practice of deducting one-third for betterment on surrenders required to widen roads in native localities up to a width of 30 feet and beyond that width that compensation has been paid in full, and as we contend that the Peking Road west of the Honan Road must be considered as a purely native locality, we cannot consent to any reduction in our claim for compensation for the surrenders required from these lots.

We are, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
E. D. Sassoon & Co.

Council Room,
Shanghai, April 29, 1920.

Gentlemen,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 28, with further reference to the question of the compensation payable in respect of the surrender of the scheduled areas of Lots 190 and 211 required for the Peking and Soochow Roads.

In reply I am directed to state that in view of the fact that settlement by consent does not seem to be feasible, the Council is obliged to refer this question for settlement to the Land Commissioners, in accordance with the terms of my letter of March 25 last. Notice of the sitting of the Commissioners to consider this matter will in due course be conveyed to you.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

LICENSING OF BROTHELS.

NOTICE is hereby given that all keepers of brothels, Foreign or Chinese, are required to take out a brothel licence under Bye-law XXXIV in pursuance of the recommendations contained in the Report of the Special Vice Committee, published in the Municipal Gazette of March 19, 1920, and adopted by Resolution XV passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers held on April 7, 1920.

The licence conditions are as follows:—

CONDITIONS.

1.—That the licence be not transferable and refers only to the particular brothel in respect of which it is issued.

2.—That the licensee be the keeper of the brothel, and responsible for its proper conduct.

3.—That the licensee shall not sublet nor part with the possession of the brothel without the written permission of the Council.

4.—That the licence number plate be fixed in a conspicuous position at the main outside entrance to the brothel and remain at all times legible and undefaced, and that the licence be kept exhibited in a conspicuous place inside the brothel.

5.—That free access be given to the Police on duty and to Officers of the Health Department and of the Revenue Office charged with the inspection of licensed premises.

6.—That the names, ages and nationality of all female inmates of the brothel be kept properly recorded in the space provided at the foot of the licence, and that any changes be immediately notified in writing to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Honan Road.

7.—That no intoxicating liquor be sold in or upon any part of the brothel.

8.—That no disorderly conduct or gambling be permitted in or upon any part of the brothel.

9.—That no opium smoking be permitted in or upon any part of the brothel, and that the licensee notify the Police of the presence of any person found to be smoking opium.

10.—That the use of morphia, cocaine or other noxious drugs be not permitted in or upon any part of the brothel.

11.—That no solicitation by any female inmate of the brothel be permitted either on the streets, or in places of public resort, or from the doors or windows of the brothel.

12.—That the notice issued by the Council with this licence stating that no female inmate can be detained in the brothel against her will and giving particulars of the nearest Police Station and of any institution where help or free medical assistance can be obtained and warning against the danger of neglecting such assistance, be kept exhibited in a conspicuous place inside the brothel, and remain at all times legible and undefaced.

13.—That the brothel be maintained in an approved sanitary condition and be conducted in accordance with the requirements of public health and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or his accredited representative.

14.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employe of the Council.

15.—That on a breach of any of its conditions, the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

NOTES.

1.—Applications for licences must be made in writing on the prescribed form which can be obtained at the Revenue Office, No. 7A The Bund, on and after May 24, 1920.

2.—Licences will only be issued in respect of brothels that were in existence on December 31, 1919.

3.—The maximum number of female inmates permitted in any brothel will be 10, or such less number as were in the brothel on December 31, 1919.

4.—The registered owners of the land on which the brothel is situated will be notified of the use to which their property is being put.

5.—On and after June 1 the register of brothel licences will be open to inspection by any Ratepayer at the Revenue Office, No. 7A The Bund, during the usual office hours.

6.—No licence will be issued in respect of any brothel situated in the vicinity of any school.

7.—Solicitation is an offence punishable by law, and any conviction for this offence renders the licence liable to withdrawal.

8.—Any person conducting a brothel without a licence after June 14, will be liable to prosecution.

Chinese Cargo Boat Guild.

Letter from the Senior Consul forwarding a communication from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs and Council reply:—

Shanghai, April 26, 1920.

SIR,—I beg to enclose herewith for your consideration and reply a copy of Chinese text and free translation of letter received from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Shanghai regarding the Woosung and Shanghai Towing Boats' Guild.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. SIVERT,
Consul-General for Belgium and Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to the Senior Consul dated April 22, 1920.

The Commissioner has received a letter from Kiang Sung (江燧) representing the Chinese Cargo Boat Guild stating that trade has flourished greatly in Shanghai while the facilities afforded by the Whangpoo for transport of goods by boats are the most convenient in this country. Cargo and fowl boats are used extensively for the conveyance of goods by water but there is yet no guild formed of those engaged in this business. Of late there have been many cases of robbery and the business (of those engaged in the transport of cargo) has suffered greatly. Representatives (of this business) have had interviews and discussions in regard to the matter of organizing a guild of their own so that regulations, may be drawn up for the guidance of those engaged in this business. They have submitted their proposed regulations to the City Magistrate who has approved them and has issued a proclamation for the protection of their interests: this is on record. But their boats not only ply in inland waters, they also have to pass through waterways within Settlement limits; hence trouble from robbers and thieves is unavoidable. According to regulations 5 and 9 of their guild all cargo boats should be registered and numbered, and certificates given. Any boatman meeting with robbers or thieves when passing through the Settlement waterways must report the matter to the River and Municipal Police for the necessary protection. A copy of the guild regulations for the information of the Commissioner is submitted asking him to communicate with the Senior Consul with a view to obtaining such Municipal Police protection, as may be necessary as occasion arises.

YANGTCHENG.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 11, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 26 transmitting for the Council's information a copy of a communication from the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, requesting Police protection for a native cargo boat guild.

In reply thereto I have the honour to inform you that the members of this guild will receive the ordinary Police protection to which all residents and persons conducting business in the Settlement are considered to be entitled. At the same time I have the honour to request that you will be so good as to warn the Guild in question that, in accordance with the standing practice, no form of compulsion can be exercised so far as the Settlement is concerned, to compel boatmen to become members of the Guild, nor to arrest alleged members of the guild for infringement of its regulations. The Council considers this warning necessary since a case has already been dealt with in which a so-called agent of the Guild endeavoured to effect an illegal arrest within the Settlement.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium
and Senior Consul.

Murder.—On April 1 a woman was murdered under particularly dastardly circumstances in an empty house at 561 Medhurst Road. The crime came to the notice of the Police on April 4 and on the following day the murderer was arrested in Chinese territory.

Robbery.—No armed robberies were reported to the Police during the month. In one case of attempted armed robbery 4 persons were arrested. Three reports of unarmed highway robbery were received. Seven persons charged with armed robbery, who were in custody at the end of March, were handed over to the Chinese authorities to be dealt with and three charged with armed highway robbery were sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment each at the Mixed Court.

Stolen Property.—322 reports of stolen property were made to the Police during the month. These included 34 of burglary, 20 of housebreaking, 6 of shop or office breaking and 3 of godown-breaking. In 122 cases enquiries were made with successful results. In this connexion I have to cite the detectives attached to the West Hongkew District as having an exceptionally fine record of work during the past month.

Bicycle and Ricsha Thefts.—The theft of bicycles and private ricshas is still a fairly frequent occurrence. Owners are again warned of the risk they run of leaving these vehicles unattended and unsecured in the roadway or in the hallways of office or public buildings.

Opium.—The smuggling of opium continues to a considerable extent Numerous raids and seizures are made and convictions are constantly obtained by the Police, but these have but little effect on the illicit importation of the drug.

Bombs and Threatening Letters.—It is satisfactory to record that since the arrest by the Police in March and the sentencing on April 22 of one Zang San-leu to 10 years' imprisonment and expulsion, the threatening letter and bomb nuisance has ceased.

Strikes.—No strikes of workers occurred in the Settlement during April and endeavours on the part of agitators to bring about a monster demonstration on Labour Day (May 1) ended in complete failure.

Southern Government.—Dr. Wu Ting-fang, who had for several years held a ministerial appointment in the Southern Government at Canton, returned to Shanghai on April 16, having with several other members of the Administrative Council apparently broken off relations with his military colleagues. There are about 200 members of the old Parliament from Canton now in Shanghai.

Soviet Peace Offer.—Towards the end of March the Soviet Government in Siberia made a bid for Chinese friendship by offering through the press to conclude a peace treaty which would restore to China all concessions, rights and privileges, including extraterritoriality, railway and mining rights, to which past treaties had entitled Russia in this country. Although no official notice was taken by the Chinese Government of this offer a considerable number of Chinese societies replied saying that they considered its terms to be not only acceptable but generous. These replies, which generally contained denunciations of militarism and capitalism, confirm previous reports as to the existence of communistic elements among societies of recent growth. The best known of the local bodies which replied to the Soviet peace offer are, according to the press, the Amalgamated Association of Street Unions, The Shanghai Students' Union, The National Organizations Union of China and several of the oldest established guilds in Shanghai.

The Students' Strike.—On April 11 the National Students' Union of Shanghai transmitted certain demands of a political nature to the Government in Peking. No notice being taken of their communication they declared a so-called strike on April 14. On the afternoon of that day several thousand boys and girls from 53 different schools held a meeting at the Public Recreation Ground outside the West Gate. After the usual speeches had been made the meeting marched in procession through the City and handbills denouncing the Chinese Government were distributed. During the next few days strenuous endeavours were made by the students to induce the merchants and laborers to join their movement by means of street lecture parties and a canvass of shops in Chinese territory. None of the Municipal schools struck work nor was there any attempt by the students to pursue their activities in the Settlement. On April 22 a party of students who were attempting to undermine the loyalty of the workmen at the Arsenal came into collision with the military with the result that a few of them received minor injuries. This was made the excuse for further demonstrations in favour of a general strike. The same evening between 9 p.m. and midnight a procession of some 500 students marched through the City entreating the merchants and labourers to join them. They succeeded in preventing the City trams from running the following day and also induced most of the shopkeepers in the City and Chapei to put up their shutters. Early next morning, April 24, martial law was declared by the Military Governor and all meetings, demonstrations, speeches and other propaganda forbidden. In spite of this the students attempted to proceed with a mass meeting they had decided to hold in the afternoon near the West Gate with the result that a fight occured with the soldiers and police and a few of the demonstrators were injured. The shops in the City and Chapei remained closed on April 25 and about 500 shops in the Settlement and Frenchtown put up their shutters. Next day, however, most of them reopened and about 1,000 labourers who had been on strike for two days returned to their work. Following the incident of April 24 the students tried to start a campaign of revolutionary propaganda in which the overthrow of all authority was freely advocated. A daily paper published by the Students' Union was specially violent and various organs of the native press contained grossly exaggerated and wholly untruthful accounts of the fracas which were intended to influence the country at large. But their efforts met with little success. It was clear from the outset that the movement lacked public support. The merchant and labour organizations displayed no active enthusiasm whatever, confining themselves to sympathetic assurances and the dispatch of numerous telegrams to Peking. Yet, so easily are the masses swayed, that the situation might have become serious but for the timely declaration of martial law by the Military Governor as soon as it was seen that the students, having failed to accomplish their aim by other means, intended to incite the populace to open rebellion against constituted authority.

Identification Office.— During the month 613 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 168 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 187 records were received from the French Police out of which number 100 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Mixed Court Report for April.

The undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court on criminal charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
A. Mislea	British	Larceny	To leave Shanghai
M. Pakkanen	Finn	Assault	Dismissed
K. Cinkee-wich	Pole	Drunk and Disorderly	Released
B. Biatu	Rouman-ian	Drunk and Disorderly, Wilful damage and Wounding	6 months

Fourteen persons were before the Court for failing to pay the cost of laying new drains on their premises. The case was originally brought as a civil one but the Court held that criminal proceedings should be taken; this was done and the defendants were ordered to pay within 14 days.

During the month the Court tried:—

21 cases of burglary as against 35 in March.

227 cases of larceny as against 215 in March.

12 cases of cruelty to animals as against 4 in March.

65 cases of breach of motor car regulations as against 43 in March.

Eighty Chinese civil cases were concluded during the month while thirty-eight are awaiting a first hearing, being a decrease of 11 as compared with the previous month.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

Health Officer's Report for April.

The condition of the Public Health throughout the month was good. No deaths were recorded from Smallpox and the 3,660 free vaccinations, mostly infants, done during the month at the Branch Health Offices represents a satisfactory insurance against the future.

Cases of cerebrospinal fever continued to occur both among foreigners and Chinese in lesser number, and should soon cease with the onset of warmer weather.

There was an outbreak of Scarlet fever among the boarders of a large school, introduced from outside. It was quickly controlled by the excellent management of the school concerned.

The tentative arrangements for a school for Chinese sanitary employees has so far not met with much success. The object is to attract better educated Chinese capable of grasping the sanitary idea, that is to say, to train the employee to understand the object of what he is doing, as in disinfection, mosquito reduction work, etc. Apart from work requiring a high degree of manual dexterity, the pupils who have at present passed through the school show either insufficient aptitude to benefit by the instruction or, if otherwise qualified, object to the necessary manual or coolie work.

In view of the strawberry season it may be noted that strawberries can be safely eaten fresh if dipped for a few seconds in boiling sugar syrup as recommended in the Public Health Notice obtainable from the Health Officer or District Health Inspectors. This sterilises the fruit sufficiently to make it absolutely safe and in no way spoils the flavour or appearance. Otherwise strawberries are often the cause of dysentery and other serious troubles, watered as strawberries so often are with nightsoil and passing through so many coolies' dirty hands. Washing in water, even if permanganate of iodine is added, is not enough. Although people may eat unsterilised strawberries many times and nothing untoward occur, they inevitably become the prey of serious intestinal trouble, and this can be easily avoided with a little supervision by the lady of the house.

It is well now to direct special attention to the prevention of the summer diseases due to infected food. Choleraic trouble, which made such havoc last year, is to be expected this year when heat and moisture wake up the germs from their winter sleep. Careful and special attention is directed towards the intelligent following out of the few requirements for health given in the Public Health Notice. It is little or no use posting this notice in the kitchen in the pious hope that the cook or boy will follow the Chinese translation. Few cooks and boys can read Chinese. It is up to the lady of the house to impart instruction and to see that the rules are intelligently and constantly observed.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

Report of the Acting Commissioner of Public Works for April.

Asphaltic road work was commenced early in the month. Asphaltic concrete is being laid in Soochow Road between The Bund and Honan Road and it is intended to continue with the other roads in this section of the Central District.

Although the initial cost is much higher than for waterbound macadam the annual cost and ultimate renewal is no more than the cost of waterbound macadam for those streets where the latter require renewal or patching more than twice a year, as is the case in most of the main roads in the Central and Northern Districts where waterbound macadam still exists.

In the case of the Bund the maintenance cost of the asphaltic concrete laid in 1918 only amounted to Tls. 40 during 1919.

Surface treatment of waterbound macadam roads by asphaltum is being extended, although this is merely a palliative in the case of roads subject to heavy traffic.

Owing to the limited capacity of the plant at Sinza Depôt progress on new work is necessarily slow, and the extension of asphaltic road treatment will entail the erection of further plant in the near future, as the repair work alone will make considerable demands upon the plant.

The tramway track in Bubbling Well Road between Siccawei Road and Hart Road has been relaid along the new centre line of the road and the completion of the road surface is in hand.

Consequent upon the demolition of the wall on the south side of Bubbling Well Road west of Ferry Road, widening operations have been resumed.

A modification of the line of road has been effected along the Country Club frontage but the footpath cannot be constructed in the ultimate position until the tramway track has been relaid, which work cannot be proceeded with until the various widenings further east have been carried out.

Resulting upon the widening of Hungjao Road west of Warren Road a marked improvement in the line and appearance of the road is evident. This work is not yet completed.

A commencement has been made with the widening of the Bund south of Peking Road. The work is being delayed on account of the shortage of road materials, although better progress is anticipated now that a new materials contract has been arranged. The new footpath along the Bund foreshore has been completed between Peking Road and the P. & O. Jetty, and the turfing of this section of the Bund is in hand.

Tanyang Road and Funing Road have been raised and ashed between Chemulpo Road and Lay Road.

Hailar Road has been raised for a distance of 400 feet east of Urga Road.

Drainage.—A commencement has been made with the laying of a 3-feet diameter sewer in Avenue Road west of Gordon Road. This will be continued through to Hart Road.

A detritus chamber has been constructed at the outlet of the Defence Creek culvert, which work completes the culverting of the Defence Creek.

Buildings and Jetties.—The stone slope on the Bund Foreshore has been completed from Peking Road to Nanking Road, and between the Custom House and Canton Road.

The Pontoons are being renewed and overhauled in turn and refixed in their new positions.

About 2,000 fong of mud has been dredged from the Wayside Dock giving a depth of 8 feet at low water. There is rapid accretion in the Dock, particularly at the entrance where a bar forms. Constant dredging will be necessary to maintain a sufficient depth of water at low tide.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Building.—The work generally is proceeding satisfactorily, good progress having been made with the Electrical Work and Heating Installation. At the same time the joinery for internal lights, doors, etc., is well in hand.

FIRE BRIGADE.

Yangtzepoo Fire Station.—Good progress is being made with the brickwork of the first floor, which will shortly be ready to receive the falsework for the floor above.

Hongkew Fire Station Workshops.—This building is now complete, except for the necessary internal fittings.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Administration Building Substation.—Work has been commenced on the staircase, which has been placed on the outside of the building instead of the inside as originally contemplated. This will provide more space for equipment in the building.

Tonquin Road Substation.—The expanded metal screen around the first storey is practically completed. On account of the proposed extension, minor changes are being made to the cubicles and staircases in the building.

Riverside Power Station, Office Building, and Switch House.—Concrete work of the first floor of the Office Building has been completed.

Pingchiao Quarry.—1,541 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. It has been found necessary to suspend the supply of rubble stone to the Whangpoo Conservancy Board, as there is very little of this material available.

Certain inferior metalling stone is being supplied to contractors in Hangchow.

All three crushers are now in full operation.

The average number of labourers employed daily was 165.

Cleansing and Watering.	Total
Road sweepings collected cartloads	4,472
Used for raising land	517
Water used for street watering	4,140,400 gallons.

Labour.—The average number of labourers employed daily was as follows:—

Coolies	2,979
Artisans	366
Foremen	234
Mafoos	155

Concreteward.—The following has been produced during the month:—

Hand made	8,287 pieces
Machine made	3,440 ,,
Total	11,727 pieces

Work Shelters.—There were 130 admissions during the month and 189 bundles of wood chopped, and 192 cubic feet of stone broken.

C. HARPUR,
Acting Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infections disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Trade Exhibition.

Correspondence with H. M. Commercial Counsellor on the subject of a proposed Exhibition of British Manufactures:—

Shanghai, February 10, 1920.

My Dear Pearce,—I have received a telegram from our Foreign Office in London informing me that the British Government propose to send an exhibition of British manufactures on a tour of the world, and that if suitable accommodation can be obtained the exhibition will visit Shanghai and other ports in China in the spring of 1921. It is estimated that the exhibits will weigh 300 tons and that the floor space required will be 30,000 square feet. The exhibition will remain open a fortnight and will take two weeks for setting out and two weeks for packing up —that is, six weeks in all.

I have made inquiries regarding possible accommodation for this exhibition in Shanghai and I find that the only place at all suitable is the new Municipal Drill Hall. The area of this hall is, I am aware, less than 30,000 square feet but I have no doubt that arrangements can be made to reduce the bulk of the exhibits accordingly.

I write to ask if you will be good enough to consult your Colleagues and let me know whether you think the Council would be willing to place the Drill Hall at the disposal of the British Government for this purpose. I am aware that the final decision in this matter must rest with the incoming Council, but as I am directed to reply by telegraph as to the possibility of holding the exhibition in Shanghai, I shall be grateful to you for an expression of opinion as to whether an application of this kind would be favourably considered by the Council when the time comes for a definite request for the use of the Hall to be made. I should mention that the date of the exhibition will be fixed so that it will not interfere with the annual training of the Volunteers, that we shall be prepared to pay for the hire of the hall, and to accept such conditions as regards precautions against fire, etc., as the Council may see fit to lay down.

Yours sincerely,

H. H. Fox,

Commercial Counsellor of Legation.

E. C. Pearce, Esq.,

Chairman, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, February 25, 1920.

Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 10 inquiring whether the Council would place the new Municipal Drill Hall at the disposal of H.M. Government for a trade exhibition to be held in the Spring of 1921, and in reply, and in confirmation of the information already conveyed to you verbally, to state that although the Drill Hall would not as a general rule be available for such purposes as those mentioned, the Council gladly gives provisional sanction to its being let to H.M. Government in view of the very great measure of support that H.M. War Office has accorded the Council in the matter of the supply of armament and ammunition for the use of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps.

The Hall which measures 180 feet by 102 feet would only be available subsequent to April 30 and before the commencement of the Volunteer Corps Autumn training, and the charge for its use would be the more or less nominal one of Tls. 100 per diem for the fortnight during which the proposed exhibition is open. The actual cost of lighting during this period and during the time occupied in the preparation and removal of exhibits would also have to be met by H. M. Government.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

N. O. Liddell,

Secretary.

H. H. Fox, Esq., C.M.G.,

H. M. Commercial Counsellor.

Shanghai, February 27, 1920.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks, receipt of your letter dated 25th instant informing me that the Council have been good enough to give provisional sanction, under certain conditions, to the new Drill Hall being placed at the disposal of H. M. Government for the purpose of holding an Exhibition of British Manufactures in Shanghai in the spring of 1921.

Yours faithfully,

H. H. Fox.

Commercial Counsellor of Legation.

N. O. Liddell, Esq.,

Secretary, Municipal Council.

Shanghai, May 18, 1920.

Sir,—With reference to your letter of February 25 last in which you were good enough to inform me that the Council would place the new Municipal Drill Hall at the disposal of His Majesty's Government for an Exhibition of British Manufactures which it was proposed to send to China early in 1921, I beg to inform you that I am now in receipt of a telegram from His Majesty's Secretary of State informing me that the Exhibition has been postponed for the time being owing to the pressing commitments of British manufacturers, and that further advice will be sent when the organization has been resumed.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

H. P. Brett,

Acting Commercial Counsellor of Legation.

The Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, May 22, 1920.

Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 18, wherefrom the Council notes with regret that you have not been advised by His Majesty's Secretary of State that the proposal to hold an exhibition of British Manufactures in Shanghai has been unavoidably postponed.

I am directed to thank you for this communication and to state that the Council notes that further advice will be given if and when it is decided to proceed with the project.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

E. S. B. Rowe,

Assistant Secretary.

Revenue Department.—During the absence on leave of Mr. E. L. Allen, Commissioner of Revenue, Mr. F. A. Sampson, Assistant Commissioner, will be in charge of the Revenue Department.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infections disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.
Food on which flies have settled.
*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.
*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.
Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.
Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.
Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Fire Brigade Report for April.

The total number of calls to fire or supposed fires, during the month was 27, as against 31 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 2,850 (Foreign, Tls. nil; Chinese, Tls. 2,550), as against Tls. 36,675 (Foreign, Tls. 100; Chinese, Tls. 36,575) during April 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 121,000 (Foreign, Tls. 25,000; Chinese, Tls. 96,000), as against Tls. 1,147,300 (Foreign, Tls. 1,000,000; Chinese, Tls. 147,300) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 15, Watch Towers 6, Street Alarms 4, and Police 2. The district call was given on 6 occasions, the remaining 21 being station calls. These calls proved to be 16 small fires, 7 false alarms (1 of which was malicious) and 4 fires outside the Settlement.

The main supposed causes of fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Incendiarism 4, Overheated stove pipe 2, Drug overheated 2, Dropped match or cigarette end 2, Sparks from chimney 2, Timber in Chimney 1, Faulty electric wires 1, Lamp in contact with curtain 1, and Unknown 12. The premises affected were:—Four Buildings 2, and Chinese Buildings 23.

The Brigade was occupied 8 hours and 54 minutes at fires, or supposed fires.

An outbreak which might have had serious results occurred on April 6 at 5.37 p.m. when the temporary carpenter's shop at the east of the Great Northern Telegraph Co.'s new building under construction was found to be well alight and the fire was spreading rapidly to the scaffolding and bamboo screens around the building. A number of sunblinds on Medhurst building were in flames. It was only by exceedingly quick work of the Central Division that the fire was quickly extinguished with only little damage.

The Brigade rendered valuable assistance at a fire at Pootung on April 9, when godowns A, B, C, at Lee Nee Du Wharf, occupied by Chinese, were found in flames. It was a most difficult fire to tackle owing to the fumes and smoke and a very large quantity of paper and sugar respectively stored in the buildings involved. Landing parties from warships in the harbour and the River Police with the Custom's Float and Butterfield & Swire's Fire Float also gave valuable assistance. The fire was confined to the buildings already in flames on arrival of Brigade.

Three calls were received to fire in Uu 48 Ching Yuen Lee, a Chinese cotton yarn hong, during the month. Two outbreaks were dealt with by buckets of water, but the fire on April 28 was more serious, the roof of the kitchen being well alight and the fire had obtained a grip on the front building.

The Brigade also dealt with a cotton fire in the Jessfield village long line of hose was used, and a pump working from the creek.

M. W. Fox,
Chief Officer, Shanghai Fire Brigade.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

Chinese Soldiers or Police in the Settlement.

Letter to the Senior Consul:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 25, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to bring to your attention a case of illegal functioning by persons supposed to be native troops or police on the premises of the New Engineering and Shipbuilding Works on the afternoon of May 14. It appears that on that afternoon, an officer and certain soldiers or police proceeded in a launch from the Kiangnan Dock Yard to the New Engineering and Shipbuilding Company's premises in the Settlement in search of an employe alleged to have committed a breach of his contract. The officer and four men landed at the jetty and after making enquiries were accompanied back to the launch, apparently voluntarily, by a man named Loh Sieu-chung, who at the time of this visit was in the employ of the New Engineering and Shipbuilding Works, Ld.

In drawing your attention to this matter, I have the honour to state, for the information of the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, that the Council merely desires to record a formal protest at this disregard of the standing practice respecting entry of Chinese troops or police into the Settlement, since a satisfactory explanation and apology has already been received from the responsible officials concerned, who were unaware of the fact that their subordinates had taken unauthorized action.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium
and Senior Consul.

Szechuen Road Bridge.

Reports and recommendations by the Commissioner of Public Works have been considered relative to the proposed re-construction of the bridge over the Soochow creek at Szechuen Road, and details of the plans approved are as follows:—

The bridge will be a three span bridge, constructed of reinforced concrete and steel, and will be a deck span of cantilever type, the suspended span being of steel plate girder construction, and the cantilevers of reinforced concrete. The central span will be 120 feet, and the side spans approximately 56 feet each. As the suspended portion of the central span is 52 feet, the cantilever arms will be 34 feet each.

A clearance of 12 feet at high tide is provided in the middle of the centre span, which is but very little reduced for a width of 40 feet on either side of the centre. To obtain this clearance it has been necessary to use a grade of 1 in 25 for the roadway. The carriageway will be 36 feet wide, and the footways 10 feet each, giving a total width of 56 feet compared with a total width of 30 feet in the old bridge. The bridge is designed to carry a 14-ton steam roller together with street cars and a uniform live load of 100 pounds per square foot. The general appearance of the bridge will be that of three elliptical arch spans.

This type of bridge has been adopted for the reason that it is slightly more economical than a wholly steel structure; it will cost less in maintenance: and is infinitely superior in appearance. The work of construction, also, will be more rapid and will involve less interference to the waterway, during construction than other types considered.

In order that the centre line of piers shall conform with the direction of the current the centre line of the bridge has an angle of skew of 14 degrees.

The total cost of the bridge is estimated at Tls. 121,980 inclusive of work required to be done on piers, cofferdams, abutments and approaches.

Wharf Thieves.

The following correspondence is included herein for purposes of record:—

Shanghai, May 10, 1920.

SIR,—I beg to enclose herewith for your consideration and reply a copy of Chinese text and free translation of letter received from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Shanghai regarding the 36 parties of vagabonds.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. SIFFERT,
Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to the Senior Consul, dated April 29, 1920.

The Commissioner is in receipt of a note from the Shantung Guild and 18 other unions, complaining that the wharves of Tai Koo, China Merchants, Hung On, Hwa Shing, Ewo and Shuntai, also the wharves and godowns at Pootung, have recently been infested by vagabonds generally known as "The thirty-six Vagabonds" who have many followers and who steal and rob goods from the wharves on land and from cargo boats in the water; they have even taken away whole packages of cargo from merchants in lonely places, and so the merchants have suffered very considerably in consequence. This gang of ruffians is a serious danger to the local community, especially as Shanghai is a principal port of trade where large quantities of cargo are handled on the wharves. The Commissioner is requested to communicate with the military and police authorities asking them to take the necessary steps to investigate and/or arrest and prosecute these bad characters, in the interests of public peace and local trade: he is also asked to address the Consular Body to ask the S.M.P. to take similar action, for the benefit of all concerned.

As these vagabonds steal and rob goods from merchants both on land and water they are really a menace to local merchants and steps should therefore be taken to arrest and severely deal with them from time to time. The Commissioner asks the Senior Consul to take note and to request the S.M.P. to take the necessary steps in this matter.

With compliments of the season.

YANGTCHENG.

Council Room,

Shanghai, May 28, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 10, on the subject of representations made by various Guilds complaining that certain wharves have recently been infested by dissolute characters known as "The Thirty-six Vagabonds."

In reply thereto I have the honour to inform you that in so far as the wharves within the Settlement are concerned, these have always received and will continue to receive every possible Police protection.

As a result of your despatch, however, enquiries have been made among the compradores of shipping firms and, except for petty larcenies, none of them has been able to cite any instance of cargo having been stolen from places under the jurisdiction of the Council. The records of the Police show that larcenies from wharves are few; Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co.'s compradore states that during the last two years the number of thefts committed on the Hongkew Wharf has decreased considerably; Mr. Chun Bing-him, compradore of Messrs. Burkill & Sons, who wrote the letter to the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, admits that there is not much cargo stolen from the wharves in the Settlement, but that there is an enormous amount stolen from those outside.

As regards Pootung, the Chinese City and elsewhere, the Council must, in accordance with established practice, rely upon the native authorities for the apprehension and suppression of thieves and other evil-disposed persons.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKS SMITH,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium
and Senior Consul.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Lungmen Road.—The following correspondence details the negotiations with Messrs. Brandt & Rodgers leading up to acceptance of the Council's terms of compensation for the area of Lot 1869 required for the construction of this road:—

Shanghai, March 11, 1920.

SIR,—In accordance with your request of the 9th instant, I beg to hand you herewith a plan showing in red the area, required from Cadastral Lot 1869 for road purposes.

Yours faithfully,
C. HARPUR,
Acting Commissioner of Public Works.

W. BRANDT, Esq.

Shanghai, March 19, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of the 11th instant I beg to inform you that the area required for the Lungmen Road Extension splits the land into two portions which will be useless for building purposes, I therefore propose that the Council purchases the entire lot together with all the buildings thereon, for the sum of Tls. 3,500.

Yours faithfully,
W. BRANDT.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, March 30, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 19, 1920, relative to Lungmen Road Extension, Cadastral Lot 1869, and in reply thereto to state that the Council is informed that the buildings on this land are bungalows which are at present in an uninhabitable condition, and were in fact about to be pulled down, and that as this factor must have a very material effect on the compensation payable, the Council is unable to agree to the terms proposed by you.

The Council is, however, prepared to purchase this lot, on the following terms:—

	Tls.
For area required for road land Mow 0.247 at Tls. 3,500 plus 10 per cent.	951
Surplus land Mow 0.188 at Tls. 3,500	658
Compensation for buildings	500
A total for land and buildings of	2,109

I shall be glad to hear that this offer is acceptable to you.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

MESSRS. BRANDT & RODGERS.

Shanghai, April 13, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of the 30th ultimo I beg to inform you that the sum of Tls. 2,109 proposed by you for the purchase of Cadastral Lot 1869 is less than the actual amount paid for it sometime ago. In view of this fact your offer is not accepted. The land contiguous to it to wit Cadastral Lot 1870 is assessed at Tls. 5,500 per mow which I take it to be on account of the frontage of it on the Chengtu Road. And as the remaining two portions will have frontages on the Lungmen Road at a short distance from the Chengtu Road I am of opinion that it is quite reasonable to price them at Tls. 5,500 per mow. I therefore suggest the following:—

	Tls.
For area required for road land Mow 0.2.4.7 at Tls. *3,500 plus 10 per cent.	951
Surplus land Mow 0.1.8.8 at Tls. 5,500	1,034
Compensation for buildings and loss of rental	750
	Tls. 2,735

Yours faithfully,
W. BRANDT.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,

Shanghai, April 28, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 13, with further reference to the surrender of land ex Lot 1869 for the Lungmen Road.

In reply thereto, I am directed to observe, with respect to your statement that the sum offered for the lot is less than the actual amount paid for it, that it is not at all unusual, especially in the case of Chinese, uninstructed in the value of land or desiring special lots for special purposes, or aware of the fact that a road is scheduled, but ignorant of the Council's powers in connexion with its acquisition, to purchase land situated upon the line of public roads at prices far in excess of their value. The amount paid for the land therefore, has not always a direct connexion with its actual value, while the sum that the Council can pay therefor, having regard to the fact that it is the Trustee of the public funds, is necessarily based upon its value.

I am directed further to refer to your statement that the Lot 1870 adjoining is assessed at Tls. 5,500 per mow, which you attribute to its frontage on the Chengtu Road. This is a fact, but you have overlooked the correlative fact that the enhanced value of the lot is directly due to the circumstance that Mow 0.535 of it has already been surrendered without compensation to provide the road in question. You then contend that the remaining two portions of your lot, by having similar frontage on a public road, will become enhanced in value, from which of course it follows, if your contention is correct, that in this case, the Council in accordance with the usual practice, should deduct from the compensation due for the roadland such sum as represents the betterment accruing to the remainder. I may state, however, that the Council has not claimed from you any betterment in regard to this transaction, because it considers that the view put forward in your letter of March 19 was correct, that the road, while constituting an undoubted benefit to other properties, would affect this small property in such manner as to render the remaining portions useless for development.

In the circumstances, therefore, the Council has offered to pay you for the whole of the property at the rate of Tls. 3,500 per mow, or in the alternative, should you desire to retain the surplus land, the Council will require a deduction from the sum payable, of the equivalent to the betterment which you admit will be conferred upon the remainder of the lot by the said road.

With respect to the item of compensation for buildings and loss of rentals, I am to state that in view of the fact that you had already applied for a permit to rebuild this property, there can be no claim for loss of rental whatever, and I may add that the sum of Tls. 500 offered you as the value of the buildings, was specially made upon a very liberal basis.

I am directed, therefore, to inform you that the Council is unable to pay for this property more than the sum set forth in my letter of March 30, i.e., Tls. 2,109 for Mow 0.435.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

MESSRS. BRANDT & RODGERS.

Shanghai, May 25, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to your letter of the 28th ultimo we beg to inform you that the majority of Chinese purchasing land in the settlements are fully aware of the Council's power in connexion with acquisition of land for public roads but the facilities and the publicity given by the Council are, in our opinion, not sufficient to acquaint the Chinese public of scheduled roads. We agree that the proposed road represents a betterment to the remaining portions but at the same time this advantage is nullified as the remaining lots will be useless for development. The mere fact that application for a permit has been made to rebuild this property only proves that the owner did not know of the proposed road and will not be equitable as a basis to refuse compensation for buildings and loss of rentals. If the Council be willing to waive its claim of betterment we will do likewise as regards loss of rentals. Our amended claim, therefore, is as follows:—

	Tls.
For area required for road land Mow 0.2.4.7 at Tls. 3,500 per mow plus 10 per cent.	951
Compensation for buildings	500
	Tls. 1,451

You will note that these figures are the same as quoted by you in your letter of March 30 last—which we hope will be acceptable to you.

Yours faithfully,
BRANDT & RODGERS.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 1, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 25, wherefrom the Council notes that you now accept the terms of compensation contained in my letter of March 30, in so far as they relate to the scheduled area of Lot 1869, required for the Lungmen Road. The amount payable is thus Tls. 1,451 in respect of Mow 0.247.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Drainage.

Letter from various residents, with reply on the subject of the culverting of the Creek in Darroch Road off North Szechuen Road at a cost of Tls. 400.

Shanghai, May 13, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—We, the residents of Darroch Road, off North Szechuen Road Extension, beg leave to report to you the fact that the small creek at the end of this road, which runs between our houses, is always filled with dirty water and refuse. That being the case, we are in constant danger of contracting serious diseases, besides, the stench is most annoying.

Now that a portion of this useless creek has been culverted, we understand, by the Chinese Authority, we shall appreciate if you will kindly bring this matter to the notice of the Council with a view to their doing the same with the other portion inside the Foreign Settlement.

Trusting our request will meet with your kind consideration and thanking you in anticipation.

Yours faithfully,

Saltpetre and Sulphur.

Further correspondence relating to an officially protected monopoly of the sale of saltpetre and sulphur, to which reference was made in the issue of the Gazette of May 13, 1920.

Shanghai, May 10, 1920.

SIR,—I beg to enclose herewith for your consideration and reply a copy of Chinese text and free translation of letter received from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Shanghai concerning the sale of sulphur and saltpetre in Kiangsu.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. SITTERT,
Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of a letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to the Senior Consul, dated May 1, 1920.

The Commissioner for Foreign Affairs is in receipt of a letter from the Shanghai Taoyin who has received a note from the Bureau of Saltpetre and Sulphur of the Kiangsu province stating that the Tuchun has approved granting the right for the sole sale of saltpetre and sulphur in this province to the Foo Lee Co. in consideration of its payments for rationing the army, and that the sale of such commodities belonging to other provinces or by other persons in this province is illegitimate and must be prohibited. As saltpetre and sulphur are necessary in the manufacture of ammunition for army use, care should be exercised to prevent same entering into the hands of desperadoes or the peace and good order of the district would be disturbed. The said Company has reported that smuggling or illicit sale of these goods is still going on in certain districts, adding that if steps were not taken to check same, not only its interests would suffer but public peace would also be disturbed. It, therefore, asks his (Taoyin) to report and requests the Tuchun to take steps to prohibit smuggling operations. In this connexion it may be noted that when the Company took over the business at first the former monopolist Tang Chin-hsee, had some saltpetre and sulphur left in hand, which was offered for illicit sale in the Settlement, then the Bureau made representations to the Taoyin who in turn wrote to the Mixed Court for the issue of a prohibitory proclamation on the subject; the Court subsequently replying and notifying the Foo Lee of the issue of the proclamation as requested. The Company now makes application for similar action according to precedent, asking the Taoyin to communicate with the Mixed Court, at the same time requesting the Court to consult the Municipal Council to bring the question of the prohibition of smuggling and/or illicit sale of these commodities for approval at the annual meeting (of Ratepayers) or

April 7. Enquiry was also made whether it was possible to ask the Commissioner of Police to instruct his detectives, Foreign and Chinese, to investigate and search smuggled goods, handing over any quantity of saltpetre and sulphur seized without bearing a sealed permit of the Tsechun, to the Bureau for appraisement of its value, half of which will be forfeited and the remaining half issued as a reward to those who caught the smugglers; this is of benefit to the Company's interests as well as the peace of the place. The Taoyin has accordingly addressed the Mixed Court on the subject. The Senior Magistrate of the Court has, however, replied to the effect that when the Foo Lee Co. first took over the business he received notes from the Taoyin and Commissioner for Foreign Affairs whereafter he consulted the Senior Consul and the Commissioner of Police as to action against smuggling in these commodities but the Senior Consul subsequently replied expressing disapproval while the Secretary to the Municipal Council and the Commissioner of Police have also replied to the effect that the sale of saltpetre and sulphur is a free trade in the Settlement and that if one company or one man were allowed the right for the sole sale of these goods a monopoly would thereby be created and this could not be entertained. The Magistrate has duly reported these circumstances for the information of the Taoyin and the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, as also the Bureau of Saltpetre and Sulphur of the Kiangsu Province, with the suggestion submitted that the matter be negotiated (by them or Commissioner for Foreign Affairs) with the Consular Body direct. Having received further directions on the same subject the Magistrate has pointed out in reply that as the point concerns local administration it had better be discussed by the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs with the Consular Body direct. The Taoyin, therefore, asks the Commissioner to take note and act accordingly.

The Commissioner finds that saltpetre and sulphur are materials essential in the manufacture of ammunition and that if their free sale is allowed they will very likely pass into the hands of bad characters thereby seriously affecting the public peace. He adds that the business of the said Company is of quite a different character from that of any other trade monopolies and under the circumstances he asks the Senior Consul to take note and to request the S.M.P. to cooperate accordingly.

Awaiting the favour of a reply.

YANGTCHENG.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 23, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 10 enclosing a copy and free translation of a communication from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs on the subject of the Sulphur and Saltpetre Monopoly of Kiangsu.

In reply, I have the honour to enclose a copy of the correspondence with the Foo Lee Company on this subject, which was published in the Municipal Gazette of May 13 last. From this you will note that the provincial monopolists have also approached the Council direct with regard to this matter and that in reply the Council reaffirmed its previous decision that no form of monopoly in the sale of these or any other commodities can be countenanced in the Settlement.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever,

Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

Health Officer

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION
No. 2715.
SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN. 1926.
Amount £750,000
Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

Wharfage Dues.

Correspondence with the French Municipal Council and the Commissioner of Customs on the subject of the levy of wharfage dues on transhipment cargo.

Shanghai, April 27, 1920.

SIR,—As you know, wharfage dues are paid on all goods imported into Shanghai, but not on goods transhipped at Shanghai. Cargo which is landed into bond and sent as bonded cargo to a second port is treated as transhipment cargo. Under ordinary Customs rules only foreign cargo can be bonded.

The ordinary Customs rule is that when a steamer arrives at Shanghai all her import cargo must be applied for within 15 days of the date of the vessel's clearance. During these 15 days the cargo can be either imported or transhipped. This period of 15 days may be extended for periods of 5 days on a payment of Tls. 20 for each extension.

During the late war, in order to meet the difficulties arising in connexion with the shortage of shipping, the Customs in Shanghai allowed native cargo arriving from an outport intended for a foreign country to be placed in special bond and transhipped without any time limit or payment of extension fees. By granting this privilege the Customs did, in effect, remit the wharfage dues due on all cargo arriving from outports en route to a foreign country.

On October 9 I issued a notification withdrawing this special bond privilege, and substituting, up to March 31, 1920, the following procedure :—

Customs Notification No. 928.

"Bond fide transhipment cargo from outports destined for Europe or America may remain at the importing vessel's wharf, without having to be passed through the Customs, for a period of 30 days over and above the already prescribed 15 days. A further extension up to another 30 days may be granted on payment of an extension fee of Tls. Tls. 20 for every five days over and above the 45 days now granted free of charge. After this last period the cargo, if not transhipped, must be imported.

This privilege is granted only to cargo which has been declared to be "For transhipment abroad" at the original port of shipment.

On expiry of the six months' period above mentioned, i.e., on April 1, 1920, transhipment cargo will be treated in accordance with normal regulations: if not transhipped within 15 days, it must be imported."

The British Chamber of Commerce has now written to me asking that these privileges should be extended for another period. As far as the Customs is concerned, I have no objection to this being done, but, as you see, if these privileges are extended the wharfage dues will suffer since a large amount of cargo that ought, under ordinary Customs rules, to be imported and pay wharfage dues, will be transhipped without payment of such dues.

It is the duty of the Customs to collect wharfage dues on your behalf, but I have no authority to remit these dues. Therefore, before replying to the letter of the Chamber of Commerce, I wish to be informed whether you have any objection to my acceding to the request of the Chamber. For were I to do so without your consent I should in effect be remitting wharfage dues on my own authority.

It is doubtful, whether the long standing practice of remitting wharfage and conservancy dues on transhipment cargo should not be changed. I do not think that cargo is ever transhipped direct from one ship to another. If it is ever done, the quantity thus transhipped is negligible. Practically all transhipment cargo is landed at a wharf and then reshipped from it. There seems no reason therefore why it should not pay wharfage dues and since all transhipment has the benefit of the harbour improvements carried out by the Conservancy Board there is certainly no reason why it should not pay conservancy dues.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
L. A. LYALL,
Commissioner of Customs.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the French Municipal Council dated (May 17, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to enclose herewith copy of a letter addressed to us from the Chinese Customs Administration on the subject of Wharfage Dues.

The Council, having considered this communication at its meeting of May 10, 1920, has directed me to inform you that it agrees in advance to the proposals which the Municipal Council desires to make in reply to this letter.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 25, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 17, on the subject of a communication made by the Customs Authorities relative to wharfage dues on transhipment cargo.

In reply thereto, I am directed to inform you that the Council, having regard to the fact that cargo transhipped is not destined for Shanghai, and to the fact that it is considered undesirable in the best interests of the Port, that Shanghai should be made an expensive place for transhipment, with the consequent tendency, were such to occur, for shippers to eliminate Shanghai from ports of call, considers it desirable to continue the practice whereunder wharfage dues are not levied on transhipment cargo, provided that on its part, the Customs will discontinue the levy of fees for extension permits on such cargo.

The Council is pleased to learn that the French Council will support the Municipal Council in its attitude with regard to this question.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

P. LEGENDRE, Esq.,
Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 29, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 27, on the subject of the levy of wharfage dues on cargo in course of transhipment at Shanghai.

In reply thereto, I am directed to inform you that the Council notes that the ordinary period within which import cargo must be applied for is fifteen days; that in former times transhipment cargo was required to be transhipped within that time, with extensions for periods of five days on payment of certain fees; that during the late war, the time limit was abolished; that between October 9, 1919 and March 31, 1920, the time limit was considered to be forty-five days with extensions up to thirty days additional, the fee being reimposed; and that it was proposed to revert to the fifteen days period.

The Council learns with interest that the British Chamber of Commerce has made application to you for an extension of these privileges; it is not, however, clear to the Council whether this application is for reversion to the arrangements obtaining during the late war, or for continuance of those put in force during the past half year.

The Council further notes that this proposal involves the question of collection of its wharfage dues, since cargo that under ordinary Customs rules would be considered to be imported, if privileged in the manner suggested, would remain classified as transhipment cargo, without liability to payment of dues.

I am directed to inform you that the Council has given careful consideration to this matter, and to the correlative question as to whether the existing practice should be continued under which wharfage dues are remitted on transhipment cargo.

In the first place, I may observe that under Land Regulation IX, authority is given for the collection of wharfage dues on all goods passed through the Chinese Customs house or landed, shipped or transhipped at any place within the limits of the Settlement. The agreement between the Council, the French Council, and the Customs of 1899 relative to this matter stipulates that such dues shall be levied on all goods as aforesaid, and in practice the Council, recognizing the importance of shipping in the economic development of Shanghai, does not require collection of wharfage dues on transhipment cargo.

This question having now been further considered, with special regard to changes which have taken place in the conditions heretofore obtaining, I am directed to state that the Council reaffirms its attitude with regard thereto, since in its opinion, in the best interests of Shanghai, it is in the highest degree undesirable that measures should be adopted, having a tendency to render the port expensive for the handling of cargo. To that end, and wishing to continue in a broad view of the subject, the Council has decided that in the future, as in the past, it will refrain from exercising its right to the collection of wharfage dues on transhipment cargo, if on your part, the Customs will co-operate, in the end sought, to the extent of waiving the fee for extension permits.

I may add that the French Council have addressed the Council on this subject and that it concurs in the views herein expressed.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

L. A. LYALL, Esq.,
Commissioner of Customs.

Shanghai, June 1, 1920.

SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of May 29, concerning the levy of wharfage dues on transhipment cargo. I am glad to learn that the Council is willing to refrain from collecting wharfage dues on transhipment cargo if the Customs will co-operate to the extent of waiving the fee for extension permits.

I am informing the British Chamber of Commerce that from June 1 till the end of August 45 days will be allowed by this office, free of charge, for the transhipment of Chinese cargo, which has been declared "for transhipment abroad" at the original port of shipment, subject to the approval of the Inspector General.

This will meet the difficulty for the time being, and before the end of August, I shall consider whether I can recommend to the Inspector General that the 15 days limit ordinarily allowed the agents of a vessel, after she has left the port, to apply for all her inward cargo, be permanently extended in the case of transhipment cargo.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
L. A. LYALL,
Commissioner of Customs.

E. S. B. ROWE, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 5, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of June 1, on the subject of wharfage dues on transhipment cargo, and in reply thereto to inform you that the Council notes with satisfaction your views on this subject.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Rabies or Hydrophobia.

THE DISEASE.—Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute fatal disease, generally communicated to man through a wound made by the teeth of some infected animal, the saliva being the infective medium. Dogs, cats, goats, cows, horses, and other animals are susceptible to the disease and their bites are very dangerous. Hydrophobia may also be contracted by allowing the saliva (froth) of an infected animal to come in contact with a cut or scratch. This sometimes happens in adjusting muzzles, in trying to remove what seems to be a bone in the throat, or in giving medicines. The saliva may be virulent (poisonous) for one or two days before a dog shows any signs of being sick.

SYMPTOMS.—The disease in the dog appears in two forms. In the furious type, he may suddenly leave home, wandering off for many miles, perhaps, to return in a day or two emaciated, wounded, and utterly changed. During the time of "running mad" he may have bitten many persons and other animals. He seems impelled to bite anything that comes in his way. He cannot be said, as a rule, to fight with other dogs. He bites them and passes on, but does not go out of his way very much to attack them. His main object seems to be to keep moving, as if to escape something. The dumb variety is characterized by progressive paralysis of the lower jaw, change in character of bark, and marked nervousness. The animal may appear very affectionate, but may bite without warning. Death usually results in from three to six days from the onset of sickness.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SUSPECTED ANIMAL.—When an animal is suspected of having this disease it should be captured at once, if possible, and securely confined. A veterinary surgeon should be called to see the dog, or the circumstance should be reported to the nearest Police Station where they will arrange without payment for the transfer of the dog to the Observation Kennel under the care of the Health Officer.

Dogs, suspected of rabies, should, if possible, be captured alive; but they may be killed, if danger of any person being bitten can thereby be avoided. The reason being that if preserved alive it can be ascertained in a day or two whether the animal has rabies, while if killed it usually takes fourteen days to find out.

When other dogs have been bitten by a rabid dog they should either be killed immediately or handed over to the charge of a veterinary surgeon.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BITTEN.—The bite of any animal should be cleaned throughout its depth and cauterized as soon as possible by a doctor.

The person bitten should come to the Health Officer to see if Pasteur Treatment is necessary.

It is absolutely necessary for persons bitten by rabid animals or animals suspected of rabies to have the Pasteur Treatment. This is given at the Municipal Health Office and takes about three weeks. The fee for Pasteur Treatment is Tls. 50 reducible in cases of necessity.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Health Officer's Report for May.

The month of May showed the low death rate which is characteristic of this month. May usually comes as a period of rest when the dangers of the winter from Smallpox and respiratory diseases are over and when the special dangers of the summer from infected food are not yet begun.

Cases of Cerebrospinal fever, however, continued to occur, especially among the Chinese community.

Over 2,500 free vaccinations were done at the Branch Health Offices during the month. Considerable assistance was given by some of the boys of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. who organized a Health Champaign, including the whipping in of the unvaccinated.

There was a small outbreak of Typhus fever among Municipal prisoners which was nipped in the bud by delousing operations.

There has been an exceptional incidence of Rabies among dogs in Shanghai, as has previously been recorded in May and June. Twenty persons had to undergo the Pasteur treatment during the month as a preventive. Those who have not seen the notice giving information regarding Rabies and telling people what to do may obtain a copy on application to the Health Officer or from their District Health Inspectors. Persons keeping dogs should recognize the special danger in Shanghai where the Settlement is surrounded by a perennial source of Rabies infection. Further steps may become necessary to very considerably reduce the number of dogs as a measure for the protection of the public. That there is a marked indifference to the Muzzling Order must be apparent to anyone who is on the lookout for unmuzzled dogs. Like so many other Public Health measures the remedy lies with the public themselves, under expert direction. Shanghai is no proper place for keeping pet dogs.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a Special Summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

ARTHUR STANLEY,

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

Health Officer.

Parks Report for April.

Jessfield Park:—

Despite the dilatoriness of the contractors in delivering materials, good progress in laying out was effected. Planting of trees and shrubs is completed for this season.

Hongkew Recreation Ground:—

To facilitate the development of the section on the Western side, when it becomes available, various groups of trees and shrubs were planted, together with a hedge along the future Boundary Road and a drive way connecting the present Kiangwan Road with the future Boundary Road, was marked out.

The planting of the children's playground is completed. To ensure shade, as rapidly as possible, trees and shrubs of a fair size and such as grow rapidly were employed. This section is ample, and there is now no reason for children of tender years entering the main section of the ground, where they are in danger, especially as their animals neglect them and allow them to cross playing areas.

Parents, who do not accompany their children, are strongly advised to instruct their amahs to keep the children in their own section. The Avenue leading to the main entrance, which was increased in width, and suitably laid out last year, is much admired. This avenue demonstrates to what an extent the beauty and health of the Settlement would appreciate were it found possible to prolong it, so that it would link up the main parks. The idea of a Park Way merits consideration, for within the last decade, roads which by reason of the private gardens abutting thereon were pleasant to traverse are now devoid of gardens. Given continued progress, it is safe to prophecy that another decade will see the extinction of the gardens with their health-giving vegetation and attractive appearance in the main parts of the Settlement.

General:—

Band stands, chairs and seats were painted and repaired, and Summer houses were re-thatched.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

Murder.—On the night of May 21 a Chinese hawker was stabbed and killed by a companion on Sing Kee Pang Road. The murderer turned the knife on himself inflicting a serious wound which necessitated his removal to hospital where he is detained.

Armed Robberies.—Two reports of armed robberies from dwelling houses were received during the month, one in Hongkew and the other in Sinza District, and a highway robbery, in which no arms were used, took place in Hongkew District.

One person was arrested on a charge of attempted murder and armed robbery committed prior to May 1 and sentenced to imprisonment in the Municipal Gaol.

The two persons referred to in my report for April as being under remand on charges of robbery have been dealt with, one receiving a sentence of imprisonment and the charge against the other being dismissed.

Execution for Offences committed in the Settlement. — During the month three persons, who were tried and found guilty of being concerned in an attempted murder and robbery in the Settlement, were executed at Lunghua in the presence of a representative of the Municipal Police.

Stolen Property.—324 reports of property stolen were made during the month to the Police. In 123 cases investigations were made with successful results. The return shows an increase of 3 on the previous month and an increase of 43 on the corresponding month of last year.

Bicycle and Ricsha Thefts.—The theft of bicycles and private ricshas continues to be a frequent occurrence, the Police warnings in previous months having apparently failed to attract the necessary attention. Owners are warned not to leave these vehicles unattended and unsecured in the roadway or in the hallways of offices or public buildings.

The time may soon arrive when the Police will have to be empowered to bring to the Station any vehicles seen on the streets unprotected and in view of the number of bicycles now being used in the Settlement, it may be necessary, in the interests of the owners and the public, to license them and compel the fixing of an identification number plate.

Strikes.—Contrary to expectations, the month of May was remarkable for an absence of political agitation. Attempts to hold a monster demonstration on Labour Day (May 1) were unsuccessful as a result of precautionary measures taken by the Chinese and Settlement Authorities. The anniversary, May 4, of the attack on the house of the alleged pro-Japanese Official Tsao Jui-ling, as well as "National Disgrace Day" (May 9) passed off quietly, except that on the latter day shops dealing in school requisites were closed and several Chinese residents flew the national flag at half mast. The quietness experienced during May was doubtless due to the existence of Martial Law proclaimed on April 24 and still continued in a modified form. The closing on May 6 of the National Organizations' Union of China, No. 15/16 Yong Loh Lee, Rue Amiral Bayle, which deprived the agitators of their meeting places, also contributed to the general tranquillity.

Considerable discontent arose among the industrial classes during the month as a result of a 20 per cent. increase in the price of rice. No less than three strikes occurred. 200 tailors ceased work on May 16 but resumed on May 20 after being granted a 20 per cent. advance in wages. 200 girls employed in the knitting trade struck work on May 23 as a protest against a retention of a portion of their wages as "Guarantee Money" but the majority have since resumed. 80 Japanese shoemakers struck work for an increase of 30 per cent. on May 14, but the strikers, with a few exceptions, resumed unconditionally on May 22. Demands made by pigskin box makers, makers of soles for Chinese shoes, masons and carpenters for increase in wages were partially acceded to and strikes were thus avoided.

Bolshevik Propaganda.—There is no longer any room for doubt that General Chen Chin-ming of Changchowfu, Fokien, has openly declared his adherence to Bolshevism, and thereby given an unexpected fillip to communist propaganda in this country. Leaflets prepared for distribution in Shanghai on May Day and sentiments expressed at various gatherings during the month indicate the activity of local Bolshevik agitators. The collapse of the May Day celebration was without doubt a serious set back to their plans.

Anti-Japanese Boycott. — The "Boycott Bad Goods" Society, which remained quiet for a time, probably in consequence of the proclamation of Martial Law, has again become active. At meetings held in the Society's headquarters, No. 15 Sah Ts Loong, inside the new North Gate, on May 23 and 30, it was decided to canvass the Street Unions and certain shopkeepers with a view to the continuation of the boycott.

Price of Rice.—The present price of rice is complicating the local situation and gives cause for anxiety. The highest price reached was $10.20 and the lowest $9 per picul, that is to say $3 per picul over the normal price, and as long as the high price of rice continues, further strikes among artisans and labourers and robbery amongst the rougher classes may be expected. It is to be hoped that every effort will be made to relieve the present somewhat critical situation and that any profiteering that may be discovered will be punished with a heavy hand.

Identification Office.— During the month 541 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 178 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 126 records were received from the French Police out of which number 68 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Report of the Acting Commissioner of Public Works for May.

The labour situation became acute during the month, and it was found necessary to suspend several public works. The nature of the work upon which the majority of the men are employed does not attract a very high type of labourer, and with the increased demand for all classes of labour in Shanghai, it is extremely difficult to obtain sufficient unskilled men physically able to do 9 hours work a day, when the work is of a particularly arduous nature, such, for example, as sewer trench work. These remarks apply particularly to the Central District, where work is for various reasons, extremely unpopular.

All daily rates of pay are on a copper coinage basis. The debasement and depreciation of copper 10-cash pieces has doubtless inflicted some hardship on the men, nevertheless a comparison of the silver value of wages drawn in 1906 and 1918 (when increased rates of pay were issued) with the value to-day, rather points to the fact that for a poor class of labourer living a hand-to-mouth existence, payment in copper has its advantages; he has for one thing, no exchange losses to suffer.

The lowest daily rate is that paid to street sweepers, who in 1906 received 25 ten-cash pieces per day, then equal to about $7.82 per month. In 1918 the rate was increased to 28 ten-cash pieces per day, then equal to $6.74 per month. Under the increased rates authorised for June, he will receive 32 ten-cash pieces per day, which upon May 31, was equivalent to about $6.92 per month.

There is invariably a shortage of available labour during the summer months, owing to an exodus to agricultural districts for better pay and more congenial work, and this exodus occurs when the demand for public works labour reaches a maximum. The high demand at this period is due to the commencement of works authorized by the passing of the Municipal Budget in April, and to various forms of asphalt work which cannot be carried out in cold weather.

It is confidently hoped that the revised rates of pay will bring about a material improvement, but whether the rates are sufficient to attract labour from distant centres is a point which will take some months to decide.

Roads.—Asphaltic concrete has been laid in Soochow Road between the Bund and Honan Road, with the exception of a section of the road adjoining Szechuen Road Bridge, which will need raising when the bridge is reconstructed.

Yuen-Ming-Yuen Road has been similarly treated, and work is now in progress in Kiangse Road, North of Nanking Road.

The widening of the Bund is in hand between Peking Road and Nanking Road, where a new surface drain is being laid, and the ground excavated for the purpose of laying spall foundations.

The stone pitching has been completed from Peking Road to Hankow Road and South of the Custom House so far as Canton Road. The rate of progress on this work is limited by the output of stone pitching at the Quarry. The statue of Sir Harry Parkes is being moved nearer the river front and the statute of Sir Robert Hart will be moved East. These two statues have to be moved as they come within the line of the proposed carriageway on the East side of the Bund.

An important widening is being effected in Bubbling Well Road, West of Myburgh Road.

A commencement has been made with the making up of Thibet Road between Peking Road and Soochow Road over the old Defence Creek.

Gordon Road is being ballasted and metalled for the full width of the carriageway between Ichang Road and Haiphong Road.

Penang Road is being raised and culverted between Kiaochow Road and Robison Road.

The following roads are being raised and formed:—

Linching Road between Pingliang Road and Yangtszepoo Road, Holung Road East of Yangtszepoo Road, Kueiyang Road between Pingliang Road and Yangtszepoo Road.

Drainage.—The creek in Yu Yuen Road is being culverted between Kiaochow Road and Hart Road.

The side ditch on Avenue Road has been culverted, between Gordon Road and Hardoon Road.

The sewer in Kwanghsin Road has been extended to the new Bund line.

A 12-in. drain sewer is being laid in Hailar Road, East of Urga Road.

Creeks and Rivers.—The passenger pontoons have been repaired and painted.

A concrete bunding is being constructed in West Soochow Road, East of Tatung Road, with the co-operation of the frontager concerned.

Extensive dredging is being done at the mouth of the Soochow Creek, and the channel is being partially diverted to the Northern side. So far, 2,000 fong of mud has been excavated, and is being largely used for raising roads in the Eastern District.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Buildings.—Very satisfactory progress is being made with the work generally, and no effort is being spared to complete a part of the building so that the Finance Department can take possession of their rooms in September. A large part of the mosaic paving has been laid.

FIRE BRIGADE.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The laying of the concrete to the second floor has been completed, and progress made with the brick and stonework of the top storey and of the tower.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Administration Building Substation.—Concretework for the second storey has been completed, and a portion of the centering for the top storey has been put in place.

Tonquin Road Substation.—The expanded metal screen round the first storey has been completed. The minor changes necessitated by the proposed extension, including the external staircase on the East side of the building, have also been completed.

Pingchiao Quarry.—1,490 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. Efforts are being concentrated upon the production of stone pitching for the Bund reclamation.

C. HARPUR,
Acting Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which has not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Rabies or Hydrophobia.

THE DISEASE.—Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute fatal disease, generally communicated to man through a wound made by the teeth of some infected animal, the saliva being the infective medium. Dogs, cats, goats, cows, horses, and other animals are susceptible to the disease and their bites are very dangerous. Hydrophobia may also be contracted by allowing the saliva (froth) of an infected animal to come in contact with a cut or scratch. This sometimes happens in adjusting muzzles, in trying to remove what seems to be a bone in the throat, or in giving medicines. The saliva may be virulent (poisonous) for one or two days before a dog shows any signs of being sick.

SYMPTOMS.—The disease in the dog appears in two forms. In the furious type, he may suddenly leave home, wandering off for many miles, perhaps, to return in a day or two emaciated, wounded, and utterly changed. During the time of "running mad" he may have bitten many persons and other animals. He seems impelled to bite anything that comes in his way. He cannot be said, as a rule, to fight with other dogs. He bites them and passes on, but does not go out of his way very much to attack them. His main object seems to be to keep moving, as if to escape something. The dumb variety is characterized by progressive paralysis of the lower jaw, change in character of bark, and marked nervousness. The animal may appear very affectionate, but may bite without warning. Death usually results in from three to six days from the onset of sickness.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SUSPECTED ANIMAL.—When an animal is suspected of having this disease it should be captured at once, if possible, and securely confined. A veterinary surgeon should be called to see the dog, or the circumstance should be reported to the nearest Police Station where they will arrange without payment for the transfer of the dog to the Observation Kennel under the care of the Health Officer.

Dogs, suspected of rabies, should, if possible, be captured alive; but they may be killed, if danger of any person being bitten can thereby be avoided. The reason being that if preserved alive it can be ascertained in a day or two whether the animal has rabies, while if killed it usually takes fourteen days to find out.

When other dogs have been bitten by a rabid dog they should either be killed immediately or handed over to the charge of a veterinary surgeon.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BITTEN.—The bite of any animal should be cleansed throughout its depth and cauterized as soon as possible by a doctor.

The person bitten should come to the Health Officer to see if Pasteur Treatment is necessary.

It is absolutely necessary for persons bitten by rabid animals or animals suspected of rabies to have the Pasteur Treatment. This is given at the Municipal Health Office and takes about three weeks. The fee for Pasteur Treatment is Tls. 50 reducible in cases of necessity.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

Pootung Cemetery.

Request by the Rev. A. Haovisee for permission to use the Pootung Cemetery as a burial ground, with reply:—

Loh Ka-tse, May 29, 1920.

SIR,—The small burial ground of the Loh Ka-tse parish church (Pootung) has become utterly inadequate to answer the wants of the Christian population.

The whole extent is almost filled up, sometimes with four layers of coffins deep. If the death rate is the same as last year, the purchase of a new piece of ground is urgently needed.

Besides the point of view of the respect due to the dead, the public salubrity has its claim here too, as the coffins unavoidably kept in the open air are a constant threat of infection for the whole neighbourhood.

Now the total amount required for the purchase of the necessary ground would be rather high and the pecuniary resources of our people are quite inadequate for the purpose.

But near the Loh Ka-tse parish church is a cemetery (Pootung cemetery) with a good part till now unoccupied. Consequently, would it be permitted to suggest some intention about this part of Pootung cemetery. If you could kindly allow us only this part quite unoccupied for the burial-place of our Christians, we could according to the regulations of the cemetery clean it and keep it in good condition and so it would not be necessary to disaffect it what is, no doubt much more suitable to the respect due to the dead.

Well aware of the kind interest you show to the working classes, I take the liberty to beg you and the Municipal Council kindly to grant the execution of that charitable plan.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. HAOVISEE, S.J.,
Missionary now in charge Loh Katse parish church, Pootung.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 22, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 29, requesting permission to use the Pootung Cemetery as a burial ground for your parishioners.

In reply thereto, I am directed to inform you that this Cemetery was officially closed in 1904. It contained 1,783 bodies but a few were exhumed and reinterred in the Bubbling Well Cemetery. It may be that you have gained the impression that in some cases absence of head-stones and recession of ground means vacant land, but except for isolated spaces resulting from exhumation, no vacant ground exists.

I am directed therefore to inform you with regret that the Council cannot entertain your request.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Rev. A. HAOVISEE,
Missionary in Charge,
Loh Ka-tse Parish Church,

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Mixed Court Report for May.

The undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court on criminal charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
Edward Wahlstrom	Finn	Drunk and Incapable	3 month' impt.
Adolf Laze alias Victor Zamaraiff	Lett	Misappropriation	Withdrawn

The outstanding feature in connexion with Criminal Cases was the number of persons sentenced to imprisonment, a total of 235 which is the highest for any one month since July, 1918.

During the month the Court tried:—

232 cases of larceny as against 227 in April.
15 cases of gambling as against 147 in April.

There were only two cases of robbery, which is the lowest on record since August, 1915.

The number of charges against chauffeurs remains up to the general average. Of the 59 cases this month, all the accused were found guilty and punished by the infliction of a fine of $10 or under, except ten persons whose fines ranged from $15 to $50.

Twenty-two foreign civil cases were filed during the month. There are thirty cases on the hearing list of which thirteen are awaiting a first hearing.

Thirty-two Chinese civil cases are awaiting a first hearing as against 38 at the end of April.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

F. L. WAINWRIGHT,
Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Night-soil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrine. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Rabies or Hydrophobia.

THE DISEASE.—Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute fatal disease, generally communicated to man through a wound made by the teeth of some infected animal, the saliva being the infective medium. Dogs, cats, goats, cows, horses, and other animals are susceptible to the disease and their bites are very dangerous. Hydrophobia may also be contracted by allowing the saliva (froth) of an infected animal to come in contact with a cut or scratch. This sometimes happens in adjusting muzzles, in trying to remove what seems to be a bone in the throat, or in giving medicine. The saliva may be virulent (poisonous) for one or two days before a dog shows any signs of being sick.

SYMPTOMS.—The disease in the dog appears in two forms. In the furious type, he may suddenly leave home, wandering off for many miles, perhaps, to return in a day or two emaciated, wounded, and utterly changed. During the time of "running mad" he may have bitten many persons and other animals. He seems impelled to bite anything that comes in his way. He cannot be said, as a rule, to fight with other dogs. He bites them and passes on, but does not go out of his way very much to attack them. His main object seems to be to keep moving, as if to escape something.

The dumb variety is characterized by progressive paralysis of the lower jaw, change in character of bark, and marked nervousness. The animal may appear very affectionate, but may bite without warning. Death usually results in from three to six days from the onset of sickness.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SUSPECTED ANIMAL.—When an animal is suspected of having this disease it should be captured at once, if possible, and securely confined. A veterinary surgeon should be called to see the dog, or the circumstance should be reported to the nearest Police Station where they will arrange without payment for the transfer of the dog to the Observation Kennel under the care of the Health Officer.

Dogs, suspected of rabies, should, if possible, be captured alive; but they may be killed, if danger of any person being bitten can thereby be avoided. The reason being that if preserved alive it can be ascertained in a day or two whether the animal has rabies, while if killed it usually takes fourteen days to find out.

When other dogs have been bitten by a rabid dog they should either be killed immediately or handed over to the charge of a veterinary surgeon.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BITTEN.—The bite of any animal should be cleaned throughout its depth and cauterized as soon as possible by a doctor.

The person bitten should come to the Health Officer to see if Pasteur Treatment is necessary.

It is absolutely necessary for persons bitten by rabid animals or animals suspected of rabies to have the Pasteur Treatment. This is given at the Municipal Health Office and takes about three weeks. The fee for Pasteur Treatment is Tls. 50 reducible in cases of necessity.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer

Public Band.

TARIFF.

The charge for the services of the Band is Tls. 40, and of a Half-Band, consisting of not less than three European and twelve Manila musicians, Tls. 25 per hour or part of an hour.

The services of a smaller number of musicians may be engaged at the rate per hour or part thereof of Tls. 3 for European, and Tls. 1.50 for Manila musicians. In a group numbering less than a Half-Band, the following charge is made for the services of the piano player:—

per hour or part thereof
European	Manilaman
Tls. 1.50	Tls. 1.00

Where not less than a Half-Band is engaged, one rehearsal is permitted without fee, all other rehearsals are charged for at one-third of the above rates.

For the services of a soloist an additional fee of Tls. 25 is charged, inclusive of such rehearsals as are necessary.

Discounts during a season shall be allowed on Full and Half-Bands as follows:—

after 3 performances 20%
" " " 40%

Discounts are not allowed on groups of less than a Half-Band or on rehearsals.

The cost of conveyance of musicians for distances beyond a radius of 1 mile from the Municipal Offices, Kiangse Road, must be defrayed by the persons engaging them.

The European musicians are allowed to give private music lessons, with the Conductor's permission obtained in each case.

Applications for engagements and cancellations should be addressed to the Assistant Secretary of Council, Municipal Offices, not less than 24 hours notice should be given in each case. Inquiries concerning details as to performances, music required, etc., may be made of the Conductor direct (Telephone Central 1191).

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

RICE PROFITEERING.

FROM investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that, in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Volunteer Corps.

Annual Inspection.—Letter from Colonel J. R. Young, Commanding the Forces in China, and Report by Lieut.-Colonel R. Wyndham, 2nd Batn. The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire) Regiment, upon his inspection of the Corps, are appended:—

Hongkong, June 16, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to forward herewith a copy of Lieutenant-Colonel Wyndham's Report on his Inspection of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps on April 22, 1920, and following days, together with extracts from my letter forwarding same to the War Office.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. R. YOUNG, Colonel,
Commanding the Forces in China.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

(Enclosure No. 1.)

Hongkong, June 14, 1920.

SIR,—With reference to War Office letter No. 083/5198 (S.D. 4) dated August 1, 1919, I have the honour to forward for the information of the Army Council the reports of an Inspection of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps made by Lieut.-Colonel J. R. Wyndham, 2nd Bn. The Wiltshire Regiment, who was deputed for that purpose by Major-General F. Ventris, C.B.

2.—The Corps is about 50 stronger than it was a year ago, and this in spite of the fact that a number of men who returned from war service preferred to form themselves into another unit, which is called the "Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit," and is under the control of the Municipal Police.

3.—I understand unofficially that a beginning has been made to fulfil the promise to supply more modern weapons, contained in the above quoted letter and would urge that the further provision necessary may be expedited.

4.—Finally I beg leave to call your attention to Colonel Wyndham's remarks on the very valuable work done by the Commandant, Major T. E. Trueman, during the past six years. My own knowledge enables me to say that Colonel Wyndham has not at all exaggerated the difficulties of the task undertaken by this officer nor the admirable way in which it has been performed.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. R. YOUNG, Colonel,
Commanding the Forces in China.

P.S.—I take this opportunity to recommend for consideration that the names of the British Officers of this Corps should be printed in the Army List, as already approved in the case of the North China British Volunteer Corps (W.O. letter 083/5141 (C. 3. A.L. dated October 25, 1918).

J. R. YOUNG.

The SECRETARY,
War Office, London, S.W. 1.

(Enclosure No. 2.)

Hongkong, May 25, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to forward herewith a report on my inspection of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps last month, together with the following documents enclosed:—

1.—Programme of inspection. (This had to be altered owing to the bad weather, which rendered the inspection Parade on April 24 impossible to hold. It was accordingly held on April 28 following.)

2.—List of Officers of the Corps by units.

3.—Rules for the "Barnes Cup" Competition, which takes place annually.

4.—Inspection Parade State.

5.—Regulations for the Corps.

6.—Mobilization Manual and Map showing Mobilisation Posts of various units, and Scheme of Chinese Company, etc.

7.—Description and Equipment card kept for each member of Corps.

8.—Report on Artillery Target Practice at Woosung on May 2, 1920.

In Major T. E. Trueman, the Corps possesses a very able, energetic and tactful Commandant, to whom has fallen the extremely difficult task of keeping the Corps efficient and up to strength during nearly 5 years of war, during a large portion of which there were Companies belonging to enemy nationalities forming part of the Corps. That he has done so successfully and that the Corps is in its present efficient condition speaks very highly for this Officer's capacity and I should like to draw particular attention to the services he has rendered. He has been most ably seconded by Capt. Canning, the Corps Staff Officer.

The armament and equipment of the Corps is not up to date. I have devoted a special para. to this in the Report.

In other respects, I consider the Corps to be an invaluable and efficient little Force well trained for and admirably adapted to the purpose for which it exists.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
R. WYNDHAM, Lieut.-Colonel,
2nd Bn. The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire) Regiment.

Headquarters,
China Command, Hongkong.

REPORT OF INSPECTION 1920.

1.—On the day after my arrival at Shanghai, viz., on April 22, 1920, I saw "A" Company (British) team in the Barnes' Cup Competition. This is an inter-Company marching and firing contest arranged, not only to test the average merit of the Companies in these two points, but also the local knowledge of the settlement by the O. C. Team, the route being kept secret till the day each team competes. "A" Company, which subsequently proved to be the winning team, marched 4½ miles in 54½ minutes, and the men arrived at the firing point in good condition. The fire control and application was very fair. This team subsequently were found to have scored the biggest percentage of hits to rounds fired. The whole performance was quite satisfactory.

I subsequently inspected the range and the 30 yards range in rear. Both are in excellent condition and well cared for. The landscape targets in the latter are hand painted representing the country round, and are therefore practical.

2.—At 2.30 p.m. I inspected Headquarters which are centrally situated in the Town Hall. A new H.Q. is in process of completion close by, but the building is not quite finished. It possesses a very fine drill hall capable of holding the whole corps on parade if required; the various offices and stores will be in the same building and are very fine ones, as also stables for the Artillery ponies which will then be close to their guns, thereby doing away with the present undesirable system under which the ponies are stabled some distance away, which hinders a quick turn out.

I saw all books, documents, records, spare arms and equipment. The 3 former are well kept and the latter well looked after and in serviceable condition. Both the Corps Sgt.-Major and Qr.-Mr.-Sgt. are Regulars, are efficient and know their work.

I also saw the Mobilisation Scheme, as to which see para 6 below.

3.—At 6 p.m. I saw "A" and "B" Companies (British), the American Company, Shanghai Scottish, Maritime, Machine Gun and Customs Companies at work. They gave me a very favourable impression. The drill was quite good. All ranks appeared very keen. Officers and N.C.O.'s appeared efficient, could detect mistakes and correct them.

4.—At 5.45 p.m. on April 23, I inspected the Shanghai Light Horse, Artillery Company, Italian, Portuguese, Japanese, Chinese and Reserve Companies at work. Some of these were drilling, others skirmishing. The Light Horse and Artillery struck me as particularly good. The mounted work was smart, average horsemanship very fair indeed, ponies in good condition, fit and well cared for. The dismounted work of the Light Horse satisfactory. The work of the Infantry Units was up to the standard of those I had seen the previous day, and the extended order work of the Japanese Company was good.

At 6.30 p.m. I saw the Engineer Co. building a bridge. This Company now has the Weldon trestles recommended last year by the Inspecting Officer and were using them. In addition they had constructed a trestle themselves as they had not sufficient for the length of the bridge.

The Bridge was well made and practical for Infantry, but the chesses for the roadway were too thin and weak for either horses or guns. As the country round is full of creeks which would have to be crossed in the event of operations being necessary, I think this defect should be remedied.

5.—On April 24, the Inspection Parade should have taken place. The weather, however, was so bad that the Polo Ground, the only one available, was under water and the Parade had to be postponed.

In spite of this however, the Corps turned out and marched past me in Column of route on the road, the marching was very good and there was an excellent muster, over 800 being on parade.

6.—On April 26, Mobilisation was ordered at 9.15 p.m. by the Commandant at my request on the telephone, and I started to visit the various posts at 9.40 p.m. The Mobilisation was very quickly and accurately carried out. Proper precautions had been taken at once, patrols sent out, and vulnerable points, such as bridges, gas works were at once guarded. The Scheme I had inspected at Headquarters seemed to be well understood and worked well. I found a complete cordon round the Settlement, the various posts were in touch with H.Q. and each other, Commanders of posts knew for what they were responsible, and sentries were generally well acquainted with their orders. There was a tendency to overdo the number of sentries and some other minor points which I pointed out to the Commandant, and which he promised to correct, but I consider the Scheme a sound one and it worked very satisfactorily, and was well carried out. I satisfied myself by various test questions that the Mobilisation that night had come as a surprise and had not been known beforehand and prepared for.

7.—On the 29th, I saw the Japanese Company on the range in the Barnes' Cup Competition. They took slightly longer than "A" Coy. to cover the distance of the march, their Fire Discipline and Application was rather better, but their shooting not so accurate as that of "A".

At 5.30 p.m. the same day, I inspected the whole corps on parade and they marched past.

The parade movements were excellently carried out, the men were steady on parade, the marching and dressing very good. The Light Horse and Artillery then went past at the trot and gallop; both movements were very well executed. The results attained are the more creditable, as the Corps does no Battalion drill owing to the difference in language and drill of the various nationalities.

8.—On May 2, I proceeded to Woosung and saw the Artillery at target practice on the new range recently acquired. The results are shown in (8) attached.

The range is situated on the banks of the Yangtze river and firing is across it. As, however, the river is here some 11 miles wide there is ample room. The question of the river traffic is arranged by having a launch out in the stream to the flank of the target from which signals are sent to the Battery showing when the range is clear or otherwise, and on which is an Observation Officer observing the results of the firing. The range, though only a river one, is quite practical and safe for guns of much larger calibre than anything the Corps is likely to require.

9.—The great handicap to its efficiency under which the Corps suffers is the obsolete nature of its arms and equipment. I understand that a report to this effect was submitted by the Inspecting Officer last year and more modern arms have been promised, but so far none have been received.

Thus the Artillery are armed with obsolete 12 pdrs. firing an obsolete form of shell which they informed me is no longer procurable at all, as none are now manufactured. The guns themselves are old and as will be seen on reference to report are liable to get out of order when fired and require constant attention to keep them in any way efficient. Their only range finder is the old mekometer which is very inaccurate.

The Machine Guns are old-fashioned Nordenfeldts and Maxims cumbersome and heavy, worn or rapidly wearing out, and liable to jams, etc. In this regard, I should like to bring to notice that the Italian Government has recently sent out to their Company 2 Fiat Guns of the latest pattern, admirable little weapons in every way and very light and handy, and mounted on light carriages adapted for man haulage, and which present a marked contrast to the old-fashioned weapons with which the Machine Gun Co., which is British, is armed.

The rifles which are all British are of various marks of Lee Enfield both long and short, and the same remarks refer to the bayonets, the old short bayonet predominating.

Finally the equipment is the old brown leather for the British Companies, the Americans being provided with webbing somewhat after our own Army pattern.

I strongly recommend that both armament and equipment be brought up to date, and that a proportion of Lewis Guns, say 2 per Company, be issued to each Infantry Company.

The Corps possesses two Ford motor wagons on which a machine gun is mounted. These is, however, no protection for the crew and they are merely makeshifts for an armoured car which would be of very great use for the sort of work which the Corps is likely to be called on to carry out.

I add under confidential cover some further recommendations as to armament which would, I consider, be of great assistance in adding to the efficiency of the Corps.

As the greater majority of the Corps is British, and British interests are largely predominant in Shanghai, I consider it advisable that the armament and equipment of the Corps should also be British.

R. WYNDHAM, Lieut.-Colonel, 2nd Bn. The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire) Regiment. Inspecting Officer.

Fire Brigade Report for May.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 21, as against 32 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 11,600 (Foreign Tls. nil: Chinese Tls. 11,600), as against Tls. 71,075 (Foreign Tls. 65,025: Chinese Tls. 6,050) during May 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 213,000 (Foreign Tls. 25,000: Chinese Tls. 188,000), as against Tls. 593,000 (Foreign Tls. 425,000: Chinese Tls. 168,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 10, Watch Towers 6, Police 4, and Staff 1. The district call was given on 6 occasions, the remaining 15 being station calls. These calls proved to be 15 small fires, 2 false alarms and 4 fires outside the Settlement.

The main supposed causes of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Dropped match or cigarette end 2, Sparks from chimney 2, Sparks, ashes or embers from stove 2, Fusing of electric wires 2, Child playing with matches 1, Lamp in contact with curtain 1, Arson 1, and Unknown 4. The premises affected were:—Foreign buildings—, and Chinese buildings 14. Of these 4 buildings were destroyed by fire, and 10 others were more or less damaged by fire, smoke and water.

The Brigade was occupied 229 hours and 20 minutes at fires, or supposed fires.

There was a case of arson during the month, action was taken in the Mixed Court, two employes received sentences of 5 years each and another employe one year.

On May 23, there was a nasty outbreak at 1663 Avenue Edward VII. One Chinese woman was injured in rescuing two of her children. Discovering smoke she rushed upstairs and brought one child down, and again ascended the staircase, which was by this time on fire, discovered the second child and jumped out of the window. She was burnt about the face and neck and slightly injured. Her action can only be considered as one of great bravery.

In an adjoining house to where the fire started an excessive quantity of oil was discovered, action was taken, and a $50 fine imposed.

On May 29 some stables on Haining Road were discovered to be well alight at the back, there were 11 ponies in the premises and the firemen had a lively time in getting them out. All were removed safely and the damage to the building was slight.

On May 5, a serious outbreak of fire occurred at the New Jewish Club off Great Western Road, the club was practically completed and was to have been opened in a few weeks. The east wing was found in flames and in places the roof was already in. There was a large amount of lath and plaster work in the building, and it was only after an extremely hard battle that the fire was extinguished. The damage was confined to the centre north side and east wing, and mostly on the top floor.

Parks Report for May.

Jessfield Park.—The wisdom of those who counselled the acquisition of this area was amply demonstrated during the month by the numbers who frequented it, especially on Saturdays and Sundays—approximately 1,500 on Saturdays and 2,000 on Sundays.

Though a considerable amount of embellishment has still to be accomplished, the general ground work of the area acquired may be considered as nearly completed. In designing and developing this park, the chief object in view was that people of especially European origin would feel on entering the gates that they were in their home land. Landscape authorities perpetually asseverate "that the greatest art is to create a landscape which will appear as though it came into being by a natural sequence of nature's laws, and not by the deliberate action of the designer, compared with which architectural designs of geometrical patterns, as Italian gardens, terraces, etc., are the embodiment of simplicity." That this object has been accomplished to a considerable extent in this park, is evidenced by the fact that non-resident visitors are said to take it for granted that the contours of the land existed from time immemorial.

Of recent additions, the long border, begun in April, is the most showy feature. This border is designed to eventually be stocked with a collection of herbaceous perennials both of decorative and botanical interest. Such a collection may take some years to acquire: in the meantime it is planted with florists' flowers like Sweet Peas and Dahlias.

Sport.—The demand for playing space is abnormal and the indications are it will increase yearly. Every available foot of lawn in Hongkew Recreation Ground and Wayside Park is in use daily. The same may be said of the Public Recreation Ground. As tennis gives the greatest amount of recreation to the greatest number, cricket has been abolished from Hongkew Recreation Ground. This congestion of playing space merits careful consideration as it is generally understood that open air recreation is essential to the health of residents here, especially the young people. The Athletic Track in Hongkew Recreation Ground has been much used for training purposes. Two meets were held. The Japanese Athletic Association held one which attracted fully 4,000 spectators and an Inter School Meet was attended by about 500.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising it to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with night-soil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito nat should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Rabies or Hydrophobia.

THE DISEASE.—Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute fatal disease, generally communicated to man through a wound made by the teeth of some infected animal, the saliva being the infective medium. Dogs, cats, goats, cows, horses, and other animals are susceptible to the disease and their bites are very dangerous. Hydrophobia may also be contracted by allowing the saliva (froth) of an infected animal to come in contact with a cut or scratch. This sometimes happens in adjusting muzzles, in trying to remove what seems to be a bone in the throat, or in giving medicines. The saliva may be virulent (poisonous) for one or two days before a dog shows any signs of being sick.

SYMPTOMS.—The disease in the dog appears in two forms. In the furious type, he may suddenly leave home, wandering off for many miles, perhaps, to return in a day or two emaciated, wounded, and utterly changed. During the time of "running mad" he may have bitten many persons and other animals. He seems impelled to bite anything that comes in his way. He cannot be said, as a rule, to fight with other dogs. He bites them and passes on, but does not go out of his way very much to attack them. His main object seems to be to keep moving, as if to escape something. The dumb variety is characterized by progressive paralysis of the lower jaw, change in character of bark, and marked nervousness. The animal may appear very affectionate, but may bite without warning. Death usually results in from three to six days from the onset of sickness.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SUSPECTED ANIMAL.—When an animal is suspected of having this disease it should be captured at once, if possible, and securely confined. A veterinary surgeon should be called to see the dog, or the circumstance should be reported to the nearest Police Station where they will arrange without payment for the transfer of the dog to the Observation Kennel under the care of the Health Officer.

Dogs, suspected of rabies, should, if possible, be captured alive; but they may be killed, if danger of any person being bitten can thereby be avoided. The reason being that if preserved alive it can be ascertained in a day or two whether the animal has rabies, while if killed it usually takes fourteen days to find out.

When other dogs have been bitten by a rabid dog they should either be killed immediately or handed over to the charge of a veterinary surgeon.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BITTEN.—The bite of any animal should be cleaned throughout its depth and cauterized as soon as possible by a doctor.

The person bitten should come to the Health Officer to see if Pasteur Treatment is necessary.

It is absolutely necessary for persons bitten by rabid animals or animals suspected of rabies to have the Pasteur Treatment. This is given at the Municipal Health Office and takes about three weeks. The fee for Pasteur Treatment is Tls. 50 reducible in cases of necessity.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

RICE PROFITEERING.

FROM investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that, in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned.

Case of Illegal Detention.

Correspondence in continuation of that published in the Gazette of May 13, 1920:—

Shanghai, May 14, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated April 27, 1920 regarding the illegal arrest and detention by the Chinese Authorities of a resident of this Settlement named Ning Ang-ngi.

In reply, I beg to enclose herewith for your consideration and reply a copy of Chinese text and free translation of letter received from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Shanghai referring to the same subject.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. SIFFERT,
Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to the Senior Consul dated May 10, 1920.

The Commissioner for Foreign Affairs acknowledges receipt of a note from the Senior Consul, informing him that a Chinese resident of the Settlement named Ning Ah-ngi, has been arrested and detained by the local Sung Pan Ting and requesting that representations be made for his release, etc.

The Commissioner has accordingly communicated with the local Sung Pan Ting on the subject and he has now received a reply to the effect that on March 25 of this year Liu Hang-chen, Sho Chu-hung and Ning Ah-ngi personally appeared before the Court of Sung Pan Ting. The Court then sat and heard their evidence. Liu Hang-chen stated that the defendant, Ning Ah-ngi, lived in a place known as Lieu Ong Lane in the capital of the Shansi province where he (Ning) kept a dispensary known as "Tai I." As he owed some money to the Hsin Nee native bank, Yang Teskia, manager of the bank, instituted civil proceedings against him in the Tai Yuen Sung Pan Ting when he was placed in custody. Subsequently Liu Hang-chen and She Sih-chun (Sho Chu-hung's father) went security for him and he was released on bail in order to make arrangements outside to settle his accounts with the bank. However, since his release Ning Ah-ngi escaped therefrom, with the result that Sho Sih-chun (one of his guarantors) was summoned to and detained by the Tai Yuen Sung Pan Ting, being ordered to find and produce the defendant. Therefore Liu Hang-chen and Sho Chu-hung went out and made endeavours to find this man. When they got to Shanghai they met him and they went with him together to the local Sung Pan Ting and asked that the local Court (Sung Pan Ting) temporarily detain him so that they might be enabled to go back to Shansi to make a report to the Tai Yuen Sung Pan Ting to send some constables here to take the man to Shansi from the local Court. They also produced certain original copies of the judgments delivered by the High Court of Sung Pan Ting of Shansi and of the Tai Li Yuen (Supreme Court of Peking). The local Court has examined these documents and found them in order.

On hearing the evidence of Ning Ah-ngi, he admitted that he kept the "Tai I" dispensary and was imprisoned by the Tai Yuen Sung Pan Ting on account of his indebtedness to the Hsin Nee native bank, as also his subsequent release upon Liu Hang-chen and Sho Sih-chun going security for him. He then applied to the local Court for permission to go out to find a cash and/or shop guarantee in order to arrange for a settlement of his accounts.

Since Ning Ah-ngi used to reside at Lieu Ong Lane, Tai Yuen, having been sued by the Hsin Nee bank and detained by the Sung Pan Ting in that city, and having subsequently escaped therefrom after release on bail thereby involving the imprisonment of one of his guarantors, and since he has now been found by one of his guarantors the Court has consented to keep the man in temporary custody, in accordance with the usual custom of providing cooperation and assistance, pending the arrival of the representatives of the Tai Yuen Sung Pan Ting to take him back there. As regards the man's application to this court for bail since the case is not one that is heard by it the application cannot be entertained. The above are the circumstances and facts of the recent appearance of the above three men before, and the detention of Ning Ah-ngi by, the local Court.

It is here pointed out that since he appeared before the local Court Ning Ah-ngi has not stated that he is a resident of the Settlement while he stated that he had himself reported to the High Sung Pan Ting of Shansi and the Supreme Court of Peking that he resided in Tai Yuen, during hearings or when judgements were given in the suit. It is quite evident that he is not a resident of the Settlement and under the circumstances the Court is unable to comply with the request that the man be released. As to the statement that the Municipal Council has reported that Ning Ah-ngi was arrested by the City Constabulary and handed over to the local Court, it is not a real fact.

The local Court has to state that Ning Ah-ngi's residence is really at Lieu Ong Lane, Tai Yuen, Shansi, and that he attended and appeared before the Court in person but that he was not arrested by the City Police or summoned by this Court. Copies of the judgments of the Shansi High Sung Pan Ting and Peking Tai Li Yuen are enclosed for reference or as proof as to his residence in Shansi. The Court asks the Commissioner to communicate with the Consular Body accordingly.

The Commissioner writes the above for the information of the Senior Consul in this matter, etc.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 19, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 14, enclosing a copy of a letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, on the subject of the illegal arrest and detention of Ning Ang-nyi, a resident of this Settlement. In reply, I have the honour to inform you that further enquiries made by the Police show that while, he resigned the managership of the Tah I dispensary about four years ago, and proceeded to Shansi Province between May 1918 and July 1919, he returned to his residence at Nos. 893/4 Chekiang Road in the Settlement from December 1919 to March 24, 1920, the day of his arrest. The Dispensary at 89 Hankow Road was closed on March 12 last. There can therefore be no question but that Ning Ang-nyi was a bona-fide resident of the Settlement on the day of his arrest, and I have the honour to request that you will be so good as to again address the Chinese authorities to request the immediate release and rendition of this resident to the Settlement, whereafter action if desired can be taken against him in the Mixed Court.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

Chinese Sing Song Houses.

Letters from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce and Mr. J. E. Lemiere, with reply.—

Translation of letter from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to the Council dated June 8, 1920.

The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a note from Chinese restaurants, foodshops, Yang Shunyuen (楊順源) and others, stating that the Municipal licensing of brothels without classification seriously affects local trade, and asking the Chamber to consult the Council as to whether the licence conditions for 1st class brothels and singsong girl houses may not be withdrawn and other measures adopted in conformity with public sentiment. The note is enclosed herewith for the Council's information. The writer observes that though brothels affect public morals, still they aid in the prosperity of the port. The note mentions that if the 1st class brothels are closed the number of secret brothels will be greatly increased, to the detriment of the community. What the shopkeepers have said in their note are facts and the Chamber expresses the view that leniency should be shown to 1st class brothels, but the prohibition of opium-smoking, gambling and disorderly conduct should be taken into consideration in dealing with the question of public morals. As to what other measures should be adopted by the Council in re this matter the Chamber leaves to the consideration of the Council.

Translation of letter from the Chinese restaurants, foodshops, etc., to the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce dated June 8, 1920.

The writers say that the Municipal licence conditions for brothels, as published in the press, are very good. However, they remark that there is no classification of these houses, with the result that managers of 1st class brothels are alarmed. It is pointed out that conditions Nos. 5, 7 and 8 and Clause 5 of the notes will be sufficient to make the brothels close voluntarily before the time for the enforcement of the license conditions. They add that 1st class brothels serve as places of meeting and entertainment of prominent merchants and gentry, these houses are very different from the 2nd and/or low class hawdy houses, and that 1st class brothels have a great deal to do in the matter of promoting the prosperity and development of local commerce. The writers (the note) being proprietors of restaurants and foodshops are patronised daily by people from these houses. In case they have to close down the writers (of the note) will suffer greatly. Therefore, they ask the Chamber to convene a meeting to discuss this question and to consult with the Municipal Council as to whether the licensing of 1st class brothels may not be cancelled, and some other measures adopted in accordance with public sentiment. The question being an urgent one they venture to request that the Chamber deal with it promptly, etc.

Shanghai, June 23, 1920.

SIR,—I have been instructed by some representatives of the "singing girls" of the International Settlement to thank the Municipal Council for granting the postponement till the end of the present month of the new regulations concerning the houses of entertainment.

I have also been instructed by the same representatives to approach the Municipal Council in order to establish their real status.

Lately the houses in which they live and where their customers receive and entertain friends have been commonly and wrongfully termed houses of prostitution. The singing girls are really artists; they earn their living by entertaining guests, receiving a regular fee for each attendance. They may be likened to actresses. Till a few years ago, they used to add to their names or to their sign boards the characters "Su Nu" (書寓). They intend to renovate that old custom in order to avoid any misunderstanding about their profession. Therefore they respectfully inform the Municipal Council that they do not consider that the present regulations apply to them.

As, in my previous letter of June 3, I stated that a great number of singing girls were going to abandon their profession and return to their families, it might be inferred from my statement at that time that these girls considered themselves to rank with prostitutes. Such a deduction would be incorrect. The singing girls are divided in two categories. To one, belong the girls absolutely free; to the, other, those dependant on person who, on paying a certain remuneration to parents and providing for the clothing and the professional education of the girls entrusted to their care, are entitled to receive during a certain number of years the fees earned by the girls. It must be admitted that some of this kind of imposture tried and very often succeeded in getting from those girls more than that they were entitled to receive, keeping the girls in a kind of bondage. A few girls of this category took the opportunity of the coming into force of the new regulations to obtain their freedom, but they never considered themselves to be prostitutes and as a matter of fact a great number never departed from the path of morality.

As you are well aware, it is customary for the Chinese of the best classes to meet daily in those houses of entertainment, where they receive their friends and discuss business matters. To oblige the singing girls to register as prostitutes, to oblige a house of entertainment to register as a house of prostitution, will compel both of them either to close their houses in this settlement or emigrate somewhere else, a measure which will not only cause strong disaffection amongst the best Chinese classes, but will also cause a lot of shop-keepers, like tailors, shoe-makers, embroiderers, Jewellers, piece-goods retailers, musical instrument merchants, restaurant keepers, etc., to follow those girls where they will decide to fix their new abode, thus causing a very serious loss to the Revenue Department and it appears to me that both loss of revenue and the annoyance caused to the Chinese Ratepayers can be and ought to be avoided.

No one denies the utility of the new regulations which were especially drawn up for the benefit of the moral welfare of this community, but their applicatation should be restricted to those who have compelled the Municipal Authorities to adopt strongest measures without causing injury to others who have nothing in common with them.

I will respectfully ask you to submit this request to the members of the Watch Committee at your earliest convenience.

I beg to remain,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. E. LEMIÈRE.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 26, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of June 23, on the subject of the application of the Brothel Licence Regulations to Sing Song houses, and in reply to forward copy of a letter addressed by the Council to the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, from which you will note that the Regulations in question do not apply to Sing Song houses which are bond fide conducted as such, but only to so-called Sing Song houses, which are in fact conducted as brothels.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Monsieur J. E. LEMIÈRE.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 28, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of June 8, forwarding copy of a letter received by you from the proprietors of certain Chinese restaurants, food shops and others on the subject of the Council's Regulations for the licensing of brothels.

In reply, I am directed to point out that these Regulations were brought into force in conformity with the Report of the Special Vice-Committee, adopted by the Ratepayers at their last Annual Meeting on April 9, and that whilst the Council does not concur with the whole of the recommendations made in such Report, it had, as a consequence of the Ratepayers' Resolution, no option but to adopt them.

The Regulations do not apply to Sing Song houses, which are bond fide conducted as such, and require no licence, but they do apply to so-called Sing Song houses which are in fact conducted as brothels.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

The CHINESE GENERAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Hongkong Road.—Negotiations for the acquisition of Mow 0.036 of land ex Cadastral Lot 178 required in connexion with this road widening have been concluded with Messrs. Algar and Company Ld., compensation being paid at the assessed value of Tls. 30,000 per mow plus 10 per cent., and less one-third for betterment, or a total of Tls. 792 for the required area.

Kungping Road Extension and East Seward Road Widening.—Negotiations have been concluded with Messrs. Algar & Co., Ld., for the surrender of a total area of Mow 0.550 of land ex Cadastral Lot 1157, required in connexion with the improvement of these roads, on the following terms:—

As to Mow 0.183 at the Southern end of the lot required in connexion with East Seward Road Widening, at the assessed value of Tls. 5,300 per mow plus 10 per cent., or a total sum of Tls. 1,067 for the required area.

As to Mow 0.367 situate on the Western side of this lot required in connexion with the Kungping Road extension, surrender without compensation.

The Council has consented to the incorporation in Cadastral Lot 1157 of a small portion of surplus roadland at the Northern end of the lot measuring Mow 0.028 and adjoining Tongshan Road.

Tsepoo and North Shanse Roads.—Arrangements have been concluded with Messrs. Davies and Brooke for the sale to them of Mow 0.109 of surplus land on the West side of North Shanse Road at the assessed value Tls. 8,000 per mow plus a contribution of one-third only of the road cost on account of the widening of the strip of surplus land disposed of and less Mow 0.064 of unregistered land, surrendered by them for the widening of Tsepoo Road at the corner on the West of North Shanse Road. The total price paid for the surplus land by Messrs. Davies and Brooke is thus Tls. 1,852.

Drainage Work.

Arising out of the persistent refusal of certain inhabitants of the village situate at the corner of Bubbling Well and Siccawei Roads to carry out necessary drainage work, the work was undertaken by the Council, and proceedings instituted in the Mixed Court against fourteen of the inhabitants for payment of the expense incurred have resulted in its recovery.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to the health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Mosquito Notice.

NO STAGNANT WATER—NO MOSQUITOES.

Mosquitoes carry MALARIA and other diseases.

Mosquitoes cannot multiply except in STAGNANT WATER. Where stagnant water cannot be ABOLISHED kerosine sprinkled on the surface to form a film will kill mosquito 'wrigglers,' as it prevents breathing when they come to the surface.

Old tins and bottles, broken crockery and unconsidered ARTICLES OF THIS KIND CAPABLE OF HOLDING RAIN WATER should be carefully COLLECTED from the garden and backyard and placed with the refuse for removal.

Tubs, kongs, water plants, flowerpot saucers or other VESSELS OF WATER, which cannot be dispensed with should be EMPTIED OR SPRINKLED WITH KEROSINE ONCE A WEEK.

GARDENERS' KONGS, DUG-OUTS, WELLS AND WATER BARRELS should be done away with, water for the garden, etc., being derived directly from the tap or, if that be impossible, the kongs, etc., should be oiled once a week or kept securely covered so that mosquitoes cannot get to the water to lay their eggs.

Have the water from kennels, chicken coops, etc., regularly emptied out.

Keep drains and rain-water roof channels clean and clear and in good repair. GULLY TRAPS that are not frequently flushed should be oiled weekly.

Shallow RAIN WATER POOLS AND SLUSHY PLACES can generally be obliterated by a SCRATCH DRAIN OF LEVELLED with house ashes, PONDS AND DITCHES by FILLING-IN and drainage.

ORNAMENTAL PONDS may be kept free from mosquitoes by FISH but, if mosquito 'wrigglers' be found, the water should be OILED WEEKLY preparatory to FILLING-IN.

A WEEKLY INSPECTION of house and surroundings should be made. It may be remembered that a small unheeded pot of water will suffice to breed enough mosquitoes to irritate a whole neighbourhood.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

RICE PROFITEERING.

FROM investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that, in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned.

Secretary.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

TO facilitate the control of traffic in the Nanking Road, the following additional regulations will come into force from this date:—

(1) No vehicles will be permitted to rank for extended periods in the section of the Nanking Road between Shantung Road and the Bund.

(2) Temporary standing accommodation will be provided in the above section of the Nanking Road for vehicles of persons visiting business premises.

These temporary standing places will be marked by means of white lines on the kerbstone, and no vehicle will be permitted to stand except where the kerbstone is so marked.

Chinese Educational Committee.

The sympathy of the Council and of the Chinese Educational Committee has been extended to Mr. Shen Heo-sung on the death of his father the late Mr. Shen Tun Ho who was for 15 years a member of the Committee.

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 8, 1920.

SIR,—It was with deepest regret that the Council and the Chinese Educational Committee learnt of the demise of your father, Mr. Shen Tun-ho on Monday last. Besides being identified for many years with philanthropic and benevolent work in the Settlement in its many phases your late father found time to take a very deep interest in education. In 1905, he joined the membership of the Committee appointed to advise the Council on matters relating to the conduct of the Public School for Chinese, at that time the only Council school which provided for the education of Chinese boys. He was still a member of this Committee—now known as the Chinese Educational Committee—at the time of his death, and, as some indication of the growth of the educational facilities provided by the Council for the Chinese, it may be stated that your late father lived to see no less than four Council schools conducted on the most modern educational lines catering for the educational needs of the Chinese community, viz., The Public School for Chinese, The Ellis Kadoorie Public School for Chinese, the Nieh Chih Kuei Public School for Chinese and the Polytechnic Public School for Chinese, with a total attendance of approximately 1,100 boys. Your late father took a very keen interest in the work of the Committee and the schools and the loss of his services to the Community will be deeply felt.

In the name of the members of the Council and of the Chinese Educational Committee, I have to tender to you and to your family, an expression of very sincere and deep sympathy in your bereavement.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Rice Profiteering.

Letters to the Senior Consul:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 24, 1920.

SIR,—As the prevailing enhanced price of rice bears very hardly on a substantial section of the Chinese community, causing a large measure of distress, giving rise to strikes and demands for higher wages, and thus contributing to the elements of unrest, which have unhappily been present in the Settlement for some considerable time past, the Council has recently given its very attentive consideration to the causes which have contributed to this state of affairs, and I have the honour to inform you that, as a result, it has been forced to the conclusion that the abnormal increase in the price of rice, though due to some extent undoubtedly, to profiteering, must be attributed in the main to the fact that the restrictions on the export of this commodity from districts within measurable distance of the Settlement, are not being strictly enforced. It appears that quite considerable quantities of rice have been and are still being shipped to Japan and elsewhere, and it seems to the Council that no immediate improvement in the present situation can therefore be expected, unless and until these restrictions are strictly enforced. I have accordingly the honour to express the Council's earnest hope that it may be possible for the Consular Body to bring this matter to the notice of the Chinese Authorities concerned.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium and Senior Consul.

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 6, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to refer to my letter to you of June 24, on the subject of the distress resulting from the much enhanced price of rice, and to inform you that investigation since made has shown that the subsequent further rise in price is due mainly, if not wholly, to profiteering in this commodity by those who are withholding large stocks from sale against higher prices. Under these circumstances, and in view of the fact that the situation was becoming somewhat critical, the Council considered it necessary to post a proclamation in Chinese on June 30 in the form of the translation attached, and I now have the honour to inform you that the price of first quality rice, has since fallen from $15.60 to $14.10 per picul and that the Council looks for a further substantial decline in the course of the next few days.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium and Senior Consul.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for June.

It is interesting to note that despite the ever increasing cost of almost all building materials the building trade locally still flourishes, there being at present more blocks of new buildings under construction than at any one time during the past 10 years. The average yearly number of building permits issued during that period being 530, whereas already this year over 400 permits have been issued.

This month there have been 397 blocks of buildings in course of construction in different parts of the Settlement.

Some idea of the increasing amount of Departmental work in connexion with permits may be gathered from the fact that in 1910 the total number of permits of all kinds issued was 8,767 as against 15,983 last year and 9,152 during the first six months of this year.

Although for some years past the number of Foreign and Chinese dwelling houses erected in the Settlement has steadily decreased the number of offices and manufacturing buildings erected shows a marked increase.

Despite the fact that the estimated value of buildings for which permits were issued last year reached the large total of Tls. 5,850,000, there is every reason to believe that this figure will be very considerably increased this year.

Roads.—It has been necessary to neglect the mud roads in the Western District to some extent, as the coolies usually employed in raking them have been on strike for several weeks, with the usual demand for more pay on account of the increased price of rice.

A further widening is being effected in Bubbling Well Road, west of Seymour Road.

The ballasting and metalling of Gordon Road has been completed on the east side between Ichang Road and Macao Road.

Asphaltic concrete has been laid in Kiangse Road between Nanking Road and Soochow Road, and also for a short distance north of Canton Road. Work is now proceeding in Museum Road.

The laying of this class of road pavement entails considerable inconvenience to traffic whilst operations are in progress, but night work is not considered advisable at present, as the work calls for very close supervision, and any defective workmanship would lead to complete failure of the pavement.

The stone pitching on the Bund foreshore is practically completed. The widening of the Bund is completed between Peking Road and Nanking Road, and work is well advanced between Nanking Road and Hankow Road. Tongshan Road is being made up between Singkeipang Road and Dent Road over the line of the old Singkeipang.

The following roads have been raised and formed in the Eastern District:—

Linching Road, between Pingliang Road and Yangtzepoo Road.

Kuoiyang Road, between Pingliang Road and Yangtzepoo Road.

Holung Road, east of Yangtzepoo Creek.

Kungping Road north of East Yuhang Road.

Drainage.—The creek in Yuyuen Road between Kiaochow Road and Hart Road has been culverted.

A 3'-0" diameter culvert is being laid in Avenue Road and in Hart Road between Yuyuen Road and Avenue Road.

Creeks and Rivers.—The dredging operations are being continued at the mouth of the Soochow Creek, and to date a total of 4,300 fong of mud has been removed, the channel now approximating to the lines it occupied in 1908.

The wooden decking of the Wayside Wharf has been extensively repaired, and further repairs will be needed next year.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Building.—The contract for the Garage building has been let, and work will be started shortly.

Good progress is being made with the fitting of the heating installation, the corridor mosaic flooring, and the internal joinery work.

FIRE BRIGADE.

Yangtzepoo Fire Station.—The walls are now up to the roof level, and the centering for the concrete roof is being put in. The pouring of the concrete should be started at the end of this month.

The cinder concrete partition walls and gas fitting work are also in hand.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Administration Building Substation.—The concrete work of the third storey is nearly complete, and the centering for the roof is in place.

Tonquin Road Substation.—The foundations for two synchronous condensers with cable trenches have been constructed on the ground floor.

Fingziao Quarry.—1,938 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month.

Cleansing and Watering. Total

Road sweepings collected cartloads	4,538
Used for raising land	511
Water used for street watering	7,487,800 gallons.

Labour.—The average number of labourers employed daily was as follows:—

Coolies	3,088
Artisans	425
Foremen	236
Mafoos	149

Concreteware.—The following has been produced during the month:—

Hand made	7,362 pieces
Machine made	2,757 ,,
Total	10,119 pieces

Work Shelters.—There were 108 admissions during the month and 27 bundles of wood chopped.

CHAS. H. GODFREY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:-

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters. *

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Mosquito Notice.

NO STAGNANT WATER—NO MOSQUITOES.

Mosquitoes carry MALARIA and other diseases.

Mosquitoes cannot multiply except in STAGNANT WATER. Where stagnant water cannot be ABOLISHED kerosine sprinkled on the surface to form a film will kill mosquito 'wrigglers,' as it prevents breathing when they come to the surface.

Old tins and bottles, broken crockery and unconsidered ARTICLES OF THIS KIND CAPABLE OF HOLDING RAIN WATER should be carefully COLLECTED from the garden and backyard and placed with the refuse for removal.

Tubs, kongs, water plants, flowerpot saucers or other VESSELS OF WATER, which cannot be dispensed with should be EMPTIED OR SPRINKLED WITH KEROSINE ONCE A WEEK.

GARDENERS' KONGS, DUG-OUTS, WELLS AND WATER BARRELS should be done away with, water for the garden, etc., being derived directly from the tap or, if that be impossible, the kongs, etc., should be oiled once a week or kept securely covered so that mosquitoes cannot get to the water to lay their eggs.

Have the water from kennels, chicken coops, etc., regularly emptied out.

Keep drains and rain-water roof channels clean and clear and in good repair. GULLY TRAPS that are not frequently flushed should be oiled weekly.

Shallow RAIN WATER POOLS AND SLUSHY PLACES can generally be obliterated by a SCRATCH DRAIN or LEVELLED with house ashes, PONDS AND DITCHES by FILLING-IN and drainage.

ORNAMENTAL PONDS may be kept free from mosquitoes by FISH but, if mosquito 'wrigglers' be found, the water should be OILED WEEKLY preparatory to FILLING-IN.

A WEEKLY INSPECTION of house and surroundings should be made. It may be remembered that a small unheeded pot of water will suffice to breed enough mosquitoes to irritate a whole neighbourhood.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

RICE PROFITEERING.

FROM investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that, in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

TO facilitate the control of traffic in the Nanking Road, the following additional regulations will come into force from this date:—

(1) No vehicles will be permitted to rank for extended periods in the section of the Nanking Road between Shantung Road and the Bund.

(2) Temporary standing accommodation will be provided in the above section of the Nanking Road for vehicles of persons visiting business premises.

These temporary standing places will be marked by means of white lines on the kerbstone, and no vehicle will be permitted to stand except where the kerbstone is so marked.

(3) No vehicles will be permitted to stand on the south side of the above section of the Nanking Road between the hours of 11.45 a.m. and 12.30 p.m., except on Sundays.

Recess.

The annual recess has been arranged to have effect between August 11 and September 22.

Volunteer Corps.

Staff.—In consideration of long and valued service in the Corps, and upon the recommendation of the Commandant, retired rank of Captain, with the right to wear the prescribed uniform has been conferred on Captain C. H. Godfrey, Engineer Staff Officer, upon his resignation from the Corps which has been accepted with regret.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Gordon Road. — Arrangements have been concluded with Mrs. C. M. McBain for the acquisition from Cadastral Lots 2935 and 2940, of Mow 0.362 required in connexion with this road widening, at the assessed value Tls. 4,500 per mow plus 10 per cent., or a total of Tls. 1,792. Mow 0.378 will be utilized as road land and the balance of Mow 0.084 will remain as surplus land.

Dent Road Extension.—After protracted negotiation, arrangements have been concluded with Mr. J. Noble whereunder he will surrender from Cadastral Lot 895 the area required for the Dent Road, measuring Mow 0.373, for the sum of Tls. 93.25, and will purchase from the Council the pieces of surplus land, purchased in the course of acquiring land for road construction, consisting of Cadastral Lots 1400 and 1401 (B.C. Lot 3139) on the East Yalu Road, and measuring Mow 0.799, for Tls. 375, and also Cadastral Lot 892 (B.C. Lot 9774) measuring Mow 0.172, on the Dent Road for Tls. 292.

The total sum paid by Mr. Noble as a result of these transactions is Tls. 573.75.

Land Assessment.

The following are the values placed on lots in the Central District, by Messrs. Halse and Sparke, as a basis for taxation. The usual notices to lot-owners are being distributed, allowing for protests within 30 days:—

Murder.—Shortly after midnight on June 6 when a Chinese shopkeeper named Woo Siau-pau, No. 115 Chapoo Road, was closing for the night he was attacked and killed by a man armed with a hammer. His death probably resulted from some feud arising over the division of money obtained in a fraudulent manner.

A well-known "sing song" girl named Lien Ying who disappeared from No. 702 Chekiang Road on June 9 was found strangled in a wheat field off Hungjao Road outside the Settlement on June 16. The body was stripped of jewellery valued at $4,000 which the girl was wearing when she disappeared. Evidence goes to show that Lien Ying was done to death near the place where the body was found. The culprit has absconded from Shanghai.

Peace Negotiations.—Considerable discussion took place in local political circles and the Chinese press during the month regarding the re-opening of the Peace Conference and the early ending of internal strife was prophesied. Unfortunately these discussions disclosed no evidence of real progress towards peace.

Price of Rice.—The continued increase in the price of rice still complicates the local situation and is causing much unrest. Rice which sold for $8.70 per picul at the end of April rose to $10.00 in May. Further increases occurred during June, the unprecedented figure of $15.60 per picul being reached on June 29.

Following meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and Rice Merchants' Guild, arrangements were made on June 29 to reduce the price to $14.00 per picul and the Municipal Council issued a proclamation the following day denouncing profiteering as a serious offence against the law. These measures resulted in an immediate drop in the price but it cannot be stated at present whether the decrease will be continuous or not.

The high market value of rice is to a certain extent attributable to the following causes:—

1.—Deficient yield in Kiangsu Province last harvest, estimated by some at 30 per cent. below normal.

2.—Increased demand and consequent higher prices prevailing in neighbouring countries.

3.—Difficulties of transport arising from internal disorder.

But thé attempts of local profiteers to take advantage of these conditions to force up prices are, however, mainly responsible for the 50 to 60 per cent. increase recorded in June.

As might be expected in a population living almost entirely on rice, the abnormal increase in its price resulted in grave unrest among the industrial classes. No less than nine strikes occurred during the month, affecting in all some 40,000 workers. With a few exceptions the average duration was about three days and settlements were affected by increases in wages ranging from 5 to 20 per cent. In other instances demands of workers for increases in wages were partially acceded to and strikes were thus avoided.

A number of persons arrested for intimidating workers who declined to join the strikes were punished by short terms of imprisonment.

Identification Office.—During the month 583 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 174 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 145 records were received from the French Police out of which number 74 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Deportees re-arrested and charged with "returning" only	18
Deportees re-arrested and charged with "returning" and other offences	39
Total	57

Men previously released under the Mark System of Remission of Sentence, re-arrested 23.

The prisoners who have been arrested during the month are classified as follows:—

Health Officer's Report for June.

Apart from the number of people bitten by rabid dogs and requiring the Pasteur Treatment the Settlement has been remarkably free from preventable disease.

There have been threats of Cholera from many sides but no case has been substantiated in the Settlement. This year there are two special hospitals prepared to give the transfusion treatment when required.

Although the Settlement has so far been singularly free from Typhoid, Dysentery and choleraic trouble the season when these diseases often become prevalent is imminent. The Public Health Notice is commended for careful study. Copies may be obtained on application to the Health Officer or any of the Health Inspectors, who are always glad to explain how the safety of the household may best be obtained. The more trouble taken to see that the recommendations are carried out the greater will certainly be the immunity from those dangerous intestinal conditions associated with life in the Far East. These troubles nearly always come through the mouth. It is advisable always to wash the hands before eating and to establish a routine among the servants that they wash their hands before serving food. Boiled white cotton gloves for the "boy" during service of food can be recommended if only as a sort of ritual of cleanliness. All food should be cooked or sterilised according to the Notice. Boiled water is safer than filtered water to drink. The measures recommended should be taken against flies. Anyone who has any difficulty in carrying out the recommendations of the Public Health Notice should communicate with the Health Officer, preferably in writing, or should call up their district Health Inspector.

Residents within the Settlement are requested to communicate with the Health Officer if they are troubled by mosquitoes. Not only is it often possible to remedy this nuisance but such information is a valuable check on and assistance to the work of the Sanitary Staff.

The Public Swimming Bath has been patronised to its fullest capacity. The water is changed twice weekly, the bath on each occasion being scrubbed down with chlorinated lime. In addition, the water is fully chlorinated every day. Chlorine is now generally recognized as the best water purifier. The addition of chlorinated lime tends, however, to increase the turbidity of the water and might give rise to criticism on this account, but as tested in the Laboratory the water shows a high degree of purity.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

Health Officer.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Jessfield Park.

REGULATIONS.

1.—The Park is reserved exclusively for the Foreign Community.

2.—The Park is open to the Public between day light and dark.

3.—No persons are allowed in the Park unless respectably dressed.

4.—Horses, ponies, vehicles and bicycles are not admitted.

5.—Dogs are not allowed in the Park unless properly muzzled and led on leash. Dogs running loose in the Park are liable to be captured or shot.

6.—Birdnesting, plucking flowers or otherwise damaging the shrubs, plants, or grass is strictly prohibited: visitors and other persons in charge of children are requested to aid in preventing such mischief.

7.—Shooting, boating, boat-sailing, lighting fires, and bathing are strictly prohibited.

8.—Athletic events, also cricket, tennis, golf, football, baseball, hockey and all similar games are strictly prohibited.

9.—Persons infringing these regulations will render themselves liable to prosecution.

TENDERS FOR PUBLIC WORKS AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS

CONDITIONS GOVERNING MUNICIPAL TENDERS.

1. The Council reserves to itself the right to accept the whole or part of any tender.

2. The Council does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender or to pay any expenses which the tenderers may incur in tendering.

3. The contractor whose tender is eventually accepted may be required to give satisfactory security for the performance of the contract.

4. The names of tenderers, with prices quoted, will be published in the Municipal Gazette.

5. A fee may be charged for specifications, to be returned upon receipt of a bond fide tender.

6. Tenders, sealed and labelled on the outside as to their contents, should be forwarded, preferably by chit book or registered letter, to "The Secretary, Municipal Council, 24 Kiangse Road" not later than noon on the day fixed for their receipt.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

Mixed Court Report for June.

The undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by Consulates in Shanghai were before the Court on the undermentioned charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
Zesan Zakofsky	Pole	Larceny	2 months' impt.
Maria Pasderska (female)	Pole	Larceny	6 months' impt.
M. Winteler	Swiss	Insanity	Confined Mental Ward until boat leaves
Lewis Breaan	Eurasian	Begging	Dismissed
A. Sander	German	Unlicensed dog	Fined $5
W. Schulz	German	Unlicensed dog	Cautioned

On June 18, 1920, during the hearing of a criminal case, the complainant (a Japanese) asked for a remand for his own Assessor, but the Assessor (Mr. Blackburn) held that this was an insufficient reason, as a foreign complainant should request his Consul to notify the Court that he wishes his Assessor to hear the case, according to the ruling of the Consular Body.

Fifty-five persons were charged with breaches of motorcar regulations and licenses. In two cases where it was proved that injury had been caused to persons knocked down by motorcars, the drivers were sentenced to six months and 14 days respectively without the option of a fine. One driver was sentenced to 18 months for manslaughter.

Of the 14 foreign civil cases before the Court 6 were decided, while 15 are awaiting a first hearing.

During the month 114 Chinese civil petitions, which require a hearing, were filed. This is the largest number since January 1919 and as a result the number of cases awaiting a first hearing has increased to 45.

The Summer Vacation this year will be from July 16 to September 15 (both inclusive). During this period no civil cases will be heard unless, however, the number greatly increases in which case there will be one sitting a week to deal with claims where the amount involved does not exceed $100.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

F. L. WAINWRIGHT,
Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinks, bread, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with nightsoil, are specially liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito nat should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Rabies or Hydrophobia.

THE DISEASE.—Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute fatal disease, generally communicated to man through a wound made by the teeth of some infected animal, the saliva being the infective medium. Dogs, cats, goats, cows, horses, and other animals are susceptible to the disease and their bites are very dangerous. Hydrophobia may also be contracted by allowing the saliva (froth) of an infected animal to come in contact with a cut or scratch. This sometimes happens in adjusting muzzles, in trying to remove what seems to be a bone in the throat, or in giving medicines. The saliva may be virulent (poisonous) for one or two days before a dog shows any signs of being sick.

SYMPTOMS.—The disease in the dog appears in two forms. In the furious type, he may suddenly leave home, wandering off for many miles, perhaps, to return in a day or two emaciated, wounded, and utterly changed. During the time of "running mad" he may have bitten many persons and other animals. He seems impelled to bite anything that comes in his way. He cannot be said, as a rule, to fight with other dogs. He bites them and passes on, but does not go out of his way very much to attack them. His main object seems to be to keep moving, as if to escape something. The dumb variety is characterised by progressive paralysis of the lower jaw, change in character of bark, and marked nervousness. The animal may appear very affectionate, but may bite without warning. Death usually results in from three to six days from the onset of sickness.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SUSPECTED ANIMAL.—When an animal is suspected of having this disease it should be captured at once, if possible, and securely confined. A veterinary surgeon should be called to see the dog, or the circumstance should be reported to the nearest Police Station where they will arrange without payment for the transfer of the dog to the Observation Kennel under the care of the Health Officer.

Dogs, suspected of rabies, should, if possible, be captured alive; but they may be killed, if danger of any person being bitten can thereby be avoided. The reason being that if preserved alive it can be ascertained in a day or two whether the animal has rabies, while if killed it usually takes fourteen days to find out.

When other dogs have been bitten by a rabid dog they should either be killed immediately or handed over to the charge of a veterinary surgeon.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BITTEN.—The bite of any animal should be cleaned throughout its depth and cauterized as soon as possible by a doctor.

The person bitten should come to the Health Officer to see if Pasteur Treatment is necessary.

It is absolutely necessary for persons bitten by rabid animals or animals suspected of rabies to have the Pasteur Treatment. This is given at the Municipal Health Office and takes about three weeks. The fee for Pasteur Treatment is Tls. 50 reducible in cases of necessity.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1 from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2740.

DANGEROUS DRIVING OF MOTOR CARS.

TRAFFIC conditions in Shanghai are of an exceedingly complex character. It is therefore the more incumbent on drivers of motor vehicles—the fastest type of vehicle on the streets,—to take particular care in observing the Traffic Regulations and in adjusting their speed at all times so as not to endanger life or limb. The public safety must have first consideration, and those who drive in such a manner as to endanger the public safety will be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law.

The Council earnestly requests the co-operation of all motor vehicle owners in seeing that this warning be brought to the particular attention of their chauffeurs so that excessive speed and dangerous driving may cease.

By order,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 5, 1920.

Consular Body.

A letter from Mr. J. A. Schuurman, Consul, in charge of the Netherlands Consulate General, informs the Council that during his temporary absence from Shanghai he has handed over charge of the Consulate-General to Mr. W. A. A. M. Daniels, Vice-Consul, with effect from August 1.

Stray Children's Home.

The Stray Children's Home in Tongshan Road, which is supported by a grant-in-aid from the Council, will be closed on September 30 next. A number of the children in the Home will be taken over and cared for by the Door of Hope, and any, for whom other suitable arrangements have not been made meanwhile, will be received into the Lunghua Orphanage or the Anti-Kidnapping Society's Home at Kiangwan, together with any other stray children who may be found in the Settlement in future. These institutions which will be subject to periodical inspection by the Council are supervised by a Chinese Committee to which the Council will make an annual grant-in-aid of Tls. 5,000.

Police Force.

The lease from Mr. H. M. Cumine of No. 2 Temple Lane has been renewed for a further period of one year terminating on August 31, 1921.

Land Assessment.

The following are the values placed on lots in the Northern District, by Messrs. Halse and Sparkè, as a basis for taxation. The usual notices to lot-owners are being distributed, allowing for protests within 30 days :—

Public Health Notice.

The following measures are recommended for the purpose of preventing those diseases which by means of public sanitation and by individual careful living are preventable, such as Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa and other bowel disorders, Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis, Plague and Malaria.

Public Measures.

SANITARY INSPECTION of houses will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer. Persons about to rent houses are advised to ask the Health Officer for a sanitary inspection and a certificate of good sanitation before closing with the landlord.

CONDITIONS dangerous to health should be reported to the Health Officer.

ISOLATION of cases of dangerous infectious disease is provided free at the Isolation Hospital, Range Road.

DISINFECTION of premises after infectious disease will be carried out free of charge on application to the Health Officer.

VACCINATION is provided gratuitously at the Branch Health Offices.

Individual Measures.

EAT AND DRINK nothing that has not been recently cooked, boiled or otherwise sterilised.

DO NOT CONSUME:—

*Fruit, vegetables, salads, melons, etc., which have not been cooked or sterilised.

Food on which flies have settled.

*Milk or cream which has not been boiled or sterilised.

*Water which has not been boiled or filtered through a Brownlow filter.

Aerated water and other drinks unless of best quality.

Alcoholic drinks during the hot weather.

Bread which has not been sterilised by re-heating in an oven.

Ice-cream unless made of boiled materials.

Uncooked oysters.

*Fruit, tomatoes, melons, etc., can be sterilised without spoiling the flavour, so that they can be safely eaten raw, by dipping for a few seconds into briskly boiling water. Strawberries are better sterilised by dipping into boiling sugar syrup. Milk and cream can be sterilised by placing the bottles in a pan of cold water and gradually raising to boiling point. The candle of the filter should be lightly scrubbed in running water and boiled once a week.

KITCHEN supervision should be thorough because the preventable diseases specially prevalent in Shanghai are mostly caused by infected food. Every house should have a serving-room adjoining the dining-room and separate from the kitchen. The serving-room should contain the Brownlow filter, ice-chest, table utensils, washing sink, boiled milk, drinking water, butter, sterilised fruit and other cooked or prepared foods. Cooking or boiling destroys infection.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT grown near the ground, being watered as a rule with night-soil, are spattelly liable to be soiled with the germs of Typhoid fever, Cholera, Dysentery and other bowel diseases, and should, before cooking, be strictly kept out of the serving-room and from contact with cooked or prepared food.

FLIES CARRY DISEASE so they should be excluded from the serving-room, kitchen and servants' latrine by providing spring slam doors and unopenable windows screened by perforated zinc; and from the food on the table by fly covers.

VACCINATION should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and afterwards every three years, in November.

VACCINATION against Typhoid fevers should be done on or before arrival in Shanghai and repeated yearly in May.

KEEP RATS OUT OF YOUR HOUSE. Starve the rats by providing no food for them in and around your house. Make your house rat-proof.

MOSQUITOES carry malaria. Where mosquitoes cannot be exterminated by abolishing stagnant water or by the use of kerosine oil, or by reporting their presence to the Health Officer, the mosquito net should be carefully used. A weekly inspection should be made and no standing water permitted.

REFUSE should not be allowed to accumulate, and a properly covered rat and flyproof receptacle should be provided. Nightsoil buckets should be kept securely closed, including those in the servants' latrines. Proper receptacles for these purposes may be obtained at the Health Office. Yards and drains should be kept in a good state of repair and freely flushed with water.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Rabies or Hydrophobia.

THE DISEASE.—Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute fatal disease, generally communicated to man through a wound made by the teeth of some infected animal, the saliva being the infective medium. Dogs, cats, goats, cows, horses, and other animals are susceptible to the disease and their bites are very dangerous. Hydrophobia may also be contracted by allowing the saliva (froth) of an infected animal to come in contact with a cut or scratch. This sometimes happens in adjusting muzzles, in trying to remove what seems to be a bone in the throat, or in giving medicines. The saliva may be virulent (poisonous) for one or two days before a dog shows any signs of being sick.

SYMPTOMS.—The disease in the dog appears in two forms. In the furious type, he may suddenly leave home, wandering off for many miles, perhaps, to return in a day or two emaciated, wounded, and utterly changed. During the time of "running mad" he may have bitten many persons and other animals. He seems impelled to bite anything that comes in his way. He cannot be said, as a rule, to fight with other dogs. He bites them and passes on, but does not go out of his way very much to attack them. His main object seems to be to keep moving, as if to escape something. The dumb variety is characterized by progressive paralysis of the lower jaw, change in character of bark, and marked nervousness. The animal may appear very affection ate, but may bite without warning. Death usually results in from three to six days from the onset of sickness.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SUSPECTED ANIMAL.—When an animal is suspected of having this disease it should be captured at once, if possible, and securely confined. A veterinary surgeon should be called to see the dog, or the circumstance should be reported to the nearest Police Station where they will arrange without payment for the transfer of the dog to the Observation Kennel under the care of the Health Officer.

Dogs, suspected of rabies, should, if possible, be captured alive; but they may be killed, if danger of any person being bitten can thereby be avoided. The reason being that if preserved alive it can be ascertained in a day or two whether the animal has rabies, while if killed it usually takes fourteen days to find out.

When other dogs have been bitten by a rabid dog they should either be killed immediately or handed over to the charge of a veterinary surgeon.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BITTEN.—The bite of any animal should be cleaned throughout its depth and cauterized as soon as possible by a doctor.

The person bitten should come to the Health Officer to see if Pasteur Treatment is necessary.

It is absolutely necessary for persons bitten by rabid animals or animals suspected of rabies to have the Pasteur Treatment. This is given at the Municipal Health Office and takes about three weeks. The fee for Pasteur Treatment is Tls. 50 reducible in cases of necessity.

Health Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

No. 2740.

DANGEROUS DRIVING OF MOTOR CARS.

TRAFFIC conditions in Shanghai are of an exceedingly complex character. It is therefore the more incumbent on drivers of motor vehicles—the fastest type of vehicle on the streets,—to take particular care in observing the Traffic Regulations and in adjusting their speed at all times so as not to endanger life or limb. The public safety must have first consideration, and those who drive in such a manner as to endanger the public safety will be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law.

The Council earnestly requests the co-operation of all motor vehicle owners in seeing that this warning be brought to the particular attention of their chauffeurs so that excessive speed and dangerous driving may cease.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Municipal Properties.

Nieh Chih Kuei Public School for Chinese.—The offer of the Shanghai Land Investment Co., Ld., has been accepted to sell a portion of B.C. Lot 10010 required for inclusion in the School site, measuring Mow 0.5 for the sum of Tls. 1,250.

Surplus Land—Dalny Road.—Arrangements have been made for the sale of Lot 2697, measuring Mow 0.304, to the China Realty Co., for the sum of Tls. 1,200. This piece of land was purchased in 1908, in connexion with road construction negotiations. As part of this transaction, the purchasers have agreed to surrender from B.C. Lot 2693 the scheduled area required for the Yulin Road, measuring Mow 0.825, without monetary compensation.

Road Extensions and Widenings.

East Yalu Road and Surplus Land.—Negotiations have been concluded with Mr. S. J. Powell for the purchase of B.C. Lot 10014, measuring Mow 1.272, for the sum of Tls. 1,459 plus $15. Of this area Mow 0.583 costing approximately Tls. 675 is required for the road and the balance Mow 0.689 costing approximately Tls. 800 remains available as surplus land for use or resale hereafter as circumstances may direct.

Educational Department.

School for Indian Children.—Arrangements have been concluded with Messrs. A. E. Algar & Co., Ld. for a lease of No. 68 Haskell Road for a period of two years terminating on July 31, 1922.

ARTHUR STANLEY,

Fire Brigade Report for June.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 25, as against 27 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 93,425 (Foreign, Tls. 300; Chinese, Tls. 93,125), as against Tls. 31,825 (Foreign, Tls. 25,000; Chinese, Tls. 6,825 during June 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 1,271,000 (Foreign, Tls. 802,000; Chinese, Tls. 469,000), as against Tls. 719,000 (Foreign, Tls. 640,000; Chinese, Tls. 79,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 18, Watch Towers 4, Police 2 and Messenger 1. The district call was given on 2 occasions, the remaining 23 being station calls. These calls proved to be 15 small fires, 4 chimney fires, 3 false alarms (2 of which were malicious) and 3 fires outside the Settlement.

The principal, supposed causes, of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Sparks, ashes or embers from stove, lamp upset, fusing of electric wires, dropped match or cigarette end, ignition of spirits of wine and smoking in bed. The premises affected were 7 Chinese Buildings which were more or less damaged by fire, smoke and water. The Brigade was occupied 357 hours and 55 minutes at fires, or supposed fires.

It is interesting to note that for the half-year ending June 30, 1920, the number of calls to fires, or supposed fires was 172, as against 136 for the corresponding period last year. The estimated damage to property and contents was Tls. 146,000 (Foreign, Tls. 3,825; Chinese, Tls. 143,075), as against Tls. 200,825 (Foreign, Tls. 150,350; Chinese, Tls. 50,475) at fires on assessed property within the Settlement limits during the same period last year, whilst the estimated risk was Tls. 2,957,500 (Foreign, Tls. 1,711,500; Chinese, Tls. 1,246,000), as against Tls. 3,099,700 (Foreign, Tls. 2,531,000; Chinese, Tls. 568,700) up to June 30, 1919.

It will be seen from the above that the ratio of loss to that of the property at risk is lower than for the same period last year.

Fires worthy of comment are as follows:—

Amos Bird Factory, June 13, at 12.01 a.m.—A rather serious outbreak occurred in the above factory, but was fortunately promptly tackled by the Factory Staff by means of chemical extinguishers and extinguished before arrival of the Brigade.

Shanghai Feng Chang and Chekiang Railway Co.'s Godown—Nos. 35-7 Soochow Road at 12.11 p.m.—At this fire the Central and Sinza Divisions had an extremely difficult task. The upper floor, packed with tea, was well alight around the head of the staircase—the only way up to the first floor—the windows being barred and shuttered; the inadequate water supply added to the task of the Brigade. The men had a strenuous time and several were overcome and at times cut off by the falling packages of tea. A large quantity of tallow, oil, silk waste, etc., was stored on the ground floor, and every attention was given in holding the fire from working downwards. In this object the Brigade was completely successful, as the fire was confined to the upper floor. Men were at work through the following night, and the next day at about the same time as the original call, a fire occurred amongst the tea saved, which can only be described as very peculiar, as it occurred well back and was accompanied by a cloud of smoke. Ether vapour was at once detected and was so strong that several of the Brigade, both Foreign and Chinese, were overcome; one or two being rendered unconscious for some time. It is uncertain how the Ether got amongst the tea, but undoubtedly it caused the second outbreak, if not the first.

The second outbreak also gave the Brigade trouble, as regards water, but by general excellent work the whole of the fire damage was confined to the tea on the upper floor. The dangerous cargo on the ground floor and adjoining godowns was saved.

Assistance was rendered at the following Out District Fires:—

S.S. Juno, Kiangnan Dock, June 2, at 9.15 p.m.—When the Chief Officer with a party of men rendered assistance and when the new Dennis Pump of the City Fire Brigade was used for the first time.

Hoong Sing Fong, North Honan Road Extension, June 17, at 7.30 a.m.—The Chapei Brigade asked for assistance. The new Leyland Pump was also used for the first time.

Chief Officer.

Health Officer's Report for July.

The mortality rate, which may be regarded as the final inventory of the physical condition of the community, was abnormally low both among foreigners and Chinese. The incidence of Dysentery was remarkably small. Both foreign and Chinese Isolation Hospitals were practically empty during the month.

Preparations were made for meeting an expected outbreak of Choleraic diarrhoea. Nineteen Chinese cases were notified within Settlement limits during the latter half of the month by the two special summer diseases hospitals and the Chinese Isolation Hospital. On July 26 two cases of authentic Asiatic Cholera were notified by the St. Luke's Hospital as coming from 330 Ferry Road, while a third similar case arose at 90 Yuenfong Road. In these three cases the presence of the cholera vibrio was confirmed by cultural and agglutination tests. None of these latter cases were fatal. In the former cases no Cholera vibrios were found although some specimens were examined in the Laboratory a short time after having been taken from the human source. It was thought that previous want of success might have been due to the Cholera organism being overgrown by other more luxuriant organisms during the time taken for transmission to the Laboratory, which is often considerable. This result confirmed that of former years, namely, that the great majority of these cases, which clinically are Cholera, do not show the Cholera vibrio but usually show an organism of the coli group whose characteristics have not yet been fully worked out. In the laboratory of St. Mary's Hospital, London, it has quite recently been found that there is more than one type of cholera-causing organisms. It seems probable that the organism commonly causing choleraic conditions in China may be an atypical form.

The Tuberculosis Hospital is proving its value, several cases have already been benefited; not only themselves but also by removing a source of virulent infection from crowded households. It is hoped later to build up an effective anti-tuberculosis scheme on the basis of this Hospital.

The record number of 6,273 admissions to the Public Swimming Bath is registered for the month. The water was changed twice weekly and was fully chlorinated each night. Chlorine is now regarded as the water purifier par excellence. Though the entire elimination of cause for criticism is a consummation devoutly to be wished, the conditions are such that it is impossible to please everybody. The purity of the water is a matter which has the daily attention of the sanitary staff and is regarded, owing to the chlorination, as fully equal if not better than would be produced by daily complete change of the water. Were the bath emptied, washed down, and filled each day a large number of bathers would be deprived of their swim as the hours of opening would have to be curtailed considerably. There is no evidence that sore ears are more prevalent than in the three other local swimming baths. The main trouble is that the bath is too popular. The remedy for this is more swimming baths; especial'y open air baths in the public parks, supplied by artesian wells which can be made to yield a very pure and abundant water supply.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse and a special summary of Plague Prevention work.

Health Officer.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

DANGEROUS DRIVING OF MOTOR CARS.

TRAFFIC conditions in Shanghai are of an exceedingly complex character. It is therefore the more incumbent on drivers of motor vehicles—the fastest type of vehicle on the streets,—to take particular care in observing the Traffic Regulations and in adjusting their speed at all times so as not to endanger life or limb. The public safety must have first consideration, and those who drive in such a manner as to endanger the public safety will be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law.

The Council earnestly requests the co-operation of all motor vehicle owners in seeing that this warning be brought to the particular attention of their chauffeurs so that excessive speed and dangerous driving may cease.

Preservation of the Pheasant.

Correspondence with Mr. A. P. Nazer and others on the subject of the preservation of the pheasant:

Shanghai, July 2, 1920.

SIR,—With a view to giving the pheasant some slight protection against the ever increasing slaughter which is taking place, and which destruction would point to the possible extinction of this game bird within a few years, we, the undersigned, respectfully beg to make the suggestion that the Council frames and enforces a regulation that no hen pheasants be allowed to be sold within the Settlement for a period of three years, commencing from October 1920.

To prevent any possibility of the regulation being evaded by removing the feathers from the birds, all pheasants exposed for sale should have their feathers on.

A similar application is being made to the French Municipal Council, and if the regulation is brought into force, it is hoped, and anticipated, that the various Treaty Ports will adopt it also.

We are, Sir,
Your obedient servants,
A. P. NAZER,
and others.

Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 9, 1920.

SIR,—In reply to the petition dated July 2, signed by you and by several other parties, I am directed to inform you that the Council will publish a Notification in the next issue of the Municipal Gazette, in the following terms:—

"Notice is hereby given that the sale of hen pheasants and of pheasants denuded of their feathers, will be prohibited for a period of three years, commencing on October 1, 1920. During the close season, February 17 to September 30, inclusive, the sale of pheasants is absolutely prohibited."

I am, Sir,

Secretary.

A. P. NAZER, Esq.

Shanghai, August 10, 1920.

SIR,—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 9th instant, and on behalf of myself and the several signatories to the petition dated July 2, beg to thank the Council for having adopted the suggestions contained therein in regard to the sale of pheasants.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. P. NAZER.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 13, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—With further reference to your letter of July 2 on the subject of the preservation of pheasants, and in furtherance of my letter on this subject of August 9, I am directed to point out that, to obtain the full measure of success desired, the co-operation of the various cold storage exportation companies outside the Settlement seems requisite, and I am to suggest that you should endeavour to obtain this co-operation.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Motor Omnibus Service.

Interchange of letters with Mr. W. H. Chen, acting on behalf of the Chinese Motor Bus Co., Ltd., on the subject of the inauguration of a motor omnibus service:—

Shanghai, March 3, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—I am directed by my clients, The Chinese Motor Bus Company, Limited, to apply to you for permission to run a motor bus service between the Bund and Woosung Road, via Avenue Edward VII, Thibet Road, and Haining Road.

My clients propose to have eight vehicles on the run, each of which will take about one hour to and fro, and that a regular service every fifteen minutes be established and maintained.

The buses to be used are the products of The Kelly Springfield Company, of Springfield, Ohio, U.S.A. Following are the specifications of each one:—

Length 22 feet; Width 6 feet; Horse Power 30; Capable of carrying 25 to 30 persons or a weight of 5,000 lbs.

The working, etc., will be under the direct charge of Mr. Lucie S. Pang, an Automobile Engineer who recently returned from abroad.

Thanking you for your attention and trusting this matter may receive your careful consideration, I am

Yours faithfully,
W. H. CHEN,
Attorney-at-Law.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 10, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to inform you that your application of March 3, on behalf of "The Chinese Motor Bus Company, Ltd." for permission to run a motor bus service between the Bund and Woosung Road, via Avenue Edward VII, Thibet and Haining Roads, has now received the Council's detailed consideration, and that the Council is prepared favourably to consider the issue of the permit requested upon the following terms and conditions and subject to the following observations:—

Route.

From the correspondence with the Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ltd. published in the Municipal Gazette of March 30, your clients will have noted that, subject to conditions therein set forth, a railless tram service has been approved along the same route as that proposed for the bus service as far as Cunningham Road. The greater portion of this route consists in wide thoroughfares; the Council has therefore no objection to the double service, but on the contrary believes that it would prove of public advantage rather than otherwise. As regards the Avenue Edward VII, partly the same considerations will apply to the proposed bus service as to the railless tram service along this Avenue, and consequently the consent of the French Municipal Council will have to be obtained. Subject thereto, the Council favourably regards the proposed route from the Bund as far as the Soochow Creek, and from the further side of the Soochow Creek to Woosung Road. It should be noted however that a portion of the roadway of the section of Haining Road between North Thibet Road and Kansuh Road is within the jurisdiction of the Chapei Authorities, whose approval so far as this section is concerned should accordingly be sought. To permit of a bus service across the Soochow Creek, re-construction of the Thibet Road Bridge would of necessity have to be undertaken.

Re-construction of Thibet Road Bridge.

The Council is prepared to consider the re-construction of this bridge, provided your clients will contribute 20 per cent. of the total estimated cost of re-construction (Tls. 120,000 to Tls. 140,000), and provided the Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ld. contribute 33⅓ per cent. as stipulated in the correspondence with that company above referred to.

Road Re-construction.

The Council will require a contribution from your clients of Tls. 25,000 per route mile towards the cost of road re-construction, when such re-construction is required to render the roads affected suitable for a bus service, with the proviso that the contribution in regard to such sections of the route as may also be traversed by the railless tram service, shall be borne in equal shares of Tls. 12,500 per route mile, by your clients and the Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ld.

Road Maintenance.

The Council will require a road maintenance contribution from your clients of one tael cent per bus mile payable half-yearly.

Licence Fee.

Payment of a licence fee of Tls. 400 per annum will be required in respect of each bus, payable quarterly in advance.

Period to be allowed for Introduction of Bus Service.

The Council will allow a period of six months, calculated from the date of your clients' final agreement to the Council's terms, for the introduction of the bus service.

Period for which Bus Service is to be Permitted.

The Council's permit would extend to permit of the running of the bus service on the route approved for a period of 20 years, at the end of which time the question of renewal would receive consideration. No monopoly would be conferred by the permit.

Type of Motor Bus.

The type of bus of which particulars are given in your application is considered satisfactory, provided that pneumatic cord tires are substituted for solid tires, that suitable safeguards to be approved by the Police be fixed, and that in other respects the bus meets with the general requirements of the licence conditions which apply to motor freight vehicles.

Number of Buses Authorized.

The Council's permit will extend to cover a service of 8 buses, but applications for permission to run additional buses will be considered on their merits having regard to traffic requirements and conditions.

Licensing of Drivers.

All drivers would be required to undergo a special driving test similar to that applied to drivers of motor lorries.

Limitation of Fares.

Fares will be limited to a maximum per passenger of ten Mexican dollar cents per mile, with a maximum fare of thirty Mexican dollar cents for the full distance traversed by the Bus Service.

Agreement Covering Bus Service.

On your clients' acceptance of the conditions herein outlined, an agreement will be drafted by the Council's Legal Adviser, and submitted for your consideration, covering the points herein referred to, and such other points as the Council may deem requisite.

In conclusion I am directed to state that the Council will require to be satisfied as to the financial standing of your clients, and as to their ability to carry out the conditions under which the permit is issued.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

W. H. CHEN, Esq.

Shanghai, August 12, 1920.

SIR,—In reply to your letter of recent date, I am directed by my clients, the Chinese Motor Company, to write you in connexion with the above and to state that after careful consideration, they have come to the conclusion that the sums asked for in your letter are too high, therefore they regret that they are unable to meet the same. They are willing, however, to pay the Council a sum similar to that paid in Europe and America, or any similar sum that comes within reason.

Should the Council—as my clients hope—be willing to reconsider the matter, I shall be glad if you will kindly communicate with me.

I should have given the Council an earlier reply but as the directors of the Company are in Hongkong your proposals had to go to Hongkong to be considered there. I trust you will accept my apologies.

Thanking you for the attention you have courteously given to the matter, I have the honour to remain, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

W. H. CHEN.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Murder.—At about 5 a.m. on July 5, owing to a quarrel, a Chinese ex-watchman murdered a Chinese woman with a carpenter's axe at No. 1805 Avenue Road and attempted to murder her daughter aged 18 years and son aged 7. Charged at the Mixed Court he was found guilty and ordered to be handed over to the Chinese Authorities.

Bomb.—A bomb, which appeared to have been made by filling a small canister with an explosive powder, exploded about 1.30 a.m. on July 14 in Hardoon's Garden where Wang I-tang, Chief of the Northern Peace Delegation, has been residing for several months. The bomb must have been thrown with a view to moral effect as it was not sufficiently powerful to do any damage.

Local Political Situation.—In view of developments in the political situation, it is fortunate that no fighting occurred in the neighbourhood of Shanghai during the month of July. Considerable disturbance to the normal life of the Settlement resulting from the suspension of traffic for three days on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway has, however, to be recorded. The first military preparations in this vicinity, which seemed to foreboode fighting, were made by Tuchun Li Shun of Nanking on July 9 when he sent a thousand soldiers of the Soochow Garrison in boats to Quinsan and Henli. After removing a length of rail from the track, the troops mined the Shanghai-Nanking Railway line at a point near the latter place. News of the occurrence reached Shanghai on the evening of July 10 when the train service was immediately suspended, and General Ho, Commander of the local garrison, decided to send troops to Nanziang to offset Li Shun's move. The first detachment of these left Lunghua at 2.30 a.m. on July 12, and further contingents which followed brought the total number sent to about 2,500. The rival forces remained on the respective sides of the boundary line between the Shanghai District and the remainder of Kiangsu at a distance of some sixteen miles apart until July 13 when, following an arrangement between Tuchun Li Shun of Kiangsu, General Lu Yung-ziang of Chekiang and General Ho Fongling of Shanghai, their withdrawal began, and traffic was resumed on the railway. Nothing has since happened to disturb the tranquillity of Shanghai. A modified form of Martial Law has been in force in the vicinity of Shanghai since July 11.

Price of Rice.—The action taken by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the Rice Merchants' Guild and Municipal Council at the end of June for the purpose of reducing the high cost of rice resulted in a downward movement of the price which continued steadily throughout July. Rice of the best quality which sold on the last day of June for $15.50 per picul had decreased to $13.80 at the end of July, and the price of inferior rice fell from $11.40 to $9.70 per picul during the same period. The cheap sale by the Chamber of Commerce of a consignment of 27,500 piculs of Saigon rice, arrangements for which will soon be completed, should cause a further reduction in the price.

Strikes.—The unrest in industrial circles, which started in June as a result of the unprecedented high price of rice, continued during July, no less than nine strikes, affecting 6,700 workers, occurring during the month. With the exception of the makers of Chinese buckets and shoes, who were still out at the end of the month, all strikers returned to work, having secured increases in wages varying from 10 to 50 per cent. Some 8,800 employes of four different concerns who were on strike at the end of June were granted increases ranging from 10 to 20 per cent. and returned to work in the early part of the month.

Identification Office.—During the month 628 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 168 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 186 records were received from the French Police out of which number 90 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Parks Report for June and July.

Jessfield Park.—A section on the East side of Jessfield Park has been laid out as a Japanese Garden, and will be planted with suitable plants in October. The floral display was generally considered effective, but owing to heavy rain finished quickly.

Privet.—The flowers were cut off all privet shrubs which overhang public roads before the flowers expanded, as usual complaints of persons suffering from "privet cough" were received before the flowers opened.

Seating Accommodation.—Owing to the greatly increased numbers who frequent the parks, seating accommodation is inadequate and steps have been taken to obtain an increased number of seats.

Labour.—Inquiries for gardeners are numerous, but skilled men are difficult to obtain. This shortage is due to various causes. Within recent years about 200 new gardens have been laid out, each requiring the labour of from 1 to 10 men. The high cost of food makes farming lucrative and this year approximately 1,000 mow formerly uncultivated is now bearing crops. Over 1,000 mow of land is required to supply the market with flowers, so that nearly every kind of imported flowers can be obtained in quantity and cheaply in the markets. 500 additional mow is required to meet the increased demand for vegetables. As all this increased amount of land devoted to gardening has occurred within a few years, the demand for men has increased beyond the number who are trained.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.
Amount £750,000
Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

DANGEROUS DRIVING OF MOTOR CARS.

TRAFFIC conditions in Shanghai are of an exceedingly complex character. It is therefore the more incumbent on drivers of motor vehicles—the fastest type of vehicle on the streets,—to take particular care in observing the Traffic Regulations and in adjusting their speed at all times so as not to endanger life or limb. The public safety must have first consideration, and those who drive in such a manner as to endanger the public safety will be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law.

The Council earnestly requests the co-operation of all motor vehicle owners in seeing that this warning be brought to the particular attention of their chauffeurs so that excessive speed and dangerous driving may cease.

Water Supply.

With reference to the correspondence published in the Gazette of March 30, the following interchange of letters with the Shanghai Waterworks Co., Ltd., on the subject of the exceptionally high bacterial content of the water during the month of June is published hereunder for purposes of record:—

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 29, 1920.

SIR,—In my reply of February 25 last to your memorandum that the drought and the consequent condition of the silt in the river had made it impossible to filter the water sufficiently quickly to cope with the demand, and that the pressure had therefore been low for a part of the day, reference was made to the unsatisfactory character of the report and analysis of water made by the Health Officer in January last, I am now directed to call your attention to the report and analysis attached to the Health Officer's report for June published in the Municipal Gazette of July 22, and to request that you may kindly favour the Council with an explanation as to the causes of the exceptionally high bacterial content, since it would appear that the condition of the water supply is such as to constitute a serious danger to public health.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

A. P. WOOD, Esq.,
Engineer-in-Chief & Secretary,
Shanghai Waterworks Co., Ltd.

Shanghai, August 4, 1920.

SIR,—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 29th ulto. with regard to the Health Officer's report for June published in the "Municipal Gazette" of July 22.

As explained in my letter of March 12 last, considerable difficulty was experienced in February last in filtration of raw water owing to the unprecedented increase in the silt content of the river water, the difficulty being accentuated by the fineness of the silt and the absence of any warning of the increase.

In view of a possible recurrence of this high silt content at any moment, the Company has, since February, experimented with purification otherwise than by plain sedimentation and slow sand filtration.

In these experiments clarification has been obtained by settlement in conjunction with a coagulant, the time of settlement and quantity of precipitant being varied from time to time in order to ascertain the best results with the constantly varying qualities of raw river water to be dealt with. The clarified water has been sterilised by means of chlorination and the resultant treated water has been analysed periodically.

On the discovery of the abnormal increase in bacterial content (it was discovered by the Company's chemist prior to receipt of the Health Officer's analysis), investigations were at once made to ascertain the cause, the entrance of some extraneous polluting matter being at first suspected, but the increase was eventually found to be due to algae having passed through the experimental system and to the development of algal growths in the filtered water reservoir, these growths contributing towards the multiplication of bacteria.

During the time that investigations were being made—and in consequence of bacteriological analysis of water requiring a considerable time delay is inevitable—the whole of the Company's mains were flushed out and practically the whole of the supply chlorinated.

The reservoir referred to has been emptied and, thoroughly cleaned, and the necessary steps taken to prevent any recurrence of algal growths, also more bacteriological work is being undertaken in the Company's laboratory, the filtered water being tested at several points in the Station and in town so as to prevent the possibility of a recurrence.

The exceptionally high bacterial content lasted for only a short period and, I am satisfied, was remedied in the shortest time possible. The Health Officer's analysis of July 27, kindly sent to the Company on the 31st idem., is, as you are doubtless aware, satisfactory in every way.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. P. WOOD,
Secretary & Engineer-in-Chief, Shanghai Waterworks Co., Ld.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Mixed Court Report for July.

Mr. P. Grant Jones who sat for the first time on April 7, 1913 proceeded on leave on July 11, 1920. His position as Senior British Assessor has been taken by Mr. A. D. Blackburn, while Mr. J. C. Hutchison is sitting as Assistant British Assessor in criminal cases.

The undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulates in Shanghai were before the Court on criminal charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
A. L. Brenan	British	Vagrancy	Cautioned
B. Johnson	British	Larceny	6 months' impt.
Aarm Hokma	Bagdad Jew	Begging	6 months' impt. and warned that on repetition of similar offence he will be expelled
F. Reichman	German	Unlicensed dogs	Fined $3.00
Mrs. C. F. Tinan	German	do.	Fined $3.00
Mrs. A. Z. Sorms	German	do.	Fined $3.00

During the month a case was tried where a house coolie was charged with rape on a young foreign girl, the daughter of his employer, and was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment.

A good deal of the Court's time was occupied in the hearing of private criminal prosecutions in connexion with which 27 warrants were issued. These cases are usually somewhat involved as the Bench has to decide whether they are criminal actions or whether they should be transferred to the Civil Court; the dividing line between the two is at times hard to determine without going into the case very closely.

Of the 26 Foreign Civil Cases on the hearing list, 15 have not yet been before the Court. The difference between the number of summonses issued and served is accounted for by the fact that in the 16 Japanese cases filed the plaintiffs have only been able to locate the defendants in two instances.

Since the beginning of the summer vacation on July 16 only one session in Chinese Civil Cases was held so that the number of cases awaiting a first hearing has increased ever last month's return by 13 to the total of 59.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

F. L. WAINWRIGHT,
Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for July.

The Bund reclamation and widening scheme is now well advanced and the new road on the east side will be opened to vehicular traffic very shortly, between the Customs Examination Shed and the Public Gardens.

In the first place it is intended to confine all handcarts and wheelbarrows to the new road, leaving the present carriageway for the faster traffic. When the new road has been opened the existing footpath under the trees on the east side of the Pund, will be converted into a motor car rank. The rate of progress on this work has been entirely limited by the amount of labour available, and although higher rates have been paid for this particular job it has not been possible to obtain nearly as much labour as could be advantageously employed.

The strike of the coolies employed on the mud roads in the Western District referred to in my report for June has now terminated, the coolies having returned to work without having obtained the increase of wages they sought.

Roads.—The widenings of Bubbling Well Road west of Myburgh Road and west of Seymour Road have been completed with the exception of laying the footpath west of Myburgh Road.

A useful widening has been effected in Jessfied Road at the corner of Connaught Road.

The ballasting and metalling of Thibet Road over the line of the old Defence Creek, has been completed between Peking Road and Soochow Road.

The lowering of the various mains and cables at the junction of Thibet Road and Peking Road having been completed, work has been resumed on the lowering of the road at this point.

Asphaltic concrete has been laid in Museum Road, Tientsin Road from Kiangse Road to Honan Road and Hongkong Road from Szechuen Road to Kiangse Road.

Drainage.—The laying of the 3-ft. diameter culvert in Avenue Road, has been completed, and the side ditch filled in.

200-ft. of 2-ft. 3-in. by 1-ft. 6-in. sewer has been laid in Yangtszepoo Road at the junction with Linching Road, replacing an old brick culvert.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Building.—Good progress has been made with the internal joinery work and with the laying of mosaic floor in the corridors, and certain portions of the building are nearly ready for occupation.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—Tenders are being called for the heating and cold water systems. The internal plaster work is proceeding well, and good progress is being made with the internal joinery work. The Tower is now about 70-ft. high.

Painting.—Tenders have been invited for various Schools, Police Stations, and Fire Stations, and the work is in hand.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Administration Building Substation.—The mezzanine floor has been completed, and the reinforcement for the roof is in place.

Tonquin Road Substation.—Minor alterations and extensions for the accommodation of switch gear are under construction and nearly complete.

Pingchiao Quarry.—2,450 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. The average number of coolies employed was 192.

Cleansing and Watering.	Total
Road sweepings collected cartloads	4,611
Ashes ,,	269
Used for raising land	404

Water used for street watering 7,366,000 gallons.

Labour.—The average number of labourers employed daily was as follows:—

Coolies	3,415
Artisans	489
Foremen	232
Mafoos	156

Concretework.—The following has been produced during the month:—

Hand made	6,934 pieces
Machine made	4,220 ,,
Total	11,154 pieces

Work Shelters.—There were 79 admissions during the month and 207 bundles of wood chopped.

TENDERS FOR PUBLIC WORKS AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS

CONDITIONS GOVERNING MUNICIPAL TENDERS.

1. The Council reserves to itself the right to accept the whole or part of any tender.

2. The Council does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender or to pay any expenses which the tenderers may incur in tendering.

3. The contractor whose tender is eventually accepted may be required to give satisfactory security for the performance of the contract.

4. The names of tenderers, with prices quoted, will be published in the Municipal Gazette.

5. A fee may be charged for specifications, to be returned upon receipt of a bona fide tender.

6. Tenders, sealed and labelled on the outside as to their contents, should be forwarded, preferably by chit book or registered letter, to "The Secretary, Municipal Council, 24 Kiangse Road" not later than noon on the day fixed for their receipt.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24b Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

DANGEROUS DRIVING OF MOTOR CARS.

TRAFFIC conditions in Shanghai are of an exceedingly complex character. It is therefore the more incumbent on drivers of motor vehicles—the fastest type of vehicle on the streets,—to take particular care in observing the Traffic Regulations and in adjusting their speed at all times so as not to endanger life or limb. The public safety must have first consideration, and those who drive in such a manner as to endanger the public safety will be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law.

The Council earnestly requests the co-operation of all motor vehicle owners in seeing that this warning be brought to the particular attention of their chauffeurs so that excessive speed and dangerous driving may cease.

Road Nomenclature.

Interchange of letters with the French Municipal Council on the subject of the renaming of the Great Western and Siccawei Roads:—

Translation of letter from the French Municipal Council, dated July 21, 1920.

SIR,—At its last meeting, the Council was called upon to give consideration to the question of new names for certain roads in the French Settlement.

It also considered it a duty of national gratitude to give to a road in the Settlement the name of Marshal Foch.

It seemed to the members that no thoroughfare was more appropriate to receive this great name than Great Western Road, which forms the boundary between our two Settlements.

It was thought as well that it was its duty to associate with the name of the illustrious generalissimo of the Allied Armies, that of Marshal

Haig, the glorious Chief of the British Armies, and for this reason it suggested that Siccawei Road should henceforth bear his name.

The Council is convinced in advance that these suggestions will receive the approval of the Municipal Council.

In the same way for a length of more than six miles, without interruption, the name of the great Sovereign Edward VII and those of the illustrious Marshals of the Great War, will serve to perpetuate, in this far off country, the remembrance of a friendship and of an Anglo-French alliance hereafter unchangeable.

I am, Sir, etc..,

P. LE BRIS,
Chairman,
French Municipal Council.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Shanghai Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 27, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to refer to your letter of July 21, on the subject of the re-naming of the Great Western and Siccawei Roads, and in reply to inform you that my colleagues and myself readily endorse your suggestion that these two roads, so far as they form the boundary between the French Settlement and this Settlement, should hereafter be known as "Avenue Foch" and "Avenue Haig" respectively, thus identifying them with the great French and British Military leaders of these names, as also serving, as you so happily express it, to perpetuate in this far off country, the remembrance of a friendship and alliance hereafter unchangeable.

I have the honour to add that the Council will apply the name "Avenue Haig" to the whole length of the Siccawei Road from its junction with Bubbling Well Road to Siccawei.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant.

WM. P. LAMBE,
Acting Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN,
French Municipal Council.

Sewage Disposal.

The following report by the Commissioner of Public Works on his visit to India and Burmah is published in continuation of the documents published in the Gazettes of July 12, 1918, February 14, August 22 and December 25, 1919:—

Shanghai, July 9, 1920.

The Council's instructions to me were to

1. Examine certain Activated Sludge Installations in the United States.
2. To visit one or other of the cities in India and Burmah mentioned in Professor Fowler's Report, in order to examine ejector systems in operation.

The first portion of these instructions was dealt with in my report of July 30, 1919, published in the "Municipal Gazette" of August 22, 1919. The present report therefore, deals only with the second portion of my instructions.

I left Shanghai on March 4, and visited Singapore, Calcutta, Bombay, Poona, Bangalore, Madras, and Rangoon, at each of which places I was most courteously received by the Engineers to the various Municipalities.

I much regret that I arrived at Bombay some six weeks too late to see Mr. J. D. Watson, who had been called in by the Municipality to advise on the question of sewage disposal, as the views of such an eminent authority on sewage disposal in the situation in Shanghai would have been of the greatest interest.

With the exception of Bangalore, where ample gradients are available, sewage at all the other towns I visited, has to be pumped to its destination by one means or another. The three methods most generally adopted are:—

Plunger force pumps,
Centrifugal pumps,
Pneumatic ejectors.

By means of the "Plunger Pump" the liquid to be pumped is fed into a cylinder, from which it is forced by means of a plunger or solid piston.

A "Centrifugal Pump" is one in which a high velocity is given to the water by the blades of a rapidly rotating fan. This fan is contained in a circular casing, provided with inlets at the centre and a wide outlet at the circumference running in a tangential direction. The water fills the casing and is set in rotation by the blades; centrifugal force drives it outward, and it flows through the discharge pipe in a steady stream, while fresh liquid is continually drawn into the casing through the inlet pipe. A centrifugal pump is not suited for very high lifts, and it only works with its maximum efficiency at the one lift for which it is designed.

A "Pneumatic Ejector" is of a totally different type from either of the foregoing. It may be described as a vessel or container into which the liquid flows, and from which, when it is full, it is ejected or forced out by compressed air. The air may be compressed at one large central station and delivered to the ejectors by air mains, or each ejector may be supplied from a smaller compressor in close proximity to the ejector, thus obviating losses from friction and leaks in long mains.

Comparing the relative merits of the three types of machines, it is evident that the plunger pump is best suited for forcing liquids to a considerable height or for long distances under such conditions as pumping water from the Waterworks at Yangtszepoo to the water towers in Kiangse and Sinza Roads.

The question of one long pressure main for Shanghai is one, however, which may require further consideration, as the tendency in most recent engineering practice is to utilize gravitation as far as possible, and to employ a number of short lifts at relays, rather than one long pressure main. This method would be quite applicable to Shanghai, and there would be the added advantage of being able to connect with other installations en route which it would be impracticable to couple up with a main under pressure.

It will, I think, be readily understood that pumping sewage is made difficult owing to the uncertainty of the rate of flow or the quantity to be pumped. It is absolutely essential that whatever system is adopted it should be automatic in its working, thus a centrifugal pump raising liquid from a tank, would cease working when the liquid in the tank has fallen to a certain low level, or would commence working when the liquid reached a certain high level.

In the case of a Pneumatic Ejector, the compressed air is brought into operation and the sewage ejected as soon as the ejector is full.

For lifting sewage in Shanghai there is, in my opinion, little to choose between the Centrifugal Pump and Pneumatic Ejector.

Now when treating sewage by the Activated Sludge process, it is very important that solids should be removed or broken up as much as possible, and for that reason the sewage is generally passed through fine screens before treatment. When in Singapore I was shown an installation of centrifugal pumps which is designed not only to lift the sewage, but also to disintegrate it to such an extent that screening is unnecessary. On his arrival in England the Deputy Commissioner of Public Works will investigate further the working of this type of pump.

Pneumatic ejectors are in use for a small section of Bombay and practically the whole of Rangoon. From the opinions of those of experience they may be adopted with advantage under certain conditions in Shanghai, but long lengths of compressed air mains are apt to cause trouble, and for this reason I am led to recommend that where pneumatic ejectors are adopted in Shanghai, they should each be operated direct from air compressors driven by electrical power or gas engines. Loss of power from any leakage is thus reduced to a minimum. This contingency has been anticipated when preparing the scheme for the propulsion of sewage from the Eastern portion of the Central District, so that no modifications in that respect are necessary.

As would be gathered from Professor Fowler's Report of June 17, 1918, the Activated Sludge Process consists of forcing air in a state of fine division through the sewage.

The Sheffield experiments are based on the idea that by agitating the sewage by means of paddles, it may be brought sufficiently into contact with the air to purify it in the same way as if air were forced through it. My latest information from England, dated May 26, 1920, is to the effect that the effluent from both processes was very good, colourless and odourless, so that if an equally good result can be obtained without the use of compressed air and its attendant expense, the agitation system is one which should not be overlooked I am arranging to be kept informed as to the progress of these experiments.

In the matter of water flushed latrines and night soil dumps, there was a good deal to be learned in India, and their adoption in Shanghai should lead to a considerable improvement in sanitary conditions of the Settlement, provided the prejudices of the Chinese can be overcome. These can be introduced as part of any drainage scheme for any district, and without any appreciable increase in cost. The danger from flies in the present non-fly proofed latrines would practically disappear, as would also nuisance from smells. A recommendation as to the construction of one for experimental purposes has already been made to the Council.

At Madras my attention was drawn to the deleterious effects of sewer gas on concrete pipes. It was also noticeable on the covering of a sewage conduit at the outfall works at Madras, where complete sections of the covering had collapsed.

Professor Fowler informs me that this is probably due to the oxidation of sulphuretted hydrogen (H_2S to H_2SO_4). I am informed that this action had been experienced at Colombo, and I have written asking for particulars. As far as I am aware no trouble has so far been experienced in concrete sewers in Shanghai, although our sewers do not carry such concentrated sewage as those which will require to be laid. The matter is of great importance, and will require to be gone thoroughly into before any new sewers are laid.

My acknowledgements are due to the following gentlemen for their courtesy in placing information at my disposal:—

Fire Brigade Report for July.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 14, as against 8 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 5,295 (Foreign Tls. 2,025: Chinese Tls. 3,270), as against Tls. 200 (Foreign Nil: Chinese Tls. 200) during July 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 530,000 (Foreign Tls. 480,000: Chinese Tls. 40,000), as against Tls. 30,000 (Foreign Nil: Chinese Tls. 30,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 11, Watch Towers 2, and Police 1. The district call was given on one occasion, the remaining 13 being station calls. These calls proved to be 9 small fires, 2 chimney fires, 2 false alarms, and 1 fire outside the Settlement.

The principal supposed causes of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Arson, fusing of electric wires, dropped match or cigarette end, spontaneous combustion, defective flue, etc.

The premises affected were:—Foreign Buildings 4, Chinese Buildings 6. Of these 2 buildings were more or less damaged by fire, smoke and water.

The Brigade was occupied 81 hours and 50 minutes at fires or supposed fires.

There were two rather nasty outbreaks in the Central District during the month, which were fortunately extinguished with little damage. P 79/81 Nanking Road July 2, 4.07 a.m., when a cashier set fire to the small office at the back of the main chemist's shop to destroy the books to cover his embezzlement, and thus jeopardized the lives of the persons residing above and the surrounding property. The outbreak was fortunately extinguished by the Police and inmates, and little remained for the Brigade to do.

The cashier was charged at the French Court and sentenced to 5 years imprisonment, and to refund the amount of his shortage $868.

On July 4 at 1.29 p.m. a fire occurred in a paper store on the third floor of the Commercial Press, Honan Road. The Press staff had got a number of private hydrants to work, but the appliances were in such a condition that they were useless, and had it not been for the prompt arrival of the Central Division, who shut off the valves, considerable water damage would have been done. As it was the Department covered up as much as possible, and laid sawdust to prevent the water from getting to the store below. The actual outbreak was confined to the store room where it originated.

This fire clearly illustrated the necessity for the periodical inspection of private fire appliances by this Department.

The water supply during the month continued to be low, and was a source of anxiety. Special precautions were taken by the Department, and it is particularly desirable that no time should be wasted in submitting a call on the slightest evidence of a fire.

During the month the improvised workshop at Soochow Road was vacated, and the new one at Hongkew Station occupied.

Rather an incorrect idea appears to exist in the minds of some of the public with regard to the work of the Brigade, in that they would appear to be under the impression that the extinction of fires constitutes the bulk of the work performed. This is not so. A considerable amount of useful work of an advisory nature, including the carrying out of inspections of property, is now being performed by the Brigade staff and at least seven-eighths of their time is occupied in fire protection and prevention work, which, since the reorganization of the Brigade, has been carried out on similar lines to those of large Fire Departments elsewhere. As a new departure in Shanghai, the value of this import ant work is not always appreciated and difficulties in its being properly carried out exist. At the same time it is essential that every reasonable precaution should be taken in such a large city as this, to prevent fire and to afford protection to life and property.

Anyone wishing to obtain information, or to have premises inspected, should apply to Brigade Headquarters, and everything possible will be done.

Over 1,000 inspections have been made since May 1, 1920.

Chaotic conditions are found, especially in factories, and it is evident that Regulations framed on the lines of Factory Acts, enforced elsewhere, should be put into effect in Shanghai, for as mentioned from time to time in my Annual Reports, premises are made reasonably safe but such measures are rendered useless in a very short time, by no attention being paid to keep the premises safe.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

Health Officer's Report for August.

During August there was an increased mortality as compared with the abnormally low mortality of July but scarcely above the normal for August.

The Chinese press reported epidemics from choleraic diarrhœa from many parts of China, with a high mortality; but generally, except in Szechuen province, the mortality was less than last year and this was markedly so in the Shanghai Foreign Settlement where there is a distinct factor of immunity both among foreigners and Chinese attributable to general sanitation and some measure of health education among both foreign and Chinese communities.

The Joint Council on Public Health Education of the Medical Missionary Association and the China National Medical Association are usefully developing for the rest of China the issue of health notices and booklets initiated by the Municipal Health Office. These publications are most valuable means of disseminating knowledge of the way of preventing diseases that are specially prevalent in China.

The Chinese Y.M.C.A. boys conducted a most praiseworthy, useful and much appreciated effort toward reaching the Chinese people in the Settlement the special dangers from flies, rats, refuse and infected food—fundamentals of local sanitation. By means of a procession carrying models they drew special attention to the objects of their movement, and this was followed by lantern demonstrations in the markets and open air lectures and talks, which cannot but have had very good results. Previous to this the same boys had shown what they could do within a given area in getting people to clean up the immediate surroundings of their houses.

Intestinal diseases were very prevalent throughout the month, especially Dysentery of a severe type and Choleraic Diarrhœa, in 16 cases of which, occurring within the Settlement, true Cholera vibrios were found. The Red Cross Cholera Hospital, the newly opened Infectious Diseases Hospital and St. Luke's Hospital did good work, especially by giving saline transfusion treatment in severe cases, practically relieving the Municipal Isolation Hospital of attention to these cases. Special attention was given by the sanitary staff to food inspection and a large number of notices, calling attention to the main dangers and showing how they could be avoided, were posted and explained by talks at the Branch Health Offices and other suitable places.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse and a special summary of Plague Prevention work.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION
No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

Chapei-Nantao Telephone Connexions.

Correspondence with the Shanghai Mutual Telephone Co., Ld.:—

Shanghai, August 4, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—We have just been asked by the Chinese Government Telephone Administration to rent them the use of lines in our cables running across the Settlement between Chapei and Nantao for the purpose of using them for trunk lines between their exchanges in these districts.

Before granting their request I shall be glad to know if the Municipal Council has any remarks or any objection to our doing so.

Yours faithfully,
PHILIP H. COLE,
Engineer-in-Chief & Gen. Manager, Shanghai Mutual Telephone Co., Ld.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 24, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of August 4, on the subject of the proposed use by the Chinese Government Telephone Administration of lines in your cables between Chapei and Nantao, as trunk lines between its exchanges in these districts.

In reply, I am directed to inform you that the Council has no objection to the use of your cables for this purpose, on the condition that you will immediately disconnect the Administration's lines whenever the Council may consider that circumstances require such disconnexion and notify you accordingly.

I shall be obliged if you will kindly forward an undertaking to this effect.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

P. H. COLE, Esq.,

Murder.—About 10 p.m. on August 18 a Chinese was stabbed to death in a room at No. 894 Chekiang Road. The murdered man was identified by his finger-prints as being known to the Police as a member of a gang of loafers, and from enquiries made it would appear that all the persons implicated are bad characters. Two arrests have been made and warrants issued for the arrest of four others, who are all known to the Police, for being concerned in the murder.

The dead body of an unknown Chinese who had been brutally murdered with an axe or chopper was found lying in a cotton field in the country off Ward Road on August 20. One person has been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the murder and is at present under remand.

"Sing Song" Girl Murder.—Two of the perpetrators of the murder of the "sing song" girl Lien Ying, whose dead body was found in a field off Hungjao Road on June 16, have been brought to justice. The Municipal Police issued over twenty thousand circulars giving a description of the instigator of the murder. He was arrested by the Chinese Authorities at Hsuchoufu and handed over to Municipal detectives who brought him to Shanghai on August 8. A further arrest was effected locally on August 10 and after a trial at the Mixed Court the two men were ordered to be handed over to the Court of the Military Governor on August 26.

A peculiar feature of this case was the employment of chloroform to overcome the resistance of the victim. The culprit affirms that he bought a bottle of chloroform at a certain Chinese dispensary and there is no reason to doubt his word, yet enquiries made at the particular shop show no trace of any such transaction in their books. These shops are thus able to sell the most potent poisons without the slightest restriction, without recording into whose hands the poisons are given or for what purpose they will be used. The importance of licensing all chemist's shops in the Settlement is thus once more emphasized.

Arrest of man wanted for Murder.—The alleged principal in the murder of a Chinese at No. 2041 Yangtszepoo Road on July 7, 1919 was tried at the Mixed Court on August 6 and discharged.

Armed Robbery.—Only one report of alleged armed highway robbery was received during the month. This occurred in the Louza District and there is strong reason to doubt the truth of the report.

One report of highway robbery in which no arms were used was reported in the Sinza District.

Armed Highway Robbery and Attempted Murder.—At about 3 p.m. on August 30 a foreigner entered a curio and jade shop No. 1864 Bubbling Well Road, selected jade jewellery to the value of Tls. 5,000 and requested the proprietor to accompany him to his house for payment, and for this purpose, took public ricshas as far as Great Western Road. Having alighted at Tifeng Road corner they were about to enter the garden of a foreign house when the shop master was shot in the neck by the foreigner who immediately decamped with the jewellery. This case presents many unusual features and fullest inquiries are being made.

Arson.—A shopkeeper was charged with setting fire to his premises, a tailor's shop, No. 862 Chekiang Road, on August 11 and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and expulsion. The fire might have been attended with more serious results as five persons were cut off and injured in effecting their escape.

Stolen Property.—274 reports of property stolen were made during the month to the Police. In 96 cases investigations were made with successful results. The return shows a decrease of 28 on the previous month and an increase of 23 on the corresponding month of last year.

Misappropriation of Motor Cars.—A peculiar case of the appropriation and improper use of a motor car came to the notice of the Police during the month and makes it important that owners of cars should be in a position to check the movements of their chauffeurs and their cars when not in use by them.

On August 4 three Chinese drove out a private-owned motor car at an early hour in the morning. Their object was to teach others to drive that particular make of car. On return they were arrested by the Police and two of the occupants were found to be licensed chauffeurs. The other was being taught by them in order to obtain a licence. It is probable that more of this is going on in Shanghai than actually comes to notice as the demand for chauffeurs is large and they must of necessity obtain cars to learn the art of driving before passing the necessary examination for a licence. The three men were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

Identification Office.—During the month 593 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 178 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 147 records were received from the French Police out of which number 48 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for August.

As an indication of the extent to which roads outside the Settlement are utilized, a traffic census was taken on Hungjao Road, just west of Siccawei Road, on Saturday and Sunday, August 7 and 8.

The following is an abstract of the returns:—

	Saturday, 7th 24 hours	Sunday, 8th 24 hours
Pedestrians	1,000	936
Motor cars	300	504
Bicycles & Motor cycles	127	122
Ponies	31	57
Wheelbarrows	74	90

The maximum number of motor cars in any one hour was 67 on the Saturday, and 66 on the Sunday.

The weather was fine on both days.

A census was also taken of the visitors to the various Parks and Open Spaces on Saturday and Sunday, the 21st and 22nd instants, with the following results:—

	Saturday, 21st	Sunday, 22nd
Public Garden	4,018	4,360
Public Recreation Ground	1,313	1,469
Bund Foreshore	1,788	1,502
Jessfield Park	1,650	2,135
Quinsan Square	2,150	2,299
Wayside Park	237	298
Bubbling Well Carriage Turn	1,048	813
Brenan Piece	424	514
Total	12,628	13,390

To show the changing nature of Shanghai traffic, the following comparison is interesting:—

Census of traffic passing the corner of Nanking and Kiangse Roads for 12 hours, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in 1909, 1916, and 1920, including traffic going East and West, and North and South.

	April 7, 1909	March 23, 1916	August 27, 1920
Pedestrians	Not taken	35,588	40,645
Motor cars	299	1,610	3,124
Rickshas	16,460	20,441	18,189
Carriages	1,587	1,754	765
Tramcars	460	640	302
Tramcars with trailers	—	—	495
Wheelbarrows	513	1,785	923
Handcarts	93	341	468
Bicycles	389	Not taken	1,033
Motor cycles	Not taken	do.	161
Motor trucks	do.	do.	102

It is estimated that 151,744 persons passed this corner during the 24 hours from 6 a.m. on August 27 to 6 a.m. on August 28, 1920, as pedestrians, rickshamen, wheelbarrow men, drivers and passengers on the various types of vehicles. This figure is based on an actual census, averages, being taken for the passengers on motor-cars, trams, etc.

The number of motor cars passing between 2 and 3 p.m. was 318.

Roads.—Consequent upon the rebuilding of the property, an extensive widening has been effected in Avenue Edward VII, between Yunnan Road and Thibet Road, and the series of islands in the centre of Avenue Edward VII is being completed.

The ballasting and metalling of Tongshan Road, between Singkeipang Road and Dent Road has been completed for half the width of the road.

Asphaltic concrete has been laid in Kiangse Road from Nanking Road to Kiukiang Road, and also South of Canton Road, Kiukiang Road from Honan Road to Kiangse Road, and Siking Road.

The surface treatment of roads with asphaltum is practically complete, all the more important roads having been dealt with.

Drainage.—The existing sewer in Hankow Road, between Honan and Kiangse Roads has been removed, as it was too small, and was in a defective condition. It has been replaced by a 1' 6" × 1' sewer.

Bunding.—A length of 650 feet of concrete bunding is being constructed along the Soochow Creek, East of Tatung Road, the work being carried out departmentally. A length of 100 feet has been completed to date.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Building.—Satisfactory progress has been made with the internal joinery work, blind fittings, staining and polishing of woodwork; etc. The heating apparatus is also making steady progress. A waterproofing cover of malthoid has been laid over the whole roof.

Yangtzepoo Fire Station.—The centering is now being removed from the concrete roof so that internal partition work can be started. This has already been completed on the lower floors, and the plaster work nearly finished. Work has been started on the heating, and cold water systems, and on the iron stairway to tower.

Louza Police Station Extension.—A start on this work has been made.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Administration Building Substation.—The roof has been completed, and the building is now ready for the installation of the machinery.

Tonquin Road Substation.—Fresh alterations for the accommodation of switch gear are under consideration. Cable trenches are being constructed at the south end of the building, and work has been commenced on the new battery house on the east side.

Fingchiao Quarry.—1,331 fong of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. The average number of coolies employed was 184.

Cleansing and Watering.	Total
Road sweepings collected cartloads	4,769
Ashes	496
Used for raising land	498
Water used for street watering	8,435,200 gallons.

Labour.—The average number of labourers employed daily was as follows:—

Coolies	3,315
Artisans	352
Foremen	234
Mafoos	161

Concreteware.—The following has been produced during the month:—

Hand made	5,572 pieces
Machine made	4,030 "
Total	9,602 pieces

Work Shelters.—There were 28 admissions during the month and 66 bundles of wood chopped.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000.

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 per cent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent. in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, No. 24B Kiangse Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

By order,

Mixed Court Report for August.

The undermentioned foreigners, who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai, were before the Court on criminal charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
Vienberg	—	Driving motor car without Driver's license. Motor car failing to stop after an accident	Fined $50.00 and to pay for the repairs to the bicycle
J. Hansen	German	Unlicensed dog	Fined $4.00
J. Loglaize	French	Unlicensed dog	Fined $2.00

In accordance with instructions received from the Senior Consul, the regulations governing Revenue Stamp Duty were put into force, so that all petitions, appeals, applications for rehearings, and motions filed by, or on behalf of, Chinese must have a Revenue Stamp affixed.

The question as to whether or not a lawyer, knowing that a warrant had been issued against his client, has the right to counsel him to evade arrest, pending a favourable opportunity of surrendering direct to Court without the inconvenience of being detained at a station and having his past record, if any, looked up, was referred to the various Magistrates and Assessors, who decided that this practice was undesirable. The result is that only two of these surrenders took place and in both instances the Court refused to go into the case, but ordered the accused to be taken over by the police pending the carrying out of the usual formalities before trial.

Three Assessors took advantage of the recess in Civil Cases to go away on a short holiday; during their absence one criminal Court only sat on several days with the result that the number of cases remanded or set for special hearings has accumulated, but by the end of September the list should be reduced to normal.

On August 12 a man was arrested for attempting to obtain Tls. 50 from a woman by means of a letter purporting to have been written by a clerk in the civil office. Investigations showed that the accused had previously obtained Tls. 75 from the complainant, alleging that the money was to pay the Court and lawyer's fees, but as no such case had ever been filed, the accused was sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

There were only four sessions for the Chinese Civil Cases but twenty-five cases were concluded, leaving ninety-five which have not been heard.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

F. L. WAINWRIGHT,
Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

Fire Brigade Report for August.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 21, as against 26 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 15,705 (Foreign, Tls. 610; Chinese, Tls. 15,095), as against Tls. 15,550 (Foreign, Tls. 1,000; Chinese, Tls. 14,550) during August 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 1,140,000 (Foreign, Tls. 1,041,600; Chinese, Tls. 99,000), as against Tls. 645,000 (Foreign, Tls. 500,000; Chinese, Tls. 145,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 16, Watch Towers 3, Staff 1 and Messenger 1. The district call was given on 5 occasions, the remaining 16 being station calls. These calls proved to be 14 small fires, 2 false alarms (1 of which was malicious) and 5 fires outside the Settlement.

The principal supposed causes of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Sparks from stove, lamp upset, overheated oil lamp, smoking in bed, overboiling oil.

Eleven buildings were more or less damaged by smoke, fire and water.

During the month 367 visits of inspection were made by members of this Department.

August 11, 12.17 a.m. 1 862 Chekiang Road.—Two separate and distinct fires were found on the above premises, both of which were extinguished with small damage. Two persons were injured by jumping from the verandah, and four slightly burnt by rushing down the staircase. The showcases and other materials on the ground floor were soaked with kerosene, and a watering can, etc., was found containing kerosene. The occupier of the shop was charged with arson and sentenced to two years' imprisonment with expulsion. The same man had previously had a fire at Nantao.

August 25, 2.07 a.m. 47 Szechuen Road.—A remarkably good stop was effected for the second time within a few months at the above building, Messrs. Liddell's godown and office block. The fire had obtained a firm hold on the roof, and on some bales of cocoons on the top floor. The outbreak was quickly extinguished, the damage being confined to a few hundred taels.

The month was rather marked on account of the assistance rendered at outside fires as follows:—

August 14, 12.17 a.m. No. 13 Godown—Butterfield and Swire, French Bund.—A section of the Central Division rendered valuable assistance to the French Brigade, and were an essential factor in confining the fire to No. 13 godown (which contained a large quantity of wood oil, China grass, hemp, etc., etc.), and the saving of the main office block, which was surrounded by flowing oil from the godown at the back. The Brigade Float did good work at this fire.

August 24, 5.57 p.m. Kiangnan Dock.—A party of men under the Chief Officer assisted to extinguish an outbreak in a portion of the moulding shop which was in flames and was endangering practically all the rest of the important shops. The Brigade Float was in attendance and rendered valuable assistance. The City Brigade were present.

August 28, 8.57 a.m. off Robison Road.—A large Contractor's yard between Pao Ching Cotton Mills, Nos. 1 and 2, was in flames, endangering both these premises. The Brigade were in difficulties owing to water; the mill supply being quite inadequate, and it was very difficult to get down to the creek. The nearest Settlement hydrant was on the corner of Kiaochow Road. However the fire was surrounded, but it took some time to finally extinguish, owing to the large stacks of lumber being well alight.

At two fires during the month there was comparatively heavy damage.

August 22, 7.30 p.m. B 1651-2 Sinza Road.—The upper portion and ground floor back part of the premises were in flames. Simultaneously with fire extinguishing operations the Brigade removed a large quantity of piece goods from the building on the street and shops opposite. Whilst the Brigade were responding to this call, the Light Motor Tender attached to the Sinza Division came into collision with a handcart on the Myburgh Road, injuring a coolie. It is regretted that the man subsequently died. At the inquest the driver of the Brigade machine was exonerated from all blame.

August 26, 6.29 p.m. J A 1232-3 off Singkeipang Road.—An ordinary Chinese dwelling had been converted into a cigarette factory, and the whole place was dangerous from a fire point of view.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.

EXTRACTS FROM THE ORDER BOOKS FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9.

Police Force. — The following Constables are promoted to be Sergeants from October 1, with seniority from the dates specified :—

W. J. Russell, April 1, 1916.
A. D. Hendry, " 1, "
C. G. Phillips, " 1, "
J. F. Lovell, " 1, "
E. A. Eva, " 1, "
M. E. Ashley, July 1, 1918.
T. S. Fry, " 1, "
M. Fitzpatrick, October 1, 1920.

Probationary Constable Riyohachi Furukawa is discharged, invalided, from October 11.

Health Department.—Long leave is granted to Mr. W. Palmer, Custodian of the Isolation Hospital from October 14.

Public Works Department.—The appointment of Park-keeper C. F. Burdett is confirmed under an agreement from July 1, terminable at three months' notice.

Electricity Department.—Mr. H. G. Reed, Clerical Assistant, is permitted to terminate his service on October 16.

Educational Department.—In addition to the performance of her duties as temporary Music Mistress in the Thomas Hanbury School for Girls, Madame G. Zalsman will temporarily undertake the duties of Music Mistress in the Public School for Girls, from September 8.

Mr. G. E. Matthews is appointed Assistant Master in the Public School for Boys from October 7.

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for September.

The question of motor haulage has received exhaustive investigation, and detailed costs and results have been kept for comparison with pony and manual haulage.

The Department has now thirteen motor trucks in operation, excluding three vacuum tank wagons used for the removal of cesspool contents, and broadly speaking, it can be said that the cost of haulage by motor trucks is about equal to the cost of haulage by ponies or coolies.

The financial aspect, although important, is, however, by no means the main factor. From a traffic point of view the advantage of having a few large fast moving vehicles instead of a large number of unwieldy slow moving units is obvious, and there is no doubt but that a given amount of freight moved by motor trucks inflicts less wear and tear on the surface of the road than would be the case if the same amount of freight were moved by handcarts and wheel-barrows.

Another factor is time, and the fact that handcarts and wheel-barrows cannot always be obtained, and moreover, when obtainable, take much longer than motor trucks to haul the same amount of freight.

With motor trucks, facilities for quick loading and unloading are imperative, and for most of the material hauled by this Department in motor trucks, hydraulic or other similar methods of tipping the body of the truck are essential, as the truck must be kept in motion as much as possible.

For hauls of less than one mile, motor trucks are extravagant, on account of the time taken in loading and unloading.

Roads.

Lungmen Road.—A 12-ft. strip of ballasting and metalling has been laid from the end of the existing metalling through to Chengtu Road.

Bund.—The widening scheme has been completed as far as Canton Road, and is open to traffic as far as Foochow Road. The stone pitching along the water front has been completed.

Peking Road.—The tram rails have been lowered at the junction of Thibet Road and the lowering of the remainder of the carriageway is in hand.

Chapoo Road.—Asphaltic concrete has been laid between Tiendong Road and Range Road.

N. Soochow Road.—Asphaltic concrete is being laid between Broadway and N. Szechuen Road.

Scott Road.—Another 500-ft. has been raised.

Tongshan Road.—Ballasting and metalling has been laid for the full width of the road between Singkeipang Road and Chaoufoong Road, and for half the width between Chaoufoong Road and Dent Road.

Yangtszepoo Road.—Asphaltum surfacing has been carried out between Baikal Road and the Tramway terminus.

Drainage. Siccawei Road.—A 12-in. diameter sewer is being laid between Bubbling Well Road and Great Western Road.

Hart Road.—A 4-ft. 6-in. diameter culvert has been laid from the Yung Zeen Pang to the existing culvert in Bubbling Well Road, and a 3-ft. diameter culvert is being laid between Bubbling Well Road and Yu Yuen Road.

Range Road.—500-ft. of 1-ft. 6-in. by 1-ft. sewer has been laid East of North Honan Road.

Kueiyang Road.—Three 3-ft. diameter cross culverts have been laid and one 1-ft. 6-in. by 1-ft.

Municipal Properties.

Administration Building.—The section of the Building to be used by the Finance Department is now ready for occupation, and attention is being concentrated on completing the offices for occupation of the Electricity Department by the end of the year.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The gas and water services are nearly complete, and the laying of the flooring will be begun in a few days. The joinery work is well in hand.

Louza Police Station Extension.—The foundations have been piled ready for laying concrete.

Rifle Range Shelter.—A new shelter is in course of construction at the 400 yards firing point.

Electricity Department.

Administration Building Substation.—This building is now completed.

Tonguin Road Substation.—The minor alterations for the accommodation of switch gear and the cable trenches at the south end of the building have been completed. The construction of a Battery House on the east side has been commenced and is approaching completion. A partition to divide the transformer room is under construction.

Yinghiao Quarry.—1,547 long of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. The average number of coolies employed was 176.

Mixed Court Report for September.

The undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court on various charges:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
J. Schluter	German	Unlicensed dog	Cautioned
Leon Henri Rabichofsky	Russian Jew	Returning from expulsion	Re-expelled
E. Helmann	German	Motorcycle no number plate	Fined $3.00
George Pappas	Greek	Accessory after the fact	3 months' impt.
J. Brenan	American	Drunk and Disorderly	Cautioned

In November 1915 one Ong Zienstsing (洪泉清), charged with stabbing a man to death, was sentenced, after having made a full confession, to be handed over to the Military Governor to be executed according to law, or should this sentence not be carried out, to be returned to this Court. On December 16, 1915, the Military Governor sent a dispatch stating that the accused had been handed over to the Shanghai Shên P'an T'ing where on November 27, 1915, he had been sentenced to 14 years' imprisonment. This man escaped early this year from the City Gaol and was arrested for creating a disturbance in the Hongkew District. His identity was established and the Court (Messrs. Jacobs and Li) ordered him to be sent back to the Arsenal for the original sentence to be carried out or to be returned to this Court.

Out of a total of 4,870 cases dealt with during the month no less than 2,841 were in connexion with breaches of traffic regulations and of these 110 were for infringements of the motor car license conditions. This is the first time that three figures have been recorded, but, if the number continues to increase as it in all probability will as more and more cars arrive in the Settlement, the desirability of holding a special Court once or twice a week to deal with traffic offences may have to be considered.

Thirteen persons were charged under the new Brothel Licensing Conditions: in most cases a fine was imposed.

Five-sixths of the Foreign Civil Cases set for hearing were postponed for various reasons, so causing an increase to sixteen awaiting a first hearing.

There are now only three instead of four Assessors for Chinese Civil Cases, which means that it will be roughly two months before these cases are reduced to their normal number.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

F. L. Wainwright,
Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEuen,
Commissioner of Police.

Health Officer's Report for September.

The Public Health so far as Shanghai is concerned may perhaps be summed up by saying that we have come through the summer very well. Though Cholera threatened, the incidence of acute diarrhœa of choleraic type has never been more than moderate, and has scarcely caused any abnormal increase in the mortality rate. Latterly there was an increase in Dysentery, of which disease 13 cases and 4 deaths were reported among the resident foreign community.

A fatal foreign case of Anthrax was reported in which the infection appears to have been derived from a shaving brush. The brush in question had no mark indicating its origin: Anthrax was not found on examination, but after using a new brush a few times it is to be expected that anthrax spores may have been washed away. Several such cases have during recent years been reported in Europe as certainly derived from shaving brushes made of horse hair from the Far East. This fatal case will serve as an indication of the danger locally, although the chance of being infected is remote, the present being the first foreign case of Anthrax reported in Shanghai for many years. Shaving brushes should be avoided unless purchased from reputable firms and from good makers. Those of Far Eastern origin should be avoided. It would be advisable, after thorough washing with soap, to immerse any recently purchased shaving brush in 20 per cent. formalin in water for 24 hours.

Preparations are being made to begin a vaccination campaign early in October so as to get the community protected before Smallpox comes. The position as regards Smallpox in Shanghai is that the public generally are well vaccinated, most cases coming in from outside or occurring among recent arrivals both foreign and Chinese.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

ORDURE CONTRACTS.

(Translation.)

THE Council is prepared to receive tenders for the removal by boat of ordure from the Settlement from January 1, 1921.

For this purpose the Settlement will be divided into two separate areas:—

1. North of the Soochow Creek.
2. South of the Soochow Creek.

Separate contracts will be made in respect of each of these areas and tenders should state clearly for which area they are tendering and the amount of money they are prepared to pay to the Council and send their tenders with "Tenders for Ordure Contract" marked thereon, to the undersigned not later than noon on November 15, 1920. The Contractors whose tenders are accepted will be required to deposit three months' money with the Council. A contract for one year renewable for a further period of two years will be made provided the contractors perform their duties to the satisfaction of the Council, and in case they wish to continue the work. Assignment of the contracts will not be permitted. Official tender forms and further particulars may be obtained and conditions of contract may be inspected upon application to the Health Office.

Garbage—Soochow Creek.

Letter from the Senior Consul forwarding a communication from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs concerning the dumping of garbage in the vicinity of the Soo chow Creek, with reply.

Shanghai, August 4, 1920.

SIR,—I enclose herewith for your consideration and reply copies of Chinese text and free translation of letter received from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Shanghai regarding the conservancy of the Woosung River.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. SIFFERT,
Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, ESQ.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to the Senior Consul, dated July 31, 1920.

The Commissioner for Foreign Affairs is in receipt of a note from Chen Un-tse, Deputy of the Woosung River Conservancy Works stating that the Soochow Creek (the end of the Woosung River) serves as an important waterway from the Tai Ho, for the transportation of cereals and other goods to and from Shanghai. The Deputy was, last winter, directed by the Kiangnan Maritime Bureau, under the orders of the Kiangsu Civil Governor, to take immediate steps to conserve the lower part of the Soochow Creek, and, having found that the section of the creek at Siao-Shao Ferry was silted up badly he started dredging work from that point, at the same time he addressed the Foreign Commissioner asking him to communicate with the Senior Consul, asking him to communicate with the Municipal Council in the matter. During these several months he has engaged coolies and has pushed the dredging work along with a view to doing something for the benefit of the community. However, he finds that the blocking up of the section of the creek at this point is primarily due to the dumping of refuse by the Municipal Contractor employed to collect house refuse from the Settlement. It appears that the contractors are in the habit of storing house refuse on ground in the vicinity in question, about ten boat loads each day, and not infrequently the contractor or his men throw the refuse into the creek, also at times the rain and wind carry part of the garbage dumped on the ground into the water, thereby gradually blocking up the creek. Last November there was unusual overcrowding of boats in Sinza, this is evidence of the congestion of boat traffic caused by the creek being blocked up by refuse and filth. The writer therefore, holds the view that if no restrictions are placed upon this kind of dumping of refuse, and no supervision exercised over garbage boats the more dredging there is done the worse the condition in the creek will be, and there can never be a clear passage along this waterway. The cleaning of the streets is an important sanitary measure but the dumping of garbage in a locality which is in close proximity to a commercial port is a source of disease, and is inconsistent with the Council's public health regulations. The Deputy has therefore to ask the Commissioner to make representations to the Senior Consul asking him to request the Council to exercise more supervision over their garbage contractors so as to prevent them from dumping garbage and filth into the Soochow Creek, also to order them to stop dumping garbage on the banks of the creek. The contractor should be instructed to provide steam launches to take the garbage to suitable sites outside the Whangpoo River so that boat traffic conditions in the creek may be improved and the community be benefitted. Besides forwarding reports to the Civil Governor of the province and the Kiangnan Maritime Bureau as to the effect of the Settlement garbage on traffic conditions in this waterway the Deputy submits the above report for consideration and action by the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

In compliance with the above the Commissioner asks the Senior Consul kindly to request the Municipal Council to give directions to their contractors not to handle or dump refuse on the banks of the Soochow Creek. This in the interests of the community.

Council Room,
Shanghai, September 14, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of August 4, forwarding a copy and translation of a communication received from the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, relative to the dumping of garbage in the vicinity of the Soochow Creek.

In reply I have the honour to observe that dredging of the Creek has been in operation for some time within Settlement limits, but that owing very largely to the winding nature of the Creek on the Northern borders of the Western District of the Settlement and to the frequent berthing of boats in connexion with the various mills on the banks, a considerable amount of silting is inevitable. And in this connexion I have the honour further to observe that for some years the only dredging of the Creek has been that undertaken by the Council, and that owing to the absence of dredging beyond Settlement limits by the Chinese authorities, the task of keeping the fairway clear has been rendered increasingly difficult.

In so far as the disposal of garbage is concerned, every effort is made by the Council to prevent its being dumped en route to the dumping sites or on the foreshore of such sites but it is impossible to prevent a small quantity finding its way into the Creek from the garbage boats whilst unloading, but the dredging undertaken by the Council prevents any serious silting from this cause.

From the public health point of view it may be stated that the sites selected for dumping garbage are chosen with a view to minimise any possible offence therefrom. Moreover garbage is not of itself a medium for breeding those malignant bacilli which are instrumental in producing so many human disorders, a fact which will be the more readily understood when it is realized that it is in the main composed of vegetable matter, which quickly purifies, and deodorises itself when exposed to the air. Furthermore it often renders an actual service in promoting the health of the Community, as it can be and is used to fill in stagnant ponds, or to raise damp and low lying lands, thereby eliminating mosquito breeding grounds and lending aid to the extermination of this germ carrying pest which is so fruitful a medium for passing on disease from infected to healthy members of the Community.

In conclusion I have the honour to state that the Council will welcome any effort on the part of the Chinese Authorities which would tend to improve the usefulness of the Soochow Creek as a waterway.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
WM. P. LAMBE,
Acting Chairman.

Robbery.—During the month one report of an armed robbery from a dwelling house in the Sinza District was received and one case of armed highway robbery and a robbery from a dwelling house, in which no arms were used, were recorded in the Yangtszepoo District.

Two armed robberies and one attempted armed robbery, in which one person was shot and wounded, occurred in Chinese territory on the Western border of the Settlement. Five persons were arrested in connexion with robberies committed at places under Chinese jurisdiction. Four, after a preliminary hearing at the Mixed Court, were handed over to the Chinese authorities concerned and the other committed suicide in the Police Station cells.

One person was arrested on charges of murder, attempted murder and armed robbery which occurred prior to September 1. He was sentenced to imprisonment in the Municipal Gaol.

Execution.—On September 23 a Chinese, who was found guilty of having participated in an armed robbery in the Settlement in June 1917 and who was handed over to the Military Governor on July 21, 1919, was executed at Lunghua in the presence of a representative of the Municipal Police.

Stolen Property.—324 reports of property stolen were made during the month to the Police. In 114 cases investigations were made with successful results. The return shows an increase of 50 on the previous month and 88 over the corresponding month of last year.

Panic at Fire in Cinematograph Theatre.—On the evening of September 27 a fire occurred in the cinematograph theatre situated on the third floor of the Hwo S Ka (花世界), a Chinese pleasure resort in the Foochow Road. The outbreak was trifling and was quickly extinguished by the employes and firemen on duty in the building but unfortunately a panic ensued amongst the audience which resulted in the death of three persons. Twelve others sustained various injuries, two of them being detained in hospital for treatment.

Disappearance of Foreign Child.—Whilst the s.s. Woosung was proceeding from Shanghai to Hankow, a three year old child, the daughter of a Russian passenger, disappeared from the boat either at Chinkiang or between that Port and Nanking some time between 12.30 and 6 a.m. on September 27. All efforts to locate the child have so far proved fruitless.

Price of Rice.—Fluctuations in the price of rice during the month caused considerable alarm. On September 1 this cereal cost $9.00 to $13.80 per picul and by September 21 the value had risen to $10.00 to $16.30 per picul. Subsequently prices declined to $8.60 to $13.70 per picul according to quality.

Identification Office.—During the month 621 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 163 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 170 records were received from the French Police out of which number 74 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

ORDURE CONTRACTS.

(Translation.)

THE Council is prepared to receive tenders for the removal by boat of ordure from the Settlement from January 1, 1921.

For this purpose the Settlement will be divided into two separate areas:—

1. North of the Soochow Creek.
2. South of the Soochow Creek.

Separate contracts will be made in respect of each of these areas and tenderers should state clearly for which area they are tendering and the amount of money they are prepared to pay to the Council and send their tenders with "Tenders for Ordure Contract" marked thereon, to the undersigned not later than noon on November 15, 1920. The Contractors whose tenders are accepted will be required to deposit three months' money with the Council. A contract for one year renewable for a further period of two years will be made provided the contractors perform their duties to the satisfaction of the Council, and in case they wish to continue the work. Assignment of the contracts will not be permitted. Official tender forms and further particulars may be obtained and conditions of contract may be inspected upon application to the Health Office.

Council Room,
Shanghai, August 4, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to address you on the subject of a proclamation which, it is alleged, was recently issued by the Tuchun of Kiangsu, General Li Shun, wherein charges of conspiracy to foment trouble in Kiangsu and Chekiang are made against the Northern Peace Delegate, General Wang I-tang, who has been resident within this Settlement for several months past.

A translation of this proclamation is contained in the enclosed extract from the "North-China Daily News" of July 24, and in bringing it to your notice, I have the honour to state that the Council considers that the concluding paragraph is couched in such terms as to furnish a direct incitement to the abduction of General Wang from the Settlement, or to his assassination within the Settlement, and further that the charges made against him must necessarily bear the implication that the Council has been harbouring a political malcontent and plotter against the public peace, notwithstanding the statement made publicly by the Chairman of Council at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers in March 1918, that the Council made every effort possible to deprive political agitators of their opportunities for intrigue within Settlement limits and that though it might happen on occasion that these undesirables did take up their residence within the Settlement and carry on their intrigues, the Chinese Government had only to come forward—and the Council would welcome their action in doing so—with evidence such as would procure a conviction for conspiracy against the Government and the peace of the country, or a conviction on some like charge, when it was reasonable to assume that the Mixed Court would either pass sentence on them or order them to be handed over to the Chinese Authorities.

No complaint as to the conduct of General Wang had reached the Council prior to the publication of General Li's proclamation and from careful police enquiry since made, it would seem that the accusations made in such proclamation are without any justification whatever. Under these circumstances I have the honour to express the Council's earnest hope that it may be possible for the Consular Body to take such steps as may prevent the publication in future of proclamations of a similar character to that referred to, which cannot but tend to excite public feeling and might quite conceivably lead to the disturbance of peace and good order.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

D. SIFFERT, Esq.,
Consul-General for Belgium
and Senior Consul.

Shanghai, October 4, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that Mr. Siffert, as Senior Consul, sent a copy of your letter of August 4, protesting against the issue of a proclamation by the Tuchun of Kiangsu for the arrest of General Wang I-tang, to the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, from whom a reply was subsequently received, copy of which I send you herewith for your consideration.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. D. H. FRASER,
H.B.M. Consul-General and Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of letter from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to the Senior Consul, dated August 25, 1920.

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 16th instant concerning the proclamation alleged to have been recently issued by H. E. the Tuchun of Kiangsu against Wang I-tang.

This office having received no official communication on the subject from H. E. the Tuchun, it is open to doubt whether the facts are as alleged. I am not aware, of the source whence the "North-China Daily News" obtained its information, but I am confident that if such a proclamation was actually issued it was based not on empty suspicion but on solid proofs.

Inasmuch as the proclamation in question refers to a conspiracy to foment trouble in Kiangsu and Chekiang it is clear that no reference to the foreign settlements is intended. The Municipal Council's authority is confined to the Settlement and it has no rights to interfere with the extra-settlement Authorities in the exercise of their duties. Its request that the Consular Body will "take such steps as may prevent the publication in future of proclamations of a similar nature" is, therefore, far too wide in its scope and I regret that I cannot regard it as justifiable.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 28, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of and to thank you for your letter of October 4, forwarding translation of a communication from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, in reply to the protest contained in my letter to your predecessor of August 4, against the proclamation, which was stated by the local press to have been issued by the late Tuchun of Kiangsu ordering the arrest of General Wang I-tang.

In reply I have the honour to state that the Council is glad to note that the Commissioner has difficulty in crediting the authenticity of the proclamation but cannot accept his views as to the propriety of its protest which was made in all good faith and in the belief that the proclamation had actually been issued. Indeed it seems to the Council that the Commissioner is somewhat begging the question when he asserts that the "Municipal Council's authority is confined to the Settlement, and it has no rights to interfere with the extra Settlement Authorities in the exercise of their duties." The Council does not presume to claim the right of interference with these authorities but it does claim that considerations of amity and courtesy impose upon them the obligation to co-operate when the interests of the Settlement and the friendly relations existing between the Council and the Chinese authorities are so materially concerned.

The Council conceives that, had there been reasonable ground for the several charges against General Wang I-tang set forth in the alleged proclamation, the Chinese authorities should have notified it through the usual channels that there resided within the limits of its jurisdiction, enjoying the hospitality and asylum of the Settlement, a Government official who was engaged, as the Commissioner states, in "a conspiracy to foment trouble in Kiangsu and Chekiang," and should thus have placed the Council in a position to take the requisite action to have him handed over to be dealt with by the proper authority. Such procedure would, I have the honour to suggest, be more courteous and appropriate than the issue of a proclamation, the concluding paragraph of which is couched in such terms as to furnish a direct incitement to abduction from the Settlement, or to assassination of the official concerned within the Settlement.

For these reasons and bearing in mind that the Council had no reason to doubt the authenticity of the alleged proclamation, my colleagues consider that I was fully justified in expressing on my own and on their behalf the earnest hope that it might be possible for the Consular Body to take such steps as might prevent the publication in future or proclamations of a similar character.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairma.

SIR E. D. H. FRASER, K.C.M.G.,
H.M. Consul-General and Senior Consul.

Taxation of Unregistered Land.

Letter from Messrs. Hansons on the subject of the taxation of former German and Austrian Consular Lots, with reply.

Shanghai, September 23, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—Our client Mr. Yu Ya Ching the owner of former Austrian Consular Lots 36 and 37 consults us with reference to the present Municipal Land Tax thereon. He instructs us that the above lots were formerly registered at the Austrian Consulate in the name of Alois Schweiger & Co. who held them in trust for our client; but they were, owing to China's declaration of war, declared to have been forfeited as against Messrs. Alois Schweiger & Co. and the title deeds thereto were cancelled. And it was upon representations made to the Bureau for the Administration of Funds and Property of Enemy Subjects, Shanghai, that the property in these lots was restored to our client, but then only as native property and under native title deeds.

In the circumstances our client, thinks that no Municipal land tax is payable in respect thereof.

Yours faithfully,
HANSONS.

F. A. SAMPSON, Esq.,
Acting Commissioner of Revenue,
Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 19, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of September 23 to the Acting Commissioner of Revenue on the subject of the payment of Land Tax on the former Austrian Consular Lots Nos. 36 and 37, which are now owned by your client Mr. Yu Yah Ching.

In reply I am directed to inform you that all land situate within Settlement limits, whether registered in a Foreign Consulate or not, is liable to Municipal taxation and that although the Council has not up to this present time concerned itself as a general rule with the taxation of land until it has come on to a Foreign Consular Register, it has only done so in continuance of the policy adopted in the early days of the Settlement, when unregistered land was almost wholly agricultural and considered not worth while taxing, as the revenue which it would have produced would probably not have covered the cost of its collection.

Even so the Council has made it an invariable rule that, once land comes on to a Foreign Consular Register, taxation shall be levied thereon, and that removal from the Register shall not entitle it to exemption.

I am further to inform you that the Council contemplates bringing all unregistered land in the Settlement under taxation at an early date, for times have changed and the considerations which actuated its policy in the early days of the Settlement, no longer apply. All or nearly all land within Settlement limits, is of considerable value and this whether it is devoted to agricultural purposes or not, and the Council's policy must therefore now be governed by the consideration that it is only fair and equitable that those who hold land within the Settlement, whether registered or unregistered, should contribute their quota towards the cost of the administration and upkeep of the Settlement.

Under these circumstances. I am directed to inform you that the Council cannot sanction any application which has for object the avoidance of sharing this burden of expenditure which it need hardly be emphasized is incurred for the good of the Community as a whole.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

MESSRS. HANSONS.

Bund Foreshore.

Correspondence with the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ld., on the subject of the removal of the flagstaff on the Bund Foreshore opposite their premises. Application by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for permission to erect a flagstaff opposite the site of their new premises with Council's reply. Correspondence with the legal advisers to the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation on the subject of Foreshore rights.

Shanghai, August 4, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—I enclose a plan showing the position of the flagstaff on the Bund foreshore opposite your premises, and its position relative to the new carriageway, now being constructed.

It will be seen from the plan that the flagstaff and stay wires would constitute an obstruction and danger to traffic, and would largely militate against the advantages of the Bund improvement.

I shall be obliged if you will inform me if you will consent to the removal of the flagstaff, at the Council's expense.

I may add that the anchor piles and stay wires would need partial renewal in any case.

Yours faithfully,
C. H. GODFREY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

The MANAGER,
The Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ld.

Shanghai, September 1, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—Referring to your favour of August 4, I have now received a reply from Hongkong on this subject. Provided the Council will sign a form of undertaking, to be drawn up by the Society's solicitors (Messrs. Hanson, McNeill Jones & Wright) at the Council's expense, the Society will grant permission to remove the flagstaff entirely.

If you agree to this suggestion and will kindly advise me to that effect, I will then communicate with our solicitors on the subject.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
W. NATION,
For Branch Manager.
The Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ld.

The COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS,
Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, September 7, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of September 1, addressed to the Commissioner of Public Works relative to the flagstaff at present standing on the Bund foreshore opposite your premises.

I should be obliged if you would inform me as to the nature of the undertaking which you suggest should be signed by the Council.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
S. H. LEWIS,
Assistant Secretary.

The UNION INSURANCE SOCIETY OF CANTON, LD.

Shanghai, September 11, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of the 7th instant relative to the removal of flagstaff, we are quite ready to meet your wishes in the matter, provided that the Society's right of user over the foreshore is clearly retained, irrespective of any further developments which the Council may undertake in the future.

As regards the form of undertaking required, our legal advisers, Messrs. Hansons, will be pleased to go into the matter with you if you will kindly approach them.

Yours faithfully,
W. E. SMITH,
Branch Manager.
The Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ld.

The ASSISTANT SECRETARY,
Municipal Council, Shanghai.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 20, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to refer to your letter of September 11, relative to the flagstaff on the Bund foreshore opposite your premises, and to bring to your notice the enclosed copy of correspondence which passed between the Council and Messrs. Dodwell, Carlill & Co. in July 1893, when the flagstaff was erected. In accordance with the undertaking then given and the arrangements recently made with you by the Commissioner of Public Works, I am directed to confirm that the Council will proceed with the removal of the flagstaff without expense to you.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

The UNION INSURANCE SOCIETY OF CANTON, LD.

Shanghai, October 23, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—I have the pleasure to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 20th instant, enclosing copy of the correspondence which passed between the Council and Messrs. Dodwell, Carlill & Co., in July, 1893, when the flagstaff was first erected. When writing you previously, I was not of course aware of what transpired at that time, and am obliged to you for bringing the circumstances to my notice.

When you are ready to proceed with the removal, we shall be glad to know what you intend to do with the flagstaff, as we have been approached by one of the local clubs for permission to take it over.

Yours faithfully,
W. E. SMITH,
Branch Manager.
The Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ld.

The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 30, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 23, relative to the flagstaff on the Bund in front of your premises, and in reply thereto to state that the Council would be agreeable to the flagstaff being taken over by one of the local clubs as suggested by you.

The flagstaff will be taken down by the Public Works Department on Sunday, November 7, and should be removed from the Bund within three days thereof by the club concerned.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
S. H. LEWIS,
Assistant Secretary.

The UNION INSURANCE SOCIETY OF CANTON, LD.

Shanghai, October 7, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—It is our desire to erect a flagstaff on the open space adjoining the Bund foreshore, opposite our new premises, which are in course of erection.

We presume that the Council will raise no objections to our doing so.

Yours faithfully,
G. H. STITT,
Manager.
Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 19, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 7, requesting permission to erect a flagstaff on the Bund foreshore opposite your new premises, and in reply thereto to inform you that it is regretted that the Council cannot accede to your request.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
S. H. LEWIS,
Assistant Secretary.

Messrs. The HONGKONG & SHANGHAI BANKING CORPORATION.

Shanghai, October 15, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to Municipal Notification No. 2751 appearing in the Municipal Gazette, we are instructed by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation to inform you that while they do not wish to in any way interfere with any proper works which are in course of being effected to the Bund foreshore or which may be in contemplation by the Council, yet they wish it to be clearly understood that, in so far as concerns B.C. Lot No. 11, 11a, 996, 1052 and 1053, the title deeds of which include the Bund foreshore, and any other properties of the Bank having foreshore rights, their assent thereto must not be taken as an assent which will in any way prejudice or affect their legal rights in such foreshore as now existing. They accordingly expressly reserve all such rights and they request us to ask for an assurance by the Council that any such works will only be proceeded with on this clear understanding.

Yours faithfully,
HANSONS.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 21, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 15, in reference to rights over the foreshore opposite the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation's properties, B.C. Lots Nos. 11, 11a, 996, 1052 and 1053, and in reply to point out that Municipal Notification No. 2751 specifically states "that the Council's policy in regard to the Bund foreshore is to preserve and improve it for the uses to which it is at present put or for such like uses as will not impair or be to the detriment of public rights and the rights of the lot owners concerned," and that such rights as your clients have over the foreshore opposite their properties are not in any way prejudiced by the foreshore improvements which are at present being carried out.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Overhead Conveyors.

Correspondence with the American Trading Company on the subject of overhead conveyors to be erected across the Soochow Road.

Shanghai, June 15, 1920.

DEAR SIRS,—We enclose a blueprint showing a proposed concrete bridge over Soochow Road. The purpose of this bridge is to house conveying machinery used for conveying wheat from boats in Soochow Creek to a godown and also for conveying flour from the godown into the boats.

We are submitting this drawing on behalf of our Mr. Crane of our Engineering Department, who, we believe, has already taken up the question regarding this bridge with you. If the proposed bridge as shown meets with your approval we will submit our detail drawings and calculations for further approval.

Yours very truly,
AMERICAN TRADING CO.,
A. M. PAGET,
Assistant Resident Engineer.

The COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS,
Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 30, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of June 15, addressed to the Commissioner of Public Works on the subject of the proposed erection of an overhead concrete conveyor over Soochow Road.

In reply, I am directed to state that the proposal meets with the Council's approval in principle; final approval however cannot be given until detailed drawings and full information is submitted.

In the event of your application being finally approved, an easement fee of Tls. 50 per annum would be charged and the Council would have to safeguard the Community by a provision as to withdrawal of the privilege in certain contingencies.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.
The AMERICAN TRADING COMPANY.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 5, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—With reference to your letter of June 15 to the Commissioner of Public Works and to my reply of June 50, I am directed to inform you that your plans of the proposed concrete bridge over Soochow Road, connecting your godown with the Soochow Creek, have been approved, and that the Council has sanctioned the construction of the bridge on the following conditions:—

(1) That it be constructed maintained and used by you at all times in such manner as not to be or become a nuisance annoyance or danger to any person making use of the Soochow Road or the Soochow Creek, or to cause any damage or injury to the Soochow Road or to the Creek bunding.

(2) That you shall make good any damage loss or injury attributable to any failure to perform and observe Condition No. 1 above.

(3) That in the event of any change of tenancy or ownership or of any alteration in the nature of the business conducted on the premises served by the bridge notice of which shall be given to the Council forthwith in writing or in the event of any breach of any of these conditions, the Council may order the removal of the bridge which shall thereupon be undertaken forthwith at your expense, and in such manner as the Council may require.

(4) That should the Council require the removal of the bridge for any cause other than provided for under Condition No. 3 above, twelve months notice at the least, shall be given of such requirement, and at the expiration thereof the removal of the bridge shall be undertaken forthwith as provided under Condition No. 3 above.

(5) That an annual easement fee of Tls. 50 per annum shall be paid to the Council so long as the bridge is permitted to remain.

I shall be glad if you will kindly notify me of your acceptance of these terms so that the Commissioner of Public Works may be authorized to issue the requisite permit.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.
Messrs. AMERICAN TRADING Co.,

Shanghai, October 12, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—We beg to acknowledge your letter of the 5th instant to our company and presenting five conditions which if acceptable to our client the Council would grant permission to erect an overhead bridge over Soochow Road connecting a flour mill with Soochow Creek.

On behalf of our client Mr. T. K. Yung, General Manager of the Mow Sing Flour Mill, we enclose his letter of the 8th instant accepting the conditions as set forth in your letter of the 5th instant. With the above acceptance in hand we now await your official permit to proceed with this work.

Yours very truly,
AMERICAN TRADING COMPANY,
A. M. PAGET,
Resident Engineer.
The SECRETARY, Municipal Council.

Shanghai, October 8, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—We hereby accept all the conditions set forth in your note of October 5, regarding the construction and operation of bridges over the South Soochow Road at our Foh Sing No. 7 Flour Mill.

Yours truly,
MOW SING FLOUR MILL,
T. K. YUNG,
General Manager.
N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 19, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 12 relative to an overhead conveyor bridge over Soochow Road, connecting The Mow Sing Flour Mill godown with the Soochow Creek.

It is understood that you desire to erect a further bridge for a similar purpose, and I am directed to inform you that the Council has sanctioned the construction of this additional bridge, subject to the conditions contained in my letter of October 5 being accepted in respect thereof.

I should be obliged if you would forward me a letter accepting these conditions for each of the two bridges respectively which you now wish to construct, whereafter the Council will sanction the issue of the necessary "Building Permits" to enable you to undertake the work of construction.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
S. H. LEWIS,
Assistant Secretary.
Messrs. The AMERICAN TRADING Co.

Shanghai, October 20, 1920.

DEAR SIRS,—We hereby accept all conditions contained in your letter of October 5, for each of the two bridges to be constructed across South Soochow Road, at Fok Sing No. 7 Flour Mill.

Yours truly,
MOW SING FLOUR MILL,

Road Extensions and Widenings.

Gordon Road.—Correspondence with the China Realty Company, Ld. relative to the area required ex Cadastral Lot 4332 in connexion with this road widening.

Shanghai, March 5, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In regard to the area required for the widening of Gordon Road from U. S. Lot 2298, Cad Lot 4332 W. the owner claims compensation of Tls. 100.

We shall be pleased to have you forward surrender deeds for the area in question if settlement on this basis is satisfactory to the Council.

Yours very truly,
CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Manager.

The COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS,
Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 12, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 5, addressed to the Commissioner of Public Works relative to the land required ex Lot 4332 for the widening of Gordon Road. In reply thereto I am directed to state that the Council is prepared to pay compensation at the assessed value of the land Tls. 1,400 per mow, plus 10 per cent. for compulsory surrender, or Tls. 86 for Mow 0.056.

I shall be glad to hear that these terms are acceptable.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

THE CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.

Shanghai, March 18, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of March 12, 1920, we beg to inform you that we are not willing to accept the Council's offer of Tls. 86 for the portion of U. S. Lot 2298, Cadastral Lot 4332 W. required for the widening of Gordon Road, but are willing to settle the matter for Tls. 100, being the amount mentioned in our letter of March 5, 1920.

In connexion with the question of the assessed valuation of land, we beg to refer you to your letter of March 5, 1920 re Cadastral 2697 E., in which the Council agree to sell this lot for Tls. 1,600, whereas the assessed value is only Tls. 985.

Applying the same proportion in the increase of values to the Gordon Road lot would certainly seem to prove that our claim of Tls. 100 is not exorbitant, and we would be pleased to have the matter settled on this basis.

Yours very truly,
CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, ESQ.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, March 27, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 18, relative to the compensation payable in respect of the area of land required ex Cadastral Lot 4332 in connexion with Gordon Road widening, and in reply thereto to state that this case cannot be considered as a parallel with the Council's terms for the sale of Cadastral Lot 2697, inasmuch as you take no account of the fact that in the latter case the Council had to purchase the full width of the road land and thereafter expend a considerable sum on road construction, the purchase price of the surplus strip of land being necessarily enhanced by this expenditure of public money. I am therefore directed to inform you that the Council is unable to recede from the offer contained in my letter of March 12.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

THE CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.

Shanghai, April 9, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In acknowledgement of your letter of March 27, 1920, in regard to the purchase for the Council of a small portion of U. S. Lot 2298, Cad. Lot 4332, w. required for widening of Gordon Road, we beg to inform you that we have again submitted this matter to the beneficial owner, and he claims compensation in an amount of Tls. 100 and will not accept the Council's offer of Tls. 86.

We believe there has been enough correspondence in regard to this Tls. 14 in dispute, and we shall be pleased to have the Council either settle it on the basis of Tls. 100 or submit it to the Land Commission for settlement.

Yours very respectfully,
CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, ESQ.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 12, 1920.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your letter of April 9, on the subject of the compensation payable in respect of Lot 4332, Gordon Road, I am directed to observe that the Council is unable to appreciate any good reason for putting forward and insisting upon a claim for the land required for the Gordon Road ex this property, at a lump sum instead of based upon the assessed value.

I am directed, therefore, to reaffirm the terms contained in previous correspondence, the difference between which and the amount of your claim is only Tls. 14. Should you, however, wish to refer this case to the Land Commissioners for settlement, the Council, upon receipt of a definite application to that effect, will transmit it accordingly.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary.

Messrs. THE CHINA REALTY CO., LD.

Shanghai, May 14, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of May 12, 1920, I am directed by the beneficial owner of U. S. Lot 2298, Cad. Lot 4332. w. to point out to you that his claim of Tls. 100 is arrived at by taking the valuation of the land at Tls. 1,800 per mow. The area in question of 0.056 mow at Tls. 1,800 comes to Tls. 100.80. There can be no doubt but that the valuation of Tls. 1,800 per mow is a just and equitable one. The assessed valuation of Tls. 1,400 is taken from an assessment dating back approximately four years. For your information in regard to the value of land in the neighbourhood of this lot, we have recently sold land in this vicinity at Tls. 2,500 per mow. There can be no reason, therefore, why the Council should claim that this land is worth Tls. 1,400 per mow, as the market value to-day is much in excess of this figure.

If after due consideration of the above facts the Council does not feel inclined to pay the price requested by the owner, we shall be pleased to have you submit the matter to the Land Commissioners for settlement.

In conclusion, we regret that we are unable to adjust this matter satisfactorily, but our position is controlled entirely by the wishes of the beneficial owner.

We are, Dear Sir,
Yours respectfully,
CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, July 22, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—In furtherance of our letter of May 14, 1920, we are now pleased to inform you that we have concluded arrangements with the beneficial owner of U. S. Lot 2298, Cad. Lot 4332. w. whereby he agrees to surrender to the Council a portion of this lot measuring 0.056 mow for Tls. 86.

We shall be pleased to have you prepare surrender deed covering this area, forwarding same to us for signature.

Yours respectfully,
CHINA REALTY CO., LTD.,
W. A. ADAMS,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Forged Bank Notes.

Letter from the Senior Consul with reply :—

Shanghai, October 9, 1920.

SIR,—I am in receipt of a letter dated the 6th instant from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, to the effect that, in consequence of the large number of forged Hupei Government notes which were in circulation, the Military Governor of that province had caused inquiries to be made, and as a result of these inquiries had ascertained that these notes were being forged in the foreign settlements in Shanghai, the forgers' headquarters in the International Settlement being in Chengtu Road. The Commissioner for Foreign Affairs therefore requests that the Police may be instructed to make inquiries and take steps to put an end to these practices.

I am under the impression that the gang which was forging these notes has already been broken up by the Police, but would be glad to receive confirmation of this before replying to the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. D. H. FRASER,
H.B.M. Consul-General and Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 2, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 9, on the subject of forged Hupeh Government bank notes.

In reply, I have the honour to thank you for this communication, and to inform you that the Commissioner of Police has during recent months been aware of the presence of forgers in the Settlement and has used every effort to bring the malefactors to justice.

In this connexion I have the honour to detail hereunder for your information, recent action in connexion with this matter :

1. On January 12, 1918 a man was charged with being in possession of 48 counterfeit notes and was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

2. On March 7, 1919 four men and two women were charged with being in possession of a large quantity of forged notes and material for making them. They were all handed over to the Hupeh Authorities.

3. On July 9, 1919 a man was charged with being in possession of 100 forged notes and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and expulsion.

4. On August 21, 1919 two persons were charged with being in possession of 300 forged bank notes and each was sentenced to 6 months' imprisonment.

5. On July 6, 1919 a man was charged with being in possession of 3,000 forged bank notes. This man, who resided in Chapei, was arrested in possession of the notes in Fokien Road and for several days would not give his address. In the meantime the manufacturing plant was removed. As the Police were unable to prove that the notes were manufactured by him, his counsel put forward the plea that he was merely a dupe. He was released on $1,000 security to be of good behaviour for five years.

6. On October 15 four men and one woman were arrested and found in possession of 4,500 forged bank notes on the Hupeh Provincial Bank. A quantity of stamps, plates, ink and other material was also seized and accused are now under remand at the Mixed Court. The principal accused resided at No. 214 Great Western Road, the entrance of which premises is off Chengtu Road.

With respect to the last named case, which appears to be that to which the letter of the Military Governor of Hupeh refers, these arrests were made by the Police independently of the receipt of your letter, but it is noteworthy that the chief prisoner was arrested in these Settlements in October, 1915, charged with having in his possession machinery for the purpose of manufacturing bank notes. He was at that time ordered to be handed over to the Military Governor's Yamên, but it appears he was dealt with in such manner that he was able in a short time to resume his former course of crime.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH,
Chairman.

SIR E. D. H. FRASER, K.C.M.G.,
H.M. Consul-General and Senior Consul.

Street Nuisances.

Letter from a resident in the Eastern District on the subject of noises on the Chaoufoong Road, with reply :—

Shanghai, October 22, 1920.

DEAR SIR,—Might I ask that the Council will take some steps to have the noise abated in the Chaoufoong Road which occurs night after night from 11 to 11.30 p.m. caused by employees belonging to the Nanyang Tobacco Co. in the Broadway and the H. A. Manufacturing Factories in the Chaoufoong Road, it is one continual half hour of yelling and shouting from these employees (principally females) which is distracting to the strongest nerved individual and makes rest and sleep impossible which I have experienced lately at my residence No. 4 Chaoufoong Road, especially as I have been lately confined to my bed with fever for some days found it to be most annoying.

Perhaps a letter to the Directors of the said Companies would have the desired effect direct from the Council. Letters of late in the Press on this subject I am of the opinion are of no avail and not likely to be heeded by those concerned—Council action in my opinion is of much more importance and likely to be taken notice of and respected.

Thanking you in anticipation,
Yours faithfully,
THOS. WM. BOWERN.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 2, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 22, on the subject of noise in the Chaoufoong Road and in reply thereto I am directed to inform you that the Police have given attention to this matter and the firms concerned have promised to assist in abating the nuisance complained of.

You will, however, of course realize that since your residence is in an industrial district, and that fully 3,000 work people use this road every day, in going to and from their work, it is not to be expected that all noise can be eliminated.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. S. B. Rowe,
Assistant Secretary.

Correspondence in continuation of that published in the Municipal Gazette for November 4., 1920:—

Shanghai. November 5, 1920.

Dear Sir,—I have the pleasure to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 30th ultimo and note that our flagstaff is to be taken down on the 7th instant.

Owing to the cost of transport and setting up, the Golf Club at Kiangwan—who first approached us in the matter—state that they will be unable to make use of the flagstaff after all, and consequently, as I know of no other party anxious to take over same, I would ask you kindly to make your own arrangements for its removal.

Yours faithfully,
W. E. Smith,
Branch Manager,
Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ld.

The Assistant Secretary,
Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 12,, 1920.

Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of November 5, relative to the flagstaff on the Bund opposite your premises, and in reply thereto to inform you that the flagstaff has been taken down and removed by the Council.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
S. H. Lewis,
Assistant Secretary.

The Manager,

Flower Show.

In terms of the following correspondence, the Council has granted permission to the Horticultural Society to hold the Autumn Chrysanthemum Show on the Bund Foreshore.

Shanghai, October 28, 1920.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the Committee I beg to ask the Council's permission to hold the Autumn Flower Show in a matshed to be erected on the Bund in the same position as last year on or about November 18 next.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
Shanghai Horticultural Society,
Colin C. Stevenson,
Hon. Secretary.

N. O. Liddell, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 9, 1920.

Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 28, relative to the Autumn Flower Show of the Shanghai Horticultural Society, and in reply thereto to state that the Council will permit the holding of the Flower Show on November 18 in a matshed to be erected on the Bund, on the following conditions:—

(1) That the shed be erected in an approved position.
(2) That all damage done to turf, etc., be made good at the Society's expense.
(3) That exits be provided in positions which will be indicated.
(4) That Municipal Firemen be in attendance.
(5) That the shed and materials be removed within forty-eight hours after the show.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
S. H. Lewis,
Assistant Secretary.

C. C. Stevenson, Esq.,
Honorary Secretary,
Shanghai Horticultural Society.

Shanghai, November 11, 1920.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge your letter of the 9th instant, and to agree to all terms and conditions mentioned therein.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
Shanghai Horticultural Society,
Colin C. Stevenson,
Hon. Secretary.

N. O. Liddell, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Public Lighting.

Fire Brigade Report for September.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 16, as against 24 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 20,710 (Foreign Tls. 19,000: Chinese Tls. 1,710) as against Tls. 144,300 (Foreign Tls. 136,050: Chinese Tls. 8,250) during September 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 1,026,000 (Foreign Tls. 265,000: Chinese Tls. 761,000), as against Tls. 4,370,500 (Foreign Tls. 4,322,000: Chinese Tls. 48,500) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 5, Watch Towers 7, and Police 4. The district call was given on 3 occasions, the remaining 13 being station calls. These calls proved to be 11 small fires, 1 false alarm, 3 fires outside the Settlement and 1 not traced.

The principal, supposed, causes of the fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Sparks, ashes or embers from stove, dropped match or cigarette end, overheated gas stove.

Seven buildings were more or less damaged by smoke, fire and water.

Assistance was rendered to the French Brigade, at the China Merchant S. N. Co.'s No. 18 godown; the Brigade were at work for 7 hours with two pumps, and the Fire Float.

26 Seymour Road, September 2, at 2.47 a.m.—An outbreak occurred on the ground floor and obtained a strong hold. The damage, was however confined to the heating chamber, and billiard room.

2 Ichang Road, September 26, at 11.32 a.m.—This fire was a typical illustration of the construction of a building without a permit, endangering the safety of the mill proper, the hands, and the building itself. The damage was however confined to the shed.

"Flower World," 327 Hoopeh Road, September 27 at 7.26 p.m.—An outbreak of fire took place on the third floor used as shops, lodgings, and for entertainment purposes. While a cinematograph entertainment was in progress a film in the projection box took fire, but was promptly extinguished by one of the firemen on duty, assisted by the Manager. Unfortunately, however, the building contained over 3,000 persons, the time being the Mid-Autumn Festival, and a panic ensued. Although the premises were provided with emergency staircases, the crowd rushed for the main staircase, and formed a solid mass of struggling, and half suffocated people four or five deep. The railings of the staircase then gave way and the wooden banisters were freely used by the crowd in their endeavours to get out, or to rescue their friends. On the arrival of the Brigade the more seriously injured were sent to Shantung Road Hospital. One old man, and a boy were found dead, and a woman succumbed shortly afterwards. About 20 persons were taken to Hospital in various states of collapse.

This disaster is another illustration that emergency staircases, are not to be compared with a number of ordinary staircases as people naturally use the same means of egress as ingress.

140 Avenue Road, September 30, at 1.59 a.m.—To this fire the Brigade received an incorrect call, and were delayed in their arrival. The inmates had a very narrow escape, as the main staircase, adjoins that of the servants which was in flames, and the occupants of the top floor had only just got down in time. Two amahs in the back quarters were not fortunate and had to jump from the first floor, but were uninjured.

It is very suprising, that even today, little attention is paid to the safety of the inmates in dwellings, as regards escape from fire, when a building is designed.

It would not be an expensive matter to make the buildings reasonably safe, when originally constructed.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.

Murder.—The dead body of a Chinese woman, who had been brutally murdered, was found in a room at No. 1034 Sawgin Road on the morning of October 28. One person has been arrested in connexion with the crime and is at present under remand pending further inquiries being made.

Robbery.—During the month seven cases of armed robbery, one of which was accompanied by murder and one by attempted murder, occurred in the Settlement. In connexion with these cases six persons have been arrested and sentenced to imprisonment in the Municipal Gaol.

One case of armed highway robbery was reported in the Yangtszepoo District and two cases of highway robbery and one of attempted highway robbery were reported in the Hongkew district. Four persons were arrested, three being sentenced to imprisonment, while the fourth, a youth, was ordered by the Mixed Court to be handed over to his parents.

Three reports were received of robbery by administering drugs in the Louza district. Three persons were arrested and sentenced to imprisonment.

The case against a Japanese, who was arrested in connexion with an attempted robbery in April last, was disposed of by the Japanese Court on October 29 when the accused was sentenced to ten months' imprisonment.

Stolen Property.—346 reports of property stolen were made during the month to the Police. In 124 cases investigations were made with successful results. The return shows an increase of 22 on the previous month and of 61 on the figures for the corresponding month of last year.

Zinc and Opium Seizure.—On October 19 at 12.30 a.m. a youth named Wong Dah, who stated he was employed as cook at 243 Shanhaikwan Road, was arrested on Shanhaikwan Road in possession of two charcoal baskets containing 44 packets of opium, each weighing approximately 1¼-lb. A short time afterwards a Chinese Constable reported the front door of 243 Shanhaikwan Road open, that the occupants were missing and that the house contained, in addition to some furniture, a large quantity of zinc in blocks. A search of the premises was made and 37 packets of opium were discovered similar to that found in possession of the arrested man. On October 20, owing to the large number of blocks of zinc in the house and opium being found there, it was decided to cut two of the blocks. One weighing 110-lb. was cut but nothing found. A smaller block weighing 90-lb., 18½ inches in length, 7 inches broad and 2¾ inches thick, was then cut and a tin of opium of the same quality as that previously found in the house and in possession of the youth on Shanhaikwan Road, was discovered embedded in the middle. In all 96 blocks of zinc containing opium were found and also 75 blocks of zinc which had been remoulded after the opium had been removed. The opium was the Yunnanese brand and had been smuggled into Shanghai from that province.

Opium Smuggling.—The number of cases which come up month after month and the quantity of opium seized by the Police and the Customs in this port alone—a very small percentage of what is actually smuggled—show how futile are the efforts made to suppress the evil. China, who first advocated its suppression, has displayed the utmost laxity in the supervision of poppy cultivation and the manufacture of the drug, and recent cases show that large quantities are smuggled into the Settlement by train and steamer, and, if any headway is to be made, point to the necessity for some drastic action in the way of searching trains and boats, and steamers making use of public and private jetties, and strict Customs examination of people coming from these trains and vessels. It is also essential that proper supervision should be maintained in the western provinces of China where the drug has been proved to come from. At present the efforts made to suppress opium are a pure farce. Opium smoking is almost as prevalent now as before prohibition came in, and there appears to be no difficulty in obtaining the drug whenever required.

With the smuggling of opium an increase of crime is noticeable—robbery, extortion, bribery and corruption are rampant, and the so-called evils of the drug are in the opinion of many not comparable with the evils which have arisen through the half-hearted action taken to suppress the cultivation and manufacture of the drug.

North Szechuen Road Bars.—It was noticed with satisfaction that the Chinese Authorities during October were paying attention to the manner in which the bar rooms abounding in the North Szechuen Road Extension area have been conducting their business and it is hoped that such surveillance will continue.

Reference to one of the many side issues in regard to these premises is made in a police report, an extract from which reads as follows:—

"Visits to many premises in Chinese territory off North Szechuen Road Extension show the conditions under which foreigners, mostly of a certain nationality, are living to be appalling. In many instances foreign women are living in Chinese houses with low class Chinese. At one place in Jukong Road there were four foreign women living in partitioned rooms where the sanitary conditions were shocking. There are good reasons to believe that many men are living off these women."

Anniversary of Chinese Republic.—The celebration of the anniversary of the Chinese Republic, the most important political event of the month, passed off quietly. Meetings organized by various societies which took place in various parts of the Settlement were remarkable for their orderliness and the moderation of the language of the speakers. The occasion was, however, taken advantage of by local pro-Bolsheviks to distribute literature advocating their views. The principal offender in this respect, one Wu Chia-ting (胡嘉亭), a Cantonese teacher in a school at No. 1780 North Szechuen Road, was brought before the Mixed Court and released on security on October 19.

Identification Office.—During the month 595 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 184 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 224 records were received from the French Police out of which number 105 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Health Officer's Report for October.

The condition of the Public Health was good. Dysentery, which showed signs of special virulence in the previous month, subsided. There has been no Smallpox; but the period when it usually becomes prevalent in the East is at hand and vaccination should receive attention, particularly in the case of recent arrivals where the necessary vaccination prior to leaving home has been neglected. A commendable increase among the Chinese coming voluntarily for free vaccination to the Branch Health Offices is recorded. The advantage of being protected before the Smallpox comes is becoming more appreciated. There is a strong tendency to wait until the danger is actually present, which is a less intelligent way.

A Chinese case of Cerebrospinal fever was reported, which is a signpost to this danger of the winter months.

The Tuberculosis Hospital is fulfilling its important function in admitting an increasing number of cases for cure, and also for the equally important object of preventing others being infected in households where a consumptive cannot have a room to himself. In combination with the work of the District Nurse and the Health Inspectors the foundation of satisfactory work against this greatest of world plagues may be said to have now been laid.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

F. A. SAMPSON, Acting Commissioner of Revenue.

N. O. LIDDELL, Secretary.

Shanghai, November 3, 1920.

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for October.

The Bund reclamation and widening scheme has now been completed from Peking Road to Avenue Edward VII, and the question of continuing the road widening northwards from Peking Road to the Garden Bridge remains for future consideration.

The progress on this work has necessarily been slow, on account of the great shortage of labour throughout the year, despite higher rates paid in the Central District.

The original intention was to retain practically all the old trees on the motor rank along the centre of the present Bund, but it was found that many of them were an obstruction to vehicles using the rank and others prevented the free flow of water in the surface channels, therefore it was found necessary to remove most of them, and such as were suitable were transplanted to the new footpath on the east side when the season permitted.

The Bund scheme also necessitated the removal of the flagstaff nearly opposite Canton Road, and the setting back of the stay wires of the P. & O. flagstaff, as well as the re-erection in new positions of the "Parkes" and "Hart" memorials. The improvement in traffic conditions on the Bund consequent upon the completion of the scheme is obvious.

ROADS.

Asphaltic road construction and treatment has practically ceased consequent upon the cold weather setting in.

Penang Road.—The raising and forming between Robison and Kiaochow Roads has been completed.

Bubbling Well Road.—The raising of the tram track at the junction with Hart Road has been completed and the road graded to the new level.

Darroch Road.—With the completion of a further widening this road is now open for its full width between North Szechuen Road and Kiangwan Road.

Tongshan Road.—The ballasting and metalling has been completed for the full width between Chaoufoong Road and Dent Road.

Kueiyang Road.—The raising and culverting has been completed between Pingliang Road and Yangtszepoo Road.

DRAINAGE.

Siccawei Road.—The 12-in. diameter sewer between Bubbling Well Road and Great Western Road has been completed.

Hart Road.—The 3-ft. diameter culvert has been completed between Bubbling Well Road and Yu Yuen Road, thus completing the whole drainage scheme in this area.

Landing Accommodation.—A reinforced concrete jetty has been constructed in Kwanghsin Road.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Administration Building.—The section of the building to be used by the Electricity Department is approaching completion.

Tower.—During the progress of the works careful levels taken periodically on the site having proved the subsoil below the tower foundations to be unusually yielding, tests were made towards the end of last year with the view of ascertaining the ultimate safe load the subsoil at this point would carry; it was soon discovered that it would be unwise to erect the tower, as further subsidence occurred under the tests imposed.

The foundation raft remains perfectly intact, and covers the whole available area, which, moreover, has been piled, so that the cause of the settlement can only be due to the unusual compressibility of the subsoil at an unknown depth below the surface, probably due to an old creek or pond which was not discovered during excavations for foundations.

After mature deliberation, and in view of the fact that the tower is not considered architecturally essential, it has been decided to abandon the construction thereof.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The interior fittings are now being attended to. The floors are laid and the interior plastering is being finished off. The building has been considerably delayed owing to the shortage of labour, but is now nearly ready for occupation.

Louza Police Station Extension.—This building is now up to first floor level, and the concrete floor laid.

Rifle Range Shelter.—Filling and culverting has been completed, and the woodwork of shelter finished ready for erection.

Yochow Road (P.W.D. Workshops).

Excavating and concrete foundations are in hand.

ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

Tonquin Road Substation.—The construction of the Battery House on the east side has been completed, and the partition to divide the transformer room is also complete.

Pingchiao Quarry.—872 long of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. The average number of coolies employed was 184.

Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit.

Correspondence on the subject of the disbandment of this unit recording the Council's appreciation of the services rendered by its members:—

Shanghai, July 20, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to inform you that the Council has recently devoted its particular attention to the importance of increasing the strength of the Volunteer Corps personnel, and that in this connexion, it has given its close consideration to the future of the Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit.

Of the public spirit of the members of this unit in undertaking to assist in the protection of the Settlement in times of civil disturbances under the orders of the Commissioner of Police and of the value of these services the Council's very deep appreciation has been recorded on more than one occasion. As a result of its deliberations the Council has, however, taken the view that the services of most of those who have joined the Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit would be of even greater value if given as members of the Volunteer Corps, in the particular arm in which they were trained and served during the Great War. In reaching this view the Council has been influenced by the fact that the services of those ex-war men who have already joined or rejoined the Corps on their return have proved of the very greatest value to their units in particular and to the Corps as a whole. Moreover the Corps offers facilities for training in the shape of drill instructors, administration, and quartermasters and other branches of the Headquarters of the Corps which cannot be offered by the Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit, whilst there is the further consideration that the existence of what is really a military unit which is not under the command of the Commandant of the Volunteer Corps is somewhat anomalous and might even prove embarrassing in the event of military operations. For these reasons the Council desires to secure the transfer to the Volunteer Corps of as many members of your Unit as possible, and with this end in view and recognizing the principle that the trained soldier should be granted easier conditions of service and training than the volunteer recruit, who has not seen war service, the Council has endorsed the suggestion of the Commandant that the following conditions of service should be offered in the case of those who have seen war service:—

(I) Men who have served in a combatant unit on any front in the Great War, who are still active men, and who join a unit of the S.V.C. of the same branch of the service as that in which they were trained and fought in the Great War:—

(a) to engage to serve in the S.V.C. for one year only but to be subject to the usual fine if they are permitted to resign within the one year's term or resign within three years of joining, i.e., $21, 14 and 7, if they have not completed 1, 2 and 3 years respectively.

(b) to complete the Annual Musketry Course, attend the Annual Inspection (if not on leave), and do annually the same number of drills as laid down at present for an "efficient" volunteer of 3 years' service, viz:—

LIGHT HORSE.

Mounted drills.—Maximum of 16 (actual number settled by unit commander according to efficiency of individuals).

Dismounted drills	2
Corps parades (including Annual Inspection)	6

ARTILLERY.

Gun drills	6
Foot parades	6
Corps parades (as above)	6

ENGINEERS.

Unit parades	16
Corps parades (as above)	6

M. G. COMPANY.

Unit parades	12
Corps parades (as above)	6
Gun practices	2

INFANTRY.

Unit parades	8
Corps parades (as above)	6

(II) Men who have served in a non-combatant unit in the War, who are still active men, to join an active unit of the S.V.C. under precisely the same terms as a Volunteer does at present, viz:—

(a) to engage to serve for three years, subject to a fine of $7 for each uncompleted year of service if their resignation is accepted before the completion of their term.

(b) to complete the annual musketry course, attend the Annual Inspection (if not on leave) and attend the following number of parades anually:—

LIGHT HORSE.

Mounted Drills.—16 (Mounted Drills for 2 or more years may be decreased at discretion of Unit Commander)

Dismounted Drills
Recruits	6
1st Class efficients for 1 year	4
1st Class efficients for 2 or more years	2
Corps Parades (including Annual Inspection)	6

Recruits are required to go through the Riding School and to be dismissed by the Squadron Sergt.-Major before their drills begin to count.

ARTILLERY.

Gun drills	6
Foot parades	6
Corps parades (as above)	6

ENGINEERS.

Company drill or instructional parades	16
Corps parades (as above)	6

M. G. COMPANY.

	First 3 years efficients	3 years efficients
Unit parades	18	12
Corps parades (as above)	6	6
Gun practices	2	2

INFANTRY.

Unit parades	12	8
Corps parades (as above)	6	6

(III) Men who have served in a combatant unit in the War, who are from any cause unfit for service in active units, to join the Reserves under the same conditions of service as described in (1) (a) above to attend four drills and complete the annual Musketry course.

I am directed to request that you may kindly ascertain from the members of your unit how many of them will be prepared to transfer to the Corps under these conditions, and to state that if the majority are prepared to do so, the Council would then disband the Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit, in which event it is earnestly hoped that those who may not have felt disposed to transfer to the Volunteer Corps, or who are not perhaps active enough to join an active or reserve unit of the Corps, will place their services at the disposal of the community by joining the Special Police Reserve.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Council Room,
Shanghai, October 28, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to refer to my letter to you of July 20 in reference to the future of the Expeditionary Forces Emergency Unit, particularly in its bearing upon the question of recruitment for the Volunteer Corps and to inform you that, after deliberation following upon consideration of this matter at the meeting of the Watch Committee on October 4 at which you kindly attended at its request, the Council has decided upon the disbandment of the Unit with effect from the 6th of next month.

In notifying you of this decision I am again to convey to you the Council's thanks for the public-spirited services of yourself and the members of the E.F.E.U. and to express the Council's hope that as many as possible will join the Volunteer Corps, thus enabling these services to be still available to the Community.

Chinese Cargo Boat Guild.

Correspondence in continuation of that published in the Municipal Gazette of May 20, 1920.

Shanghai, October 11, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to refer to your letter of May 11 on the subject of the Shanghai-Woosung Cargo Boat Guild.

On receipt of this letter Mr. Siffert communicated its contents to the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, from whom a reply was subsequently received. I enclose herewith for your consideration translation of this reply together with translation of the first enclosure and a partial translation of the second enclosure. The latter document is somewhat lengthy and does not appear to merit a complete translation, but I will, if you wish, send it to you in original.

I shall be glad if you will favour me with a reply for communication to the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. D. H. FRASER,
H.B.M. Consul-General and Senior Consul.

A. BROOKE SMITH, Esq.,
Chairman, Municipal Council.

Translation of a letter from the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs dated, August 19, 1920.

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 14 on the subject of the Woosung-Shanghai Cargo Boat Guild.

The contents of this letter were duly communicated by my predecessor to the Guild, from whom the following reply has now been received:—

"This Guild was founded in the interests of the cargo transport trade and for the purpose of preventing loss or shortage of cargo by the appointment of inspectors whose duty it is to attend at the different wharves and assist the various foreign and Chinese Authorities in looking after the goods. Cases of loss or shortage of cargo are constantly occurring on the river and the offenders make for the Settlement; and according to our regulations our Inspectors should trace the offenders, call on the Police to arrest them and hand them over to a Police Station. That is to say the Inspectors place themselves in the position of prosecutors. They all have some knowledge of the Police Regulations and they would not take it upon themselves to effect an arrest personally and get themselves into trouble for a breach of the regulations; and besides everybody knows that the power of making arrests is restricted to the Authorities and the Police, and that no other person may usurp this function. The rules applying to the officers of our Guild are very strict and the limits of their powers are clearly defined. The certificates which they carry all bear the seal of the Commissioner of Customs and the signature of the Harbour-Master in token of the mutual assistance given in protecting commercial transport, and we should much like to have the signature of the Commissioner of Police to render them more effective. We also propose sending the Inspectors in our employ once a month to be reviewed, and placing them under the orders of the Commissioner with a view to effective cooperation. If the Consular Body would also ask the Municipal Council to issue a notification that protection was to be afforded to the Guild we would be extremely grateful.

As to becoming a member of the Guild, absolutely no compulsion is exercised, and since the Guild started business not a single person has been forced into becoming a member. But naturally numberless wharf thieves have regarded the formation of the Guild with dismay and have spread all sorts of extravagant stories. It is clear from the Council's letter that the Council has not a proper understanding of the Guild's position and that it is labouring under certain misconceptions; for the boat people have been coming to the Guild in crowds to put down their names for membership, and the benefits to be gained are so obvious that they are anxious to join and eager to pay their subscriptions in order by joint action to promote the Guild's progress.

Finally the constitution of this Guild is in no wise different from that of any other trade guild. In every guild the expenses are defrayed by means of monthly contributions from among those carrying on the particular class of business. It is the same with our Guild; but inasmuch as our Guild has only just been founded, the outgoings considerably exceed the revenues, the difference being made good entirely by the founders of the Guild. In actual fact, in every case where a cargo boat has lost goods, etc., and this Guild has taken the matter up with the proper Authorities all the property has been recovered and returned to the loser. All these cases can be confirmed. The cargo boat people also unanimously declare that they have reaped enormous benefits.

We enclose herewith a Memorandum which we request that you will kindly transmit to the proper Authorities with a request for special protection on the ground that the protection of merchandise and the welfare of the transport trade are matters of public interest."

I venture to submit that the Guild have clearly shown that they are in no way acting contrary to the warnings of the Chairman of the Council, and I have therefore the honour to request you to forward their plea for protection to the Municipal Council.

I enclose a copy of the Memorandum referred to and also copy of a list of cases which have been dealt with by the Guild.

Awaiting the honour of a reply, I have, etc.

(Sd.) HSU YUAN.

Translation of Memorandum submitted by the Shanghai-Woosung Cargo Boat Guild.

The Shanghai-Woosung Cargo Boat Guild was formed by the heads of the sixteen leading organizations of Shanghai carrying on the transport trade by cargo boats. Its regulations were last year submitted to the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, the Superintendent of Customs, the Taoyin of Shanghai, and the Superintendent of the Shanghai-Woosung Police, who were requested to place them on record and give the Guild protection. Their requests were duly granted and notifications issued accordingly.

The Guild was formally inaugurated on March 6, 1920 and an office temporarily established at No. 102 Avenue Edward VII, Shanghai.

The object of the Guild is mainly the affording of protection to the trade, to the owners of hongs, ware houses and factories and to merchants thereby mitigating the frequent losses of goods in transit incurred through theft and other causes. Thefts by bad characters on both sides of the rivers are of frequent occurrence and have led to great losses being incurred by the owners, matters having now reached a very critical point.

All the expenses of the Guild are being defrayed by the heads of the sixteen local organizations and there is no compulsion to contribute. Nor are the boat people forced or solicited to become members of the Guild. Not a single person has been forced or induced to enter the Guild since its formation. The Guild only in the interests of the cargo transport trade employs a Chinese staff of inspectors whose duties are to attend the various jetties and wharves to look after the goods in loading and unloading and to assist the authorities in keeping order. To each inspector, the Guild issues a certificate vised by the Commissioner of Customs and the Harbour-Master so as to distinguish them from others and we beg that the Commissioner of the Shanghai Municipal Police will in the same way put either his signature or his seal on the certificate for purposes of reference, and endorse a note on the certificate to the effect that in case of a theft or similar offences occurring the inspector shall request the proper authority to take action, and in case of emergency, shall call a policeman to arrest the offender, but that he shall not arrest the offender himself. This we believe will in no way violate the Municipal Regulations. If this cannot be done, the Guild are ready to pay a special subscription to the Police and request that additional police may be enrolled for the protection of the transport trade, passengers and cargo.

Because the Guild has not yet the opportunity of making public the objects to the Authorities of the Settlement, offenders frequently seek shelter by escaping into the Settlement and cases of theft, etc., are constantly occurring on the wharves which never come to the notice of the Settlement Authorities.

The junks registered in our Guild are distinguished from others by special metal badges numbered and nailed on the junks. When goods are being transported it constantly happens that junks have to pass the night moored in the river, and thieves and robbers constantly hang about the jetties with the intention of theft and robberies and extort squeezes. This has become a regular practice, but is difficult of detection by any one not familiar with cargo boat affairs. Sometimes thieves cut open the packages with sharp instruments and steal the contents and use force to resist any action to prevent them. They even demand small sums by way of squeeze from empty boats moored at the jetties and if this is refused they forcibly remove tarpaulins, poles or other bits of gear and hold them to ransom. These instances as above referred to and related can be verified by enquiries made in the leading transportation companies who will testify to their truth.

So we deem it a necessity for inspectors to keep rigid watch.

Since the establishment of this Guild many cases have been brought to light and the culprits punished in the Chinese and Foreign Courts of law. Letters are being constantly received from leading merchant hongs highly commending our work.

We therefore beg that you will bring this to the notice of the Consular Authorities of the International Settlement and the French Settlement so that instructions may be given to the Police for special protection to be afforded in the interests of trade in general and the transport business in particular.

Cases that have been discovered by the Guild.

On March 7, registered boatman Chuang Ah-mu reported that while conveying goods and passengers to Hung Sheng Wharf, Pootung, some wharf thieves forcibly levied a toll of twenty cents from each boat. Therefore the Guild grote to the Sungkiang-Shanghai Police Station No. 3, so that such unlawful charge has now been abolished.

On March 14, registered boatman Kao Ah-ho reported that one package of flour had been stolen from his boat. The Guild reported the matter to the Sungkiang-Shanghai Water Police and in consequence the goods were recovered and the offender handed over to the French Court to be dealt with.

On March 26, registered boatman Chang Ah-lan reported that five bundles of paper had been stolen from his boat at Hung Sheng Wharf. The Guild wrote to the Sungkiang-Shanghai Police Station No. 3, and in consequence two bundles were recovered and the thief sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

On April 8, registered boat man Chen Chang-sheng reported that one piece of oil cloth was stolen while his boat was moored at Hongkew, and that one of the boat men reported to the Water Police, in consequence of which two thieves were arrested. The Guild wrote requesting that they be handed over to the Shanghai District Chien Cha Ting for trial and imprisonment.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 9, 1920.

SIR,—I have the honour to refer to your letter of October 11, on the subject of the Shanghai-Woosung Cargo Boat Guild. In reply thereto I am directed to allude to the Council's letter of May 11, in which assurance is given that the members of this Guild will receive the ordinary Police protection to which all residents and persons conducting business in the Settlement are entitled, so long as they are law abiding. It is, however, contrary to the Council's practice to give any undertaking for special Police protection, or to extend any form of official patronage to organizations engaged in the furtherance of their own particular interests. In the Settlement all persons are at liberty to join such law—abiding associations or not as they please, but the Council is quite unwilling that the Guild should be granted any official or semi-official status in prosecuting the objects which it seeks to obtain.

I may add that enquiry at the Shipping Guild and steam launch companies has failed to elicit any confirmation of the allegation that jetty thieves are accustomed to seek refuge in the Settlement or that larcenies from wharves, which are never reported to the Police, are of frequent occurrence. No case of this nature has come to the notice of the Police or wharf watchmen, the parties to whom people victimized would be most likely to appeal.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
WM. P. LAMBE,
Vice-Chairman.

SIR E. D. H. FRASER, K.C.M.G.,
H.M. Consul-General and Senior Consul.

Chauffeur's School.

Upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Police the Council has sanctioned the institution of a School for chauffeurs at the Gordon Road Police Station commencing in March, 1921.

A competent foreign Instructor will be in charge with a trained chauffeur or fitter-driver as assistant and the local garages have promised to assist with the gift or loan of motor machine parts and accessories for instructional purposes.

The Course will last for a period of 26 working days with a class of 12 pupils the fee being $25 for the course.

The aim of the School will be to turn our competent drivers fitted in all respects to enter private service. Instructional classes for owner-drivers will also be given if sufficient applications for enrollment in such classes are forthcoming.

The syllabus of the Course will include:—

(1) Sufficient elementary theory in the class room to render subsequent proceedings intelligible; together with

(2) Practical instruction on the bench—that is, an explanation and demonstration of all the chief mechanical and other features of a car, such as engine, gearbox, clutch, back axle, steering gear, magneto, battery, carburetter, etc.

(3) Practical instruction in driving
   (a) a Ford car
   (b) a car with the standard type of gearbox, and sufficient actual road work to ensure competency.

(4) Practical instruction in maintenance—i.e., cleaning, washing and lubrication; the replenishment of fuel, water and oil; the care, removal and minor repair of tyres; battery attention; the correct use of the tools ordinarily supplied with a car and such minor "running repairs" as a Chinese chauffeur in Shanghai may properly be expected to carry out.

(5) Thorough class room instruction in the Traffic Regulations; together with

(6) Practical demonstration as to how these Regulations apply.

Road Nomenclature.

Interchange of letters with the French Municipal Council, in continuation of the correspondence published in the Municipal Gazette of September 2.

Translation of letter from the French Municipal Council, dated October 18, 1920.

SIR,—Referring to your letter dated August 27 1920, relative to the renaming of Great Western and Siccawei Roads, I am directed to suggest that this decision should be effected from January 1, 1921.

This delay would seem to be desirable in order to permit of advising the various Public Departments of the change of name and to proceed with the work of making the new road name plates.

These plates, of the ordinary type, black letters on a white background, will bear the words "Avenue Foch" for Great Western Road and "Avenue Haig" for Siccawei Road.

The Departments concerned of both Municipalities will occupy themselves for the part under their jurisdiction, with the making and affixing of the said plates.

A notice should also be published in the local press to remind residents that the new denomination of these roads will come into effect from January 1, 1921.

I shall be obliged if you will kindly let me know your views on these various proposals.

I am, Sir, etc.,
P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

N. O. LIDDELL, Esq.,
Secretary, Municipal Council.

Council Room,
Shanghai, November 12, 1920.

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 18, relative to the renaming of Great Western and Siccawei Roads, and in reply thereto to state that the Council is in agreement with your suggestion that this renaming should be effected as from January 1, 1921, and that notice accordingly should be published in the daily press.

It is suggested that the Chinese characters (福煦路) Foch, and (海格路) Haig, which are the characters used by the Chinese Press in referring to the two Marshals, should be adopted.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Monsieur P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Public Band.

On Sunday next, November 28, at 5 o'clock, p.m., the programme will be as follows:—

Mixed Court Report for October.

Mr. G. Ros having been transferred as Italian Consul to Hankow, Captain R. Ferrajolo has assumed the duties of Italian Assessor at the Mixed Court, and also sat as Assessor in Police Cases on Saturdays.

Mr. Willem Daniels was appointed to sit as Mixed Court Assessor for the Netherlands.

Seven of the eleven deaths on which inquests were held were due to traffic accidents, three to murder and one to suicide.

In order to expedite the hearing of the cases now pending, the Court found it necessary to inform all counsel practising in the Court that in future no remands would be granted on application made at the last moment on the ground that counsel concerned were engaged on other Courts. This had recently become a common practice entailing considerable delay in the disposal of cases and causing much inconvenience and annoyance to the other parties concerned.

One of the most ingenious devices for the concealment of opium ever exposed to the Court was brought to light during the hearing of a case on October 28, before Messrs. Jacobs and Tsang, when the Police produced a number of ingots of zinc in which the opium had been secreted during the casting; the whole paraphernalia was ordered to be confiscated and the Court placed on record its commendation of the Police officers concerned.

The criminal calendar was one of the heaviest on record, 5,124 cases having been disposed of during the month, necessitating very late sessions in both the Police Courts and also in the Courts set aside for special hearing of important cases wherein a number of lawyers were engaged.

The two undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court on the charges stated.

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
J. Brennan	American	Vagrancy	3 weeks' impt.
E. H. Lohk	Esthonian	Breach of Motor Bicycle Licence	Fined $3.00

There were 189 Chinese Civil Cases heard during the month as against 64 heard in September, while 119 cases are listed which await a first hearing, an increase of 14 over the figures for the previous month.

47 Foreign Civil Cases were filed, 20 of which were small debt claims in which Sikhs were plaintiffs, but the remaining 27 aggregated nearly three-quarters of a million taels, about a quarter of a million of this amount being actions brought against Chinese firms by foreigners for breach of piece-goods contracts.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

J. E. WHEELER,
For Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

ARTHUR STANLEY,
Health Officer.

Fire Brigade Report for October.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 21, as against 45 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 800 (Foreign Tls. 800; Chinese Nil) as against Tls. 23,500 (Foreign Tls. 5,200: Chinese Tls. 18,300) during October 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 112,000 (Foreign Tls. 90,000 Chinese Tls. 22,000), as against Tls. 3,172,500 (Foreign Tls. 2,850,000: Chinese Tls. 322,500) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 13, Watch Towers 4, Police 2, and Staff 2. The district call was given on 1 occasion, the remaining 20 being station calls. These calls proved to be 13 small fires, 2 chimney fires, and 6 outside the Settlement.

The principal supposed causes of the fires within the Settlement were as follows:—Fusing of electric wires, child playing with matches, dropped match or cigarette end, joss paper, etc. One building was damaged by smoke, fire and water.

The loss in Chinese buildings was practically nil, the losses in each instance being so trivial as to be hardly worthy of consideration. It will be seen by the record that there were only 14 actual fires in the Settlement, thus constituting a record.

A difficult outbreak occurred on October 20, at a Japanese Dispensary, No. L539 Canton Road, where a quantity of ether was on fire. Smoke helmets and respirators had to be used, and the fire chemically extinguished. Slight damage only was caused.

Assistance was rendered, in Chapei, as follows:—

Da Fung Silk Filature, October 3, at 9.43 p.m.—The Hongkew Division laid on from Dixwell Road and were the principal factors in saving the main filature.

Opposite Hong Yue Cotton Mill, October 4 at 12.30 a.m.—This was large conflagration practically extinguished by the Brigade, in which a fairly extensive tallow and oil refinery was saved, although some of the matshed was alight along its walls.

October 28, at 12.32 a.m.—In this case a number of shops and dwellings, off North Soochow Road Extension, were in flames, burning embers being blown across the Creek. The Sinza Division laid on from the Creek, and in about half-an hour had the fire completely held.

Serious difficulty has been experienced, for many years, in getting licensees of entertainment buildings to realize their responsibility and see that the licence conditions are conformed to. Recently, licences in respect of some of the Cinema Halls have been suspended owing to flagrant breaches of the regulations. Even then numerous visits have been necessary by the Inspection Staff of this Department to get the requirements fulfilled.

Inspections to the number of 350 were made during the month nearly all of which were of licensed premises.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.

Visit of the Eastern Commission of the National Council for Combating Venereal Diseases.

The Council has received a telegram from Japan stating that the Eastern Commission of the National Council for Combating Venereal Diseases, as to whose projected visit preliminary announcement was made in the Municipal Gazette of November 25, will arrive in Shanghai on December 12 or 13.

The Commission has been sent out by the National Council, under the auspices of the British Government, to discuss with members of the local medical faculty, with local educationalists and with the administrative authorities, those practical measures which would be most likely to result in a reduction of venereal diseases, the prevalence and ravages of which were recently the subject of exhaustive investigation by a Royal Commission appointed in Great Britain, the members of which subsequently became the Executive Committee of the National Council, which is recognized by the British Ministry of Health as its agent in undertaking educational propaganda throughout Great Britain.

The Commission's opening conference to be held on Wednesday, December 15, at 5 p.m., in the Assembly Hall of the Ellis Kadoorie School at the corner of Shanhai-kwan and Carter Roads, will be presided over by the Chairman of Council. Invitations to attend this conference are being issued and in due course the programme of further conferences, lectures and public meetings, drawn up by the Advisory Committee appointed by the Council as announced in the Municipal Gazette of November 25, will be published in the local daily press.

N. O. LIDDELL,

Secretary.

Health Officer's Report for November.

A very successful month of free vaccination against Smallpox may be recorded at the Branch Health Offices among the infants of the Chinese community, which is all the more remarkable in the complete absence of cases of Smallpox to serve as a spur.

There was a moderate prevalence of Typhoid fever. Every case is due to the transference of particulate infection from the bowel discharges of one person to the mouth of another. As all such particulate infection can be destroyed by subjection to the temperature of boiling water, prevention is possible. It is here that the simple precautions given in the Public Health Notice as regards the sterilization of food are of most value. In addition there are fortunately specific vaccines for the Typhoid fevers producing a degree of immunity which is valuable not only in resisting infection but in reducing the severity of the disease. As a result the Typhoid fevers are on the way to extinction in places where Public Health measures can be properly organized and enforced. That a person who has had typhoid vaccination subsequently acquires the disease, is not sufficient to outdemn vaccination. Even in vaccination against Smallpox the vaccinated in a small number of cases get Smallpox. It is, like the Einstein theory, a question of relativity. One may take all reasonable precautions against fire, yet fires may occur. Precaution reduces the chances. The same applies to vaccination. Typhoid vaccination may be looked upon as a form of life insurance with a very small premium to pay. The best plan would be to have such vaccination free for all and easy facilities provided for its application.

Some Diphtheria of a mild type was also present. The important fact to remember about Diphtheria is that it is never due to bad drains, but invariably derived from the nose or throat of a previous case or carrier.

There was no further threat of Cerebrospinal fever.

The question of the disposal of house refuse is one which is likely to be more difficult in the future. Shanghai is rather fortunate in having a daily removal from all houses within the Settlement, a circumstance which vastly reduces the number of flies and rats and consequently the diseases carried by these parasitic animals. An important point to note is that there is no such thing as the destruction of refuse. A refuse destructor which burns refuse still has some 30 per cent. of ash to dispose of. The best way is to utilize refuse by returning it to the soil for agriculture. Shanghai is fortunate in having a demand from the farmers for about 40 per cent. of the refuse it produces. The problem now is how best to dispose of the remaining 60 per cent.

Here follow tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse and a special summary of Plague Prevention.

The above scale of fees is subject to the following reductions:—

For a family of	Public Schools	Thomas Hanbury School for boys	Thomas Hanbury School for Girls
2 children	20%	$1.80	$1.20
3 or more children	33⅓%	3.00	2.00

Children of non-resident parents, unless already in attendance at the schools, will not be admitted. The term non-resident implies residence in Shanghai of less than six months.

Forms for the admission of new pupils may be obtained on application at the several schools, and should be presented by the new pupils themselves, when attending at the Schools for examination and admission on Thursday, January 6, between the hours of 9.30 a.m. and 11.30 a.m., except in the case of the Thomas Hanbury School for Boys for which the day and hour of attendance will be Monday, January 10, at 9 a.m.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2783.

CHINESE WATCHMEN.

EMPLOYERS of Chinese Watchmen under Police Supervision are notified that, in order to strengthen control and simplify administration, the wages of such watchmen will be paid direct by the Council, who will make a charge of $2 per mensem in respect of each man to cover the cost of the additional supervision. The monthly cost of a watchman will accordingly be $17 for 12 hours, or $14 for 8 hours, duty per diem, for which employers will receive a debit note in due course from the Revenue Office. These modifications of the existing arrangements will take effect from January 1, 1921.

Uniform, if required, is supplied at rates which can be obtained on application to the Assistant Commissioner of Police (Chinese), Gordon Road Police Station (Telephone No. West 882) to whom all enquiries regarding Chinese Watchmen should be addressed.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Murder.—On November 29 the dead body of male Chinese with the throat cut was found lying on a grave mound off the Tsitsihar Road to which place the body had undoubtedly been carried after death. Two men have been arrested in connexion with the case and are at present under remand pending further investigation.

Manslaughter. — An American citizen named Jack Leo Welch, who had spent the night of November 6 with a Chinese prostitute in licensed brothel No. 207 Fearon Road, shot the girl dead the following morning with a pistol which he produced from beneath his pillow. Welch was tried at the U. S. Court for China, convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to two years' imprisonment and a fine of $500.00 on November 12.

Robbery.—During the month two cases of armed robbery occurred in the Settlement, one being reported in Sinza and the other in Gordon Road District. A case of attempted armed robbery was also reported in the Yangtszepoo District. In connexion with these reports two persons were arrested. One was sentenced to be handed over to the Military Governor while the other is at present detained in hospital as the result of a bullet wound inflicted by the detective in making the arrest.

Three persons have been arrested for participating in an armed robbery outside the Settlement limits, two of whom are still under remand while the case against the third has been dismissed.

Three cases of armed highway robbery were reported, one being in Sinza, one in Bubbling Well and the other in Yangtszepoo District. Five persons have been apprehended in connexion with these cases and are still under remand awaiting trial.

In the Bubbling Well case a public licensed motor car was used in the commission of the robbery which occurred during the tiffin hour on November 20 when three armed men intercepted a coolie conveying over $8,000 in specie on the Connaught Road. The robbers after threatening the coolie took from his wheelbarrow a box containing $4,900 which they placed in their waiting motor car and decamped. Four arrests have been made but the principals and property have still to be located.

Two reports of highway robbery were also received, one from West Honckew and the other from Gordon Road District.

Stolen Property.—397 reports of property stolen were made to the Police during the month. In 154 cases investigations were made with successful results. The return shows an increase of 51 on the previous month and of 107 on the figures for the corresponding month of last year.

Burglary Warning to Householders.—With the advent of the cold weather and the possibility of the increase of burglaries in foreign houses the following warning, which was previously published in the press, is reissued for general information:

"Entry into houses is usually effected through a verandah window. One method is to open the outer shutters by removing a slat so that an arm can be inserted and the bolts pulled, and then to cut a whole pane of glass out of the window. Another method, when the shutters cannot be opened because the space between them and the window is too small for the arm to be inserted, is to remove a shutter slat, cut out a piece of window glass, insert the arm, turn the knob and so open the window.

"In cases where entry has been effected in one of these ways it is almost always found by the police that one of the bolts, either on the window or the door, has been left unfastened when the house was shut up for the night. This is due to the carelessness of the servant who has not shot the bolt into its socket, or of the householder who has not had the fastenings kept in proper repair.

"It is difficult to render the ordinary verandah window proof against a determined burglar, but the following measures, if adopted, will make entry more difficult:—

"1.—Window and shutter fastenings to be in good order. Bolts to be kept oiled and sockets well screwed in. Warped shutters, which prevent the bolts being shot home, to be repaired. Servants to be impressed with the importance of properly securing all fastenings at night.

"2.—Shutter slats to be closed and properly hooked up or wedged so as to render them immovable from the outside. This makes cutting them out much more difficult and noisy.

"3.—A screwed bolt-fastening between window and shutter makes it impossible to open either until the bolt is removed. The latter passes through a hole in the window frame and screws into a socket in the shutters. Its position should be such that a hand inserted from the outside to turn the window handle as described above, cannot reach the bolt head to unscrew it.

"4.—An additional bolt, top and bottom, on the window frame would usually frustrate an entry by the second of the two methods mentioned above."

Gang of Thieves.—An organized gang of nine Cantonese thieves were arrested during the month against whom no less than 48 charges of larceny and one of burglary were proved. In 45 of these cases the property was stolen from foreign occupied residences in consequence of doors and windows having been left open. They were each sentenced to one year's imprisonment and expulsion. Most of the property was recovered.

Crimes reported outside Settlement limits.—Twenty cases of robbery and piracy, two of which were accompanied by murder, have been reported in the press during the month as having occurred outside limits in the neighbourhood of Shanghai. The most serious case was that which occurred at Fungyi near Sungkiang on November 7 when about 70 pirates made a sudden attack on the Water Police and after overpowering them proceeded to rob a pawnshop from which they stole $1,000 in cash and a quantity of jewellery.

Two cases of murder were also reported, in one of which the body of an unknown Chinese male bearing knife wounds was found in Chapei. In the other the occupant of a house in the Chinese City was attacked and killed by three or four unknown persons when answering their knock at the door.

Executions.—Two Chinese who were arrested in connexion with the murder of the 'sing song' girl Lien Ying and who were handed over to the Military Governor for trial, were executed at Lunghua in the presence of a representative of the Municipal Police on November 23.

Attempts to restore peace.—Despite the Presidential Decree issued on October 30 announcing that the North and South had been united, nothing tangible appears to have been effected in this direction. Following the defeat of General Lu Yung-ting's party, which was finally effected on September 27 when General Chen Chiun-ming entered Canton, Drs. Wu Ting-fang, Sun Yat-sen, Mr. Tang Shao-yi and other Southern leaders, who sought Shanghai's hospitality when differences with their military colleagues compelled them to leave Canton, have returned to the South, while it is now the turn of Messrs. Tsen Chun-hsuan and Wen Tsung-yao, two of the most prominent of their Southern political adversaries, to seek refuge here.

National Citizens' Convention.—The local society for the promotion of a national citizens' convention continues to hold frequent meetings, and, in accordance with a project started during the month to extend its influence, has sent two of its members on a lecturing tour to outports and the interior.

Strikes and Unemployment.—There were three strikes affecting about 450 workers during the month, while some 9,000 workers are out of employment as a result of the closing down of 13 silk filatures. These factories closed in accordance with a decision reached at a meeting of silk filature proprietors on November 15 to suspend business in order to limit the production of silk until the market for this commodity is stabilized by assistance from the Government or a revival of business.

Anti-Japanese Boycott.—Several meetings with the object of reviving the anti-Japanese boycott were held during the month under the auspices of the Boycott 'Bad' Goods Society which has made the presence of Japanese soldiers at Hungchun a pretext for renewing this agitation.

Disbanding of Soldiers.—1,383 disbanded soldiers, en route from Tsongchow, Chihli, to their homes in Yunnan and Kwangtung, passed through Shanghai during the month. These soldiers formed part of the Chung Woo Army raised by General Lung Chi-kwang, a former Tuchun of Kwangtung, for the purpose of reconquering that province for the North. Some of them deserted while in Shanghai.

Price of Rice.—The price of rice increased slightly during November. At the beginning of the month it cost from $7.90 to $8.60 per picul, and at the end of the month the price ranged from $8.60 to $9.40 per picul.

Identification Office.— During the month 686 prisoners' records passed through this office for identification prior to the prisoners going to Court for trial, out of which number 148 were identified as having a previous conviction or convictions. In addition to the above 133 records were received from the French Police out of which number 57 were identified in the records of this office, making the total for the month:—

Report of the Commissioner of Public Works for November.

In view of the gradual change in the nature of the street traffic, due mainly to the advent of the motor truck, the condition of many of the wooden bridges calls for consideration. Most of these bridges are very old, and they are extensively patched nearly every year.

When most of them were designed present traffic conditions could hardly have been anticipated, and in any case it would not then have been economical to design the bridges for problematical heavy traffic.

Under existing regulations motor freight vehicles are permitted up to a gross weight of 24,000 lbs., nearly 11 tons, and although the existing bridges may carry these loads it is only with a very considerably reduced factor of safety, and the vibration due to heavy loads constantly passing will gradually bring about a dangerous condition.

Regulations prohibiting vehicles over certain weights crossing wooden bridges are under consideration, the result of which will be that all heavy motor trucks will have to cease using the wooden bridges, and cross by the steel and concrete bridges instead.

ROADS.

Thibet Road.—The lowering of the carriageway and footpaths at the junction with Sinza and Peking Roads has been completed, and the road ballasted and metalled to Soochow Road, thus completing the Thibet Road along the line of the old Defence Creek, from Avenue Edward VII, to the Soochow Creek.

Temporary refuge islands have been erected at the road junction experimentally.

N. Szechuen Road.—Asphaltic concrete has been laid between Tiendong Road and Woochang Road. The section south of Tiendong Road has not been done, in view of the approaching reconstruction of Szechuen Road bridge and approaches.

Holung Road.—Raising and grading completed from Yangtszepoo Creek to Meichow Road.

Meichow Road.—Raising, grading, and culverting completed from Hochien Road to Holung Road.

Linching Road.—Raising, grading, and culverting completed from Ward Road to Pingliang Road.

DRAINAGE.

Weihaiwei Road.—A 3-ft. diameter culvert is being laid between Yates Road and Seymour Road, and the side ditch filled in.

Range Road.—A 1-ft. 6-in. by 1-ft. sewer has been laid between North Honan Road and Haskell Road. The old sewer has been left in to carry the drainage from the south side of the road.

CREEKS AND RIVERS.

Soochow Creek.—The concrete bunding west of Tatung Road is about half completed. The work is proceeding in short lengths to allow of the cofferdam timber being used several times over. This necessarily renders progress slow.

In connexion with this work two overhead bridges are being constructed to enable cargo to be transported direct from the adjoining flour mill to the boats in the creek without the usual obstruction occasioned by a string of coolies crossing the road with their loads.

A wooden jetty has been constructed west of N. Thibet Road.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTIES.

Yangtszepoo Fire Station.—The electric light fittings and other internal fixtures have been put in position, and the Departmental work dependent thereon proceeded with. The concrete look-out at the top of the tower is in hand.

Louza Police Station Extension.—The concrete to second floor has now been put in.

Hongkew Police Station Extension.—Excavations for foundations are in progress.

Isolation Hospital Observation Suite.—Concrete foundations are in hand.

Gordon Road Police Station Gymnasium.—First floor level has been reached.

Fangchao Quarry.—1,089 long of material was despatched to the Public Works Department during the month. The average number of coolies and artisans employed was 206.

Cleansing and Watering.	Total
Road sweepings—collected cart-loads	4,106
Ashes cartloads	1,179

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2785.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

THE following Regulations for the governance, control, direction and facilitation of traffic within the limits of the Foreign Settlement and on Municipal roads or alleyways outside such limits, have been authorized by the Council under the powers conferred by Bye-law XXXVI, annexed to the Land Regulations for the said Foreign Settlement. The said Regulations will have effect from January 1, 1921, on which date the existing Regulations will cease to be effective :—

1.—Certain Terms and Expressions used in these Regulations shall be defined as under :—

Traffic.—Vehicles and pedestrians making use of a highway.

Highway.—Any space intended for vehicular or pedestrian traffic.

Synonymous terms: Road, Street, Thoroughfare.

Roadway.—That portion of a highway intended for the use of vehicles.

Footpath.—That portion of a highway intended for the use of pedestrians.

Kerb (Curb).—The edge of a roadway, whether marked or understood.

Safety Zone.—Any portion of a roadway from which vehicles are excluded.

Street Island.—A raised portion of a roadway forming a safety zone. The term includes :—

(a) Traffic Island—a refuge for the use of pedestrians or a turning or division point for vehicular traffic.

(b) Tramway Island or Loading Platform—a refuge at a tramway stopping place for the use of passengers entering or leaving tram cars.

Vehicle.—Any conveyance (but not including a horse). Provided (1) that skaters, children's perambulators and invalids' chairs shall be considered as vehicles only when on a roadway but as pedestrians when on a footpath ; (2) that in these Regulations the term 'vehicle,' expressed or implied, shall apply to tramcars only in so far as their being confined to rails will allow.

Horse.—Any animal used as a conveyance or for draught purposes.

Driver.—Any person who for the time being is in charge of a vehicle on a highway.

Pedestrian.—Any person on foot on a highway. Provided that skaters, children's perambulators and invalids' chairs shall be considered as pedestrians when on a footpath but as vehicles when on a roadway.

Passenger.—Any occupant of a vehicle other than the driver or a servant of the owner of the vehicle actually in the performance of his duty.

Tramcar.—Any vehicle which is confined to rails on a roadway.

Railless Car.—Any vehicle, other than a tramcar, which is propelled by electricity and is dependent on an overhead cable for its power supply.

Motor Vehicle.—Any vehicle which is propelled by an internal combustion engine or by electricity ; provided that tramcars and railless cars are not considered as motor vehicles.

To Rank.—To stand a vehicle parallel with the kerb.

To Park.—To stand a vehicle at an angle with the kerb.

Vehicle Stand.—A portion of a roadway or other space specially set apart for the ranking or parking of vehicles.

2.—Every person using a highway, whether as a driver, pedestrian or passenger, shall thereby incur an obligation to facilitate the movement of traffic and promote public safety.

3.—No person shall walk on a highway in a dangerous, reckless, negligent or otherwise improper manner.

4.—No person shall walk on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to other traffic.

5.—No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway in a dangerous, reckless, negligent or otherwise improper manner.

6.—No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway, or cause a vehicle to occupy any portion of a highway, in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to other traffic.

7.—No person shall enter or leave a vehicle on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to other traffic, or unless such vehicle is drawn in close to the kerb.

8.—No person shall load or unload cargo or goods on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to traffic.

9.—No person shall carry or place a load or any other article on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to traffic.

10.—Every driver or pedestrian on a highway shall promptly obey the instructions or signals of police on duty.

11.—No driver shall exceed a safe, reasonable and considerate speed, having due regard to the rights of other users of the highway, to existing traffic conditions, to the state of the road surface and to the presence of dangerous points, whether indicated or otherwise.

12.—A driver shall keep to the left hand side of the roadway—the slower his speed the nearer the kerb.

13.—A driver when turning a corner to the left shall keep as near the left hand kerb as possible.

14.—A driver when turning a corner to the right shall make a wide sweep and shall enter the new roadway (if possible) to the left of its centre line.

15.—A driver when passing a street island situated in the centre of a highway, or to the right of its centre line facing the direction of travel, shall do so to the left.

16.—A driver when passing another vehicle going in the opposite direction shall do so to the left.

17.—A driver when passing another vehicle going in the same direction (except a tramcar) shall do so to the right.

18.—A driver when passing a tramcar whether moving or stationary going in the same direction shall, if practicable, do so to the left.

19.—A driver when passing a tramcar going in the same direction, which has stopped to take up or set down passengers, shall do so at a slow speed and in a considerate manner ; or, if necessary, he shall stop until the roadway is clear.

20.—No driver shall attempt to pass another vehicle going in the same direction unless a clear view ahead can be obtained.

21.—A driver shall slow down when passing over a bridge or street crossing or when turning a corner or rounding a bend where a clear view ahead cannot be obtained.

22.—A driver of a motor vehicle approaching a horse on a highway shall slow down or stop if necessary, or if requested to do so.

23.—A driver shall, in the event of an accident on a highway in which his vehicle is in any way concerned, immediately stop his vehicle in order to ascertain the extent of any damage or injury and to render any necessary assistance. He shall remain until notified by the police that his presence is no longer required ; or, in the event of no police officer being available, shall report the occurrence to a police station without undue loss of time.

24.—No driver shall cause a vehicle continuously to overlap or travel abreast of another vehicle on a highway when by so doing an obstruction to other traffic is caused.

25.—No driver shall cause a vehicle to remain at the entrance to any premises in such a manner as to obstruct access thereto, longer than is necessary for the expeditious taking up or setting down of passengers, or the loading or unloading of freight or goods.

26.—No driver shall back his vehicle or turn it round in a roadway if by so doing he obstructs or endangers other traffic.

27.—A driver when stopping his vehicle in a roadway for the purpose of taking up or setting down passengers or for any other reason (except in obedience to police signals), shall do so as close to the kerb as possible.

28.—No driver shall cause a vehicle to stop to take up or set down passengers, or otherwise to remain stationary (except in obedience to police signals), between a street island and the nearer kerb; or, in the case of a centrally situated island, between the island and either kerb.

29.—A driver setting down or taking up passengers at any of the undermentioned places shall observe the following rules:—

Shanghai Club.—Set down facing South and draw off in the same direction.
Rank on south end of Bund Vehicle Stand.

Masonic Club.—Set down facing North and draw off in the same direction.
Rank on north end of Bund Vehicle Stand.
Take up facing North and leave in the same direction.

Race Club Meetings.—Set down facing West and draw off in the same direction.
Rank in Myburgh and Mohawk Roads.
Take up facing West and leave in the same direction.

Town Hall.—Set down facing West and draw off in the same direction.
Rank in Kwangse and Kweichow Roads.
Take up facing West and leave in the same direction.

Lyceum Theatre.—Set down facing North and draw off in the same direction.
Rank in Soochow Road facing Museum Road.
Take up facing South and leave in the same direction.

Victoria Theatre.—Set down facing East and draw off in the same direction.
Rank in Haining Road.
Take up facing West and leave in the same direction.

Apollo Theatre.—Set down facing North and draw off in the same direction.
Rank in Haining Road, moving to east side of North Szechuen Road north of theatre entrance, facing South, after 11.30 p.m.
Take up facing South and leave in the same direction.

Olympic Theatre.—Set down facing East and draw off in the same direction.
Rank in Burkill Road east of Carter Road, facing West.
Take up facing East and leave in the same direction.

30.—No driver shall use a horn, bell, or other form of warning signal unnecessarily, or in such a manner as to cause public annoyance.

31.—The following signals are authorized and shall be used by drivers, as required, for the information of other drivers and of police on duty:—

(1) "I am stopping."—Extend the right arm vertically upward; or horizontally to the right and move it up and down.
(2) "I am turning to the right."—Extend the right arm horizontally to the right.
(3) "I am turning to the left."—Extend the right arm horizontally to the right, and wave it towards the left across the body.
(4) "I am going straight on."—Extend the arm horizontally forward.
(5) "Come on," or "Go past." Extend the right arm horizontally to the right and wave the hand in a forward direction.

(In the case of a motor vehicle having a left hand drive, the corresponding signal must be made with the left arm.)

32.—No person shall stand or sit on or otherwise occupy the footboard of a vehicle in motion on a highway.

33.—No person who is not a passenger in the said vehicle shall hold on to any part of a vehicle in motion on a highway.

34.—No person shall drive a motor vehicle on a highway who is not in possession of a licence from the Council or the French Council to do so. Such licences are issued by the Police of the respective Councils, after examination, to competent persons over the age of seventeen years.

35.—No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway when under the influence of liquor, or when for any reason he is physically or otherwise incompetent to do so.

36.—No vehicle shall be driven on a highway when such vehicle is so constructed, equipped, loaded or enclosed as to be dangerous, to obstruct traffic, to scatter its contents, to unduly damage the road surface, to create undue noise in transit or to prevent the driver from having a sufficient view for safety; or when by reason of inefficient brakes or other mechanical defect it is not under complete and immediate control.

37.—No vehicle, in respect of which an identification number plate (plates) or card is issued by the Council or the French Council, shall be driven on a highway unless such plate (plates) or card of the regulation pattern is affixed thereto as prescribed in the licence conditions.

38.—No vehicle, except skaters, children's perambulators and invalids' chairs shall make use of a footpath, or shall enter or cross a safety zone.

39.—A vehicle driven on or occupying any portion of a highway between the hours of sunset and sunrise shall carry one or more lighted lamps as prescribed in the licence conditions. Provided that no light carried shall cause serious inconvenience or danger to any other user of the highway; that in the case of motor vehicles which carry head lamps only in front a suitable means be provided for reducing the power of the light; that when meeting other motor or horse drawn vehicles, or when using any highway within the area East of Carter Road and West of Muirhead Road, the full power of headlights be suitably reduced; and that all lamps carried be subject to approval by the Council.

40.—A motor vehicle shall carry an instrument capable of giving audible and sufficient warning of its approach, and such instrument shall be subject to the Council's approval. The use of gongs, sirens, whistles or bells on motor vehicles other than those belonging to the Fire Brigade is prohibited.

41.—A vehicle in the service of the Fire Brigade, when proceeding to or from a fire (i.e., with the carillon bell continuously rung) shall always have the right of way. On its approach all other traffic shall immediately draw in to the sides of the roadway where it shall stop, clear of crossings and street islands, until the Fire Brigade vehicle has passed.

42.—A vehicle in the service of a municipal department or a repair vehicle of a public service company or an ambulance shall, in an emergency, have the right of way over all other traffic.

43.—No vehicle shall tow more than one other vehicle; and no tow connection shall exceed a clear length of sixteen feet.

44.—No motor vehicle shall pass another motor vehicle in motion, proceeding in the same direction, in the section of Bubbling Well and Nanking Roads between Mohawk Road and the Bund.

45.—No empty passenger vehicle, or one which is occupied only by a paid driver, shall (except for purposes of crossing) be driven on Nanking Road, east of Thibet Road, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m., and 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.; or on the main Bund Road south of Peking Road.

46.—No motor truck, wagon, handcart, wheelbarrow or other freight vehicle, or coolie carrying a load, shall (except for purposes of crossing) use any portion of Bubbling Well Road, Nanking Road, or the main Bund road south of Peking Road, unless the immediate destination of such vehicle or coolie can be reached in no other way.

47.—Except on a duly authorized Vehicle Stand, the ranking or parking of vehicles on a highway shall as a rule be permitted to a limited extent and/or for a limited time only; and shall be dependent on the exigencies of traffic.

The Vehicle Stands authorized for rickshas only are indicated by signboards. Those authorized for the ranking or parking of motor or horse drawn vehicles are specified hereunder:—

(1) Bund (Centre) between Avenue Edward VII and Peking Road.
(2) Avenue Edward VII (Centre) between the Bund and Kiangse Road.

(3) Hankow Road (Centre) between Honan Road and Kiangse Road.
(4) Soochow Road (North side) between the Garden Bridge and Chapoo Road Bridge.
(5) Whangpoo Road (South side) East of Astor Road.
(6) Avenue Edward VII (North side) between Yunnan Road and Thibet Road.
(7) Thibet Road (East side) between Nanking Road and Burkill Road.
(8) Thibet Road (East side) between Nanking Road and Kiukiang Road.
(9) Bubbling Well Road (South side) between the main Race Club gate and a point opposite Myburgh Road.

48.—No vehicle shall be ranked or parked for an extended period in Nanking Road between Shantung Road and the Bund. Temporary ranking and parking accommodation in this section is provided for the vehicles of persons visiting business premises, such places are marked by means of white lines on the kerb and no vehicle shall be ranked or parked except where the kerb is so marked. No vehicle shall be ranked or parked on the south side of the above section of Nanking Road between the hours of 11.45 a.m. and 12.30 p.m., Sundays excepted.

49.—No vehicle shall be ranked or parked in Whangpoo Road between Astor Road and the Garden Bridge.

50.—No person shall walk, or drive or cause a vehicle to remain on a highway or section of a highway in contravention of an order made by the Commissioner of Police restricting or prohibiting the use of such highway or section of a highway by pedestrians or vehicles.

For the better regulation of traffic the Commissioner of Police is authorized, in his discretion and as circumstances may require, to restrict or prohibit the passage of pedestrians or vehicles upon any specified highway or section of a highway, either generally, or in a stated direction, or within certain hours; and any such restriction or prohibition shall have the effect of a Traffic Regulation authorized by the Council.

51.—No person shall cause a vehicle to be ranked or parked at any place on a highway after the receipt of notice from a police officer that such ranking or parking is prohibited.

52.—No vehicle when ranked at the side of a roadway shall have its inner wheel or wheels more than 4 inches from the kerb.

53.—The excessive discharge of smoke from the exhaust of a motor vehicle on a highway is prohibited.

54.—The use of an open exhaust or "cut-out" on a motor vehicle on a highway is prohibited.

55.—No person shall drive a horse-drawn wagon or similar heavy vehicle on a highway at a faster pace than a common walk.

56.—No horse, whether attached to a vehicle or not, shall be left on a highway unattended or in such a condition that it is not under complete and immediate control.

57.—A led horse on a highway shall be led by the near rein against the traffic on the right hand side of the roadway facing the direction of travel.

58.—A person leading a horse on a highway between the hours of sunset and sunrise shall carry a lighted lamp.

59.—A person riding a horse or a coolie carrying a load on a highway shall conform generally to traffic regulations regarding vehicles and their drivers.

60.—No horse shall be harnessed or unharnessed on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to traffic.

61.—Traffic at the jetties and pontoons on the River and Soochow Creek is under the control of the Police, who have instructions to prevent overcrowding the jetties and overloading the pontoons and otherwise to maintain public access thereto. The landing stage immediately to the north of the Customs pontoon is open exclusively for passenger traffic, while the use of the remainder of the jetties and pontoons between the Soochow Creek and Avenue Edward VII is confined to the landing and shipping of cargo.

By order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary.

Shanghai, December 23, 1920.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2786.

MOTOR BICYCLES AND PRIVATE, PUBLIC AND TRADE MOTOR CARS.

NOTICE is hereby given that the following amended licence conditions will be enforced, from January 1, 1921:—

MOTOR BICYCLE LICENCE.

1.—That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person.

2.—That this licence refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application form; and that the corresponding licence number be not used on any other vehicle.

3.—That the licensee and the driver conform to all Traffic Regulations in force for the time being.

4.—That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position:—(a) in front of the machine, showing to either side, on a number plate having duplicate faces affixed lengthwise to the front mud-guard; and (b) at the back of the machine, showing rearwards, on a number plate affixed crosswise to the back mud guard or in other suitable manner. That the figures composing the number be white on a black ground; that they be 1½ inches high and ⅛ inch broad in all parts, that the width of the space occupied by each figure except the figure 1 be 1¼ inches and that the space between adjoining figures be ¼ inch; that the figures be maintained at all times easily legible, undefaced, and unobscured by any portion of the vehicle or by any object attached thereto.

5.—That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry:—
(a) a lighted lamp exhibiting a white light towards the front and so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance; and
(b) a lighted tail lamp exhibiting a red light towards the rear and so placed and maintained at all times as to render every figure of the licence number easily distinguishable at a reasonable distance.

That if a side car be attached to the said vehicle, a lighted lamp exhibiting a white light towards the front so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance be affixed thereto in such a manner as to indicate the extreme width of such side car.

6.—That the driver produce this licence and his driver's licence when called upon to do so by the Police.

PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENTS.

THE Council's attention has been drawn to the fact that certain public entertainments have recently been held without a licence: the attention of the Public is therefore directed to Bye-law XXXIV attached to the Land Regulations which prohibits the holding of any entertainment, to which the public are admitted, without a licence first obtained from the Council.

This regulation includes theatrical performances, concerts, exhibitions, dances, etc.; and the Police have directions to prevent the holding of any such entertainment unless licensed.

To obviate inconvenience application should be made at least five clear days before the entertainment is to be held, upon a form to be obtained on application from the Revenue Office.

CHINESE WATCHMEN.

EMPLOYERS of Chinese Watchmen under Police Supervision are notified that, in order to strengthen control and simplify administration, the wages of such watchmen will be paid direct by the Council, who will make a charge of $2 per mensem in respect of each man to cover the cost of the additional supervision. The monthly cost of a watchman will accordingly be $17 for 12 hours, or $14 for 8 hours, duty per diem, for which employers will receive a debit note in due course from the Revenue Office. These modifications of the existing arrangements will take effect from January 1, 1921.

Uniform, if required, is supplied at rates which can be obtained on application to the Assistant Commissioner of Police (Chinese), Gordon Road Police Station (Telephone No. West 882) to whom all enquiries regarding Chinese Watchmen should be addressed.

Mixed Court Report for November.

I regret to report that Mr. A. D. Blackburn, Senior British Assessor, has been in hospital since November 17; his criminal cases have been taken by Mr. J. W. O. Davidson, but since that date there were no sittings in Chinese Civil Cases on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings.

On the 15th instant, a lawyer's interpreter was suspended from practising in the Court for a period of 3 months for touting; the Court intimated that any future offence would be much more severely dealt with. In this case a printed post-card, obviously intended for wide circulation, was sent to a Chinese employee of the Court notifying him that the advertiser was now employed by a certain legal firm and soliciting any civil or criminal business. The card was brought to the notice of the Court, who promptly dealt with the matter as stated. It is only fair to add that the firm employing the interpreter was quite ignorant of his behaviour. From time to time rumours have reached the Court regarding this pernicious practice, indulged in by certified lawyers' interpreters and their hangers-on, which results in the promotion and maintenance of much unnecessary litigation, extortion from the litigants concerned, and injury to the credit and reputation of the Court and the legal fraternity generally. Once the victim falls in to the clutches of the tout he is fleeced under all kinds of pretences, the chief being that it is customary to pay fees to the interpreters themselves and to Court officials in order that special attention should be given to his case. Litigants have been continually warned to pay no money either as Court or Counsel fees without obtaining a receipt from the competent authority, and it is in the interests of the whole community that any rumour or specific instance of touting or graft should be brought to the notice of the Court Staff so that full enquiries may be instituted and the offenders punished.

On the 9th instant a chauffeur was sentenced to a month's imprisonment by Messrs. Tenney and Kwan for having recklessly driven a motor car along the Whangpoo

Road on October 29. Two foreigners, members of the Police, gave evidence that the car was travelling at 30 miles an hour. The Court in passing sentence recorded the fact that, it was of the opinion, a speed limit should be set in the Settlement.

The undermentioned foreigners who are not recognized by any Consulate in Shanghai were before the Court:—

Name	Nationality claimed	Offence	Decision
Stephans Kaduk	Russian	Drunk & Disorderly & Assault	3 weeks' impt.
J. Brennan	American	Drunk & Disorderly	1 month's impt.

From November 17, revised forms of Security Bonds were taken into use in place of the obscure style that formerly existed. The latter were written in Chinese only and the phraseology was such that the Magistrates, Assessors, Lawyers and the Chinese themselves could never agree on the exact meaning. The new forms are printed in English on one side, and Chinese on the other in plain simple terms which any average intelligent Chinese cannot fail to understand, and they leave the guarantor no chance of repudiating his responsibility. It is significant that as early as the present time, Chinese guarantors are looking with increased respect on these bonds.

On the last day of the month, the number of Chinese Civil Cases awaiting a first hearing was 116, being a decrease of three as compared with the previous month.

There are also 20 Foreign Civil Cases awaiting a first hearing.

Here follow returns of offences, Summonses and Warrants dealt with; Sentences and Decisions, Prisoners in custody, Foreign Civil Cases, Civil Defendants under detention, and Chinese Civil Cases.

F. L. WAINWRIGHT,
Acting Registrar.

Countersigned,
K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2785.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

THE following Regulations for the governance, control, direction and facilitation of traffic within the limits of the Foreign Settlement and on Municipal roads or alleyways outside such limits, have been authorized by the Council under the powers conferred by Bye-law XXXVI, annexed to the Land Regulations for the said Foreign Settlement. The said Regulations will have effect from January 1, 1921, on which date the existing Regulations will cease to be effective :—

1.—Certain Terms and Expressions used in these Regulations shall be defined as under :—

Traffic.—Vehicles and pedestrians making use of a highway.

Highway.—Any space intended for vehicular or pedestrian traffic.

Synonymous terms: Road, Street, Thoroughfare.

Roadway.—That portion of a highway intended for the use of vehicles.

Footpath.—That portion of a highway intended for the use of pedestrians.

Kerb (Curb).—The edge of a roadway, whether marked or understood.

Safety Zone.—Any portion of a roadway from which vehicles are excluded.

Street Island.—A raised portion of a roadway forming a safety zone. The term includes :—

(a) Traffic Island—a refuge for the use of pedestrians or a turning or division point for vehicular traffic.

(b) Tramway Island or Loading Platform—a refuge at a tramway stopping place for the use of passengers entering or leaving tram cars.

Vehicle.—Any conveyance (but not including a horse). Provided (1) that skaters, children's perambulators and invalids' chairs shall be considered as vehicles only when on a roadway but as pedestrians when on a footpath ; (2) that in these Regulations the term 'vehicle,' expressed or implied, shall apply to tramcars only in so far as their being confined to rails will allow.

Horse.—Any animal used as a conveyance or for draught purposes.

Driver.—Any person who for the time being is in charge of a vehicle on a highway.

Pedestrian.—Any person on foot on a highway. Provided that skaters, children's perambulators and invalids' chairs shall be considered as pedestrians when on a footpath but as vehicles when on a roadway.

Passenger.—Any occupant of a vehicle other than the driver or a servant of the owner of the vehicle actually in the performance of his duty.

Tramcar.—Any vehicle which is confined to rails on a roadway.

Railless Car.—Any vehicle, other than a tramcar, which is propelled by electricity and is dependent on an overhead cable for its power supply.

Motor Vehicle.—Any vehicle which is propelled by an internal combustion engine or by electricity ; provided that tramcars and railless cars are not considered as motor vehicles.

To Rank.—To stand a vehicle parallel with the kerb.

To Park.—To stand a vehicle at an angle with the kerb.

Vehicle Stand.—A portion of a roadway or other space specially set apart for the ranking or parking of vehicles.

2.—Every person using a highway, whether as a driver, pedestrian or passenger, shall thereby incur an obligation to facilitate the movement of traffic and promote public safety.

3.—No person shall walk on a highway in a dangerous, reckless, negligent or otherwise improper manner.

4.—No person shall walk on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to other traffic.

5.—No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway in a dangerous, reckless, negligent or otherwise improper manner.

6.—No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway, or cause a vehicle to occupy any portion of a highway, in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to other traffic.

7.—No person shall enter or leave a vehicle on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to other traffic, or unless such vehicle is drawn in close to the kerb.

8.—No person shall load or unload cargo or goods on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to traffic.

9.—No person shall carry or place a load or any other article on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to traffic.

10.—Every driver or pedestrian on a highway shall promptly obey the instructions or signals of police on duty.

11.—No driver shall exceed a safe, reasonable and considerate speed, having due regard to the rights of other users of the highway, to existing traffic conditions, to the state of the road surface and to the presence of dangerous points, whether indicated or otherwise.

12.—A driver shall keep to the left hand side of the roadway—the slower his speed the nearer the kerb.

13.—A driver when turning a corner to the left shall keep as near the left hand kerb as possible

14.—A driver when turning a corner to the right shall make a wide sweep and shall enter the new roadway (if possible) to the left of its centre line.

15.—A driver when passing a street island situated in the centre of a highway, or to the right of its centre line facing the direction of travel, shall do so to the left.

16.—A driver when passing another vehicle going in the opposite direction shall do so to the left.

17.—A driver when passing another vehicle going in the same direction (except a tramcar) shall do so to the right.

18.—A driver when passing a tramcar whether moving or stationary going in the same direction shall, if practicable, do so to the left.

19.—A driver when passing a tramcar going in the same direction, which has stopped to take up or set down passengers, shall do so at a slow speed and in a considerate manner ; or, if necessary, he shall stop until the roadway is clear.

20.—No driver shall attempt to pass another vehicle going in the same direction unless a clear view ahead can be obtained.

21.—A driver shall slow down when passing over a bridge or street crossing or when turning a corner or rounding a bend where a clear view ahead cannot be obtained.

22.—A driver of a motor vehicle approaching a horse on a highway shall slow down or stop if necessary, or if requested to do so.

23.—A driver shall, in the event of an accident on a highway in which his vehicle is in any way concerned, immediately stop his vehicle in order to ascertain the extent of any damage or injury and to render any necessary assistance. He shall remain until notified by the police that his presence is no longer required ; or, in the event of no police officer being available, he shall report the occurrence to a police station without undue loss of time.

24.—No driver shall cause a vehicle continuously to overlap or travel abreast of another vehicle on a highway when by so doing an obstruction to other traffic is caused.

25.—No driver shall cause a vehicle to remain at the entrance to any premises in such a manner as to obstruct access thereto, longer than is necessary for the expeditious taking up or setting down of passengers, or the loading or unloading of freight or goods.

26.—No driver shall back his vehicle or turn it round in a roadway if by so doing he obstructs or endangers other traffic.

27.—A driver when stopping his vehicle in a roadway for the purpose of taking up or setting down passengers or for any other reason (except in obedience to police signals), shall do so as close to the kerb as possible.

28.—No driver shall cause a vehicle to stop to take up or set down passengers, or otherwise to remain stationary (except in obedience to police signals), between a street island and the nearer kerb; or, in the case of a centrally situated island, between the island and either kerb.

29.—A driver setting down or taking up passengers at any of the undermentioned places shall observe the following rules:—

Shanghai Club.—Set down facing South and draw off in the same direction.

Park on south end of Bund Vehicle Stand.

Masonic Club.—Set down facing North and draw off in the same direction.

Rank on north end of Bund Vehicle Stand.

Take up facing North and leave in the same direction.

Race Club Meetings.—Set down facing West and draw off in the same direction.

Rank in Myburgh and Mohawk Roads.

Take up facing West and leave in the same direction.

Town Hall.—Set down facing West and draw off in the same direction.

Rank in Kwangse and Kweichow Roads.

Take up facing West and leave in the same direction.

Lyceum Theatre.—Set down facing North and draw off in the same direction.

Rank in Soochow Road facing Museum Road.

Take up facing South and leave in the same direction.

Victoria Theatre.—Set down facing East and draw off in the same direction.

Rank in Haining Road.

Take up facing West and leave in the same direction.

Apollo Theatre.—Set down facing North and draw off in the same direction.

Rank in Haining Road, moving to east side of North Szechuen Road north of theatre entrance, facing South, after 11.30 p.m.

Take up facing South and leave in the same direction.

Olympic Theatre.—Set down facing East and draw off in the same direction.

Rank in Burkill Road east of Carter Road, facing West.

Take up facing East and leave in the same direction.

30.—No driver shall use a horn, bell, or other form of warning signal unnecessarily, or in such a manner as to cause public annoyance.

31.—The following signals are authorized and shall be used by drivers, as required, for the information of other drivers and of police on duty:—

(1) "I am stopping."—Extend the right arm vertically upward; or horizontally to the right and move it up and down.

(2) "I am turning to the right." —Extend the right arm horizontally to the right.

(3) "I am turning to the left." —Extend the right arm horizontally to the right, and wave it towards the left across the body.

(4) "I am going straight on." —Extend the arm horizontally forward.

(5) "Come on," or "Go past." Extend the right arm horizontally to the right and wave the hand in a forward direction.

(In the case of a motor vehicle having a left hand drive, the corresponding signal must be made with the left arm.)

32.—No person shall stand or sit on or otherwise occupy the footboard of a vehicle in motion on a highway.

33.—No person who is not a passenger in the said vehicle shall hold on to any part of a vehicle in motion on a highway.

34.—No person shall drive a motor vehicle on a highway who is not in possession of a licence from the Council or the French Council to do so. Such licences are issued by the Police of the respective Councils, after examination, to competent persons over the age of seventeen years.

35.—No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway when under the influence of liquor, or when for any reason he is physically or otherwise incompetent to do so.

36.—No vehicle shall be driven on a highway when such vehicle is so constructed, equipped, loaded or enclosed as to be dangerous, to obstruct traffic, to scatter its contents, to unduly damage the road surface, to create undue noise in transit or to prevent the driver from having a sufficient view for safety; or when by reason of inefficient brakes or other mechanical defect it is not under complete and immediate control.

37.—No vehicle, in respect of which an identification number plate (plates) or card is issued by the Council or the French Council, shall be driven on a highway unless such plate (plates) or card of the regulation pattern is affixed thereto as prescribed in the licence conditions.

38.—No vehicle, except skaters, children's perambulators and invalids' chairs shall make use of a footpath, or shall enter or cross a safety zone.

39.—A vehicle driven on or occupying any portion of a highway between the hours of sunset and sunrise shall carry one or more lighted lamps as prescribed in the licence conditions. Provided that no light carried shall cause serious inconvenience or danger to any other user of the highway; that in the case of motor vehicles which carry head lamps only in front a suitable means be provided for reducing the power of the light; that when meeting other motor or horse drawn vehicles, or when using any highway within the area East of Carter Road and West of Muirhead Road, the full power of headlights be suitably reduced; and that all lamps carried be subject to approval by the Council.

40.—A motor vehicle shall carry an instrument capable of giving audible and sufficient warning of its approach, and such instrument shall be subject to the Council's approval. The use of gongs, sirens, whistles or bells on motor vehicles other than those belonging to the Fire Brigade is prohibited.

41.—A vehicle in the service of the Fire Brigade, when proceeding to or from a fire (i.e., with the carillon bell continuously rung) shall always have the right of way. On its approach all other traffic shall immediately draw in to the sides of the roadway where it shall stop, clear of crossings and street islands, until the Fire Brigade vehicle has passed.

42.—A vehicle in the service of a municipal department or a repair vehicle of a public service company or an ambulance shall, in an emergency, have the right of way over all other traffic.

43.—No vehicle shall tow more than one other vehicle; and no tow connexion shall exceed a clear length of sixteen feet.

44.—No motor vehicle shall pass another motor vehicle in motion, proceeding in the same direction, in the section of Bubbling Well and Nanking Roads between Mohawk Road and the Bund.

45.—No empty passenger vehicle, or one which is occupied only by a paid driver, shall (except for purposes of crossing) be driven on Nanking Road, east of Thibet Road, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m., and 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.; or on the main Bund Road south of Peking Road.

46.—No motor truck, wagon, handcart, wheelbarrow or other freight vehicle, or coolie carrying a load, shall (except for purposes of crossing) use any portion of Bubbling

Well Road, Nanking Road, or the main Bund road south of Peking Road, unless the immediate destination of such vehicle or coolie can be reached in no other way.

47.—Except on a duly authorized Vehicle Stand, the ranking or parking of vehicles on a highway shall as a rule be permitted to a limited extent and/or for a limited time only; and shall be dependent on the exigencies of traffic.

The Vehicle Stands authorized for rickshas only are indicated by signboards. Those authorized for the ranking or parking of motor or horse drawn vehicles are specified hereunder:—

(1) Bund (Centre) between Avenue Edward VII and Peking Road.
(2) Avenue Edward VII (Centre) between the Bund and Kiangse Road.
(3) Hankow Road (Centre) between Honan Road and Kiangse Road.
(4) Soochow Road (North side) between the Garden Bridge and Chapoo Road Bridge.
(5) Whangpoo Road (South side) East of Astor Road.
(6) Avenue Edward VII (North side) between Yunnan Road and Thibet Road.
(7) Thibet Road (East side) between Nanking Road and Burkill Road.
(8) Thibet Road (East side) between Nanking Road and Kiukiang Road.
(9) Bubbling Well Road (South side) between the main Race Club gate and a point opposite Myburgh Road.

48.—No vehicle shall be ranked or parked for an extended period in Nanking Road between Shantung Road and the Bund. Temporary ranking and parking accommodation in this section is provided for the vehicles of persons visiting business premises, such places are marked by means of white lines on the kerb and no vehicle shall be ranked or parked except where the kerb is so marked. No vehicle shall be ranked or parked on the south side of the above section of Nanking Road between the hours of 11.45 a.m. and 12.30 p.m., Sundays excepted.

49.—No vehicle shall be ranked or parked in Whangpoo Road between Astor Road and the Garden Bridge.

50.—No person shall walk, or drive or cause a vehicle to remain on a highway or section of a highway in contravention of an order made by the Commissioner of Police restricting or prohibiting the use of such highway or section of a highway by pedestrians or vehicles.

For the better regulation of traffic the Commissioner of Police is authorized, in his discretion and as circumstances may require, to restrict or prohibit the passage of pedestrians or vehicles upon any specified highway or section of a highway, either generally, or in a stated direction, or within certain hours; and any such restriction or prohibition shall have the effect of a Traffic Regulation authorized by the Council.

51.—No person shall cause a vehicle to be ranked or parked at any place on a highway after the receipt of notice from a police officer that such ranking or parking is prohibited.

52.—No vehicle when ranked at the side of a roadway shall have its inner wheel or wheels more than 4 inches from the kerb.

53.—The excessive discharge of smoke from the exhaust of a motor vehicle on a highway is prohibited.

54.—The use of an open exhaust or "cut-out" on a motor vehicle on a highway is prohibited.

55.—No person shall drive a horse-drawn wagon or similar heavy vehicle on a highway at a faster pace than a common walk.

56.—No horse, whether attached to a vehicle or not, shall be left on a highway unattended or in such a condition that it is not under complete and immediate control.

57.—A led horse on a highway shall be led by the near rein against the traffic on the right hand side of the roadway facing the direction of travel.

58.—A person leading a horse on a highway between the hours of sunset and sunrise shall carry a lighted lamp.

59.—A person riding a horse or a coolie carrying a load on a highway shall conform generally to traffic regulations regarding vehicles and their drivers.

60.—No horse shall be harnessed or unharnessed on a highway in such a manner as to cause unnecessary obstruction to traffic.

61.—Traffic at the jetties and pontoons on the River and Soochow Creek is under the control of the Police, who have instructions to prevent overcrowding the jetties and overloading the pontoons and otherwise to maintain public access thereto. The landing stage immediately to the north of the Customs pontoon is open exclusively for passenger traffic, while the use of the remainder of the jetties and pontoons between the Soochow Creek and Avenue Edward VII is confined to the landing and shipping of cargo.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2786.

MOTOR BICYCLES AND PRIVATE, PUBLIC AND TRADE MOTOR CARS.

NOTICE is hereby given that the following amended licence conditions will be enforced from January 1, 1921:—

MOTOR BICYCLE LICENCE.

1.—That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person.

2.—That this licence refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application form; and that the corresponding licence number be not used on any other vehicle.

3.—That the licensee and the driver conform to all Traffic Regulations in force for the time being.

4.—That the number of the licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position:—(a) in front of the machine, showing to either side, on a number plate having duplicate faces affixed lengthwise to the front mud-guard; and (b) at the back of the machine, showing rearwards, on a number plate affixed crosswise to the back mud guard or in other suitable manner. That the figures composing the number be white on a black ground; that they be 1½ inches high and $\frac{1}{16}$ inch broad in all parts, that the width of the space occupied by each figure except the figure 1 be 1½ inches and that the space between adjoining figures be ¼ inch; that the figures be maintained at all times easily legible, undefaced, and unobscured by any portion of the vehicle or by any object attached thereto.

5.—That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry:—

(a) a lighted lamp exhibiting a white light towards the front and so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance; and
(b) a lighted tail lamp exhibiting a red light towards the rear and so placed and maintained at all times as to render every figure of the licence number easily distinguishable at a reasonable distance.

That if a side car be attached to the said vehicle, a lighted lamp exhibiting a white light towards the front so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance be affixed thereto in such a manner as to indicate the extreme width of such side car.

6.—That the driver produce this licence and his driver's licence when called upon to do so by the Police.

7.—That the licensee be responsible for any damage caused by the negligence of the driver or other person in charge of the vehicle.

8.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid to any employe of the Council.

9.—That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

PRIVATE MOTOR CAR LICENCE.

1.—That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person.

2.—That this licence refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application form; and that the corresponding licence number be not used on any other vehicle.

3.—That the licensee and the driver conform to all Traffic Regulations in force for the time being.

4.—That the number of this licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the vehicle; that the figures composing the number be white on a black ground; that the figures be 3½ inches high and ½ inch broad in all parts, that the width of the space occupied by each figure except the figure 1 be 2½ inches and that the space between adjoining figures be ½ inch; that the figures be maintained at all times easily legible, undefaced, and unobscured by any portion of the vehicle or by any object attached thereto.

5.—That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry:—

(a) two lighted lamps, one on each side, exhibiting a white light towards the front and so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance; and

(b) a lighted tail lamp exhibiting a red light towards the rear and so placed and maintained at all times as to render every figure of the licence number easily distinguishable at a reasonable distance.

6.—That the driver produce this licence and his driver's licence when called upon to do so by the Police.

7.—That the driver furnish to the Police the earliest information possible regarding any criminally suspicious conduct or movements of any person driven by him.

8.—That the licensee be responsible for any damage caused by the negligence of the driver or other person in charge of the vehicle.

9.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid to any employe of the Council.

10.—That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

PUBLIC MOTOR CAR LICENCE.

1.—That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person.

2.—That this licence refers only to the vehicle in respect of which it is issued, which vehicle is described in the application form; and that the corresponding licence number be not used on any other vehicle.

3.—That the licensee and the driver conform to all Traffic Regulations in force for the time being.

4.—That the number of this licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the vehicle; that no licence number plate other than that issued by the Council be used, and that the figures thereon be maintained at all times easily legible, undefaced, and unobscured by any portion of the vehicle or by any object attached thereto.

5.—That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry:—

(a) two lighted lamps, one on each side, exhibiting a white light towards the front and so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance; and

(b) a lighted tail lamp exhibiting a red light towards the rear and so placed and maintained at all times as to render every figure of the licence number easily distinguishable at a reasonable distance.

6.—That the driver produce this licence and his driver's licence when called upon to do so by the Police.

7.—That the driver furnish to the Police the earliest information possible regarding any criminally suspicious conduct or movements of any person driven by him.

8.—That the licensee keep a register wherein shall be entered the name and address of any person hiring the car in respect of which this licence is issued, whether the hirer pays cash or not for the hire, which register shall at all times be open for inspection by the Police.

9.—That the licensee be responsible for any damage caused by the negligence of the driver or other person in charge of the vehicle.

10.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid to any employe of the Council.

11.—That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

TRADE MOTOR CAR LICENCE.

1.—That unless with the consent of the Council this licence be not transferable to any other person or firm.

2.—That the number plate corresponding to this licence may be used on any motor vehicle bonâ fide the property of the licensee or temporarily in his charge; provided that in no circumstances shall it be used on a vehicle which is let out for hire or be duplicated for use on two vehicles at the same time.

3.—That the licensee and the driver conform to all Traffic Regulations in force for the time being.

4.—That the number of this licence be exhibited in a conspicuous position at the back of the vehicle; that no licence number plate other than that issued by the Council be used, and that the figures thereon be maintained at all times easily legible, undefaced, and unobscured by any portion of the vehicle or by any object attached thereto.

5.—That between sunset and sunrise the vehicle carry:—

(a) Two lighted lamps, one on each side, exhibiting a white light towards the front and so maintained at all times as to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance; and

(b) A lighted tail lamp exhibiting a red light towards the rear and so placed and maintained at all times as to render every figure of the licence number easily distinguishable at a reasonable distance.

6.—That the driver produce this licence and his driver's licence when called upon to do so by the Police.

7.—That the driver furnish to the Police the earliest information possible regarding any criminally suspicious conduct or movements of any person driven by him.

8.—That the licensee be responsible for any damage caused by the negligence of the driver or other person in charge of the vehicle.

9.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid to any employe of the Council.

10.—That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council, the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and the licensee be liable to prosecution.

PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENTS.

THE Council's attention has been drawn to the fact that certain public entertainments have recently been held without a licence: the attention of the Public is therefore directed to Bye-law XXXIV attached to the Land Regulations which prohibits the holding of any entertainment, to which the public are admitted, without a licence first obtained from the Council.

This regulation includes theatrical performances, concerts, exhibitions, dances, etc.; and the Police have directions to prevent the holding of any such entertainment unless licensed.

To obviate inconvenience application should be made at least five clear days before the entertainment is to be held, upon a form to be obtained on application from the Revenue Office.

CHINESE WATCHMEN.

EMPLOYERS of Chinese Watchmen under Police Supervision are notified that, in order to strengthen control and simplify administration, the wages of such watchmen will be paid direct by the Council, who will make a charge of $2 per mensem in respect of each man to cover the cost of the additional supervision. The monthly cost of a watchman will accordingly be $17 for 12 hours, or $14 for 8 hours, duty per diem, for which employers will receive a debit note in due course from the Revenue Office. These modifications of the existing arrangements will take effect from January 1, 1921.

Uniform, if required, is supplied at rates which can be obtained on application to the Assistant Commissioner of Police (Chinese), Gordon Road Police Station (Telephone No. West 882) to whom all enquiries regarding Chinese Watchmen should be addressed.

Fire Brigade Report for November.

The total number of calls to fires, or supposed fires, during the month was 42, as against 21 for the corresponding month last year. The damage on assessed property within the Settlement is estimated at Tls. 20,875 (Foreign Tls. 4,400: Chinese Tls. 16,475), as against Tls. 16,150 (Foreign Tls. 12,000: Chinese Tls. 4,150) during November 1919. The property at risk is estimated at Tls. 918,500 (Foreign Tls. 252,500: Chinese Tls. 666,000) as against Tls. 506,700 (Foreign Tls. 146,700: Chinese Tls. 360,000) for the corresponding period last year.

The calls were received as follows:—Telephones 26, Watch Towers 15, Messenger 1. The District call was given on 8 occasions, the remaining 34 being Station calls. These calls proved to be 30 small fires, 2 chimney fires, 3 false alarms, and 7 fires outside the Settlement.

The principal supposed causes of fires within the Settlement are as follows:—Dropped match or cigarette end, lamp upset, overheated machinery, fire crackers, sparks or embers from stoves, fusing of electric wires.

Of these 3 buildings were destroyed, and 21 others were more or less damaged by fire, smoke and water.

There was an exceptional number of calls during the month, but it is pleasing to be able to report that the losses were very low. In one or two instances there was grave suspicion as to the cause of the fire. The worst loss during the month was:—

November 15, 4.14 a.m., H. 292/3 Hoopeh Road.—A Dispensary was in flames, as were the upper floors of Nos: H 290/1. The central Division, however, confined the damage to these two buildings, but only after a difficult task for about 20 minutes.

November 16, 2.44 a.m. LH 1510 off Baikal Road.—When the Hongkew Division arrived a dwelling house used for the storage of cotton was found to be in flames. The upper floors were already very much overloaded, and although water was sparingly used, the walls collapsed without warning, burying nine men of the Division. The men were extricated with great difficulty with the assistance of the Police on duty and a few spectators, whose kindly aid was much appreciated by the Department. Three men were so severely injured and burnt, that they were detained in Hospital, Fireman Jackson being the most badly burnt. All are progressing favourably, except Chinese Fireman No. 41, whose right leg had to be amputated. The other six men were taken to Hospital and were there treated, but not detained.

November 25, 2.26 p.m., S. 219 off Fearon Road.—A ginning mill was in flames, and the fire had got through to an egg factory. The greatest care had to be exercised at this fire, as the premises, converted Chinese dwellings, were so overloaded that they were in a state of collapse. Exceptional measures were taken, firemen being detailed to shore up the floors, and a large quantity of the heavier merchandize being removed to the ground floor, whilst the fire was in progress.

The last two fires again illustrate the absolute necessity of preventing buildings, constructed as dwellings, being converted into industrial buildings, especially in congested blocks.

As usual, valuable assistance was rendered to the Chapei Brigade on several occasions.

M. W. PETT,
Chief Officer.
